SAD HOLIDAY — Perry E. Curtis, an inmate at San Quentin Prison, may be dreaming of happier past Christmases on the outside, inspired by the small tree in his cell block. QUENTIN'S CHRISTMAS

A Giftless Season For Some

Christmas is a very bleak time for men in prison and it will be especially dismal this year for about 800 inmates at San Quentin Prison.

These are men who will receive no gifts at all, either because they have no families or because they have lost all ties with families and friends.

About 30 inmates have ordered their own gifts from catalogue stores, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park. He said the men were allowed to order special Christmas assortments of foods if they wanted to and could afford them.

"It brightens things up a bit for these fellows to get a package, even if they sent for it themselves," Park said. "They see others getting packages and they want one, too."

According to Park, about 1,400 packages have already arrived at the prison and he expects about 2,000 will de delivered by Christmas. Some of the prison's 3,400 inmates will receive money to spend in the prison canteen on cigars, candy, cheeses and other food items.

Some of the cellblocks have been decorated for the holiday by the inmates, as have many of the prison windows. Park said the men make most of the decorations with cardboard and water paints. "They try to make things a little nicer," he added.

The prison has three Christmas trees this year, one in the hospital, one in the yard and one in the chapel. And someone has strung a line of colored lights around the prison's yard office.

Still, signs of the holiday are at a minimum. "For most men who have had good Christmases on the outside, Christmas in prison is a pretty pensive and tense time," Park said.

On Christmas Eve, guards distribute small packages of candy and nuts to every man, but that is the only official observance of the day.

For two weeks prior to Christmas, prisoners are allowed to make one collect phone call to a relative or friend and Park said this call is eagerly awaited by the men who have someone to call.

Hot Spots On Agnew Itinerary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's 10-nation, 37,000-mile trip includes stops in three countries—the Philippines, Thailand and Formosa — that have been targets of recent attacks in the Senate.

Agnew also has expressed hope of going to Vietnam, although it is not listed on the itinerary and aides said no visit is planned. The trip, Agnew's first abroad as vice president, is designed to give him first-hand knowledge of Asia.

FACES REACTION

The vice president will be meeting with top officials of the nations he visits and is likely to run into reaction to Senate attacks on military aid to some Asian nations.

In the Philippines, where Agnew is to attend the Dec. 30 inauguration of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, there was strong criticism of a charge by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., that the United States had paid the Manila government $45 million in equipment and allowances in return for rending troops to Vietnam.

DENIES CHARGE

The Philippine government denied the charge, contained in a transcript which was held up by the State Department here until after the country's elections last month. Since then, the Philippine detachment in Vietnam has been withdrawn.

Formosa, Agnew's next stop, was the target of the Senate just last week when it rejected the $1.8 billion foreign aid money bill rather than agree to supply the government of Chiang Kai-shek some $54.5 million to buy additional jet fighters.

From Taipei, Agnew is scheduled to go to Thailand.

Congressional sources charged recently the United States paid the Thais some $1 billion in return for its dispatch of troops to Vietnam. Both the

Arabs In Rocket Attack

TEL AVIV (AP)—Rockets fired by Arab guerrillas from inside Jordan and Lebanon streaked across the Jordan River and hit an Israeli settlement near the Lebanese border today, the Israeii command said.

Israeli jets attacked guerrilla targets near the Jordan River in a 30-minute retaliatory raid, Israeli witnesses said.

The Israelis said Lebanese-based rockets crashed into the settlement of Kiryat Shmona on the Lebanese border, damaging a school house and a residence. No casualties were reported.

'HEAVY TOLL'

The Palestine guerrilla command in Amman said the rockets from Jordan took "a heavy toll of property and lives" in settlements north and south of the Sea of Galilee; the Israelis said they fell harmlessly in the water.

The Jordanians said several Israeli Jets raided villages in the northern Jordan Valley and damaged two civilian cars.

The rocket attack hit an area north of Bethlehem, where an estimated 10,000 Christian pilgrims converged on the usually quiet town, the traditional birthplace of Christ.

HIT NAVAL BASE

Israeli commandos struck into Egypt again last night and fired mortars at an Egyptian naval base on the Red Sea coast, the Israeli command said. It was the second raid on an Egyptian military installation in five days.

SHORT OF WAR

Arab Summit In Buildup Pledge

RABAT, Morocco (UPI)—The fifth Arab summit meeting began its final sessions today with a majority agreed to build up Egypt, Jordan and Syria militarily against Israel —but stopping short of waging war.

Heads of state of 10 nations and four delegation chiefs gathered at the heavily-guarded Hilton Hotel for what was expected to be the windup meeting of their three-day strategy council.

One seat was empty. Yemen Republic head of state Abdul Rahmen Iriani stayed away because of illness, Yemeni sources said. They denied his absence had any connection with Yemen's strained relations with Saudi Arabia.

As the heads of state met with the question of aid to the Palestine guerrillas on the agenda, their foreign ministers worked on the sidelines to complete agreement on who should contribute what to the "frontline nations" against Israel.

Both Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and King Hussein of Jordan asked the conference for men and arms to build up their armies. Conference sources said the strategy was to bolster countries bordering on Israel so they can deal with the Jewish state from a position of strength.

Today's session was preceded by private meetings between Nasser, Libyan head of state Col. Moummer El Kezafy and Palestine guerrilla leader Yassir Arafat earlier conferred with Moroccan King Hassan II.

Reply To Israeli Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers strongly defended the controversial U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace today and specifically rejected an Israeli charge that they amounted to "appeasement of the Arabs."

Rogers also said "we have reason to be cautiously optimistic" about the eventual success of the effort to have South Vietnam take over its own defense.

VIET QUESTION

Rogers told a news conference that North Vietnamese infiltration into the South is down at least 60 per cent this year from last. But he declined to predict whether a recent upswing in North Vietnamese troop movements into the South foreshadowed another enemy offensive.

The secretary of state gave a general year-end sum-up of the international picture which he found improved despite some disappointments.

"I think on the whole the President can be proud of his leadership in the foreign affairs field," Rogers said.

LITTLE PROGRESS

But one important area where admittedly little progress has been made is in efforts to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute—and Washington's new proposals aimed at finding a peaceful solution have been rebuffed by both sides.

The Israeli cabinet yesterday issued a statement which reflected deteriorating U.S.-Israeli relations because of the U.S. effort. The Israelis denounced the American proposals as "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

In reply, Rogers said the

Sen. Dodd Says Probe Clears Him On Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said today the Justice Department has advised him that an investigation of his income tax returns turned up no evidence to warrant a criminal prosecution.

Dodd, who was censured by the Senate in 1967 on a finding that he had used at least $116,083 in political funds for personal purposes, disclosed the finding at a news conference with his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams.

"I have been subjected for more than two years to exhaustive and intensive investigation," Dodd said. "I feel at last I have been cleared of any wrongdoing."

The white-haired senator, who was censured by his colleagues by a 52-5 vote after an investigation by the Senate Ethics Committee, reiterated that he intends to be a candidate for another term next year.

"I plan to run," he replied when asked if the Justice Department's decision would have any effect on his plans.

The department's decision was disclosed in a letter dated yesterday from Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to Williams.

Dodd denied reports that the possibility of an income tax pro-

Congress Clears Up Final Barriers For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last serious barriers to congressional adjournment today were cleared away with passage of the massive tax reform bill and Senate surrender on President Richard M. Nixon's plan to open up more construction jobs to blacks. (See another tax story, page 24.)

With these matters taken care of yesterday, the House marked time before today's expected midafternoon adjournment, while the Senate faced its last bit of routine business—extending regulations governing trade with some Communist nations.

The major congressional handiwork of 1969, the giant tax cut and reform bill, already is on its way to the White House and a top Senate Republican said there is no doubt President Nixon will sign it into law.

At the White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said flatly today what had become apparent — that Nixon will not call Congress into a special post-Christmas session.

Seeking to speed action, the President had said he would call Congress back on Dec. 26 unless all appropriation bills were passed before adjournment.

Easing the pressure, Nixon accepted an invitation to lunch with Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress in the dining room of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

Traditionally, the leaders telephone the President prior to acting on a sine die adjournment resolution. Ziegler said Nixon was receiving the message personally rather than by telephone.

The tax bill swept through the Senate yesterday, 71-2. Ulticlearing the House 381-2. Ultimately, it will provide $9.1 billion in tax cuts, offset by $6.5 billion in revenue to be raised by the reform provisions.

But a lesser measure, a normally routine $278 million appropriation bill for an assortment of federal agencies, produced a civil rights controversy which kept the Senate working late yesterday amid maneuver and controversy.

At issue was congressional clearance of the administration's Philadelphia Plan designed to promote employment of

TWA Is Backed In Hughes Case

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Charles M. Metzner upheld today a $137,611,435.95 damage award to Trans World Airlines Inc. against Howard Hughes and Hughes Tool Co. Inc.

The ruling is subject to appeal.

Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, acting as a special master to hear the case, set the amount Sept. 21, 1968.

Brownell, now in private law practice, was named to decide the amount of damages after the court said Hughes and his Hughes Tool Co. were in default of a TWA antitrust suit, filed June 30, 1961, because Hughes did not show up for a pretrial deposition.

Hughes has continued to argue, through attorneys, against any damages. TWA has claimed it would get more than $685 million.

Irate Commuter Acts On Toll Hike

An angry Fairfax commuter today launched a campaign to force the Golden Gate Bridge District to revoke its $3.50 boost in the commuter book price.

Martin L. Strauss, 34, of 99 Bothin Road, called on other angry commuters to join him in hiring an attorney to file an injunction against the bridge district to stop the hike from $6.50 to $10 for the 25-roundtrip book.

Strauss, an insurance agent, told the Independent-Journal that his wife, Trudy, had urged him to "do something about it" after he stewed for days about the hike, which is effective on Friday, "I just reacted impulsively, but I'm glad I did," he said.

The first step in his campaign will be a series of newspaper advertisements calling for support, a step he hopes will arouse at least 1 per cent of the daily Marin automobile commuters. With the support of these 200 persons, he said, "we'd have what it would take to get something started."

Also opposed by Strauss was the bridge board's vote on Dec. 12 to eliminate the commute books after next June. Both actions were reaffirmed by the board last Friday.

Strauss said another objective of the campaign would be dissolution of the district after its bonds are repaid in 1971. Uncommitted district reserves of about $6 million then should be distributed among the six counties in the district, he said.

"They've done a very nice job," he said of the bridge board, "but they've sort of outlived their usefulness. They should retire and sort of drift out into the wilderness — back to wherever they started from," he said.

Strauss, who has been commuting since June 1967 to his San Francisco job said the district's functions should be turned over to the state. "I'm being idealistic as hell, but I think the state is more accountable than these guys," he said.

Strauss discounted the effectiveness of the bridge district's proposal to enter the commuter bus business, arguing its deficit would be a burden on Marin taxpayers. "Ferries may be part of the solution," he said, but he acknowledged he had no solution to offer to congestion.

Sharing the cost of the newspaper ads with him was Mrs. Adele Nolan of Sausalito, he said. She was the only commuter to appear before the bridge board last Friday to ask that it revoke the hike.

U.S. Bombers Strike As Yule Truce Nears

SAIGON (AP) — Battlefield action in Vietnam remained at a low level but U.S. B52 bombers made heavy raids along the Cambodian border today as the start of the annual Christmas truce neared.

A three-day Viet Cong cease-fire was scheduled to begin first, at 1 a.m. tomorrow which is 9 a.m. today, Pacific Standard Time. For the allies, the South Vietnamese government proclaimed only a 24-hour truce period beginning at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve, or 2 a.m. PST.

"However," said one source, "we feel that most of the enemy units will probably intensify their resupply efforts during the week under the relative safety of the allied standdown."

In the biggest action reported, South Vietnamese headquarters said 400 government rangers and a column of armored personnel carriers clashed Monday with enemy troops along the Cambodian border in the Mekong Delta 105 miles west of Saigon.

A spokesman said the government force killed 51 of the enemy and government casualties were light.

U.S. forces reported killing 29 enemy in three fights yesterday. Eight Americans were wounded.

Some 35 B52s made heavy raids during the night on North Vietnamese base camps along the Cambodian border. The big bombers dropped more than 1,000 tons of explosives within a mile of the border and about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

The strikes were concentrated in the "Fish Hook" region, a major North Vietnamese staging area and infiltration corridor where the common border of Tay Ninh and Binh Long provinces touches Cambodia.

Assessing the situation from Saigon north to the border, an official source said: "The low level of enemy activity suggests that most of the enemy units have completed the December action period and are returning to a refitting phase in preparation for the next action period."

Another source said that prisoners captured in the area tell their interrogators that there is a widespread shortage of equipment and personnel and that allied operations are causing serious problems.

Enemy gunners brought down two more American helicopters yesterday. A gunship was downed along the Cambodian border 87 miles northeast of Saigon while on a reconnaissance mission near the Bu Dop Special Forces camp, and two crewmen were killed. The second helicopter went down 20 miles southwest of Saigon, wounding four Americans.

The U.S. Command said there were 17 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today. Three of the attacks caused casualties or damage, including one American killed and three wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters said five civilians were killed and 13 wounded in a rocket attack on a populated area near the Duc Lap Special Forces camp, 135 miles northeast of Saigon.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, returned to Saigon last night from the United States. During his brief visit for his son's wedding on Saturday in Haverstraw, N.Y., he also conferred with President Richard M. Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Big Traffic Jam

ROME (AP) — The worst traffic chaos in memory gripped Rome again today as a nationwide bus and streetcar strike entered its second day at the height of the Christmas shopping period.

A strike by railway officials also hampered train traffic for the second day. Frustrated passengers attacked two stations in Sicily.

Columns of honking cars crawled slowly around some of Rome's biggest squares, traffic lights were largely ignored. Some two-way streets suddenly became one-way as the clogged squares disgorged motorists seeking alternate routes.

New System

SINGAPORE (AP) — The Singapore government has abolished jury trials for capital offenses "rather than allow justice to be thwarted through either squeamishness or ignorance."

Parliament passed the bill yesterday with only one dissenting vote. Minister of Law E. W. Barker told the house that evidence heard by a special committee had strengthened and confirmed the government's view that trial by jury in capital cases should be abolished. Barker cited on murder trial in which the jury foreman innocently delivered a mistaken verdict.

The lone dissenter in the voting said the jury system should be retained because it was doubtful the government could pressure all seven members of a jury at the same time.

Knocks Treaty

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany told West Germany today that the draft treaty it presented to Bonn to sign constitutes the minimum — not the maximum — required if better relations are to develop between the two Germanys.

Neues Deutschland, the official East German newspaper, said in an editorial: "The conditions of the treaty are not maximum demands, as many West German politicians claim. They are the minimal, unavoidable demands of normal, peaceful and equal relations."

Neues Deutschland repeated the main points of the proposed treaty: international relationships between West and East Germany, an end to West Germany's claims to Berlin, recognition by Bonn of both the border between East and West Germany and the border between East Germany and Poland, the Oder-Neisse line.

23 Executions

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — A firing squad in Bujumbura, capital of Burundi, executed 23 persons for trying to overthrow the government, a broadcast from Bujumbura announced last night. Nineteen of them were soldiers.

Burundi is a small central African country east of the Congo which gained its independence from Belgium in 1962 and has had seven changes of government since. Assassins killed two prime ministers, seriously injured another and a fourth was sent before a firing squad. Col. Michel Micombero, 26, heads the government. He seized power in November 1966.

Criticizes Nixon

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, has criticized the Nixon administration for what he called a switch in policy toward Israel in that state's conflict with Arab nations.

A long-time supporter of Israel, Cardinal Cushing said yesterday efforts of the United States, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union to impose a settlement in the troubled area "may end in calamity for Israel."

The cardinal called for "face-to-face negotiations" between the principals in the conflict.

Moscow Doctrine Is Updated

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist Party published today a sweeping restatement of party doctrine, bringing up to date the Kremlin position on China, Czechoslovakia, the capitalist West and a variety of domestic issues.

The document, called the party theses, is the most important declaration of party attitudes since the last theses were brought out two and one-half years ago.

The new theses are notable chiefly for their restraint on all foreign policy issues, especially on China, which was referred to only indirectly.

In contrast to the last theses, Mao Tse-tung was not mentioned by name, apparently reflecting the new Soviet policy of avoiding anti-Chinese polemics while pursuing diplomatic efforts to establish normal relations.

And Chinese doctrine—the main threat to Moscow's hold on the world communist movement—was criticized only indirectly as "left-wing revisionism" that has permitted nationalism, chauvinism and "militant anti-Sovietism" to flourish.

The 13,000-word document, spread in small type over three and one-half pages of all major Soviet newspapers today, was dedicated to the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth, to be celebrated April 22.

Referring to Czechoslovakia, also indirectly, the theses criticized the short-lived period of liberalism in 1968 as an example of "ideological immaturity and dogmatism."

The only countries attacked by name were the United States and West Germany, but in both cases in milder terms than in the last theses.

"The most aggressive detachments of imperialism," the new document said, "particularly in the United States and the Federal Republic of (West) Germany, have not abandoned their hopes to refight the historical battles of the 20th Century—to take revenge and to hurl socialism (communism) off the summit of world influence."

The futility of imperialism's goals, the theses charged, "has become absolutely obvious in our time."

Striking a pacific note, the document described Soviet foreign policy as being aimed at "guaranteeing peaceful conditions for the building of socialism and communism."

But the document added in the next sentence that "peaceful coexistence at the same time envisages a sharp political, economic and ideological struggle between socialism and capitalism."

Peaceful coexistence also permits "oppressed peoples to use any means for the sake of their liberation, up to and including armed struggle," it added.

This and most other ideas in the new theses were almost verbatim restatements of Soviet attitudes met in the daily official press.

Without mentioning specific factions, the document gave approval to the "upswing of the youth movement, including the student movement."

Only 74 Minutes In Open Session

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

The Sausalito School Distrit board, meeting 143 of its 217 minutes behind closed doors last night, discussed interdistrict transfers, charges against teachers and students and the meaning of the word revolutionary and came to no conclusions on any of them.

The board held a special closed session beginning at 6:30 p.m. to discuss a request by Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Mannell to transfer their daughter out of the district. The closed session also reportedly involved study of the school administration's recommendations on retention or nonretention of teachers and charges made against a teacher and administrators, but Vice Chairman David E. Freedheim said no action resulted from the session.

The board went into open session at 8:11 p.m. and met for 11 minutes before going back behind closed doors, this time to discuss a interdistrict transfer request from Mr. and Mrs. Quinn Millar.

During the quick session before the public, the board approved hiring of two new employees, the retirement of a third and tabled the Mannell request until January at the Mannell's request.

When the board, after 42 minutes, reconvened before a packed house — there because of rumors of some sort of "fireworks" that never materialized — Freedheim announced that the Millar request also had been tabled until the end of January with their approval. He said the closed session involved "charges made against children."

Later, trustee James. E. Muldoon noted the board's frequent closed sessions and said the board "must be extremely careful" not only to avoid violating the Ralph M. Brown Act but also "not to engender suspicion" that it is being violated. Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino had attended the first closed meeting of the evening partly for that reason, school officials indicated.

Part of the promised fireworks came in mild form when James Pockrus, president of the district's teachers association, read a "revolutionary teachers sign-up sheet" which was signed by Martin Luther King Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr., assistant to the principal James T. Toliver Jr., and 23 King teachers.

The statement, written by Toliver, said simply, "Revolution (definition of): To give children the tools to survive and change the oppressive nature of the American system as it exists today."

The reading of the statement sparked a spurt of worrying among some members of the audience about what it meant and what the word revolutionary meant.

Pockrus said it meant what it said, that the teachers at King were committed to giving "children the tools to survive and change."

Freedheim said it was a commitment to teaching and added there were many different kinds of revolution.

Walton said he was pleased with the unity displayed by the statement and said "the staff is committed to living up to our goals of humanization and social responsibility."

Trustee C. Gerald Clear said he agreed with the principle of the statement but would prefer it be expanded to include the phrase "by democratic methods." Muldoon said he would prefer "better phrasing."

The Sausalito School District Board Also:

CEIE — Heard Freedheim challenge criticism from the Citizens for Excellence in Integrated Education that the district was spending too much money and had an excessive teacher-to-pupil cost ratio. Freedheim said that the current budget was set before the board had any idea enrollment would drop by more than 120 students and the board was bound to the budget by law.

GRANT — Authorized Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato to apply for a $14,400 state grant under the Education Improvement Act of 1969.

HIRING — Hired Richard Aston as a teacher at King at $8,612 annually and Geraldine Carter as a classified employee at $2.58 an hour for five hours a day. The board also accepted the retirement of Margaret Moore, a King teacher.

VEHICLES — Authorized sale of a jeep and school bus owned by the district and set 7:30 p.m. Feb. 9 for opening of bids.

FINANCES — Received a report from its finance committee which forecast a possible drop in next year's school budget of about $300,000. School officials emphasized that the budget figure of $1.3 million mentioned last night was only a starting point for budget studies.

New Oil Leakage Spots Coastline

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Oil from the latest seepage in the Santa Barbara Channel has spotted about 22 miles of coastline in Ventura and Santa Barbara counties.

Donald Solanas of the U.S. Geological Survey said after authorities made a six-airplane inspection flight yesterday that still more crude oil lay a few hundred yards offshore.

Solanas estimated that the slick was about 10 per cent as large as that which resulted from a blowout 11 months ago at the same Union Oil Co. offshore drilling rig.

Rain-Soaked Carpet Taken Over Weekend

The carpeting, worth about $870, was taken from Bic's Draperies, police said.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A Laotian charter plane crashed into a mountain today neat Luang Prabang, killing 14 persons, sources reported. There were three survivors.

The plane was going from Vientiane to Luang Prabang, the royal capital. The crash was attributed to bad weather.

A Movement For Black Employees

A proposal for a Black Employees Association in the Sausalito School District to work for "direct black liberation" is being circulated among the district's black teachers and other employees by district community worker Gabe Jackson.

In a page-long explanation of the purpose of such an organization, Jackson said it would focus on black employment, community betterment, black educational systems and governmental procedures. He said it also could organize and direct a cooperative black shopping center and set up scholarship funds for blacks.

The proposal will be discussed at a Jan. 5 meeting of the district's teachers association, Jackson has indicated.

Membership of the association, which eventually would be expanded to the rest of Marin County, then the entire Bay Area, according to Jackson's statement, would be limited to non-whites. If there are any non-blacks considered, the statement says, they must not be a member of any committee, board and the like.

Two Gunmen Rob The Bay Bridge

OAKLAND (AP) — Two gunmen escaped in a shower of bullets with $15,000 but dropped a bag containing $22,000 during a robbery of the toll plaza at San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

The gunmen sprang to action at about 1:25 p.m. yesterday when two Loomis Armored Car Service guards were wheeling a cart of cash bags from the toll plaza to their truck.

The robbers snatched the two top sacks and disarmed one guard, then sprinted toward a parked car.

The other guard fired six shots at the fleeing Negro men. One appeared to have been hit and dropped a money bag. Blood was found on the pavement after the green sedan sped away toward Oakland.

The bridge, opened 33 years ago, was the object of a $48,000 unsolved burglary in its office vault in March 1968.

30 Crash Injuries

CORFU, N.Y. (AP) — A tractor-trailer rammed into the side of a bus loaded with 40 migrant workers at an intersection today. Police said about 30 workers were injured.

Six of the injured were taken by ambulance to St. Jerome's Hospital in Batavia, about 10 miles away from this community east of Buffalo. The others were taken to the hospital by bus. None appeared to be critically hurt, police said.

U.S. Bombers Strike As Yule Truce Nears

SAIGON (AP) — Battlefield action in Vietnam remained at a low level but U.S. B52 bombers made heavy raids along the Cambodian border today as the start of the annual Christmas truce neared.

A three-day Viet Cong cease-fire was scheduled to begin first, at 1 a.m. tomorrow which is 9 a.m. today, Pacific Standard Time. For the allies, the South Vietnamese government proclaimed only a 24-hour truce period beginning at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve, or 2 a.m. PST.

"However," said one source, "we feel that most of the enemy units will probably intensify their resupply efforts during the week under the relative safety of the allied standdown."

In the biggest action reported, South Vietnamese headquarters said 400 government rangers and a column of armored personnel carriers clashed Monday with enemy troops along the Cambodian border in the Mekong Delta 105 miles west of Saigon.

A spokesman said the government force killed 51 of the enemy and government casualties were light.

U.S. forces reported killing 29 enemy in three fights yesterday. Eight Americans were wounded.

Some 35 B52s made heavy raids during the night on North Vietnamese base camps along the Cambodian border. The big bombers dropped more than 1,000 tons of explosives within a mile of the border and about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

The strikes were concentrated in the "Fish Hook" region, a major North Vietnamese staging area and infiltration corridor where the common border of Tay Ninh and Binh Long provinces touches Cambodia.

Assessing the situation from Saigon north to the border, an official source said: "The low level of enemy activity suggests that most of the enemy units have completed the December action period and are returning to a refitting phase in preparation for the next action period."

Another source said that prisoners captured in the area tell their interrogators that there is a widespread shortage of equipment and personnel and that allied operations are causing serious problems.

Enemy gunners brought down two more American helicopters yesterday. A gunship was downed along the Cambodian border 87 miles northeast of Saigon while on a reconnaissance mission near the Bu Dop Special Forces camp, and two crewmen were killed. The second helicopter went down 20 miles southwest of Saigon, wounding four Americans.

The U.S. Command said there were 17 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today. Three of the attacks caused casualties or damage, including one American killed and three wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters said five civilians were killed and 13 wounded in a rocket attack on a populated area near the Duc Lap Special Forces camp, 135 miles northeast of Saigon.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, returned to Saigon last night from the United States. During his brief visit for his son's wedding on Saturday in Haverstraw, N.Y., he also conferred with President Richard M. Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Rental Units Win Favor Of Planners

A 61-unit apartment project for low and moderate income families, called Pilgrim Plaza, won unanimous approval from the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

The development is sponsored by the First Congregational Church of San Rafael on its property at North San Pedro and Merrydale Roads in Los Ranchitos.

Architects Eugene Wedell and David C. Hanchette of Sausalito presented a master plan for 61 apartments, varying in size from studios to three-bedroom units.

Plans include 103 parking spaces, a grass play field and picnic area, two laundry facilities, and a family recreation area.

The project is the initial effort of the Ecumenical Association for Housing, a nonprofit Marin group which provides member organizations — the First Congragational Church is one of them — with financial and professional assistance for building low and moderate income housing.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

SIDEWALKS — Decided that four-foot wide sidewalks would be required along some of the streets inside Marinview Unit 1, off Tennessee Valley Road at Bell Lane. This was a compromise between the developer, who planned no sidewalks at all, and the planning staff, which recommended sidewalks along all streets.

FLOOD PLAIN — Continued until Jan. 12 discussion of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, which would allow property in flood plains to get insurance at lower rates. Commissioners asked staff for information on how the county can comply whth the act, and what the advantages would be.

Nicasio Lake Park Gets Tentative Nod

The barren shores of Nicasio Lake may become the next park in Marin through the combined efforts of the Marin Real Estate Board and the Marin Conell Boy Scouts and the blessing of Marin Municipal Water District.

District directors yesterday gave hesitant approval "in principle" — and asked for more information.

Beautifying the shores of the 869-acre lake is the first target of the project, Robert A. Roumiguiere, president of the real estate group, told the board in a letter.

$500 A YEAR

The realtors will provide $500 a year for four years to buy trees and the scouts will do the planting as a community service project.

Eventually, Roumiguiere said, picnic and sanitary facilities could be constructed and other uses, such as hiking trails, nature study and overnight camping, could be established.

He suggested that community organizations and service clubs could sponsor individual picnic areas around the lake.

Roumiguiere reported a master plan will be prepared by landscape architect William Kapranos before any planting is done.

PLANS ASKED

Robert G. Anderson, president of the water district board, worried that the district might not have enough information and emphasized that approval was "in principle" only until definite plans are submitted.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

SALARIES — Granted a 6 per cent across the board salary increase to all employees. The raises will cost the district an extra $99,552 on its annual payroll of $1,659,216.

STEEL PIPE — Received $9,532 as part of a $137,254 settlement in a steel pipe antitrust suit. So far, the district has received $97,421 of its share of the settlement.

EQUIPMENT — Bought two back hoes from Tide Equipment Co. of Houston for $17,150, including deductions for trade-ins.

PROMOTION — Approved a promotion for Barbara Edwards from junior to senior clerk with a $100 month salary increase, over objections from Anderson, who first worried it was a misprint and then thought it was too much "at this time." Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said the employee has the experience and qualifications.

Director William A. Marcus was absent.

LAKE LEVEL SHOOTS UP IN STORM

The torrential weekend storm which cause havoc in most of Marin was warmly welcomed by Marin Municipal Water District whose reservoirs filled with more than 3.5-billion gallons of new water.

The lakes rose as much as 12.6 feet as rainfall at most of them topped the amount received last year by this time.

The total gain for the storm period was 20 per cent of the district's capacity, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger told the board yesterday.

Ginsberg Loses Poetry Battle To Loudspeaker

MIAMI (AP) — A city official who objected to four-letter words in a poetry reading by Allen Ginsberg drowned him out with music on a public address system last night.

An audience of 1,500 at the Miami Marine Stadium gave the 43-year-old New Yorker a standing ovation when he walked off the stage, unable to make himself heard over the amplified melodies.

"It was open use of profanity," declared Mannie Costa, stadium manager. "It was not for one word but for lots of words."

Ginsberg's father Louis, himself a poet of a more orthodox kind, commented: "I don't approve of profanity. But those who don't want to listen can go away."

The younger Ginsberg departed from his prepared reading list and came on with the blue poem critical of the police and military after he was refused permission to have his father and a rock music group on stage with him.

Teens' Corral Plea To Be Decided Jan. 26

By WAT TAKESHITA

About 20 teen-agers, many of them horse owners, pleaded with the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday to let them keep their animals at a 20-horse stable in Santa Venetia.

The corral occupies about three acres of the Herman Bosch property at 257 Nort San Pedro Road, next to Gallinas School and the Venetia Oaks home for the elderly.

Planning commissioners postponed a decision until Jan. 26 to give Bosch time to establish legal rights to his corral, and to show how he can correct defects so that the stables will not be a nuisance to the neighborhood.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill last month denied Bosch's application for a use permit for 16 horses to be kept at the corral because he said the horses were a nuisance. Bosch appealed, and the teen-agers showed up in force yesterday.

Arthur Wagner, who lives on the property, charged that cows and horses have been on the property since 1910, and the neighbors now complaining came after the horses.

"At this time of year, please don't be a scrooge; be a Santa Claus to all these teen-agers," said Wagner.

Bernard Todman of San Francisco, who keeps two horses there, also supported the teen-agers. Identifying himself as a member of the Marin Sheriff's Posse, Todman declared the horses are clean, and draw no rats. "Horses will never draw flies," Todman asserted. "A dead horse will but not a live one."

Youths and their parents assured the commissioners that fences were repaired, manure was hauled away, and that the stable created no health or dust problem.

They were opposed by Dee Eckles of 37 Meadow Way and C. H. Mentjox of 29 Meadow Drive, who charged that the corral causes odor, rodents and flies.

"The dust in the summer blows right into my house," said Mentjox. "My wife can't hang out the laundry." He said he has counted 22 horses in the stables, and the manure was not removed. Mentjox asserted that his neighbor had killed 10 rats in the neighborhood.

On a motion by Niels Schultz Jr., the commissioners decided to get more information on the legal status of the stable and a statement from Bosch on what corrective measures are possible.

"Such corrections would have to get the approval of the Humane Society and the Sanitation Department," warned Commissioner Jack G. Nixon. "We've heard of good care of horses and that everything's in good shape," said Nixon. "But historically this hasn't been the case."

Last month, both the principal of Gallinas School and a spokesman for Venetia Oaks complained that runaway horses and youngsters riding on school grounds constituted a health hazard and a danger to pedestrians.

Rubbish Pact

Almonte Sanitary District directors last night approved an agreement with the E. D. Martini Co., garbage collectors, to pick up trash at a cost of $1.25 a cubic yard on individual call after the Jan. 1 backyard burning ban goes into effect, Director Edward J. Prosch reported.

Suspect Denies Hub Robbery

Donald Ernest Stewart, 20, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of armed robbery of a San Anselmo service station attendant last Thursday.

A preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow.

Stewart was arrested after the attendant ran for help while the robber was in the station's men's room collecting the money he had ordered the attendant to leave there. The attendant's brother then followed Stewart, arrested him and turned him over to police.

Marijuana Case To Superior Court

Richard J. Fountain, 22, of Novato, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of possessing marijuana Nov. 16. He was told to appear for arraignment Monday.

Fountain was arrested after an off-duty deputy sheriff asked him to move his car from a boat launching ramp in Black Point.

The deputy said he saw what appeared to be a plastic bag of marijuana in Fountain's lap.

Condition Poor

Elinor Mobley, 46, of 20 Maywood Way, San Rafael, was reported in poor condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital, where she was taken this morning for treatment of an overdose of pills.

Novato Panel To Ask For Hike In School Tax Rate

An increase of 85 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in the tax rate for the Novato Unified School District will be recommended to the district board Jan. 5 by its citizens finance advisory committee, committee chairman Wayne Sartains said.

The increase would raise the total tax rate in the district from $5.33 per $100 to $6.18. Of this, $4.28 is the current general operating tax. The boost would be in effect for four years, if the board accepts the committee's recommendation and the voters approve in an election, probably in April, Sartain said.

"The committee discussed other alternatives at its meeting last Thursday and voted unanimously to ask the board to go for the proposed tax rate increase," Sartain added twelve of the 18 committee members were present, he said.

"It boils down that w go for a tax increase or the board must cut some of the school program, and on one on the committee wanted that," he said.

The proposed increase would mean a payment of about $55 extra in school taxes each year for the average household, Sartain said, or between $4.50 and $5 per month.

"This will be hard on people of fixed or low incomes, but it is either that or short changing the children," Sartain said.

The meeting was the first business session of the newly organized committee, and it took the one meeting to decide on asking for the tax increase.

The committee's task had been presented by the district board and school officials, who said district expenses were steadily exceeding income.

Draft Board Gets One In November

One youth was inducted into the armed forces in December by the Marin Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinzer reported today.

He is Kenneth J. Levy of San Francisco.

The county draft quota for December was 16, but the quota is seldom filled. The January quota has not yet been received, apparently because of the new lottery system, Mrs. Kinzer said.

Vatican Sports Painting Of Mao

Church officials, although obviously chagrined, said it would not be taken down.

It was signed "Carnevali, 1969. Alba." Ianfranco Carnevali, a shop owner, said his father, Luigi, 86 painted the picture last March and added: "Of course it's Mao Tse-tung. My father still has the sketches he worked from to make that picture."

"The painting was sent to us as a gift," said the Vatican press spokesman, Msgr. Fausto Vallainc. "We hung it up. That's all."

Car Slips Off Jack; Youth Slightly Hurt

John Lundquist, 17, of San Anselmo, escaped with minor injuries last night when a car he was repairing slipped off a jack and fell on him, police reported.

Lundquist, of 8 Elm Court, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut nose and bruises on the neck and forehead.

Sanitary Board Hires Storm Water Study

Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors last bight hired J. Warren Nute, San Rafael sanitary engineer, to study storm water infiltration into the district's sewer lines, President James G. MacNichols reported.

MacNichols said the cost of the six-month study will not exceed $2,500.

Supervisors Interview For New Careers Job

Two Marin County employees are under consideration for the job of coordinator of the New Careers program, whose former director was fired last week after being arrested for possession of suspected heroin.

Interviewed this morning by the board of supervisors behind closed doors were:

James E. Thompson, 31, of Fairfax, a supervising probation officer. He joined the county probation department six years ago as probation officer and won promotion to his current position two years later. When James Soetaert moved up to assistant probation officer. Thompson has a bachelor's degree in psychology from Ohio State University.

William R. Pryor, 28, of Mill Valley, employment consultant with the Department of Public Social services. He has been with the county for three years after working a year as social worker in Humboldt County and as a logger for two years. He has a bachelor's degree in psychology from Reed College in Portland.

The former coordinator, Michael R. James, 28, of Oakland, was fired after two months on the job when San Francisco police arrested him in the Fillmore area on Dec. 8. The heroin was in balloons he was carrying.

Board Chairman John F. McInnis asked county staff to discuss salaries with the two candidates and when they could start work. The coordinator's post pays $984 per month.

McInnis said the supervisors want to hire a new coordinator at once so that program continuity will not be lost.

If Thompson is hired, he may have to take a cut in pay, from his present salary of $1,166 monthly , whereas Pryor, being paid $860 per month, would get a raise.

Negroes on federally-financed construction projects.

A Senate amendment tacked on to the catch-all appropriation bill would have barred continuation of that program; Nixon termed it unconstitutional and threatened a veto.

The House voted 208-156 to strike the amendment from the bill, and the Senate, weary and ready to quit, finally yielded, too.

In a statement, President Nixon said today:

"I am deeply gratified that the Congress has acted responsibly to allow continuation of the Philadelphia Plan and our program of positive steps to assure equal job opportunity. The members of the Congress who contributed to this wise action have my thanks and congratulations."

Nixon said his administration is determined that "every American should have equal opportunity for new jobs created by the taxes paid by all Americans." He said the right had been "so long denied or given lip service."

Earlier, Senate leaders and budget technicians haggled in the cloakrooms and corridors over the minority employment issue, seeking a way to avoid the threatened veto, a session-prolonging deadlock with the House, or a long debate.

Those prospects could have scuttled the effort to quit before Christmas.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the minority leader, came up with a ploy to undo the snarl.

When Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., called up the amendment that drew the administration opposition, Scott moved to table the measure. That is a parliamentary device which forces an immediate, if indirect, vote on an issue. There can be no debate, and tabling kills the measure involved.

The roll call vote was 39-29 to go along with the House and clear the way for a Christmas holiday.

The appropriations involved were minor, but the bill carried another amendment crucial to the fragile framework with which Congress arranged to end the longest session in six years. That one provides authority for continued spending by government agencies which have not yet received their regular appropriations for the fiscal year which began last June 30.

A veto on the civil rights issue would have killed the spending authority, too, and three major government agencies could not meet their payrolls without it.

The appropriations involved are for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Department of Labor and the foreign aid program. Earlier disputes sidetracked their funds until Congress returns to work.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the $19.9 billion appropriation for health, education and labor programs —which Nixon has threatened to veto also because it exceeds his budget—will be the first order of business when the 91st Congress begins its second session Jan. 19.

Trailer Collision Hurts Novato Woman

Barbara Anne Stahlbaum, 31, of 27 Lawrence Drive, Novato, has been treated at Novato General Hospital for a bruised left shoulder and knee suffered when her car hit a guard rail and trailer on Highway 101 near the Miller Creek overcrossing.

The patrol said she was driving south Sunday and swerved to avoid hitting slowing traffic. She hit the center guard rail, caromed into a trailer being towed by a car driven by Edward Joseph Lupien, 52, of Laytonville, then back into the guard rail. The mishap was at 11:45 a.m.

secution against him had influenced any of his votes in the Senate.

"There is not a scintilla of truth to that," he said.

"We've waited a long, long time," Williams said—but he added the prolonged federal inquiry is not unusual in a "politically sensitive" case.

Williams said he does not know whether the internal Revenue Service has any plan to institute civil proceedings against Dodd, or whether the agency will seek an adjustment of his income tax returns.

Dodd wrily added that he will not use the fund raising dinner system to finance his reelection bid. "I wish I'd never had any," he added.

Dodd faces at least one rival for the Democratic nomination. Joseph Duffy, national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, has declared he plans to run. Another entrant is likely to go into the campaign with backing of the Connecticut Democratic organization.

Williams said the investigation of Dodd's tax returns for the years 1961-65 related to every phase of his economic life." He also said Dodd had waived the statute of limitations with respect to the probe of his tax returns.

Unions To Hold Off On Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department said today four unions involved in a nationwide wage dispute with the railroad industry have pledged not to call any strikes before Jan. 19 when new talks are scheduled.

A spokesman also said the railroad industry had promised it will not try to impose any changes in working conditions during that period.

Negotiators for the four AFL-CIO shop craft unions representing machinists, electricians, sheet metal workers and boilermakers last week rejected a tentative settlement after a vote by union members.

Youth Booked In Car Theft Case

Sausalito and San Francisco police last night arrested a San Francisco man wanted in Sausalito on suspicion of car theft.

Booked at the Hall of Justice was Brian Henry Rutley, also known as Gary Lee DeCoss, 21. He posted $1,792 bail and is to be arraigned at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Sausalito police said he was wanted on a warrant in connection with a November 1968 car theft in Sausalito. He was arrested at the Union Square garage in San Francisco at 7 p.m. yesterday by San Francisco police accompanied by a Sausalito detective.

State Department and the Thai government denied the charges.

A number of Senate critics of the Vietnam War fear U.S. military aid to Thailand and neighboring Laos could result in the United States being dragged into another Vietnam there.

As a result, the Senate voted last week to ban dispatch of American combat troops to the two countries without specific prior congressional approval.

Later in his trip, Agnew visits Australia and New Zealand, countries which were targets of an abortive Senate move to give the President standoy authority to impose import quotas. Meat imports from the two countries have been among the main targets of congressional efforts to tighten quotas.

Agnew will be accompanied on the trip by his wife and Apollo 10 astronauts, Eugene Cernan, who will go as far as Bangkok, and Thomas Stafford, who will go the rest of the way.

Here is the itinerary:

Dec. 26—Washington to Honolulu.

Dec. 27—Honolulu to Guam, arriving Dec. 28 after crossing International Date Line.

Dec. 29—Guam to Manila.

Jan. 2—Manila to Taipei, Formosa.

Jan. 3—Taipei to Bangkok.

Jan. 5—Bangkok to Katmandu, Nepal.

Jan. 6—Katmandu to Kabuel, Afghanistan.

Jan. 7—Kabul to Kuala Lampur, Malaysia.

Jan. 9—Kuala Lampur to Singapore.

Jan. 11—Singapore to Bali, Indonesia.

Jan. 13—Bali to Canberra, Australia.

Jan. 15—Canberra to Auckland, New Zealand.

Jan. 17—Auckland to Honolulu, crossing International Date Line and arriving Jan. 16.

Jan. 19—Honolulu to Washington.

Storms Keep Telephone Crews Busy

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has been plagued with twice as many service calls since the start of the storm last week, a spokesman said today, but there has been no serious damage or major interruption of service.

There were 350 calls in Central Marin over the weekend, William A. Chaffin, assistant manager in San Rafael reported.

Falling trees, wet wires and the danger of water getting inside cables were crews' biggest problems, Chaffin said. Men are working longer shifts, he added.

There were about 200 calls in Southern Marin, Steven C. Kanewske, Mill Valley manager, reported. There was only one incident of major interruption Saturday when 50 customers in the Stinson Beach area were without service from midnight until 10 a.m. after a tree sliced through a cable, he said.

All storm-produced trouble should be cleared today, he added.

All-Woman Jury Convicts Four In Holdup Trial

An all-female jury in Marin Superior Court deliberated about 11 hours yesterday before finding four San Francisco men guilty of holding up a bartender at Smitty's Tavern in Sausalito Oct. 17.

Convicted of armed robbery were Kenneth Earl Armstrong, 26; Isaac Junior Jenkins, 19; Willie L. Lee, 20, and John Allen Nalls, 19.

At the conclusion of the first trial in Marin's new Hall of Justice at the Civic Center, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner set sentencing for the four men for Jan. 12. All will remain in jail.

They were convicted of robbing Daniel Joseph Salata of $75 at gunpoint. The men were arrested in Millbrae less than three hours after the holdup after an all-points bulletin describing the suspects and their car had been flashed to officers.

Marin Seeks Flood Help From State

Marin supervisors asked Gov. Ronald Reagan today to declare Marin a disaster area because of weekend flooding.

Agreement by Reagan would make the county eligible for state and federal disaster relief.

Supervisor Michael Wornum announced that stores in the Bel Aire shopping center were "virtually wiped out."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he was "amazed" at the extent of the storm damage, particularly in view of the fact that the first phase of the Corte Madera flood control project is completed. Arrigoni asked for a complete report on damages in Ross Valley.

"It is disturbing that we are this far along in the project a still get no relief," he said. He said residential areas should be declared disaster areas, along with county streets and commercial areas.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said Nave shopping area also suffered damage, largely because of drains plugged by mattresses and tires being dumped into creek beds.

Chairman John F. McInnis asked county staff to compile a list of damage in the county and to study possible legislation to clamp down on people who dump debris into creeks.

ROGERS

American proposals were fair, comprehensive and consistent with the resolution the U.N. Security Council voted after the five-day June 1967 war, calling for a solution to the problem.

at the Arabs are enemies of the United States and somehow we are appeasing them," he said. "That isn't true."

The U.S. position, Rogers said, is that it hopes the Mideast rivals can begin negotiating a settlement under the U.N. resolution. As a Security Council member, the United States has a right to put forward suggestions on getting the parties together to work out a solution, he said.

The U.S. proposals for a long term peace between Israel and her neighbors, Egypt and Jordan, envision Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands she took in the 1967 war, some provision for security of her frontiers, help in taking care of Arab refugees and a partial internationalization of Jerusalem.

Novato Sanitary Board Approves Financing Study

A $4,000 study aimed at ways of funding new sewer projects was authorized last night by the Novato Sanitary District board.

The study, to be made following an engineering study of new sewer work, is scheduled for completion in May, according to Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph.

An engineering study by Jenks and Adamson of Palo Alto is now underway to recommend projects required to bring the district's discharge of effluents up to standards required by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board. This study is due the end of next month, Joseph said.

The financial study, by Bartle Wells of San Francisco, will recommend ways of financing projects recommended under the Jenks and Adamson study, Joseph said.

The board also authorized three district plant operators to attend a 44-week course on plant operation to be taught by the City of Santa Rosa and sponsored by the water quality control board under a federal grant.

MIDEAST

as the way to peace in the Middle East.

Sir Anthony Eden, now Lord Avon, made the suggestion in an article written for the Daily Express of London. He said Italy and Yugoslavia settled their 1953 dispute over Trieste after eight months of secret talks in London, and this method could serve as a precedent for the Middle East.

THEN MINISTER

Eden was prime minister at the time of the 1956 Suez invasion by British and French and Israeli troops. He resigned after the outcry the invasion raised.

In New York the Big Four U.N. representatives went into session again in their search for a Middle East peace formula acceptable to both Israel and the Arab states.

It was the first session of the ambassadors since the United States last Thursday put forward at the Waldorf Towers apartment of U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost a plan for a Jordanian-Israeli settlement.

Israel rejected two U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace agreement, calling them "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

Relations between Israel and the United States, home of the Jewish nation's chief financial backers, were at their lowest point in years.

REJECTS PROPOSALS

A communique issued after a special session yesterday of Premier Golda Meir's Cabinet said the American proposals for peace between Israel and Jordan and between Israel and Egypt contain nothing obliging the Arabs to end hostilities and would encourage Arab hostility.

The statement said Israel "views with concern the disquieting initiatives of the United States at the four power talks" on the Middle East which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France have been holding in New York and Washington. The Cabinet said Israel will not be the victim of power politics and will reject any attempt to impose a settlement on it.

Mrs. Meir, in an interview with the New York Times after the cabinet session, said the U.S. government was asking Israel "to start all over again, as though it were 1948." She also said Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was not told of the Israeli-Jordanian proposal during his visit to Washington last week although he conferred with Secretary of State William P. Rogers only 30 hours before the plan was submitted to the Big Four in New York.

"It don't think it's Washington's intention," Mrs. Meir said, "but each new proposal only encourages the Arabs to increase their military activity across the borders."

LATEST PROPOSAL

The latest American proposal reportedly calls for Israeli withdrawal from the west bank of the Jordan River, captured during the 1967 war, and Israeli-Jordanian talks on the status of Jerusalem, which Israel unified after taking the Arab sector from Jordan during the 1967 fighting. The United States advocates internationalization of the city, but Israel says it will never give it up.

The earlier proposal for an Israeli-Egyptian settlement called for Israel's withdrawal from Egyptian territory, a "binding" Egyptian commitment to establish peace, and negotiations on the future of Sharm el Sheikh, at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Political informants said the Israeli cabinet was particularly concerned that the U.S. proposals had no provision for dealing with the Arab guerrillas.

Although they angered the Israelis, the U.S. proposals seemed to do nothing to raise Washington's stock with the Arabs. Egypt rejected the prescription for it, Jordan was silent on the plan for it, and one source at the Arab summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, commented: "America has been against us all along. How do we know this is not some subtle new trick?"

OBITUARIES

Jack Orville Miller Dies

Jack Orville Miller, 69, of Tomales, a retired construction worker, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Washington County, Ark., Miller had lived in Oklahoma for 20 years before coming to California. He had lived in Tomales for 25 years and retired from construction work in 1962.

He is survived by his wife, Carrie; six sons, Wallace E. and Leslie M. Miller of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Jack B. Miller of Phoenix, Ariz.; Ted L. Miller of San Francisco, and Edward W. and Jerry L. Miller of Santa Rosa; a daughter, Shirley A. Miller of Winlock, Wash.; three sisters, Mrs. Judy Ledbetter of San Anselmo, Mrs. Nola Baugh of Oklahoma City, and Audrey Rachel of Citrus Heights, Sacramento County; 27 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

ROY BARBER

Roy L. Barber of Lucas Valley, a retired San Francisco banker, collapsed and died yesterday while dancing at a party at a local retirement home. Barber, 75, had been in failing health for some time.

A native of San Rafael, Barber had lived all his life in the Bay Area and returned to Marin County about 18 years ago, making his home on Lucas Valley Road. He and his wife, Ruth K. Barber, lived in the Loma Alta School, which they had purchased and remodeled into an attractive home.

Prior to his retirement, Barber was employed with the American Trust Co. in San Francisco (now Wells Fargo Bank) and for many years was manager of the company's Savings Union branch on Market Street. He was a Navy veteran of World War I.

He was a member of the Free and Accepted Masons and of Sons In Retirement, a senior citizens organization.

In addition to his wife, Barber is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joan Meyer of Los Altos; a son, Allen R. Barber of Santa Rosa; a sister, Helen MacFarland, and nine grandchildren.

Private funeral was held today in San Rafael.

GEORGE I. HAMMA

George I. Hamma, 56, of 206 Bella Vista Avenue, Belvedere, a San Francisco insurance adjustor, died yesterday at his home, apparently of a heart attack, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

The coroner's report said Hamma's cousin, R. Newell McMullen, who lived with him, heard Hamma fall in his bedroom and found him collapsed on the floor. Hamma had a prior history of heart disease, the coroner's report said.

Born in California, Hamma had lived in Marin County for 20 years. He was employed by the Underwriters adjustment Co. in San Francisco.

He was a member of the Marine Underwriters of San Francisco and the Honorable Order of Blue Goose International, San Francisco Pond, an insurance fraternity.

He also is survived by a half-sister, Frances Schupp and two half-brothers, Robert and Donald Hamma.

Memorial service will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be private. Contributions to a favorite charity are prefered.

ARTHUR FRENGLE

Arthur J. Frengle, 67, a long-time Petaluma barber, died yesterday at a Santa Rosa hospital after a years illness.

A native of Chicago, he moved to Cotati as a child and to Petaluma in 1927. A barber for 45 years, he had operated a shop in the former Continental Hotel building and eight years ago opened Art's Barber shop in Liberty Street. He sold the shop and retired two months ago.

Fengle, of 26 Liberty Street, was a member of the Barbers Union, Petaluma Local 419.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; a daughter, Mrs. Clarice Vyenielo of Petaluma; a sister, Mrs. Marie Mattson of Petaluma; a brother, Herbert Frengle of Hillsboro, Ore.; and six grandchildren.

DANIEL LAMBERTI

Daniel David Lamberti, 64, operator of the Arnold Palmer Putting Course in San Rafael, collapsed and died in the golf course office yesterday afternoon.

The coroner's office said death came from an apparent heart attack about 30 minutes before Lamberti's body was found at 4:25 p.m. by George W. Moore of San Rafael.

Lamberti, of 1400 Lincoln Avenue, Apartment 5, was a retired Air Force master sergeant. A native of Staten Island, N.Y., he had lived in California 12 years and in Marin six years. He had run the putting course at 55 Vivian Way for two years.

He was a member of Morton Lodge No. 63, Free and Accepted Masons of Hampstead, N.Y., Long Island Scottish Rite Bodies of Rockville Center, N.Y. and the Islam Temple Shrine.

Lamberti is survived by his wife, Kathleen.

Funeral will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be at Staten Island, N.Y.

LEWIS ROUNDTREE

Lewis Allen Roundtree, 78, a Petaluma resident for four years, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in Boistfort, Wash., he worked as a lumberjack in that area for several years and moved to Oklahoma in 1920. In 1941 he moved to California and worked as a ranch foreman in Yuba and Sutter counties.

In 1942 Roundtree returned to Washington and the lumber industry as a millwright for the Scott lumber Co. He retired in 1964 and moved to Petaluma.

Roundtree was a member of the International Wood Workers of America and Santa Rosa Moose Lodge 358.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Ruby Bond of Chico, Mrs. Nora Cunningham and Mrs. Juanita Howard, both of Santa Rosa; a son, Martin Roundtree of Chico; a stepdaughter, Evelyn Kettenring of Seattle, Wash.; two stepsons, Ralph Baucom of Los Angeles and Merle Cox of Toledo, Wash.; two sisters, Mrs. Addie Highnote of Chimacum, Wash., and Mrs. Agnes Keller of Centralia, Wash.; 26 grandchildren

Funeral was held today at the Sorensen funeral home, Petaluma. Burial will be tomorrow at the Green Acres Memorial Gardens, Bloomington, San Bernadino County.

Supervisors Interview For New Careers Job

Two Marin County employees are under consideration for the job of coordinator of the New Careers program, whose former director was fired last week after being arrested for possession of suspected heroin.

Interviewed this morning by the board of supervisors behind closed doors were:

James E. Thompson, 31, of Fairfax, a supervising probation officer. He joined the county probation department six years ago as probation officer and won promotion to his current position two years later. When James Soetaert moved up to assistant probation officer. Thompson has a bachelor's degree in psychology from Ohio State University.

William R. Pryor, 28, of Mill Valley, employment consultant with the Department of Public Social services. He has been with the county for three years after working a year as social worker in Humboldt County and as a logger for two years. He has a bachelor's degree in psychology from Reed College in Portland.

The former coordinator, Michael R. James, 28, of Oakland, was fired after two months on the job when San Francisco police arrested him in the Fillmore area on Dec. 8. The heroin was in balloons he was carrying.

Board Chairman John F. McInnis asked county staff to discuss salaries with the two candidates and when they could start work. The coordinator's post pays $984 per month.

McInnis said the supervisors want to hire a new coordinator at once so that program continuity will not be lost.

If Thompson is hired, he may have to take a cut in pay, from his present salary of $1,166 monthly , whereas Pryor, being paid $860 per month, would get a raise.

CONGRESS

Negroes on federally - financed construction projects.

A Senate amendment tacked on to the catch-all appropriation bill would have barred continuation of that program; Nixon termed it unconstitutional and threatened a veto.

The House voted 208-156 to strike the amendment from the bill, and the Senate, weary and ready to quit, finally yielded, too.

In a statement, President Nixon said today:

"I am deeply gratified that the Congress has acted responsibly to allow continuation of the Philadelphia Plan and our program of positive steps to assure equal job opportunity. The members of the Congress who contributed to this wise action have my thanks and congratulations."

Nixon said his administration is determined that "every American should have equal opportunity for new jobs created by the taxes paid by all Americans." He said the right had been "so long denied or given lip service."

Earlier, Senate leaders and budget technicians haggled in the cloakrooms and corridors over the minority employment issue, seeking a way to avoid the threatened veto, a session-prolonging deadlock with the House, or a long debate.

Those prospects could have scuttled the effort to quit before Christmas.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the minority leader, came up with a ploy to undo the snarl.

When Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., called up the amendment that drew the administration opposition, Scott moved to table the measure. That is a parliamentary device which forces an immediate, if indirect, vote on an issue. There can be no debate, and tabling kills the measure involved.

The roll call vote was 39-29 to go along with the House and clear the way for a Christmas holiday.

The appropriations involved were minor, but the bill carried another amendment crucial to the fragile framework with which Congress arranged to end the longest session in six years. That one provides authority for continued spending by government agencies which have not yet received their regular appropriations for the fiscal year which began last June 30.

A veto on the civil rights issue would have killed the spending authority, too, and three major government agencies could not meet their payrolls without it.

The appropriations involved are for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Department of Labor and the foreign aid program. Earlier disputes sidetracked their funds until Congress returns to work.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the $19.9 billion appropriation for health, education and labor programs —which Nixon has threatened to veto also because it exceeds his budget—will be the first order of business when the 91st Congress begins its second session Jan. 19.

Trailer Collision Hurts Novato Woman

Barbara Anne Stahlbaum, 31, of 27 Lawrence Drive, Novato, has been treated at Novato General Hospital for a bruised left shoulder and knee suffered when her car hit a guard rail and trailer on Highway 101 near the Miller Creek overcrossing.

The patrol said she was driving south Sunday and swerved to avoid hitting slowing traffic. She hit the center guard rail, caromed into a trailer being towed by a car driven by Edward Joseph Lupien, 52, of Laytonville, then back into the guard rail. The mishap was at 11:45 a.m.

"There is not a scintilla of truth to that," he said.

"We've waited a long, long time," Williams said—but he added the prolonged federal inquiry is not unusual in a "politically sensitive" case.

Williams said he does not know whether the internal Revenue Service has any plan to institute civil proceedings against Dodd, or whether the agency will seek an adjustment of his income tax returns.

Dodd wrily added that he will not use the fund raising dinner system to finance his reelection bid. "I wish I'd never had any," he added.

Dodd faces at least one rival for the Democratic nomination. Joseph Duffy, national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, has declared he plans to run. Another entrant is likely to go into the campaign with backing of the Connecticut Democratic organization.

Williams said the investigation of Dodd's tax returns for the years 1961-65 related to every phase of his economic life." He also said Dodd had waived the statute of limitations with respect to the probe of his tax returns.

Unions To Hold Off On Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department said today four unions involved in a nationwide wage dispute with the railroad industry have pledged not to call any strikes before Jan. 19 when new talks are scheduled.

A spokesman also said the railroad industry had promised it will not try to impose any changes in working conditions during that period.

Negotiators for the four AFL-CIO shop craft unions representing machinists, electricians, sheet metal workers and boilermakers last week rejected a tentative settlement after a vote by union members.

Youth Booked In Car Theft Case

Sausalito and San Francisco police last night arrested a San Francisco man wanted in Sausalito on suspicion of car theft.

Booked at the Hall of Justice was Brian Henry Rutley, also known as Gary Lee DeCoss, 21. He posted $1,792 bail and is to be arraigned at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Sausalito police said he was wanted on a warrant in connection with a November 1968 car theft in Sausalito. He was arrested at the Union Square garage in San Francisco at 7 p.m. yesterday by San Francisco police accompanied by a Sausalito detective.

AGNEW

State Department and the Thai government denied the charges.

A number of senate critics of the Vietnam War fear U.S. military aid to Thailand and neighboring Laos could result in the United States being dragged into another Vietnam there.

As a result, the Senate voted last week to ban dispatch of American combat troops to the two countries without specific prior congressional approval.

Later in his trip, Agnew visits Australia and New Zealand, countries which were targets of an abortive Senate move to give the President standby authority to impose import quotas. Meat imports from the two countries have been among the main targets of congressional efforts to tighten quotas.

Agnew will be accompanied on the trip by his wife and Apollo 10 astronauts, Eugene Cernan, who will go as far as Bangkok, and Thomas Stafford, who will go the rest of the way.

Here is the itinerary:

Dec. 26—Washington to Honolulu.

Dec. 27—Honolulu to Guam, arriving Dec. 28 after crossing International Date Line.

Dec. 29—Guam to Manila.

Jan. 2—Manila to Taipei, Formosa.

Jan. 3—Taipei to Bangkok.

Jan. 5—Bangkok to Katmandu, Nepal.

Jan. 6—Katmandu to Kabuel, Afghanistan.

Jan. 7—Kabul to Kuala Lampur, Malaysia.

Jan. 9—Kuala Lampur to Singapore.

Jan. 11—Singapore to Bali, Indonesia.

Jan. 13—Bali to Canberra, Australia.

Jan. 15—Canberra to Auckland, New Zealand.

Jan. 17—Auckland to Honolulu, crossing International Date Line and arriving Jan. 16.

Jan. 19—Honolulu to Washington.

Storms Keep Telephone Crews Busy

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has been plagued with twice as many service calls since the start of the storm last week, a spokesman said today, but there has been no serious damage or major interruption of service.

There were 350 calls in Central Marin over the weekend, William A. Chaffin, assistant manager in San Rafael reported.

Falling trees, wet wires and the danger of water getting inside cables were crews' biggest problems, Chaffin said. Men are working longer shifts, he added.

There were about 200 calls in Southern Marin, Steven C. Kanewske, Mill Valley manager, reported. There was only one incident of major interruption Saturday when 50 customers in the Stinson Beach area were without service from midnight until 10 a.m. after a tree sliced through a cable, he said.

All storm-produced trouble should be cleared today, he added.

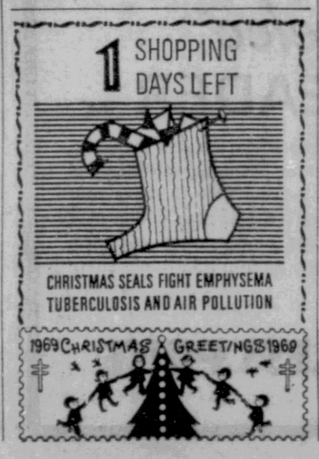
All-Woman Jury Convicts Four In Holdup Trial

An all-female jury in Marin Superior Court deliberated about 11 hours yesterday before finding four San Francisco men guilty of holding up a bartender at Smitty's Tavern in Sausalito Oct. 17.

Convicted of armed robbery were Kenneth Earl Armstrong, 26; Isaac Junior Jenkins, 19; Willie L. Lee, 20, and John Allen Nalls, 19.

At the conclusion of the first trial in Marin's new Hall of Justice at the Civic Center, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner set sentencing for the four men for Jan. 12. All will remain in jail.

They were convicted of robbing Daniel Joseph Salata of $75 at gunpoint. The men were arrested in Millbrae less than three hours after the holdup after an all-points bulletin describing the suspects and their car had been flashed to officers.



Marin Seeks Flood Help From State

Marin supervisors asked Gov. Ronald Reagan today to declare Marin a disaster area because of weekend flooding.

Agreement by Reagan would make the county eligible for state and federal disaster relief.

Supervisor Michael Wornum announced that stores in the Bel Aire shopping center were "virtually wiped out."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he was "amazed" at the extent of the storm damage, particularly in view of the fact that the first phase of the Corte Madera flood control project is completed. Arrigoni asked for a complete report on damages in Ross Valley.

"It is disturbing that we are this far along in the project a still get no relief," he said. He said residential areas should be declared disaster areas, along with county streets and commercial areas.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said Nave shopping area also suffered damage, largely because of drains plugged by mattresses and tires being dumped into creek beds.

Chairman John F. McInnis asked county staff to compile a list of damage in the county and to study possible legislation to clamp down on people who dump debris into creeks.

American proposals were fair, comprehensive and consistent with the resolution the U.N. Security Council voted after the five-day June 1967 war, calling for a solution to the problem.

at the Arabs are enemies of the United States and somehow we are appeasing them," he said. "That isn't true."

The U.S. position, Rogers said, is that it hopes the Mideast rivals can begin negotiating a settlement under the U.N. resolution. As a Security Council member, the United States has a right to put forward suggestions on getting the parties together to work out a solution, he said.

The U.S. proposals for a long term peace between Israel and her neighbors, Egypt and Jordan, envision Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands she took in the 1967 war, some provision for security of her frontiers, help in taking care of Arab refugees and a partial internationalization of Jerusalem.

Novato Sanitary Board Approves Financing Study

A $4,000 study aimed at ways of funding new sewer projects was authorized last night by the Novato Sanitary District board.

The study, to be made following an engineering study of new sewer work, is scheduled for completion in May, according to Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph.

An engineering study by Jenks and Adamson of Palo Alto is now underway to recommend projects required to bring the district's discharge of effluents up to standards required by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board. This study is due the end of next month, Joseph said.

The financial study, by Bartle Wells of San Francisco, will recommend ways of financing projects recommended under the Jenks and Adamson study, Joseph said.

The board also authorized three district plant operators to attend a 44-week course on plant operation to be taught by the City of Santa Rosa and sponsored by the water quality control board under a federal grant.

as the way to peace in the Middle East.

Sir Anthony Eden, now Lord Avon, made the suggestion in an article written for the Daily Express of London. He said Italy and Yugoslavia settled their 1953 dispute over Trieste after eight months of secret talks in London, and this method could serve as a precedent for the Middle East.

THEN MINISTER

Eden was prime minister at the time of the 1956 Suez invasion by British and French and Israeli troops. He resigned after the outcry the invasion raised.

In New York the Big Four U.N. representatives went into session again in their search for a Middle East peace formula acceptable to both Israel and the Arab states.

It was the first session of the ambassadors since the United States last Thursday put forward at the Waldorf Towers apartment of U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost a plan for a Jordanian-Israeli settlement.

Israel rejected two U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace agreement, calling them "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

Relations between Israel and the United States, home of the Jewish nation's chief financial backers, were at their lowest point in years.

REJECTS PROPOSALS

A communique issued after a special session yesterday of Premier Golda Meir's Cabinet said the American proposals for peace between Israel and Jordan and between Israel and Egypt contain nothing obliging the Arabs to end hostilities and would encourage Arab hostility.

The statement said Israel "views with concern the disquieting initiatives of the United States at the four power talks" on the Middle East which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France have been holding in New York and Washington. The Cabinet said Israel will not be the victim of power politics and will reject any attempt to impose a settlement on it.

Mrs. Meir, in an interview with the New York Times after the cabinet session, said the U.S. government was asking Israel "to start all over again, as though it were 1948." She also said Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was not told of the Israeli-Jordanian proposal during his visit to Washington last week although he conferred with Secretary of State William P. Rogers only 30 hours before the plan was submitted to the Big Four in New York.

"It don't think it's Washington's intention," Mrs. Meir said, "but each new proposal only encourages the Arabs to increase their military activity across the borders."

LATEST PROPOSAL

The latest American proposal reportedly calls for Israeli withdrawal from the west bank of the Jordan River, captured during the 1967 war, and Israeli-Jordanian talks on the status of Jerusalem, which Israel unified after taking the Arab sector from Jordan during the 1967 fighting. The United States advocates internationalization of the city, but Israel says it will never give it up.

The earlier proposal for an Israeli-Egyptian settlement called for Israel's withdrawal from Egyptian territory, a "binding" Egyptian commitment to establish peace, and negotiations on the future of Sharm el Sheikh, at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Political informants said the Israeli cabinet was particularly concerned that the U.S. proposals had no provision for dealing with the Arab guerrillas.

Although they angered the Israelis, the U.S. proposals seemed to do nothing to raise Washington's stock with the Arabs. Egypt rejected the prescription for it, Jordan was silent on the plan for it, and one source at the Arab summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, commented: "America has been against us all along. How do we know this is not some subtle new trick?"

OBITUARIES

Jack Orville Miller Dies

Jack Orville Miller, 69, of Tomales, a retired construction worker, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Washington County, Ark., Miller had lived in Oklahoma for 20 years before coming to California. He had lived in Tomales for 25 years and retired from construction work in 1962.

He is survived by his wife, Carrie; six sons, Wallace E. and Leslie M. Miller of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Jack B. Miller of Phoenix, Ariz.; Ted L. Miller of San Francisco, and Edward W. and Jerry L. Miller of Santa Rosa; a daughter, Shirley A. Miller of Winlock, Wash.; three sisters, Mrs. Judy Ledbetter of San Anselmo, Mrs. Nola Baugh of Oklahoma City, and Audrey Rachel of Citrus Heights, Sacramento County; 27 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

ROY BARBER

Roy L. Barber of Lucas Valley, a retired San Francisco banker, collapsed and died yesterday while dancing at a party at a local retirement home. Barber, 75, had been in failing health for some time.

A native of San Rafael, Barber had lived all his life in the Bay Area and returned to Marin County about 18 years ago, making his home on Lucas Valley Road. He and his wife, Ruth K. Barber, lived in the Loma Alta School, which they had purchased and remodeled into an attractive home.

Prior to his retirement, Barber was employed with the American Trust Co. in San Francisco (now Wells Fargo Bank) and for many years was manager of the company's Savings Union branch on Market Street. He was a Navy veteran of World War I.

He was a member of the Free and Accepted Masons and of Sons In Retirement, a senior citizens organization.

In addition to his wife, Barber is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joan Meyer of Los Altos; a son, Allen R. Barber of Santa Rosa; a sister, Helen MacFarland, and nine grandchildren.

Private funeral was held today in San Rafael.

GEORGE I. HAMMA

George I. Hamma, 56, of 206 Bella Vista Avenue, Belvedere, a San Francisco insurance adjustor, died yesterday at his home, apparently of a heart attack, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

The coroner's report said Hamma's cousin, R. Newell McMullen, who lived with him, heard Hamma fall in his bedroom and found him collapsed on the floor. Hamma had a prior history of heart disease, the coroner's report said.

Born in California, Hamma had lived in Marin County for 20 years. He was employed by the Underwriters adjustment Co. in San Francisco.

He was a member of the Marine Underwriters of San Francisco and the Honorable Order of Blue Goose International, San Francisco Pond, an insurance fraternity.

He also is survived by a half-sister, Frances Schupp and two half-brothers, Robert and Donald Hamma.

Memorial service will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be private. Contributions to a favorite charity are prefered.

ARTHUR FRENGLE

Arthur J. Frengle, 67, a long-time Petaluma barber, died yesterday at a Santa Rosa hospital after a years illness.

A native of Chicago, he moved to Cotati as a child and to Petaluma in 1927. A barber for 45 years, he had operated a shop in the former Continental Hotel building and eight years ago opened Art's Barber shop in Liberty Street. He sold the shop and retired two months ago.

Fengle, of 26 Liberty Street, was a member of the Barbers Union, Petaluma Local 419.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; a daughter, Mrs. Clarice Vyenielo of Petaluma; a sister, Mrs. Marie Mattson of Petaluma; a brother, Herbert Frengle of Hillsboro, Ore.; and six grandchildren.

DANIEL LAMBERTI

Daniel David Lamberti, 64, operator of the Arnold Palmer Putting Course in San Rafael, collapsed and died in the golf course office yesterday afternoon.

The coroner's office said death came from an apparent heart attack about 30 minutes before Lamberti's body was found at 4:25 p.m. by George W. Moore of San Rafael.

Lamberti, of 1400 Lincoln Avenue, Apartment 5, was a retired Air Force master sergeant. A native of Staten Island, N.Y., he had lived in California 12 years and in Marin six years. He had run the putting course at 55 Vivian Way for two years.

He was a member of Morton Lodge No. 63, Free and Accepted Masons of Hampstead, N.Y., Long Island Scottish Rite Bodies of Rockville Center, N.Y. and the Islam Temple Shrine.

Lamberti is survived by his wife, Kathleen.

Funeral will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be at Staten Island, N.Y.

LEWIS ROUNDTREE

Lewis Allen Roundtree, 78, a Petaluma resident for four years, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in Boistfort, Wash., he worked as a lumberjack in that area for several years and moved to Oklahoma in 1920. In 1941 he moved to California and worked as a ranch foreman in Yuba and Sutter counties.

In 1942 Roundtree returned to Washington and the lumber industry as a millwright for the Scott lumber Co. He retired in 1964 and moved to Petaluma.

Roundtree was a member of the International Wood Workers of America and Santa Rosa Moose Lodge 358.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Ruby Bond of Chico, Mrs. Nora Cunningham and Mrs. Juanita Howard, both of Santa Rosa; a son, Martin Roundtree of Chico; a stepdaughter, Evelyn Kettenring of Seattle, Wash.; two stepsons, Ralph Baucom of Los Angeles and Merle Cox of Toledo, Wash.; two sisters, Mrs. Addie Hignote of Chimacum, Wash., and Mrs. Agnes Keller of Centralia, Wash.; 26 grandchildren

Funeral was held today at the Sorensen funeral home, Petaluma. Burial will be tomorrow at the Green Acres Memorial Gardens, Bloomington, San Bernadino County.

Wall Street Tax Selling Takes Over

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market today gave way to normal year-end selling pressures in the absence of motivating news. Trading was fairly active.

Turnover exceeded 13,000,000 shares, about a million shares ahead of yesterday's pace.

Of the 1,639 issues crossing the tape, 956 declined and 416 advanced.

Electronics encountered considerable pressure although there were a number of point-sized losers in other major groups. Among the most active stocks were Household Finance, Gulf Oil, Great Western Financial, City Investing, American Telephone, Occidental Petroleum, and Magnavox. Magnavox traded an early block of 93,900 shares at 34 off 5-8.

IBM, off 6 yesterday, continued to lose ground, while General Dynamics was among the softest aerospace issues. General Dynamics is the principal contractor for the F-111 swingwing jet which the Air Force grounded following a crash this week.

Chemicals ranged to more than a point lower in a few instances, with steels, motors and rails generally traded in narrow ranges.

Airlines, conglomerates and gold mining shares traded in small ranges and without a definite pattern. But the oil group ranged to more than a point or so in each direction.

Plastic Boom

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Plastics production in Holland in 1968 totaled 546,000 metric tons, compared with 372,000 tons in 1967 and 294,000 tons in 1966.

Germany Enjoys Investment Boom

BONN (UPI)—Private investment abroad by West Germans is starting to boom, but most of the increase is going into other European industrial nations instead of to developing areas.

Investment in Europe tripled during 1968, but investment in developing areas remained at about the previous year's level, according to the Institute of German Industry.

Direct private investment abroad by West Germans in 1968 totalled 1,572,000 marks ($393 million), a jump of 59.3 per cent over 1967.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Dana Corp. A Good Long Term Purchase

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Several years ago I bought Dana Corp. at 26½ (adjusted for a 2-for-1 split). What can you tell me about this stock? — J. S.

A. Dana, an automotive parts producer, is what is known as a cyclical stock. These issues fluctuate in conjunction with business cycles and generally command a lower multiple of earnings. Dana earned $2.52 in the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, but sells at only 9x this figure.

Investors, anticipating a recessionary economy in the early part of 1970, are simply unwilling at this juncture to pay more for an issue that might be held back under these conditions.

However, Dana, because of its product mix, is not as vulnerable as some parts suppliers. An approximate breakdown of sales shows almost half of its output going to truck manufacturers for original equipment and only one-quarter to passenger car makers. About one-fifth of its dollar volume is from the expanding and profitable replacement parts business.

Particularly promising is Dana International which has produced a 30 per cent compounded annual growth rate in the past four years. Foreign operations are expected to continue strong in the next several years. A generous yield and above-average potential combine to make Dana an attractive long-term holding.

Q. Can you possibly explain why Southern California Edison's original participating preferred consistently sells for less than the common? It would seem to me it should always be as good, and better in a depression.—C.W.

A In theory this is true, but given the unique and conflicting factors now influencing the bond and stock markets, this has not been borne out. With high-grade bonds now being issued bearing 9 per cent and better rates, income investors are upgrading their portfolios from preferreds to bonds.

This tends to counteract the effects a recessionary economy would usually have on trading levels. In a manner of speaking, though, the preferred has been stronger than the common. Common shares have declined 28 per cent this year, while the participating preferred has given up only 14 per cent.

Plastic Furniture

NEW YORK (UPI)—Plastics have become a hot item in the furniture industry. By 1980, plastics may even displace wood as the number one material used in manufacture of furniture, according to Stauffer Chemical Company.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

7-11 Food Store In Tam Valley Is Now Under New Management

New franchise owners of the 7-11 Food Store at 371 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, which from my observation seems to be one of the busiest stores of this chain in Marin, are Carl and Mary Harrison of Terra Linda.

They formerly operated a store in Fairfield. Previous franchise owners Wayne and Mary Kite have opened a delicatessen in Petaluma.

New district manager named by the Southland Corp. for the 35 franchised Seven-Eleven Stores in the North Bay district, which comprises Marin, Sonoma, Solano and Napa Counties is Leslie Cunningham of Healdsburg.

ROBERT N. THALMAN of San Rafael, head of First Western Bank's electronic data processing center in Northern California, has been promoted to vice president. Before joining the bank in 1963 he was associated with the Radio Corp. of America service center and with a New York brokerage firm as security analyst.

Miss Robeson

MARY ROBSON is new beauty and fashion director of Holiday Magic, Inc., San Rafael. The position is newly created and brings her to the San Rafael headquarters from the eastern United States whers she was senior director of training. Before joining Holiday Magic in 1965 she was a buyer for a New York fashion store.

GLENN C. BASSETT JR. of Tiburon, senior vice president, international division, of Wells Fargo Bank, has been named 1970-71 president of the San Francisco chapter of Pan American Society. He joined the bank in 1956.

Tom Gaona of Fairfax, account executive with Compton Advertising, Inc., San Francisco, has been appointed to coordinate information programs and publicity for the society for the coming year.

RICHARD S. TAYLOR of Mill Valley has been appointed a corporate vice president of the Reynold C. Johnson Co., with responsibility for the company's business management department. He is an 18-year veteran in the automobile business. Before joining Johnson (Volkswagen distributor for Northern California, northern Nevada and Utah) in 1962 he served as regional manager for Volvo Distribution, Inc.

ALAN LAKEIN of Mill Valley, a specialist in San Francisco in time management, will again schedule one of his one-day seminars for businessmen (on making better use of their time) each month through the first half of 1970. These are being held both at the University of California Extension in San Francisco and at the Sheraton Palace Hotel.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA EXTENSION'S "Continuing Education in Management" seminars, lecture programs and evening classes on varied business topics for the winter quarter start Jan. 5.

One-day seminar topics include insurance for the small business, managerial obsolescence and organizational change, pension and profit sharing plan fundamentals, risk management and income tax shelter benefits of real estate investments. There are several longer seminars. Multilecture programs include estate planning, business management, land investment, communications and human relations.

A large number of evening classes covering accounting to administrative training for secretaries is being scheduled. Winter bulletin may be secured from the Berkeley campus or the Extension Center in San Francisco.

REAL ESTATE: Two new additions to the sales staff of Robert A. Lindskog, San Rafael, are Martin P. Bruton of Fairfax and Joseph Howard Say of Mill Valley. Before starting out in real estate last March, Bruton was eight years as sales trainer for General Electric Co. Say has been in real estate about the same length of time and was previously in stocks and bonds with Burnham and Co., San Francisco. They met in real estate school.

Wall Street Tax Selling Takes Over

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market today gave way to normal year-end selling pressures in the absence of motivating news. Trading was fairly active.

Turnover exceeded 13,000,000 shares, about a million shares ahead of yesterday's pace.

Of the 1,639 issues crossing the tape, 956 declined and 416 advanced.

Electronics encountered considerable pressure although there were a number of point-sized losers in other major groups. Among the most active stocks were Household Finance, Gulf Oil, Great Western Financial, City Investing, American Telephone, Occidental Petroleum, and Magnavox. Magnavox traded an early block of 93,900 shares at 34 off 5-8.

IBM, off 6 yesterday, continued to lose ground, while General Dynamics was among the softest aerospace issues. General Dynamics is the principal contractor for the F-111 swingwing jet which the Air Force grounded following a crash this week.

Chemicals ranged to more than a point lower in a few instances, with steels, motors and rails generally traded in narrow ranges.

Airlines, conglomerates and gold mining shares traded in small ranges and without a definite pattern. But the oil group ranged to more than a point or so in each direction.

Plastic Boom

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Plastics production in Holland in 1968 totaled 546,000 metric tons, compared with 372,000 tons in 1967 and 294,000 tons in 1966.

NOT FOR FANCY BISCUITS

Shane Huestoh holds intricate "biscuits" — anodes for magnetron tubes — fresh from the automated brazing oven at Raytheon Co.'s microwave and power tube division at Waltham, Mass. The anodes are key part of magnetron tubes that generate microwave energy for instant cooking of food in oven manufactured by Amana Refrigation, Inc., a Raytheon subsidiary.

Germany Enjoys Investment Boom

BONN (UPI)—Private investment abroad by West Germans is starting to boom, but most of the increase is going into other European industrial nations instead of to developing areas.

Investment in Europe tripled during 1968, but investment in developing areas remained at about the previous year's level, according to the Institute of German Industry.

Direct private investment abroad by West Germans in 1968 totalled 1,572,000 marks ($393 million), a jump of 59.3 per cent over 1967.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Dana Corp. A Good Long Term Purchase

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Several years ago I bought Dana Corp. at 26½ (adjusted for a 2-for-1 split). What can you tell me about this stock? — J. S.

A. Dana, an automotive parts producer, is what is known as a cyclical stock. These issues fluctuate in conjunction with business cycles and generally command a lower multiple of earnings. Dana earned $2.52 in the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, but sells at only 9x this figure.

Investors, anticipating a recessionary economy in the early part of 1970, are simply unwilling at this juncture to pay more for an issue that might be held back under these conditions.

However, Dana, because of its product mix, is not as vulnerable as some parts suppliers. An approximate breakdown of sales shows almost half of its output going to truck manufacturers for original equipment and only one-quarter to passenger car makers. About one-fifth of its dollar volume is from the expanding and profitable replacement parts business.

Particularly promising is Dana International which has produced a 30 per cent compounded annual growth rate in the past four years. Foreign operations are expected to continue strong in the next several years. A generous yield and above-average potential combine to make Dana an attractive long-term holding.

Q. Can you possibly explain why Southern California Edison's original participating preferred consistently sells for less than the common? It would seem to me it should always be as good, and better in a depression.—C.W.

A In theory this is true, but given the unique and conflicting factors now influencing the bond and stock markets, this has not been borne out. With high-grade bonds now being issued bearing 9 per cent and better rates, income investors are upgrading their portfolios from preferreds to bonds.

This tends to counteract the effects a recessionary economy would usually have on trading levels. In a manner of speaking, though, the preferred has been stronger than the common. Common shares have declined 28 per cent this year, while the participating preferred has given up only 14 per cent.

Plastic Furniture

NEW YORK (UPI)—Plastics have become a hot item in the furniture industry. By 1980, plastics may even displace wood as the number one material used in manufacture of furniture, according to Stauffer Chemical Company.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

7-11 Food Store In Tam Valley Is Now Under New Management

New franchise owners of the 7-11 Food Store at 371 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, which from my observation seems to be one of the busiest stores of this chain in Marin, are Carl and Mary Harrison of Terra Linda.

They formerly operated a store in Fairfield. Previous franchise owners Wayne and Mary Kite have opened a delicatessen in Petaluma.

New district manager named by the Southland Corp. for the 35 franchised Seven-Eleven Stores in the North Bay district, which comprises Marin, Sonoma, Solano and Napa Counties is Leslie Cunningham of Healdsburg.

ROBERT N. THALMAN of San Rafael, head of First Western Bank's electronic data processing center in Northern California, has been promoted to vice president. Before joining the bank in 1963 he was associated with the Radio Corp. of America service center and with a New York brokerage firm as security analyst.

Miss Robeson

MARY ROBSON is new beauty and fashion director of Holiday Magic, Inc., San Rafael. The position is newly created and brings her to the San Rafael headquarters from the eastern United States whers she was senior director of training. Before joining Holiday Magic in 1965 she was a buyer for a New York fashion store.

GLENN C. BASSETT JR. of Tiburon, senior vice president, international division, of Wells Fargo Bank, has been named 1970-71 president of the San Francisco chapter of Pan American Society. He joined the bank in 1956.

Tom Gaona of Fairfax, account executive with Compton Advertising, Inc., San Francisco, has been appointed to coordinate information programs and publicity for the society for the coming year.

RICHARD S. TAYLOR of Mill Valley has been appointed a corporate vice president of the Reynold C. Johnson Co., with responsibility for the company's business management department. He is an 18-year veteran in the automobile business. Before joining Johnson (Volkswagen distributor for Northern California, northern Nevada and Utah) in 1962 he served as regional manager for Volvo Distribution, Inc.

ALAN LAKEIN of Mill Valley, a specialist in San Francisco in time management, will again schedule one of his one-day seminars for businessmen (on making better use of their time) each month through the first half of 1970. These are being held both at the University of California Extension in San Francisco and at the Sheraton Palace Hotel.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA EXTENSION'S "Continuing Education in Management" seminars, lecture programs and evening classes on varied business topics for the winter quarter start Jan. 5.

One-day seminar topics include insurance for the small business, managerial obsolescence and organizational change, pension and profit sharing plan fundamentals, risk management and income tax shelter benefits of real estate investments. There are several longer seminars. Multilecture programs include estate planning, business management, land investment, communications and human relations.

A large number of evening classes covering accounting to administrative training for secretaries is being scheduled. Winter bulletin may be secured from the Berkeley campus or the Extension Center in San Francisco.

REAL ESTATE: Two new additions to the sales staff of Robert A. Lindskog, San Rafael, are Martin P. Bruton of Fairfax and Joseph Howard Say of Mill Valley. Before starting out in real estate last March, Bruton was eight years as sales trainer for General Electric Co. Say has been in real estate about the same length of time and was previously in stocks and bonds with Burnham and Co., San Francisco. They met in real estate school.

Backing Of Morals Attack Rejected

Backed by almost unanimous, sometimes angry audience opposition, the Fairfax City Council last night decided 3-2 against supporting Carl J. Brown's attack on the nation's morals.

Only Mayor Francis J. O'Connell and Councilman Robert R. Souza favored supporting the statement made by the San Rafael Board of Education member at a board meeting Dec. 9.

"You refused to even recognize the Vietnam moratorium, argued George R. Weddleton of 18 Kent Avenue. "You're doing the same thing you're always saying you won't do."

Glen Dines, an author, wondered why the council should support Brown's statement and O'Connell replied the "school people will come before the city council for support of their bond issue."

"I feel very strongly about what Carl wrote," O'Connell continued, maintaining that Brown, a teacher and coach at Sir Francis Drake High School, had put the issue on a local basis.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson argued the main target of the article was long hair and the controversy over coaches being able to regulate the length of athletes' hair.

"I don't think the city council should jump into the middle of the hair controversy," agreed Councilman Frank J. Egger.

Josh Roth of 180 Bothin Road suggested, "If you want to comment, why don't you go to one of their (the school district's) P-TA meetings?"

If the council insists on endorsing Brown's statement, Roth said, it should include both sides.

Cameron Wilson, son of the councilman, commented, "You're trying to show you're concerned about the moral decay in the U.S. Many people in Fairfax believe Vietnam also causes moral decay."

Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet urged reading Brown's original statement, not just the report in the Independent-Journal, before making a decision.

However, O'Connell was eager to vote last night and Weddleton also urged an immediate decision. "It would show a lot of people where some of the council members are," he said.

Fairfax Clears Way For A Youth Panel

Seeking to end an hour-long, fruitless discussion — second this month — on the possibility of forming a youth commission, the Fairfax City Council last night agreed to let young people work on plans and goals for such a group.

The council first discussed a commission Dec. 8 and agreed then to ask young people to attend a meeting. About a dozen turned out last night and Mayor Francis J. O'Connell commented, "I don't think it shows much enthusiasm."

He asked repeatedly, "What exactly do you want?" and the young people answered as often that they didn't know and that they were unable to speak for all Fairfax teen-agers.

Teen-ager Josh Rogh of 180 Bothin Road, although objecting that a youth commission would have no real power, said, "There can be a lot for a lot of kids."

Lee Nelder, an adult, of 241 Marinda Drive, said he believed the main problem was lack of recreation but noted that Little League, Pop Warner League and basketball league teams were available to the young people.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson maintained a youth commission would be far more than recreation — "They should be involved in the total picture."

Several young people suggested they get together before the next meeting to come up with something definite and O'Connell readily agreed, commenting on the lack of progress in the second hour of talks.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

SMOKING — Postponed a decision on outlawing smoking in the Pavilion as requested by the parks and recreation commission to protect the floor after several persons worried it would mean young peopel would want to go in and out at dances.

PARK USE — Sent back to the parks and recreation commission a proposal to make it the official group to decide on permitting use of the park after dark. Currently the city clerk is charged with the responsibility. The council asked for a study of rules governing park and pavilion use day and night.

TITLE SEARCH — Approved spending $300 for a preliminary title search on the city park, preparatory to development of a master plan, although City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said he doesn't believe it is needed now.

Emergency Action On Refuse Rates

The Fairfax City Council last night adopted an emergency ordinance setting new rates for refuse collection, effective when the burning ban begins Jan. 1.

The rate per collection for an additional permanent 32-gallon can will be 40 cents in both flat and hilly areas of the city. Formerly the rate was 25 cents in the flat area and 50 cents in the hill area.

The rate per collection for rubbish and dry waste in disposable containers such as boxes or plastic bags will be 35 cents in the flat zone and 40 cents in the hill zone. The disposable containers must be placed at the curb.

Albert E. Gately, chairman of the planning commission, protested making the additional service optional, asking instead for a flat rate for all with unlimited collection.

"If you do not do it, you're going to have it (refuse) in the creek," he warned.

The council agreed to review the rates and possible illegal dumping in six months.

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Post Office, which runs the telephone service, says it has perfected a system of "secret alarms" to detect hooligans damaging equipment in public phone booths.

Industrial Lot To Be Studied

An application for a 10-lot industrial subdivision on Francisco Boulevard near the Marin Rod and Gun Club will be considered at 7:30 p.m. today by the San Rafael Planning Commission at city hall.

The commission will also review a reported lack of andscaping at the Mission Branch of the San Rafael Post Office and consider an application to reaise the Holiday Inn sign 10 feet.

Also on the agenda is an application for a McDonald's Drive-In at 2110 Fourth Street.

St. Vincent's Party

The San Rafael Rotary Club yesterday entertained 45 boys and staff from St. Vincent's School for Boys, Marinwood, at a Christmas party. The San Rafael High School stage band provided music and a woman Santa Claus distributed Christmas gifts.

Nixons Plan A Family Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon are planning a private family dinner for Christmas Day, joined only by daughter Tricia and Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the former president.

The Nixons' younger daughter, Julie, and husband David Eisenhower are in Belgium visiting David's parents, Ambassador and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

Constance Stuart, Mrs. Nixon's staff director, said there will be no guests at the Christmas dinner, but the President and Mrs. Nixon will call a few friends to extend season's greetings.

Weapons Stolen In Corte Madera

A burglar stole three rifles, two handguns and a shotgun yesterday after prying open a sliding glass door at the residence of Barry Baldwin, 246 Summit Drive, Corte Madera police reported.

The guns were valued at $670. Taken were a 9-millimeter Browning pistol, a .300 Savage lever-action rifle, a Winchester model 12 shotgun, a Browning 7-millimeter magnum automatic rifle, a Ruger .41 caliber revolver and a .22 Winchester automatic rifle with a Browning telescopic sight. The burglar entered between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., police said.

Bennett Loses Suit To Regain State Job

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — William M. Bennett, former California public utilities commissioner from Kent Woodlands, has lost a court test of his claim that he was entitled to his old job as a deputy attorney general.

Superior Court Judge Charles S. Peery ruled yesterday that Bennett had been out of his attorney general post too long to exercise his right to return to it.

The law allows mandatory reinstatement only if an employee "shall return to his former (civil service) position within four years after vacation his former position," Peery noted.

But Bennett, the judge said, left the position in 1959 to join the PUC, thus had "been out of civil service for a period of approximately 10 years."

Bennett, a Democrat, was not reappointed to the PUC last January by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He then applied to Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch for his old job. When Lynch turned him down, Bennett sued.

San Franciscan Is Injured In Accident

Elsie Carson, 60, of San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for head bruises and a broken arm suffered when the car in which she was riding slid into a rock embankment on the Lincoln Avenue ramp to Highway 101 in San Rafael.

The California Highway Patrol said the car in the 10:45 a.m. accident was driven by Barbara Nicholson Harbinson, 36, of 2 Shanley Lane, Ross.

$1 Million Courthouse Drive Opens

Mrs. Roger Olmsted of Kentfield today launched a campaign to form a committee of 1,000, each of whom would give $1,000 toward purchase of the Marin County Courthouse for conversion into a "Center for Experimental Education and Human Resources."

Mrs. Olmsted announced the San Francisco Foundation has agreed to serve as receiving foundation for funds for the project.

She hopes the committee through the foundation, will be successful bidder for the courthouse property when it is put up for public sale by the county supervisors on Feb. 10.

The $1 million she hopes to raise through the committee would more than meet the $750,000 minimum price set by the supervisors. A bid of $750,000 has been entered by an as-yet-unidentified developer.

Additional money would be used to do whatever remodeling and structural strengthening proves necessary to make the courthouse and its annex useable, Mrs. Olmsted said.

She pointed out that gifts to the San Francisco Foundation for the purchase would be tax-deductible. The foundation's address is 425 California Street, San Francisco.

Mrs. Olmsted has proposed that the property be used for a school for both children and adults offering studies not usually found in the public schools, a research center on Marin history, and a preventive medical center. It might also include a library branch, she suggested.

Balcony Plan Denied To Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Board of Design last night rejected plans by Terres A. Ronneberg of 38 Mariner Green Drive to build a balcony and enclose the existing deck at his residence.

The board felt the balcony would infringe on neighbor's privacy, reported Town Clerk Betty S. Behel.

Several young people suggested they get together before the next meeting to come up with something definite and O'Connell readily agreed, commenting on the lack of progress in the second hour of talks.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

SMOKING — Postponed a decision on outlawing smoking in the Pavilion as requested by the parks and recreation commission to protect the floor after several persons worried it would mean young peopel would want to go in and out at dances.

PARK USE — Sent back to the parks and recreation commission a proposal to make it the official group to decide on permitting use of the park after dark. Currently the city clerk is charged with the responsibility. The council asked for a study of rules governing park and pavilion use day and night.

TITLE SEARCH — Approved spending $300 for a preliminary title search on the city park, preparatory to development of a master plan, although City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said he doesn't believe it is needed now.

TOOLS — Opposed the increase in commute books prices on the Golden Gate Bridge.

Emergency Action On Refuse Rates

The Fairfax City Council last night adopted an emergency ordinance setting new rates for refuse collection, effective when the burning ban begins Jan. 1.

The rate per collection for an additional permanent 32-gallon can will be 40 cents in both flat and hilly areas of the city. Formerly the rate was 25 cents in the flat area and 50 cents in the hill area.

The rate per collection for rubbish and dry waste in disposable containers such as boxes or plastic bags will be 35 cents in the flat zone and 40 cents in the hill zone. The disposable containers must be placed at the curb.

Albert E. Gately, chairman of the planning commission, protested making the additional service optional, asking instead for a flat rate for all with unlimited collection.

"If you do not do it, you're going to have it (refuse) in the creek," he warned.

The council agreed to review the rates and possible illegal dumping in six months.

Alarm System

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Post Office, which runs the telephone service, says it has perfected a system of "secret alarms" to detect hooligans damaging equipment in public phone booths.

Nixons Plan A Family Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon are planning a private family dinner for Christmas Day, joined only by daughter Tricia and Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the former president.

The Nixons' younger daughter, Julie, and husband David Eisenhower are in Belgium visiting David's parents, Ambassador and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

Constance Stuart, Mrs. Nixon's staff director, said there will be no guests at the Christmas dinner, but the President and Mrs. Nixon will call a few friends to extend season's greetings.

Weapons Stolen In Corte Madera

A burglar stole three rifles, two handguns and a shotgun yesterday after prying open a sliding glass door at the residence of Barry Baldwin, 246 Summit Drive, Corte Madera police reported.

The guns were valued at $670. Taken were a 9-millimeter Browning pistol, a .300 Savage lever-action rifle, a Winchester model 12 shotgun, a Browning 7-millimeter magnum automatic rifle, a Ruger .41 caliber revolver and a .22 Winchester automatic rifle with a Browning telescopic sight. The burglar entered between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., police said.

Increase In Vandalism Spurs Plans

Increasing vandalism to trees and landscaping, including the theft of Christmas trees, led trustees of the Sausalito-Marin-City Sanitary District last night to take steps to increase security at its main plant, board President Cyril G. Hansen reported today.

Hansen said the board discussed installation of a burglar alarm system at the plant, which is in Fort Baker just outside the Sausalito city limits, and also authorized plant operator William C. Dabner to install new lighting in the plant's parking area.

The Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District board also:

ELECTION — Reelected Hansen as predident and retained Edwin S. Long as board secretary.

BIDS — Rejected three bids, the lowest at $5,700, to repair a sewer line between Richardson Street and the Main Street pumping station. The work has been estimated to cost $3,500.

WHISKEY SPRINGS — Began study of sewer and water requirements of the planned apartment development on the old American Distillery grounds.

TRANSFER — Passed a resolution transferring $8,800 from the district's general fund to pay interest on outstanding bonds in 1970.

The Average Pot Smoker Conventional

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The average marijuana smoker in San Francisco is a "reasonably conventional" adult, say two sociologists who interviewed a random sample of 1,104 persons between the ages of 18 and 80.

Marijuana smoking is far more than just a social activity of wayward young people, concluded Dr. Glen Mellinger and Dean Manheimer, who operate Family Research Services in Berkeley.

The year-long survey, concluded in 1968 and released yesterday reported that 143 of the persons interviewed had smoked marijuana and that 33 of them had tried the mind-bending drug LSD.

Comparing the percentages with the entire San Francisco population over 18, which totals 580,000, the survey would indicate that 71,000 persons have tried marijuana and 17,000 have tried LSD.

The survey did not tally how often persons smoked marijuana, only whether they had ever tried it. The marijuana question was only one of many mental health queries in the interviews, the pollsters said.

Only San Francisco residents were interviewed. A similar survey is under way in Contra Costa County.

The pollsters found, in interviews averaging 90 minutes for each of the 1,104, that those in the 18-to-34 age group were more likely to have smoked marijuana.

Marijuana was more popular, the survey showed, among heavy drinkers and heavy smokers, single women living away from home and persons willing to accept medication, such as a tranquilizer, from a friend rather than solely from a doctor.

Marijuana smoking was likely to occur, the pollsters said, among people who were born outside the United States, do not drink or smoke, and those who have strong religious ties.

From the results, Manheimer and Mellinger drew this profile of the average marijuana smoker in San Francisco:

They claim some religious ties, smoked less than a pack of ordinary cigarettes a day, were not heavy drinkers, were employed, were neither very hedonistic nor given to self-denial and seemed "reasonably conventional."

Results of the survey, conducted for the Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute at the University of California Medical School with funds from the U.S. Public Health Service, were published in the December issue of Science, a technical journal.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

'There Is No China Problem —The Problem Is Taiwan'

The Christmas season is a time when we give more than usual thought to those who, for whatever reason, suffer from injustice, from ignorance, from poverty.

We think of the starving children of Biafra, of the unfortunate civilians in South Vietnam who are victimized by armies of both sides, and of the fact that even our own government has never really done right by the Indians.

There are, of course, many others in the world who suffer because of one form or another of repression or denial.

THE PLIGHT of one such people to whom Americans have given scarcely a thought was called to our attention by an "appeal to members of the United Nations" which came in the mail.

It came from the United Formosans in America for Independence. It is particularly timely because it was just 20 years ago this month that the Chinese Nationalists under Chiang Kai-shek took over the island of Formosa and transformed it overnight into "Nationalist China."

Chiang's armies in Southern China had collapsed before the advance of communist forces from the north. The crowning blow was the defection to the Reds of some 40,000 Nationalist troops in Yunnan province.

Chiang, his government, and the remains of his army fled to Formosa (Taiwan), a big island about 100 miles off the China coast — after first dispatching the government's gold abroad in U. S. Air Force planes. Some two million Chinese loyal to Chiang also took refuge there to escape the communists.

With the protection of the United States, Chiang and these Chinese have since remained undisturbed on Formosa — renamed "Nationalist China."

FORMOSA, HOWEVER, did not become part of Chiang's China until the World War II settlement after the defeat of Japan. Over the centuries it had been under the rule, in turn, of Spain, the Netherlands, China and Japan — with a brief period of independence in the 17th Century. The Japanese won it in the Sino-Japanese War of 1895.

Its residents — before Chiang and his followers arrived — were predominantly descendants of Chinese who fled there to oppose the Manchu emperors in the 17th Century, plus aboriginal inhabitants of Indonesian origin.

THE UNITED FORMOSANS in America for Independence declare in their "appeal":

"When Chiang Kai-shek and the remnants of his army fled to Taiwan . . . (they) quickly imposed their control over the 12 million Taiwanese and Taiwan was converted into one of the most efficient and horrifying police states of the post-war period. What Chiang calls free China is in fact an artificially created government staffed by Chinese Nationalist exiles. . . .

"Denied a government of their own, the genuine aspirations and interests of the 12 million Taiwanese are too often forgotten and neglected. . . .

"There is, in fact, no China problem. China exists as a communist state on the Mainland. The real problem is Taiwan. . . .

"Taiwan is neither free nor China, and the Taiwanese people have no desire to be part of China. . . . It must be free and independent."

SO, IN A SEASON when we feel most keenly concerns for our fellow men, perhaps we should consider the plight of people whose identity has been submerged in that of "Nationalist China."

It is but another facet of the unrealistic China policy of the United States.

Facts To Support Implications Needed

Carl Brown implied some teachers "baby sit." Carl Brown implied permissiveness is running our schools. Some facts, please. Who, where, and what is permissiveness?

These sly implications is one of the reasons we have Reagan for governor. Does it all boil down to the coaches and long hair? Speak up, man. You have our eyes, ears and our undivided attention. Tell us coach, is it the long hair, if not then what is it? Some facts please.

Sample Of What's Deplored In Schools

I, for one, would appreciate your giving us a look, similar to that of Carl Brown (who gets our vote) in the I-J, Dec. 15. I suggest that a sample of what Mr. Brown deplores is contained in the article on page 6 of the Dec. 15 issue relating to the events at the Old Mill School. Is it necessary to have a poorly groomed group of 18-year olds from Antioch College, Ohio, posed as examples to our 6-year olds? They have these children deciding what they will learn, and disciplining themselves and each other. We will have trouble getting the next generation down out of the trees.

We Need To Be Neighbor's Keeper

Re: your article, Page 3, Dec. 15, "27 Burglaries During Last Week."

To me it seems that things have come to a pretty pass, when a person cannot leave his home locked and unattended without having it broken into. I speak from experience as I have been burglarized four times in the last four months. . . .

First, it seems that the drug situation is the cause for most of the burglaries, enough has been said about this and I say no more.

Second: I feel that the sheriff's office has not been given the cooperation that it should have, both from the citizens of Marin County and those whose responsibility it is to prosecute those who have been apprehended redhanded. It has come to my attention that there have been good men who have left the sheriff's office because after risking their lives to apprehend a criminal he has been released for some minor technicality or lack of cooperation from those whose duty it is to prosecute. These criminals will go right back to what they were doing before.

May I make a suggestion? If every resident will notify his close neighbors that this situation exists and if he sees any strange activities at his neighbor's, strange people ringing door bells, unfamiliar trucks parked in driveways, etc., notify the local police or the sheriff's office immediately. . .

We all seem to be a little apathetic about these things until they happen to us. . . .

A classic example of this apathy is a recent case where a truck backed up to a home, completely stripped it while the lady next door worked in her garden and observed the whole operation, but did not report it.

Expresses Thanks To Carl Brown

The undersigned would like to express thanks to Mr. Carl J. Brown for his wonderful message which appeared in the Independent-Journal Dec. 10. Those who know me real well know of my interest in schools and athletics.

I also want to say that the editorial which appeared in the Independent-Journal Monday, Dec. 15 supporting Mr. Carl Brown was excellent.

I congratulate you and hope everyone reads it.

Student Complains Of School Coverage

I would really like to know what you have against San Rafael High School. We get the world's worst sports coverage — while Terra Linda, Redwood, etc. — get a half page (at least) every day.

Not only do we get poor sports coverage; our homecoming queen candidates were so blurred together in your picture that they weren't even recognizable — even to close friends.

Also: when we do get good coverage, it is only to tell the world about the latest marijuana arrest, for example; hence our name — "hippie high."

Why don't you try to tell more about our good things, such as; our spirit at the football games, our cleaning up our school after Novato made a mess out of it (students got out in the pouring rain to do so), and our hard work on our homecoming floats — just to name a few; rather than "headlines" about a few students who get into trouble: . . .

Forget Bonds, Taxes; Permissiveness Does

I'm glad to see that a courageous teacher like Carl J. Brown has finally spoken out. It's nice to know that we don't have to vote for school bonds and tax increases. My conscience rests at ease. Forget about teacher pay raises. Let the overcrowded classes continue. We don't need those extra school supplies and equipment. We have him now. Permissiveness.

This revelation will bring us joy. We don't have to deal with the real problems in the world. We have made our own world. But, sometime soon the real world will make itself known. At that time, no such easy outs will be available.

Parking Troubles Ahead: Another Reason For Mass Transportation

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Hard to park this Christmas week?

You're just caught in the sort of jam that will be a daily affair in a few years. Christmas will be the time of year when you will have to leave your car at home to go shopping.

Or you will pay a hefty fee to park if you still are able to insist that where you go, so goes your car.

The signs are everywhere that the crunch is on. We paid $2.50 to park just for dinner the other night. And shoppers in some Los Angeles supermarkets have to whiz through their buying to beat the markets' half-hour limit on free parking.

KEEP IN MIND that the number of cars registered in the nation, now about 100 million, is expected to go up 50 per cent in no more than 15 years.

This also will mean the cost of parking downtown will continue to soar. Commuters now pay $300 to $1,000 a year to shed their cars during work in major cities.

Columnist Sylvia Porter reports the parking industry estimate that $9 billion will be spent in the next decade building new parking spaces. And she notes that your car is parked an average of more than 95 per cent of the time.

It all adds up to one more good reason to end the national mania for the private car, expecially in urban areas.

COLLEGE STUDENTS should have reached the point in their intellectual development where they can be entrusted to exercise some free judgment. But our assumption was jarred recently by a College of Marin student who asked us for help on his assignment.

He said he was supposed to show how big business tends to undermine the bay-saving role of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

What disturbed us was that he was not asked to determine if this were the case, but rather was expected to swallow his instructor's bias. Why couldn't the student have been given the chance to study the matter on his own, so he could reach an independent conclusion?

CALIFORNIA'S economy has been enriched by a rich flow of aerospace contracts. The extent of the flow, as spelled out in a report by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, is staggering.

This decade alone, NASA has pumped $10.961 billion in prime contracts into California. To put this in perspective, New York placed second with $2.632 billion.

Other states, however, have started to cut into California's dominance, and we got only 34.1 per cent of the prime contracts last fiscal year. This was the lowest share this decade, down from a peak of more than 45 per cent in fiscal 1965.

Bitter Christmas In Vietnam For Forgotten American Soldiers

WASHINGTON — This will surely be the bleakest of Christmases to those Americans who carry the rifle in Vietnam — but let them know at least that there are those among us who have not forgotten them and never will.

It is no longer chic — or even permissible, in some circles — to wave the flag. Still, it is not yet an indictable offense to salute those men across the world who have fought so brave and so lonely a fight with so little honor from a country whose loudest politicians and shrillest commentators are so busily engaged in demeaning them and the cause in which they serve.

The doughs, the dogfaces, the G.I. Joes might well be pardoned if it appeared to them that we back here were so preoccupied with the alleged excesses somewhere of a possibly combat-maddened handful of soldiers that we had no compassion or thought to spare for the hundreds of thousands whose quiet and dogged gallantry has had no parallel in all the history of warfare.

IT IS AN "unpopular war," as one can hear every day from New Left senators whose "sensitivity" is so often self-proclaimed and whose concern for those who die in war stops so oddly short of these, our own troops, so it is that one must wonder whether the forward lines in Vietnam can hope for a single Christmas remembrance apart from that of the President and those from immediate next of kin here at home.

Perhaps not. But history has a long memory and it may yet come about that self-sacrifice and duty done in this war will be no badge of un-hip disgrace in the years ahead. And let them know, too, that it was not ever thus and that, as an impossible square English writer called Dickens once observed, there are also such things as the ghosts of Christmas past and future.

ONE MAN recalls a Christmas of 26 years ago, when other American troops stood far from home in the wet and special blackness of an English wintertime while their superior officers in a headquarters called Cossack were making the plan for the invasion of occupied France. We, too, were gone away; but, so achingly unlike the generation of infantrymen now in Vietnam, we had a united nation at our backs and we had the glowing, the unforgettable, privilege of the remembrance of those who had stayed here at home.

So it was that in England then no man could really be alone on Christmas Eve. Every material thing was in short supply — and most of all whiskey. But every material thing (and every spiritual thing, too), however scanty, was shared out gladly from man to man, and for that matter from English civilian to American soldier. And so all through the enveloping darkness there shone the great light of comradeship and shared hope that is so poignantly denied today to those who stand alone in Vietnam.

WHAT WE HAVE done to these, the least of us in terms of privilege, of comfort and of elementary compassion withheld, will stain our heritage for generations to come. This it will surely do, irrespective of history's ultimate verdict upon the wisdom of the war itself. For these, the non-"kids" who have borne the ghastly burden of our first action-at-arms ever to be refused even the pity of so many of the unengaged, will at length present us with a moral bill for which no repayment can ever be made.

The season of Christmas is no time for recriminations; but one observer cannot forbear a single remark that is no doubt bare of charity: I, for one, should not like to carry on my conscience the awareness that in opposing a war policy made by high authority I had curled my lip, as many a famous dove has done, at the poor, bloody infantry that had to carry the load.

Restive Army In Chile Threatens Old Stability

By PHIL NEWSOM
Foreign News Analyst

Chile, with an unbroken record of political stability over 130 years, is experiencing some of the same discontent which already has let to military takeovers among its three nearest neighbors, Argentina, Bolivia and Peru.

"The presidential candidates would do well to ask themselves 'will there be a presidential election in 1970?'", remarked Chile's foremost political analyst, Luis Hernandez Parker, on a recent television forum.

CHILE'S presidential elections are scheduled for next September, with seven candidates in the field.

Five of those are on the political left which generally believes that President Eduardo Frei Montalva's reforms, notably land and Chileanization of the copper mines, have not gone far or fast enough. A sixth is former President Jorge Alessandri, running under the banner of a new center grouping called the National party.

The seventh is the nominee of Frei's own Christian Democratic party, former ambassador to Washington, Radomiro Tomic.

The fragmented left is not given much chance and most of the voters are expected to lean toward either Alessandri or Tomic. That is, if the elections are held.

DOUBTS BEGAN to arise with the Oct. 31 revolt of the Tacna regiment stationed in Santiago. Fourteen civilians were killed in the 22-hour uprising which its leader, Gen. Roberto Viaux, declared was not an uprising against the government but a demand for higher pay and a change in the high command.

Although Viaux won on both counts and has become a hero of the army, Frei took the occasion to proclaim that "Chile has given the world a lesson in democracy. The world knows that in Chile the people do not tolerate coups d'etat.

Since then the government has displayed its own nervousness by declaring a state of siege and early this month by ordering new internal security measures after rumors of secret meetings among army officers.

AMONG CHILE'S civilian population there are rightwing forces which frankly favor a military coup.

Others declare themselves fed up with chronic inflation which this year comes to about 30 per cent and what they call the bombastic propaganda of the reformist Frei government. Among still others there is a growing climate of indifference, of cynicism toward parties and elections, fueled by the frustration of under-development.

If either Tomic or Alessandri should win the election, neither would attempt to turn back the clock on land reform or the Chileanization of copper. Tomic, seeking an opening to the left, probably would hasten its pace. But it is the restive army that holds the key.

'There Is No China Problem —The Problem Is Taiwan'

The Christmas season is a time when we give more than usual thought to those who, for whatever reason, suffer from injustice, from ignorance, from poverty.

We think of the starving children of Biafra, of the unfortunate civilians in South Vietnam who are victimized by armies of both sides, and of the fact that even our own government has never really done right by the Indians.

There are, of course, many others in the world who suffer because of one form or another of repression or denial.

THE PLIGHT of one such people to whom Americans have given scarcely a thought was called to our attention by an "appeal to members of the United Nations" which came in the mail.

It came from the United Formosans in America for Independence. It is particularly timely because it was just 20 years ago this month that the Chinese Nationalists under Chiang Kai-shek took over the island of Formosa and transformed it overnight into "Nationalist China."

Chiang's armies in Southern China had collapsed before the advance of communist forces from the north. The crowning blow was the defection to the Reds of some 40,000 Nationalist troops in Yunnan province.

Chiang, his government, and the remains of his army fled to Formosa (Taiwan), a big island about 100 miles off the China coast — after first dispatching the government's gold abroad in U. S. Air Force planes. Some two million Chinese loyal to Chiang also took refuge there to escape the communists.

With the protection of the United States, Chiang and these Chinese have since remained undisturbed on Formosa — renamed "Nationalist China."

FORMOSA, HOWEVER, did not become part of Chiang's China until the World War II settlement after the defeat of Japan. Over the centuries it had been under the rule, in turn, of Spain, the Netherlands, China and Japan — with a brief period of independence in the 17th Century. The Japanese won it in the Sino-Japanese War of 1895.

Its residents — before Chiang and his followers arrived — were predominantly descendants of Chinese who fled there to oppose the Manchu emperors in the 17th Century, plus aboriginal inhabitants of Indonesian origin.

THE UNITED FORMOSANS in America for Independence declare in their "appeal":

"When Chiang Kai-shek and the remnants of his army fled to Taiwan . . . (they) quickly imposed their control over the 12 million Taiwanese and Taiwan was converted into one of the most efficient and horrifying police states of the post-war period. What Chiang calls free China is in fact an artificially created government staffed by Chinese Nationalist exiles. . . .

"Denied a government of their own, the genuine aspirations and interests of the 12 million Taiwanese are too often forgotten and neglected. . . .

"There is, in fact, no China problem. China exists as a communist state on the Mainland. The real problem is Taiwan. . . .

"Taiwan is neither free nor China, and the Taiwanese people have no desire to be part of China. . . . It must be free and independent."

SO, IN A SEASON when we feel most keenly concerns for our fellow men, perhaps we should consider the plight of people whose identity has been submerged in that of "Nationalist China."

It is but another facet of the unrealistic China policy of the United States.

These sly implications is one of the reasons we have Reagan for governor. Does it all boil down to the coaches and long hair? Speak up, man. You have our eyes, ears and our undivided attention. Tell us coach, is it the long hair, if not then what is it? Some facts please.

Sample Of What's Deplored In Schools

I, for one, would appreciate your giving us a look, similar to that of Carl Brown (who gets our vote) in the I-J, Dec. 15. I suggest that a sample of what Mr. Brown deplores is contained in the article on page 6 of the Dec. 15 issue relating to the events at the Old Mill School. Is it necessary to have a poorly groomed group of 18-year olds from Antioch College, Ohio, posed as examples to our 6-year olds? They have these children deciding what they will learn, and disciplining themselves and each other. We will have trouble getting the next generation down out of the trees.

We Need To Be Neighbor's Keeper

Re: your article, Page 3, Dec. 15, "27 Burglaries During Last Week."

To me it seems that things have come to a pretty pass, when a person cannot leave his home locked and unattended without having it broken into. I speak from experience as I have been burglarized four times in the last four months. . . .

First, it seems that the drug situation is the cause for most of the burglaries, enough has been said about this and I say no more.

Second: I feel that the sheriff's office has not been given the cooperation that it should have, both from the citizens of Marin County and those whose responsibility it is to prosecute those who have been apprehended redhanded. It has come to my attention that there have been good men who have left the sheriff's office because after risking their lives to apprehend a criminal he has been released for some minor technicality or lack of cooperation from those whose duty it is to prosecute. These criminals will go right back to what they were doing before.

May I make a suggestion? If every resident will notify his close neighbors that this situation exists and if he sees any strange activities at his neighbor's, strange people ringing door bells, unfamiliar trucks parked in driveways, etc., notify the local police or the sheriff's office immediately. . .

We all seem to be a little apathetic about these things until they happen to us. . . .

A classic example of this apathy is a recent case where a truck backed up to a home, completely stripped it while the lady next door worked in her garden and observed the whole operation, but did not report it.

Student Complains Of School Coverage

I would really like to know what you have against San Rafael High School. We get the world's worst sports coverage — while Terra Linda, Redwood, etc. — get a half page (at least) every day.

Not only do we get poor sports coverage; our homecoming queen candidates were so blurred together in your picture that they weren't even recognizable — even to close friends.

Also: when we do get good coverage, it is only to tell the world about the latest marijuana arrest, for example; hence our name — "hippie high."

Why don't you try to tell more about our good things, such as; our spirit at the football games, our cleaning up our school after Novato made a mess out of it (students got out in the pouring rain to do so), and our hard work on our homecoming floats — just to name a few; rather than "headlines" about a few students who get into trouble: . . .

Rolling Stones' Aftermath Still Reverberating In Sonoma County

Any unusual winds whipping through Marin on Dec. 6 were probably caused by the collective sigh of relief from Sonoma County when the Rolling Stones' rock extravaganza was moved to Altamont Raceway.

The prospect of having 300,000 rock lovers streaming into the southern portion of the county added up to headache No. 1 for all public officials.

The California Highway Patrol headquarters at Santa Rosa had not been informed of the planned Saturday onslaught until the morning before and was stunned by the prospect of preparing for the gigantic crowd in less than 24 hours.

WHILE ALAMEDA County had the primary headaches, the reverberations are still being felt through Sonoma County offices.

Displeasure with the Sears Point Raceway and the very thought of how close the county came to suffering the destructive forces is still very much felt.

On Monday the county board of zoning adjustments has scheduled a 3:25 p.m. discussion of the auto racetrack and lists the item on the agenda as an informal consideration of use permit conditions.

The discussion may result in tightening the conditions for the track in an attempt to bar any future consideration for using it for a rock festival. That action would no doubt please the board of supervisors, which has asked the county counsel's office to study what measures can be taken to ward against future threats.

Constitutionally, it could be difficult to legislate against large gatherings. The right to free assembly in the constitution doesn't contain a clause excluding rock concerts from the provisions. (Although, had the founding fathers been at Altamont, it might have been included.)

IS PETALUMA ready for another try at topless dancing? Could be. A local restaurant-bar that tried it five years ago found it highly unsuccessful and moved the business to Santa Rosa.

Now persons with raised eyebrows report another tavern is thinking of giving the lure of bare breasts a try, but whether the city council will stand for it is another question.

At a breakfast meeting with state Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka, Councilman Fred V. Mattei suggested that the legislature should take some action to ban the topless operations.

Collier, who said he grows more liberal with age, was of the opinion that morals cannot be legislated. He noted that his hometown has many taverns and jokingly boasted that he had been in all of them. Matti took the rebuff well, but will probably lead the opposition against topless if it does make a return visit.

Maybe they'll schedule a council study session at the topless bar. If the courts can do it, the council certainly should be game for a try.

Two Marin County career soldiers stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco have retired.

Lt. Col. Walter O. Wylie Jr. of 20 Juanita Court, Novato, who has been stationed during his 23-year career in this country, Japan, Germany, Vietnam and France, retired after completing 16 months with the Army Stock Control Center at the Presidio.

CWO Phillip P. McSpadden of 1 Janet Way, Tiburon, retired after 26 years of service that included combat duty in Veitnam and Korea as well as personnel administration positions. He was also stationed in Italy, France, Belgium and Japan.

Special Workshop

Committee structure and internal workings will be discussed at a special workshop meeting of the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board Jan. 12 at 8:30 a.m. at the Kettle Restaurant, 209 Third Street, San Rafael, coordinator Jay Shinohara announced Friday.

Army Claiming Drainage Ditch Responsibility

Responsibility for opening a College Park drainage ditch to the Corte Madera Creek flood control channel was the Army's, not Marin County's, the Army Corps of Engineers agreed yesterday.

An access road along the channel blocked drainage Saturday morning and contributed to flooding in College Park, residents complained.

An Army spokesman initially said clearing the drainage mouth was the county's responsibility as "interior drainage" not part of the Army project. A check later, however, showed the Army had agreed to leave a 600-foot gap in the flood levee at College Park to allow runoff of floodwaters coming from upstream where the project is not finished.

The access road was built over the ditch mouth so dump trucks of the contractor, Elmer J. Freethy Co., could reach a disposal area. The ditch mouth was opened Saturday afternoon.

Peace Vigil Is Slated Tomorrow

A "Christmas vigil for peace", sponsored by the Mill Valley Moratorium Committee, will be held at 9:30 p.m. tomorrow in Old Mill Park.

The vigil will include a candlelighting ceremony, carols, prayers led by Mill Valley clergymen, and sharing of concerns in the Quaker tradition and sharing of bread and cheese.

Participants are asked to bring their own candles and bread and cheese.

Christmas Light Snatcher Richer

Boys Claw Through Gravel To Save Two Men, A Poodle

TAVERNIER, Fla. (AP) — Six teen-aged boys, clawing with their bare hands, saved two men and a poodle puppy trapped last night in a car by eight tons of gravel.

William Nielson, 67, of Miami, and Oliver Anderson, 78, of Key Largo, told police they were preparing to turn off State Road 905 when an oncoming truck swerved and veered over on its side, sending the gravel onto the auto.

The teen-agers, camping nearby, saw the accident and began scooping the gravel out through the shattered windshield. The youths managed to reach the men and give them breathing space while they struggled to open a door.

But as the men emerged, the boys heard the muffled yelps of a dog, and were told "Hippie" the poodle was still inside.

"His barking grew weaker and weaker," said one boy, his hand slashed by the rocks. "Finally, I cried out I could feel his nose," and soon the dog bounded out, unharmed.

No charges were filed against the truck driver, who was too dazed to help with the rescue, officials said.

Monroe County sheriff's deputies said neither Nielson or Anderson was seriously injured.

Footprinters Sponsor Circus For Scholarship

The Footprinters, an organization dedicated to better law enforcement, will sponsor the James Brothers Circus in Marin April 16 and 17 at a site to be announced.

Lt. Raymond F. Bleasdale of the San Rafael Police Department and a member of Footprinters reported profits will go for a scholarship fund to help young men taking police science classes at local colleges.

Membership in the organization is set at 51 per cent law enforcement officers and 49 per cent business men. Marin is included in a chapter of about 50 members, with others from Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties.

Party To Benefit Sausalito Center

A New Year's Eve party to benefit the Sausalito Art Center will be held at the center at Old Bayside School beginning at 8 p.m. Dec. 31.

There is no admission but donations to the center will be accepted at the door. The party, with music, food and wine, also will feature a children's room with special events planned throughout the evening.

Auto Cross

The Marin JT Sports Car Club has scheduled an auto cross on New Year's Day, starting at 10 a.m. with inspections, at the Napa Valley Shopping Center in Napa.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Sue D. Elquist, 18, of 253 Johnstone Court, Marinwood, was treated for a cut nose and eyelid at Marin General Hospital yesterday after the car in which she was riding collided with another at the intersection of Del Ganado Road and the Manuel T. Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Christopher Blase Clark, 19, of 528 Fourth Street, San Rafael, which collided with one driven by Stephen Anthony Leland, 22, of 754 Bamboo Terrace, San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Leland pulled out from a stop sign into the path of Clark's car at 10:35 p.m.

Rolling Stones' Aftermath Still Reverberating In Sonoma County

Any unusual winds whipping through Marin on Dec. 6 were probably caused by the collective sigh of relief from Sonoma County when the Rolling Stones' rock extravaganza was moved to Altamont Raceway.

The prospect of having 300,000 rock lovers streaming into the southern portion of the county added up to headache No. 1 for all public officials.

The California Highway Patrol headquarters at Santa Rosa had not been informed of the planned Saturday onslaught until the morning before and was stunned by the prospect of preparing for the gigantic crowd in less than 24 hours.

WHILE ALAMEDA County had the primary headaches, the reverberations are still being felt through Sonoma County offices.

Displeasure with the Sears Point Raceway and the very thought of how close the county came to suffering the destructive forces is still very much felt.

On Monday the county board of zoning adjustments has scheduled a 3:25 p.m. discussion of the auto racetrack and lists the item on the agenda as an informal consideration of use permit conditions.

The discussion may result in tightening the conditions for the track in an attempt to bar any future consideration for using it for a rock festival. That action would no doubt please the board of supervisors, which has asked the county counsel's office to study what measures can be taken to ward against future threats.

Constitutionally, it could be difficult to legislate against large gatherings. The right to free assembly in the constitution doesn't contain a clause excluding rock concerts from the provisions. (Although, had the founding fathers been at Altamont, it might have been included.)

IS PETALUMA ready for another try at topless dancing? Could be. A local restaurant-bar that tried it five years ago found it highly unsuccessful and moved the business to Santa Rosa.

Now persons with raised eyebrows report another tavern is thinking of giving the lure of bare breasts a try, but whether the city council will stand for it is another question.

At a breakfast meeting with state Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka, Councilman Fred V. Mattei suggested that the legislature should take some action to ban the topless operations.

Collier, who said he grows more liberal with age, was of the opinion that morals cannot be legislated. He noted that his hometown has many taverns and jokingly boasted that he had been in all of them. Matti took the rebuff well, but will probably lead the opposition against topless if it does make a return visit.

Maybe they'll schedule a council study session at the topless bar. If the courts can do it, the council certainly should be game for a try.

Two Career Soldiers End Their Service

Two Marin County career soldiers stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco have retired.

Lt. Col. Walter O. Wylie Jr. of 20 Juanita Court, Novato, who has been stationed during his 23-year career in this country, Japan, Germany, Vietnam and France, retired after completing 16 months with the Army Stock Control Center at the Presidio.

CWO Phillip P. McSpadden of 1 Janet Way, Tiburon, retired after 26 years of service that included combat duty in Veitnam and Korea as well as personnel administration positions. He was also stationed in Italy, France, Belgium and Japan.

Serendipity Awards For Nunley, Windsor

Marin Chapter, 49er Boosters Club, wound up the 1969 luncheon schedule yesterday by voting to continue its ban against female membership and naming the San Francisco team's middle linebacker Frank Nunley and tight end Bob Windsor as winners of its first "Serendipity Awards."

A vote of hands showed shockingly few broad-minded members among the 50 Boosters present. They're fighters, not lovers.

And besides, who wants to drag a ball and chain to lunch on a Monday? All weekend with the War Department is enough.

One anti-skirt argued that presense of femmes would muffle players on discussing some touchy subjects about injuries.

Sorry, girls.

Not A 'Me Too' Club

Boosters President Price Hall of Sonoma explained the "Serendipity Awards" as a break away from the traditional most valuable player or rookie of the year honors. "We don't want to be a 'me-too' club," he said, defining serendipity as "pleasant surprise" for those who didn't have their dictionaries with them.

In balloting, Nunley and Windsor easily beat defensive lineman Earl Edwards and rookie running back Jimmy Thomas, the only other nominees.

Among those who raised their hands in the vote for Nunley was his immediate superior, Giddings, who had kind remarks for both pleasant surprise award winners.

Nunley the third year pro from Michigan, was thrown into the starting lineup early in the year when veteran Ed Beard was eliminated via a leg injury and "did an outstanding job right from the start," said Giddings. "Frank's a take charge type of guy who radiates confidence. He's exciting and excitable."

'Rough And Aggressive'

The coach added: "I endorse Frank's approach to the game. His main goal is to get the ball carriers out of action. He's clean, mind you just rough and aggressive."

Expanding on the subject, Giddings, former Cal lineman, USC assistant and head coach at Utah before joining the 49ers last year, said the Niner linebacking corps will be in great shape for next season after the emergence of Nunley and outside backer Skip Vanderbundt as capable regulars this year. "We'll not only have depth but versatility," he said, referring to the return of regulars Dave Wilcox and Beard, who might have trouble regaining his job from Nunley.

"I'm only guessing right now, but it looks like it will be Wilcox and Vanderbundt outside and a real battle in the middle," Giddings said.

Of Windsor, who enjoyed his greatest season as a pro, Giddings said: "He's a great competitor. Bob practices like he plays — all out. In fact, in practice he was largely responsible for the development of Vanderbundt."

Time To Analyze Things

Giddings begged off a question on "What went wrong with the 49ers (4-8-2) this year?" with: "That can be better answered a month or two from now after we've had time to analyze everything. It was a general thing. I mean we had problems everywhere as well as good things everywhere."

Boosters Vice President Dave Scofield announced that the 49ers will continue their boosters program next year. Scofield revealed that the 49ers pay each player $100 for each Boosters Club appearance and pick up luncheon tabs for other guests. "They've spent more than $3,000 on our club alone and there are several in the Bay Area," said Scofield, guessing the new Boosters program costs the 49ers "around $20,000 a season."

Several of the 49ers will be invited to the Marin Boosters' banquet Jan. 9 at Marin Country Club, including the serendipity swingers.

JUST IN NICK OF TIME

Snow fell just in time for the arrival of St. Nick and his first ski lessons at Heavenly Valley, near South Lake Tahoe. If temperatures remain low, skiers and Santa should have some fine skiing ahead, which is good news to the hundreds of skiers just itching to hit the slopes.

NO MISTAKE

Writer Backs Up Story On Juan

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A prominent Dominican sports writer asserted today that he had accurately quoted Juan Marichal as saying that San Francisco Giant star Willie Mays "is at the end of his career and that he ought to retire from baseball."

"He also told me that the attitude of Mays was damaging the spirit and enthusiasm of the rest of the Giants' players," wrote Alvaro Arvelo Jr. in his daily column in El Caribe.

Marichal, wrote Arvelo "knew that I was going to publish everything he told me and never advised me that he was speaking off the record as he has done on other occasions with me . . . " The writer added that Marichal said some very harsh things about Mays which were not published.

Arvelo, 28, has been named the most distinguished sports writer in the Dominican Republic two out of the last three years.

He said Marichal also had made similar statements against Mays on a local radio program the day before the newspaper interview, but no record was kept of the show.

Arvelo repeated his claim that Marichal had said that Mays looked for a way to avoid playing or to get out of a game when he was going to have to face a fast ball pitcher.

Former Michigan Great Heaps Praise On Team

PASADENA (AP) — Bennie Oosterbaan has seen a lot of Michigan football teams in his 43 years on the university's staff.

Included are three Rose Bowl victors and this season's team which meets Southern California in the big game New Year's Day.

Although offenses change over the years, Oosterbaan says this season's players are identical in character to members of past U-M champions.

"There isn't much difference when you're talking in terms of types of kids who win," said the 62-year-old Oosterbaan, chosen this 100th anniversary of college football as the greatest all-time Michigan player.

"You always have to have players with enthusiasm, high morale, good character, leadership. . .," he said, continuing on with half a dozen more character traits.

"Michigan players had the same traits in 1947, in 1950 and, I'm sure if you ask Bump Elliott, in 1964. They have the same character traits this year."

U-M's 1947 team rolled over US C49-0 in the 1948 Rose Bowl, its 1950 team was a 14-6 Rose Bowl winner over California, and the 1964 squad trounced Oregon Sate 34-7 in the New Year's classic.

Fritz Crisler was the coach of the 1947 team. Oosterbaan coached the 1950 squad, and Elliott directed the last Michigan Rose Bowl team. This year Bo Schembechler is the Wolverine coach.

"Basically, everything this year is the same," Oosterbaan said while relaxing in the press lounge at U-M's hotel headquarters in Pasadena. He now directs alumni relations and handles all advertising for the department.

"In 1950 everyone traveled on a special train from Ann Arbor. In 1947 we had to take a train from Ann Arbor to Chicago, then boarded the special train for Pasadena.

"We had the whole train. It was really delightful because everyone — the university officials, players, press—all got to know each other."

This is the first time all representatives from the university are traveling by jet aircraft. A jet charter brought the team out last Thursday, while about 16 other chartered jets are expected to transport official tour parties, university officials, and others after Christmas.

In 1964 a combination of jets, propeller planes and a train were used.

Oosterbaan, a member of the National Football Hall of Fame and recently amed to the modern era all-time team, is a 1927 graduate of Michigan. He was a three-time All-American in football and also became an All-American basketball player.

Tars Vs. Alumni Tonight

Some of the old will catch up with all of the new tonight when College of Marin's streaking basketball team matches up against its alumni in a cage frolic at 8 o'clock in beautiful downtown Kentfield.

Some of the fabled Tars of the past will more than likely be on hand to test and huff against this year's edition, which has won seven in a row and carries an 8-3 record.

Topping the list of alumni who are expected to play is Lynn Livie, who holds the Marin all-time record for points scored over two years with 1,070 racked up over 1961 and 1962.

Also on hand will be Jay Johnson, who is third on the list with 1,035 points over the 1964-1965 seasons; Fred Arnold, fifth on the list with 643 points gained in the 1967-68 campaigns; Jim Halm, now COM frosh coach and seventh on the list with 642 points over the 1965-66 seasons, and Bob Phillips, who scored 258 points in the 1966-67 campaign.

Also on the list are Larry Fulton, who coached at Marin Catholic for two seasons, and other grads such as Jerry Reece, Stan Wells and Ken Anderson.

Facing them will be a squad headed by angular Pat Schafer, the steady and top scorer on the current Marin squad.

Tournament Victory For Redwood

Connecting on 32 of 39 foul shots and with five men scoring in double figures, Redwood High School's Giants overpowered San Leandro High 86-60 last night in the opening round of the Pacific High School Basketball Tournament at San Leandro.

Novato, the Marin County Athletic League's only other entry, opens play tonight, 7 o'clock, against powerful St. Elizabeth's High of Oakland.

Redwood, the MCAL favorite, had its hands full for three quarters last night until Tom Marker and Roger Smith led a 34-10 fourth quarter blitz that buried the San Leandrans. In that fourth period Marker scored 13 of his 14 points, including 7 on foul shots, while Smith made 12 of his 16 points.

Redwood hit on 45 per cent of its field shots with Jerry Piro's 19 leading the way.

Redwood	15	25	12	34—86
San Leandro	18	13	19	10—60

Redwood Scoring: Roger Smith, 5-6-16; Jerry Piro, 6-7-19; Bill Challender, 0-4-4; John Boro, 7-2-16; Charles Flynn, 0-2-2; Scott Trobbe, 5-2-12; Tom Marker, 3-8-14; Mike Dandrian, 0-1-1; Jim Barkovich, 1-0-2. Totals: 27-32—86.

Baseball Executive Innocent

The verdict for acquittal—at 6 p.m. yesterday was virtually an anticlimax to the lengthy trial.

Howser was not immediately available for comment. He was first prohibited, under an order by Judge Jack W. Ballenger, to discuss the case within the courtroom or on the courthouse grounds and later declined to speak with newsmen at his motel room.

The 57-year-old Howser, president and general manager of the Charlotte (N.C.) Hornets of the Southern League, was accused of slaying Carolyn Fraley Hogan, also of Charlotte, at a Jekyll Island motel last Aug. 17.

The body of Mrs. Hogan was discovered on the ground beneath the balcony of a third-floor room she and Howser had occupied. The prosecution contended that Howser had beaten her to death while defense attorneys claimed Mrs. Hogan was intoxicated and had fallen from the balcony.

Pistol Pete Again Top Gun In Busy Day Of Cage Action

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There was a big shootout at Corvallis, and once again Pistol Pete turned out to be top gun.

As any basketball fan can tell you, Pistol Pete is Pete Maravich, sharpshooting LSU forward who is the wildest scorer in college basketball history.

He hit 46 points to set a new Gil Coliseum record last night to lead the Tigers past Oregon State, 76-68. Gary Freeman, who joined the team after missing four games in an eligibility quabble, had 32 for the Beavers.

It was a big night of basketball throughout the West.

For instance, Santa Clara dumped on the road twice in a disastrous blow to its hopes for national rankings, took out its frustrations with a 102-61 romp over Fresno State. Ralph Ogden had 29 for the winners.

St. John's called on Stanford and roared from behind to down the Indians 63-59. California hosted a tough customer in New Mexico and the hot and cold Bears were hot with an 83-79 win.

But life is more woeful for cage teams on the raod.

Long Beach St. lost at national power Houston 76-69 but played the Cougars as tough as did USC and Santa Clara.

San Jose St. was crushed at Colorado State 91-65 while another fine Coast team, Nevada Las Vegas, dropped one at North Texas 98-91. San Diego St. flopped at Northern Illinois 85-65.

St. Mary's lost at St. Francis 74-59. But another hot and cold team, Seattle, won at tough Weber State 75-66.

Clay Files Suit In Try To Get Fight In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Cassius M. Clay Jr. has filed suit to obtain a permit to fight in Texas.

Clay, also known as Muhammed Ali, filed suit late Friday afternoon against Tommy V. Smith, the commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, who regulates boxing and wrestling in Texas.

Clay's suit asks the court to overturn Smith's order denying him a permit. The alternative, the suit asks, is to declare article 614 of the Texas penal code unconstitutional.

A section of that article states that the commissioner may deny a license "if after investigation applicant or applicants are found to be of questionable character. . ."

Clay's petition says the controversial boxer has "maintained the highest standards of moral conduct and character" and that he is a "deeply religious person."

It states that he is "recognized" as the heavyweight champion of the world and has never been beaten.

Smith was in San Antonio yesterday and could not be reached for comment, and Alton Erickson, supervisor of the boxing and wrestling division, also was out of town.

East Stars Work On Running Game

The line also bumped heads for the first time and the guy who caught the eye of both the coaches and assembled pro scouts was Ron Carpenter, 250-pound defensive lineman from North Carolina State.

Distance Stars Enter S.F. Meet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A quartet of four-minute milers and a former indoor three-mile champion have entered the All-American Games indoor track and field meet Jan. 3 at the Cow Palace, it was announced yesterday.

The milers are Sam Bair, whose best time is 3:56; John Mason, 4:00.0; Roscoe Divine, 3:57.2; and John Lawson, 3:59.3.

Tracy Snith, who will also run the mile, twice held the indoor three-mile record, his best time at that distance being 13:15.2.

Jurgensen And Nelson To Quarterback East

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sonny Jurgensen of Washington's Redskins and Bill Nelsen of the Cleveland Browns will direct the offense of the East for the 20th annual National Football League Pro Bowl game Jan. 18.

Nelsen will be returning to the Los Angeles Coliseum turf where he played for the University of Southern California Trojans.

A 34-man East squad was named by NFL coaches and includes two players making their seventh appearance in the all-star affair — defensive tackle Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys and defensive back Larry Wilson of the St. Louis Cardinals.

ROOKIES

Rookies selected were running backs Calvin Hill of Dallas and Larry Brown of Washington, defensive tackle Joe Greene of Pittsburgh and placekicker Tom Dempsey of New Orleans.

Dallas and Cleveland, who meet for the Eastern title on Sunday, each placed eight players on the Pro Bowl squad.

The East trails the West 12-7 in the series and hasn't won since Jim Brown paced a 34-7 victory in 1966. Last year Roman Gabriel of the Rams sparked the West to a 10-7 triumph.

OFFENSE

Tight ends—Jackie Smith, St. Louis; Jerry Smith, Washington.

Center—Fred Hoaglin, Cleveland; Len Hauss, Washington.

Quarterbacks—Sonny Jurgensen, Washington; Bill Nelsen, Cleveland.

Kicker—Tom Dempsey, New Orleans.

DEFENSE

Ends — Tim Roosovich, Philadelphia; George Andrie, Dallas; Jack Gregory, Cleveland.

Cornerbacks—Pat Fischer, Washington; Willie Williams, New York.

Namath Might Have Operation

Joe Namath's hopes for returning rest on two gimpy knees and another possible operation.

"I will play next season—maybe," Namath said yesterday. "It depends entirely on my physical condition. There's an 80 per cent chance I will have to have an operation."

The Jets lost to the Kansas City Chiefs, 13-6, on Saturday in the American Football League's semifinal playoffs as Namath was unable to ignite a scoring drive. However, Namath said the loss would not affect his attitude about returning next season.

Contact Drill For West

Contact drills are seldom used in practices for all-star games, but Ralston had his players hit and then pull back for about 20 minutes of the workout.

He singled out running backs Art Malone of Arizona State and Greg Jones of UCLA as looking good along with Steve Owens of Oklahoma and Bob Anderson of Colorado.

Both San Diego State's Dennis Shaw and North Texas State's Steve Ramsey have looked good at quarterback and Ralston has not yet decided who will start the game.

Serendipity Awards For Nunley, Windsor

Marin Chapter, 49er Boosters Club, wound up the 1969 luncheon schedule yesterday by voting to continue its ban against female membership and naming the San Francisco team's middle linebacker Frank Nunley and tight end Bob Windsor as winners of its first "Serendipity Awards."

A vote of hands showed shockingly few broad-minded members among the 50 Boosters present. They're fighters, not lovers.

And besides, who wants to drag a ball and chain to lunch on a Monday? All weekend with the War Department is enough.

One anti-skirt argued that presense of femmes would muffle players on discussing some touchy subjects about injuries.

Sorry, girls.

Not A 'Me Too' Club

Boosters President Price Hall of Sonoma explained the "Serendipity Awards" as a break away from the traditional most valuable player or rookie of the year honors. "We don't want to be a 'me-too' club," he said, defining serendipity as "pleasant surprise" for those who didn't have their dictionaries with them.

In balloting, Nunley and Windsor easily beat defensive lineman Earl Edwards and rookie running back Jimmy Thomas, the only other nominees.

Among those who raised their hands in the vote for Nunley was his immediate superior, Giddings, who had kind remarks for both pleasant surprise award winners.

Nunley the third year pro from Michigan, was thrown into the starting lineup early in the year when veteran Ed Beard was eliminated via a leg injury and "did an outstanding job right from the start," said Giddings. "Frank's a take charge type of guy who radiates confidence. He's exciting and excitable."

'Rough And Aggressive'

The coach added: "I endorse Frank's approach to the game. His main goal is to get the ball carriers out of action. He's clean, mind you just rough and aggressive."

Expanding on the subject, Giddings, former Cal lineman, USC assistant and head coach at Utah before joining the 49ers last year, said the Niner linebacking corps will be in great shape for next season after the emergence of Nunley and outside backer Skip Vanderbundt as capable regulars this year. "We'll not only have depth but versatility," he said, referring to the return of regulars Dave Wilcox and Beard, who might have trouble regaining his job from Nunley.

"I'm only guessing right now, but it looks like it will be Wilcox and Vanderbundt outside and a real battle in the middle," Giddings said.

Of Windsor, who enjoyed his greatest season as a pro, Giddings said: "He's a great competitor. Bob practices like he plays — all out. In fact, in practice he was largely responsible for the development of Vanderbundt."

Time To Analyze Things

Giddings begged off a question on "What went wrong with the 49ers (4-8-2) this year?" with: "That can be better answered a month or two from now after we've had time to analyze everything. It was a general thing. I mean we had problems everywhere as well as good things everywhere."

Boosters Vice President Dave Scofield announced that the 49ers will continue their boosters program next year. Scofield revealed that the 49ers pay each player $100 for each Boosters Club appearance and pick up luncheon tabs for other guests. "They've spent more than $3,000 on our club alone and there are several in the Bay Area," said Scofield, guessing the new Boosters program costs the 49ers "around $20,000 a season."

Several of the 49ers will be invited to the Marin Boosters' banquet Jan. 9 at Marin Country Club, including the serendipity swingers.

Former Michigan Great Heaps Praise On Team

PASADENA (AP) — Bennie Oosterbaan has seen a lot of Michigan football teams in his 43 years on the university's staff.

Included are three Rose Bowl victors and this season's team which meets Southern California in the big game New Year's Day.

Although offenses change over the years, Oosterbaan says this season's players are identical in character to members of past U-M champions.

"There isn't much difference when you're talking in terms of types of kids who win," said the 62-year-old Oosterbaan, chosen this 100th anniversary of college football as the greatest all-time Michigan player.

"You always have to have players with enthusiasm, high morale, good character, leadership. . .," he said, continuing on with half a dozen more character traits.

"Michigan players had the same traits in 1947, in 1950 and, I'm sure if you ask Bump Elliott, in 1964. They have the same character traits this year."

U-M's 1947 team rolled over US C49-0 in the 1948 Rose Bowl, its 1950 team was a 14-6 Rose Bowl winner over California, and the 1964 squad trounced Oregon Sate 34-7 in the New Year's classic.

Fritz Crisler was the coach of the 1947 team. Oosterbaan coached the 1950 squad, and Elliott directed the last Michigan Rose Bowl team. This year Bo Schembechler is the Wolverine coach.

"Basically, everything this year is the same," Oosterbaan said while relaxing in the press lounge at U-M's hotel headquarters in Pasadena. He now directs alumni relations and handles all advertising for the department.

"In 1950 everyone traveled on a special train from Ann Arbor. In 1947 we had to take a train from Ann Arbor to Chicago, then boarded the special train for Pasadena.

"We had the whole train. It was really delightful because everyone — the university officials, players, press—all got to know each other."

This is the first time all representatives from the university are traveling by jet aircraft. A jet charter brought the team out last Thursday, while about 16 other chartered jets are expected to transport official tour parties, university officials, and others after Christmas.

In 1964 a combination of jets, propeller planes and a train were used.

Oosterbaan, a member of the National Football Hall of Fame and recently amed to the modern era all-time team, is a 1927 graduate of Michigan. He was a three-time All-American in football and also became an All-American basketball player.

Baseball Executive Innocent

The verdict for acquittal—at 6 p.m. yesterday was virtually an anticlimax to the lengthy trial.

Howser was not immediately available for comment. He was first prohibited, under an order by Judge Jack W. Ballenger, to discuss the case within the courtroom or on the courthouse grounds and later declined to speak with newsmen at his motel room.

The 57-year-old Howser, president and general manager of the Charlotte (N.C.) Hornets of the Southern League, was accused of slaying Carolyn Fraley Hogan, also of Charlotte, at a Jekyll Island motel last Aug. 17.

The body of Mrs. Hogan was discovered on the ground beneath the balcony of a third-floor room she and Howser had occupied. The prosecution contended that Howser had beaten her to death while defense attorneys claimed Mrs. Hogan was intoxicated and had fallen from the balcony.

Pistol Pete Again Top Gun In Busy Day Of Cage Action

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There was a big shootout at Corvallis, and once again Pistol Pete turned out to be top gun.

As any basketball fan can tell you, Pistol Pete is Pete Maravich, sharpshooting LSU forward who is the wildest scorer in college basketball history.

He hit 46 points to set a new Gil Coliseum record last night to lead the Tigers past Oregon State, 76-68. Gary Freeman, who joined the team after missing four games in an eligibility quabble, had 32 for the Beavers.

It was a big night of basketball throughout the West.

For instance, Santa Clara dumped on the road twice in a disastrous blow to its hopes for national rankings, took out its frustrations with a 102-61 romp over Fresno State. Ralph Ogden had 29 for the winners.

St. John's called on Stanford and roared from behind to down the Indians 63-59. California hosted a tough customer in New Mexico and the hot and cold Bears were hot with an 83-79 win.

But life is more woeful for cage teams on the raod.

Long Beach St. lost at national power Houston 76-69 but played the Cougars as tough as did USC and Santa Clara.

San Jose St. was crushed at Colorado State 91-65 while another fine Coast team, Nevada Las Vegas, dropped one at North Texas 98-91. San Diego St. flopped at Northern Illinois 85-65.

St. Mary's lost at St. Francis 74-59. But another hot and cold team, Seattle, won at tough Weber State 75-66.

NO MISTAKE

Writer Backs Up Story On Juan

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A prominent Dominican sports writer asserted today that he had accurately quoted Juan Marichal as saying that San Francisco Giant star Willie Mays "is at the end of his career and that he ought to retire from baseball."

"He also told me that the attitude of Mays was damaging the spirit and enthusiasm of the rest of the Giants' players," wrote Alvaro Arvelo Jr. in his daily column in El Caribe.

Marichal, wrote Arvelo "knew that I was going to publish everything he told me and never advised me that he was speaking off the record as he has done on other occasions with me . . ." The writer added that Marichal said some very harsh things about Mays which were not published.

Arvelo, 28, has been named the most distinguished sports writer in the Dominican Republic two out of the last three years.

He said Marichal also had made similar statements against Mays on a local radio program the day before the newspaper interview, but no record was kept of the show.

Arvelo repeated his claim that Marichal had said that Mays looked for a way to avoid playing or to get out of a game when he was going to have to face a fast ball pitcher.

Tars Vs. Alumni Tonight

Some of the old will catch up with all of the new tonight when College of Marin's streaking basketball team matches up against its alumni in a cage frolic at 8 o'clock in beautiful downtown Kentfield.

Some of the fabled Tars of the past will more than likely be on hand to test and huff against this year's edition, which has won seven in a row and carries an 8-3 record.

Topping the list of alumni who are expected to play is Lynn Livie, who holds the Marin all-time record for points scored over two years with 1,070 racked up over 1961 and 1962.

Also on hand will be Jay Johnson, who is third on the list with 1,035 points over the 1964-1965 seasons; Fred Arnold, fifth on the list with 643 points gained in the 1967-68 campaigns; Jim Halm, now COM frosh coach and seventh on the list with 642 points over the 1965-66 seasons, and Bob Phillips, who scored 258 points in the 1966-67 campaign.

Also on the list are Larry Fulton, who coached at Marin Catholic for two seasons, and other grads such as Jerry Reece, Stan Wells and Ken Anderson.

Facing them will be a squad headed by angular Pat Schafer, the steady and top scorer on the current Marin squad.

Tournament Victory For Redwood

Connecting on 32 of 39 foul shots and with five men scoring in double figures, Redwood High School's Giants overpowered San Leandro High 86-60 last night in the opening round of the Pacific High School Basketball Tournament at San Leandro.

Novato, the Marin County Athletic League's only other entry, opens play tonight, 7 o'clock, against powerful St. Elizabeth's High of Oakland.

Redwood, the MCAL favorite, had its hands full for three quarters last night until Tom Marker and Roger Smith led a 34-10 fourth quarter blitz that buried the San Leandrans. In that fourth period Marker scored 13 of his 14 points, including 7 on foul shots, while Smith made 12 of his 16 points.

Redwood hit on 45 per cent of its field shots with Jerry Piro's 19 leading the way.

Redwood	15	25	12	34—86
San Leandro	18	13	19	10—60

Redwood Scoring: Roger Smith, 5-6-16; Jerry Piro, 6-7-19; Bill Challender, 0-4-4; John Boro, 7-2-16; Charles Flynn, 0-2-2; Scott Trobbe, 5-2-12; Tom Marker, 3-8-14; Mike Dandrian, 0-1-1; Jim Barkovich, 1-0-2. Totals: 27-32—86.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Heavy Rains Help Spawning Salmon

What a great rain! At least it served to benefit the silver salmon runs throughout the county. Good numbers of silver salmon were widely scattered through the spawning streams in Marin.

Five inches or more rain enabled the fish to easily reach the spawning beds, and they were generally well protected by the high muddy waters.

AT THE NICASIO fish trap, Jim Crunk of the Department of Fish and Game was kept busy trapping and transporting big hunker fish over the Nicasio Dam to the streams above. I think his count might be close to 200 adult spawners. This is great, and should insure good future runs.

In Salmon Creek in Sonoma County, good numbers of fish, mostly silvers, were making it across the sand bar that separates the ocean from the stream. Of course the fish snaggers showed up too, which in turn brought the wardens out in force. A good time was had by all, but mostly by the wardens! Fish snagging and fish spearing is illegal, so the poacher caught red handed doing this is nailed everytime. Even the judges show little mercy.

OF COURSE the bar at the mouth of the Russian River is wide open, so good numbers of steelhead and salmon are in the Russian, though with the waters almost at flood level, it will be a week or so before fishing will be possible.

On the local scene, things were generally pretty slow over the weekend. Checking from Tiburon to China Camp near San Rafael, I saw only one party boat out, fishing close to Cat Rock near China Camp. Up at Buck's Landing in Santa Venetia, only a few anglers tried it with the winds as rough as they were.

A CAMPER TRUCK traveling along San Pedro Road had a sturgeon tied to the back door with the tail dragging on the highway. Warden Russ Ild and I gave an educated guess that it was legal size as we followed the camper. It was legal all right, but we thought the tail might wear off. We were going to shake the driver up on this matter, but he stopped too soon at a home in Santa Venetia, and we gave up the idea.

Incidentally, the new 1970 sport fishing licenses are available at the local sporting goods stores. If you are having trouble thinking of a good Christmas present for someone, if he or she fishes, get him a license. The $5 license makes it all right to fish for any legal fish in season in California through 1970.

THE RAINS, and especially the strong winds improved duck hunting throughout most of the state. Jim Dougherty and a friend from Mill Valley had their best day at their club near Maxwell, Colusa County, taking four geese — three snows and a spec — along with eight ducks — one mallard, four sprig and three wigeon.

Up north, the real freeze-ups should occur, bringing new flights of the birds down to this area. Last year, after the freeze-up, Gray Lodge, Sutter, Sacramento and Delevan, all state and federal operated shooting areas for ducks, showed increased populations, thus providing good shoots. Duck season closes Jan. 11, so now's the time to go.

LOTS OF steelhead fishermen stay home when the streams are muddy. Try using fresh roe in a back eddy or where the water isn't too fast. This can pay off as the fish can smell the fresh rote. Papermill Creek at Point Reyes Station could be at its best now.

Meeting On Water Pollution

College students concerned with problems of water pollution are being invited to a one-day meeting with Department of the Interior officials in Oakland on Dec. 30.

According to Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel, the meeting, one of nine being held throughout the country, is to establish direct lines of communications between the student population and his Department.

OPPORTUNITY

Following a review of federal legislation, programs, and goals, students will have an opportunity to present proposals for solving water pollution problems.

The group will be asked to elect a board of five students to follow up ideas expressed at the meeting. One member of this board, along with representatives of other student boards chosen at other meetings across the country, will meet later with Hickel to recommend programs and actions to meet water pollution problems.

SUMMARY

Students are invited to present specific proposals at the Oakland meeting, and those doing so are asked to submit a one-page summary to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, 760 Market Street, San Francisco 94102, so copies can be prepared for distribution at the meeting.

Students submitting proposals will be invited to an organizational meeting the evening of Dec. 29.

Additional information can be obtained by writing or calling the FWPCA office on Market Street in San Francisco.

Raiders Send Ball To Steinmark

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders have sent an honorary game ball to Fred Steinmark, the Texas defensive back who had a cancerous leg amputated last week.

The Raiders bombed Houston 56-7 last Sunday to move into the American League finals against Kansas City.

They announced yesterday that they had honored Steinmark, whose courage had moved them.

"The motto of the Oakland Raiders is Pride and Poise," the message accompanying the ball said. "We feel that you, by your courage, have earned this award."

Cal Bears Defeat New Mexico

BERKELEY (AP) — Jackie Ridgle's 25 points and Ansley Truitt's 20 helped California defeat New Mexico 83-79 last night in a nonconference basketball game.

After a 37-all halftime deadlock, New Mexico led in the second half until California pulled to within 46-45.

Then California took the lead to stay on three straight baskets by Leo Dorado, Ridgle and Tom Henderson.

Three Marin Lifters Triumph In Pacifica

Three members of the MarVel Athletic Club of Marin were among winners at an Amateur Athletic Union weightlifting meet at Pacifica Sunday.

Dave Gottlieb, 14, won a first place medal with 330-pound total, Ray DeLeon, 14, won two first place medals and totaled 300 pounds, and Greg Gottlieb, 12, won a first and was named best lifter in his class.

MARIN PREP NOTES

A Rough Start For Hennessey

By GARY TISCHLER

Already, it has been something of a trying season for Marin Catholic High School basketball coach Dave Hennessey, who this year stepped into Larry Fulton's two-year-old shoes at the Kentfield parochial school.

Young and enthusiastic, Dave is going through the sorrows of a 2-8 losing preleague season, and he doesn't much care for it.

"Maybe it's all right to go into league 0-11," he says. "But it's tough on young kids, and we have mostly sophomores and juniors."

The 2-8 record is the worst in the league, but it isn't always indicative of what the Wildcats might be capable of doing. It just happens to be a toughening grind. And there's worse to come, even though the Wildcats have already played in the St. Elizabeth's tournament of Oakland, one of the roughest around.

This week, there's Hillsdale of San Mateo, whom the Wildcats have never beaten in preseason play, and then there's Riordan of San Francisco, with none other than Kevin Restani on the roster, the boy who's been picked on top of the heap among California prep stars.

But even in a rough season, there was a moment of levity, such as happened last weekend, when Hennessey was interviewed on a Santa Rosa radio station which shall remain unnamed. The announcer asked Hennessey about his Olympic basketball playing experience and Hennessey, dumfounded, just went along, telling him that he "played with all the guys, K. C. Jones, all of them."

Actually, Hennessey did play on two U.S. Olympic hockey teams, which is a far cry from basketball.

And speaking of the Wildcats, the 29 points Bill Donnellan scored against Eureka in the Rose City Tournament must have come doubly hard because he had just learned earlier in the day that his grandfather had passed away. Bill showed a tremendous amount of poise in even showing up to play.

IF YOU'VE been wondering whatever happened to Floyd Jackson, former Tamalpais High School cage star who started for the University of California frosh last year in such august company as Ainsley Truitt and Phil Chenier, he's been redshirted this year. So that's why you haven't seen him in the Golden Bear box scores.

TAMALPAIS cage coach Bernie Schneider must be difficult to live with these days. Schneider, an avid golfer, shot a one-under-par 70 at Rohnert Park last week, the first time he's ever been under par and he's still glowing.

SOMEBODY seems to be trying to work up a game just for the fun of it, or maybe it's just hot air.

Leo McCarthy, coach of St. Patrick's of Vallejo's powerful, but no longer unbeaten cage team, has been heard to say that he doesn't think much of Redwood High School's basketball team, and this from more than once source among Marin County coaches. McCarthy, whose team suffered its first loss at the Rose City tournament to Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa, was reported to have said that his squad could take the Giants and that he wasn't at all impressed by Jerry Piro, the Redwood star forward. This, although he reportedly has not seen Redwood play.

Among Nation's Best Age Group AAU Clockings

The Marin Swim Club and the San Rafael Swim Club, the two Marin County age group swimming powerhouses, both showed up strong in the annual 1969 National age group best times listings as compiled by the Jantzen Corporation for the Amateur Athletic Union.

The Marin Swim Club had 54 mentions in the top five times listings while the San Rafael Swim Club had 26.

Topping the Marin Swim Club was Denise Ham in girls 13-14 age division with nine mentions while Jo Hislop had seven listings for the San Rafael Swim Club.

Denise topped her efforts with a first in the 100 butterfly plus two seconds, two thirds, two fourths, a fifth and a fifth in the national Junior Olympics.

Miss Hislop tied for 22nd place in the top 25 senior women's 100-meter freestyle, had three seconds, two thirds and two fourths in the age group rankings and had a third and fourth in the top five Junior listings.

Cookie Arrighi, who will be swimming for the Santa Clara Swim Club, placed six times in the age group rankings for the Marin Swim Club along with Maura Campion. Earning five mentions were Anne Engle, Spencer Eldred had three age group mentions plus a pair of fourths in the junior Olympic listings. Cheryl Cattan placed twice while Sue Secondo, Kim Hughes and Jim Tufts placed three times.

The Marin Swim Club also showed up well in the relays, headed by its girls 13-14 medley relay of Cookie Arrighi, Sue Secondo, Anne Engel and Denise Ham, which placed eight times with five first place rankings, second, and a third. The five wins each were in national age-group record time.

For the San Rafael Swim Club, Tami McDuffie placed three times in age group and once in the Junior Olympics while Kathi Hislop had one age group mention. The club also had eight relay mentions.

West Still Top Man In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers continues to set the scoring pace in the National Basketball Association with a 30.1 average per game, but Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati are bearing down in an effort to catch him.

Cunningham remained in second place with a 27.3 average on the merits of 35-points bursts at San Francisco and Seattle, according to the weekly NBA statistics released today. Robertson was right behind him at 26.5.

San Francisco's Nate Thurmond held onto his lead in rebounding with an 18.2 average and Milwaukee's Flynn Robinson was still in front in free throws, Shooting at an .898 percentage. Lenny Wilkens, the Seattle player-coach, was still best in assists with a 9.7 average.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Women who do not gain sufficient speed in the approach can automatically correct this by holding the ball higher at address. If you have been holding the ball around waist high, bring it up opposite your chest (see illustration). Thus the ball will drop farther, and gravity will move it faster, as you start.

Toledo senior Ken Crots made 77 straight extra point kicks, a major college record, before missing one this fall in a 34-9 victory over Ohio University.

Near Upset By Stanford Quintet

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford University came within a whisker of upsetting heavily favored St. John's of New York but the Redmen held on for a 63-59 intersectional basketball victory last night.

The Indians built a 20-5 lead after the first nine minutes of the game, but senior forward Joe DePre and center Bill Paultz sparked a comeback that pulled St. John's to within one point at halftime.

DePre and Paultz had 22 points apiece to tie for game high point honors.

The Redmen, now 6-1, hit 17 of 23 foul shots while Stanford made only 13 of 26.

Stanford guard Dennis O'Neill sparked Stanford, 1-4, with 21 points.

No More Number 13 For Navy Football

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — "We will not have another 13 in our locker room," said Navy football coach Rick Forzano when he got punter Tom Moore to wear No. 38 midway in the season.

"That's the number I was wearing when I was partially blinded (in the right eye) while playing Bantam League football," added the coach. "I don't know why I didn't notice Moore in number 13 until our game with Virginia."

Redwood Ace Leads In Scoring

Redwood High School ace Jerry Piro took over the Marin County basketball scoring lead, even though his average dropped.

Piro vaulted past Gary Howard of San Marin, who had a pair of sub-par games of 15 and 9 points. Piro is scoring at a 19.6 clip, ahead of Howard's 18.5 pace and Bill Secor of Tamalpais, who's at 18.4

Bruce Nave of San Rafael High is still second in total points with 151, 26 behind Piro's 177 points.

Marin Catholic may be 2-8 on the year, but the Wildcats could be tough in the league. They have three players in double figures, headed by Bill Donellan at 14.3, Mike Parnow at 13.5 and Tim Stone at 11.7.

Redwood, Novato and Tamalpais also have three cagers scoring in double figures, with the biggest surprise being the rapid advance of Tamalpais newcomer John Earl Huff who jumped to a 12.6 average after games of 18 and 24 points.

Two California Netters Advance

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — Californians Denise Carter and Valerie Ziegenfuss advanced today in the Border tennis championships.

Miss Ziegenfuss, of San Diego, beat Mary Muller of South Africa, 6-2, 6-1, in the third round.

Miss Carter, of Los Altos, trounced Britain's Corinne Molesworth, 6-2, 6-3, in the second round.

In men's singles, Arthur Pattison of South Africa defeated Roy Kreiss of Beverly Hills, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. Britain's Mark Cox ousted Derek Schroder of South Africa, 6-1, 6-1.

Roger Gann, a senior Kentucky tailback from Fayetteville, N.C., returned four kickoffs for 166 yards against Indiana in the opening game for both teams.

JOHN JARDINE
To Wisconsin

WASHINGTON — Rick Barry, the Washington Caps' all star forward, scrimmaged yesterday for the first time since his operation Oct. 23 for a torn knee cartilage.

"It felt pretty good but I'm tired," Barry said after warm ups anl a full hour of scrimmaging. "I just got to keep playing and get myself back in shape."

The American Basketball Association star wore no knee brace but the leg was well bandaged.

He feels in the next couple of days of scrimmaging probably will determine whether he'll play Christmas Day against the Pittsburgh Pipers.

Football

Jardine, 34, succeeds John Coatta, whose contract was not renewed for the next season.

Coatta's teams in three seasons won only three games — all this year — and tied one.

Jardine, a former Purdue guard and linebacker, had been an assistant at his alma mater before joining the UCLA staff five years ago. He was credited with much of the recruiting that made both schools national powers.

NEW YORK — United Press International yesterday named Cincinnati's Paul Brown as American Football League Coach of the Year and Los Angeles' quarterback Roman Gabriel Player of the Year in the National Football League.

In fact, Oilers owner Bud Adams said fast night only rookie wide receiver Jerry Levias and all-pro linebacker George Webster are secure in the Oiler uniforms.

Hockey

PHILADELPHIA — Keith Allen was named general manager of the National Hockey League's Philadelphia Flyers, succeeding the recently fired Bud Poile.

Baseball

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates named Daniel M. Galbreath, 41, president of the National League club.

SAN MATEO — Jungle Savage, $5.40, won the William P. Kyne Stakes at Bay Meadows on a disqualification after finishing second to Gaelic Dancer.

Warriors Host Supersonics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The improving but still cellar-dwelling Seattle Supersonics face the San Francisco Warriors tonight at 8 o'clock in a National Basketball Association game in Civic Auditorium.

Seattle has won its last three games, but is still in last place in the NBA's Western Division, nine games behind Atlanta and one in back of San Diego and Phoenix.

The Warriors, who are 5½ games behind the Hawks and tied with Chicago for second place, will be without Joe Ellis against Seattle.

Against Philadelphia Saturday, Ellis chipped a bone in his big toe. He is expected to miss only a game or two.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Heavy Rains Help Spawning Salmon

What a great rain! At least it served to benefit the silver salmon runs throughout the county. Good numbers of silver salmon were widely scattered through the spawning streams in Marin.

Five inches or more rain enabled the fish to easily reach the spawning beds, and they were generally well protected by the high muddy waters.

AT THE NICASIO fish trap, Jim Crunk of the Department of Fish and Game was kept busy trapping and transporting big junker fish over the Nicasio Dam to the streams above. I think his count might be close to 200 adult spawners. This is great, and should insure good future runs.

In Salmon Creek in Sonoma County, good numbers of fish, mostly silvers, were making it across the sand bar that separates the ocean from the stream. Of course the fish snaggers showed up too, which in turn brought the wardens out in force. A good time was had by all, but mostly by the wardens! Fish snagging and fish spearing is illegal, so the poacher caught red handed doing this is nailed everytime. Even the judges show little mercy.

OF COURSE the bar at the mouth of the Russian River is wide open, so good numbers of steelhead and salmon are in the Russian, though with the waters almost at flood level, it will be a week or so before fishing will be possible.

On the local scene, things were generally pretty slow over the weekend. Checking from Tiburon to China Camp near San Rafael, I saw only one party boat out, fishing close to Cat Rock near China Camp. Up at Buck's Landing in Santa Venetia, only a few anglers tried it with the winds as rough as they were.

A CAMPER TRUCK traveling along San Pedro Road had a sturgeon tied to the back door with the tail dragging on the highway. Warden Russ Ild and I gave an educated guess that it was legal size as we followed the camper. It was legal all right, but we thought the tail might wear off. We were going to shake the driver up on this matter, but he stopped too soon at a home in Santa Venetia, and we gave up the idea.

Incidentally, the new 1970 sport fishing licenses are available at the local sporting goods stores. If you are having trouble thinking of a good Christmas present for someone, if he or she fishes, get him a license. The $5 license makes it all right to fish for any legal fish in season in California through 1970.

THE RAINS, and especially the strong winds improved duck hunting throughout most of the state. Jim Dougherty and a friend from Mill Valley had their best day at their club near Maxwell, Colusa County, taking four geese — three snows and a spec — along with eight ducks — one mallard, four sprig and three wigeon.

Up north, the real freeze-ups should occur, bringing new flights of the birds down to this area. Last year, after the freeze-up, Gray Lodge, Sutter, Sacramento and Delevan, all state and federal operated shooting areas for ducks, showed increased populations, thus providing good shoots. Duck season closes Jan. 11, so now's the time to go.

LOTS OF steelhead fishermen stay home when the streams are muddy. Try using fresh roe in a back eddy or where the water isn't too fast. This can pay off as the fish can smell the fresh rote. Papermill Creek at Point Reyes Station could be at its best now.

Meeting On Water Pollution

College students concerned with problems of water pollution are being invited to a one-day meeting with Department of the Interior officials in Oakland on Dec. 30.

According to Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel, the meeting, one of nine being held throughout the country, is to establish direct lines of communications between the student population and his Department.

OPPORTUNITY

Following a review of federal legislation, programs, and goals, students will have an opportunity to present proposals for solving water pollution problems.

The group will be asked to elect a board of five students to follow up ideas expressed at the meeting. One member of this board, along with representatives of other student boards chosen at other meetings across the country, will meet later with Hickel to recommend programs and actions to meet water pollution problems.

SUMMARY

Students are invited to present specific proposals at the Oakland meeting, and those doing so are asked to submit a one-page summary to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, 760 Market Street, San Francisco 94102, so copies can be prepared for distribution at the meeting.

Students submitting proposals will be invited to an organizational meeting the evening of Dec. 29.

Additional information can be obtained by writing or calling the FWPCA office on Market Street in San Francisco.

Raiders Send Ball To Steinmark

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders have sent an honorary game ball to Fred Steinmark, the Texas defensive back who had a cancerous leg amputated last week.

The Raiders bombed Houston 56-7 last Sunday to move into the American League finals against Kansas City.

They announced yesterday that they had honored Steinmark, whose courage had moved them.

"The motto of the Oakland Raiders is Pride and Poise," the message accompanying the ball said. "We feel that you, by your courage, have earned this award."

Cal Bears Defeat New Mexico

BERKELEY (AP) — Jackie Ridgle's 25 points and Ansley Truitt's 20 helped California defeat New Mexico 83-79 last night in a nonconference basketball game.

After a 37-all halftime deadlock, New Mexico led in the second half until California pulled to within 46-45.

Then California took the lead to stay on three straight baskets by Leo Dorado, Ridgle and Tom Henderson.

Three Marin Lifters Triumph In Pacifica

Three members of the MarVel Athletic Club of Marin were among winners at an Amateur Athletic Union weightlifting meet at Pacifica Sunday.

Dave Gottlieb, 14, won a first place medal with 330-pound total, Ray DeLeon, 14, won two first place medals and totaled 300 pounds, and Greg Gottlieb, 12, won a first and was named best lifter in his class.

MARIN PREP NOTES

A Rough Start For Hennessey

By GARY TISCHLER

Already, it has been something of a trying season for Marin Catholic High School basketball coach Dave Hennessey, who this year stepped into Larry Fulton's two-year-old shoes at the Kentfield parochial school.

Young and enthusiastic, Dave is going through the sorrows of a 2-8 losing preleague season, and he doesn't much care for it.

"Maybe it's all right to go into league 0-11," he says. "But it's tough on young kids, and we have mostly sophomores and juniors."

The 2-8 record is the worst in the league, but it isn't always indicative of what the Wildcats might be capable of doing. It just happens to be a toughening grind. And there's worse to come, even though the Wildcats have already played in the St. Elizabeth's tournament of Oakland, one of the roughest around.

This week, there's Hillsdale of San Mateo, whom the Wildcats have never beaten in preseason play, and then there's Riordan of San Francisco, with none other than Kevin Restani on the roster, the boy who's been picked on top of the heap among California prep stars.

But even in a rough season, there was a moment of levity, such as happened last weekend, when Hennessey was interviewed on a Santa Rosa radio station which shall remain unnamed. The announcer asked Hennessey about his Olympic basketball playing experience and Hennessey, dumfounded, just went along, telling him that he "played with all the guys, K. C. Jones, all of them."

Actually, Hennessey did play on two U.S. Olympic hockey teams, which is a far cry from basketball.

And speaking of the Wildcats, the 29 points Bill Donnellan scored against Eureka in the Rose City Tournament must have come doubly hard because he had just learned earlier in the day that his grandfather had passed away. Bill showed a tremendous amount of poise in even showing up to play.

IF YOU'VE been wondering whatever happened to Floyd Jackson, former Tamalpais High School cage star who started for the University of California frosh last year in such august company as Ainsley Truitt and Phil Chenier, he's been redshirted this year. So that's why you haven't seen him in the Golden Bear box scores.

TAMALPAIS cage coach Bernie Schneider must be difficult to live with these days. Schneider, an avid golfer, shot a one-under-par 70 at Rohnert Park last week, the first time he's ever been under par and he's still glowing.

Leo McCarthy, coach of St. Patrick's of Vallejo's powerful, but no longer unbeaten cage team, has been heard to say that he doesn't think much of Redwood High School's basketball team, and this from more than once source among Marin County coaches. McCarthy, whose team suffered its first loss at the Rose City tournament to Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa, was reported to have said that his squad could take the Giants and that he wasn't at all impressed by Jerry Piro, the Redwood star forward. This, although he reportedly has not seen Redwood play.

DENISE HAM
Marin County . . .

Among Nation's Best Age Group AAU Clockings

The Marin Swim Club and the San Rafael Swim Club, the two Marin County age group swimming powerhouses, both showed up strong in the annual 1969 National age group best times listings as compiled by the Jantzen Corporation for the Amateur Athletic Union.

The Marin Swim Club had 54 mentions in the top five times listings while the San Rafael Swim Club had 26.

Topping the Marin Swim Club was Denise Ham in girls 13-14 age division with nine mentions while Jo Hislop had seven listings for the San Rafael Swim Club.

Denise topped her efforts with a first in the 100 butterfly plus two seconds, two thirds, two fourths, a fifth and a fifth in the national Junior Olympics.

Miss Hislop tied for 22nd place in the top 25 senior women's 100-meter freestyle, had three seconds, two thirds and two fourths in the age group rankings and had a third and fourth in the top five Junior listings.

Cookie Arrighi, who will be swimming for the Santa Clara Swim Club, placed six times in the age group rankings for the Marin Swim Club along with Maura Campion. Earning five mentions were Anne Engle, Spencer Eldred had three age group mentions plus a pair of fourths in the junior Olympic listings. Cheryl Cattan placed twice while Sue Secondo, Kim Hughes and Jim Tufts placed three times.

The Marin Swim Club also showed up well in the relays, headed by its girls 13-14 medley relay of Cookie Arrighi, Sue Secondo, Anne Engel and Denise Ham, which placed eight times with five first place rankings, second, and a third. The five wins each were in national age-group record time.

For the San Rafael Swim Club, Tami McDuffie placed three times in age group and once in the Junior Olympics while Kathi Hislop had one age group mention. The club also had eight relay mentions.

West Still Top Man In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers continues to set the scoring pace in the National Basketball Association with a 30.1 average per game, but Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati are bearing down in an effort to catch him.

Cunningham remained in second place with a 27.3 average on the merits of 35-points bursts at San Francisco and Seattle, according to the weekly NBA statistics released today. Robertson was right behind him at 26.5.

San Francisco's Nate Thurmond held onto his lead in rebounding with an 18.2 average and Milwaukee's Flynn Robinson was still in front in free throws, Shooting at an .898 percentage. Lenny Wilkens, the Seattle player-coach, was still best in assists with a 9.7 average.

BOWLING TIPS

Women who do not gain sufficient speed in the approach can automatically correct this by holding the ball higher at address. If you have been holding the ball around waist high, bring it up opposite your chest (see illustration). Thus the ball will drop farther, and gravity will move it faster, as you start.

Toledo senior Ken Crots made 77 straight extra point kicks, a major college record, before missing one this fall in a 34-9 victory over Ohio University.

Near Upset By Stanford Quintet

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford University came within a whisker of upsetting heavily favored St. John's of New York but the Redmen held on for a 63-59 intersectional basketball victory last night.

The Indians built a 20-5 lead after the first nine minutes of the game, but senior forward Joe DePre and center Bill Paultz sparked a comeback that pulled St. John's to within one point at halftime.

DePre and Paultz had 22 points apiece to tie for game high point honors.

The Redmen, now 6-1, hit 17 of 23 foul shots while Stanford made only 13 of 26.

Stanford guard Dennis O'Neill sparked Stanford, 1-4, with 21 points.

No More Number 13 For Navy Football

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — "We will not have another 13 in our locker room," said Navy football coach Rick Forzano when he got punter Tom Moore to wear No. 38 midway in the season.

"That's the number I was wearing when I was partially blinded (in the right eye) while playing Bantam League football," added the coach. "I don't know why I didn't notice Moore in number 13 until our game with Virginia."

Redwood Ace Leads In Scoring

Redwood High School ace Jerry Piro took over the Marin County basketball scoring lead, even though his average dropped.

Piro vaulted past Gary Howard of San Marin, who had a pair of sub-par games of 15 and 9 points. Piro is scoring at a 19.6 clip, ahead of Howard's 18.5 pace and Bill Secor of Tamalpais, who's at 18.4

Marin Catholic may be 2-8 on the year, but the Wildcats could be tough in the league. They have three players in double figures, headed by Bill Donellan at 14.3, Mike Parnow at 13.5 and Tim Stone at 11.7.

Redwood, Novato and Tamalpais also have three cagers scoring in double figures, with the biggest surprise being the rapid advance of Tamalpais newcomer John Earl Huff who jumped to a 12.6 average after games of 18 and 24 points.

Two California Netters Advance

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — Californians Denise Carter and Valerie Ziegenfuss advanced today in the Border tennis championships.

Miss Ziegenfuss, of San Diego, beat Mary Muller of South Africa, 6-2, 6-1, in the third round. Miss Carter, of Los Altos, trounced Britain's Corinne Molesworth, 6-2, 6-3, in the second round.

In men's singles, Arthur Pattison of South Africa defeated Roy Kreiss of Beverly Hills, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. Britain's Mark Cox ousted Derek Schroder of South Africa, 6-1, 6-1.

Roger Gann, a senior Kentucky tailback from Fayetteville, N.C., returned four kickoffs for 166 yards against Indiana in the opening game for both teams.

Rick Barry Back On The Court

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Rick Barry, the Washington Caps' all star forward, scrimmaged yesterday for the first time since his operation Oct. 23 for a torn knee cartilage.

"It felt pretty good but I'm tired," Barry said after warm ups anl a full hour of scrimmaging. "I just got to keep playing and get myself back in shape."

The American Basketball Association star wore no knee brace but the leg was well bandaged.

He feels in the next couple of days of scrimmaging probably will determine whether he'll play Christmas Day against the Pittsburgh Pipers.

JOHN JARDINE
To Wisconsin

Football

MADISON, Wis. — John Jardine, assistant coach at the University of California at Los Angeles, was named yesterday as Wisconsin's new football coach.

Jardine, 34, succeeds John Coatta, whose contract was not renewed for the next season.

Coatta's teams in three seasons won only three games — all this year — and tied one.

Jardine, a former Purdue guard and linebacker, had been an assistant at his alma mater before joining the UCLA staff five years ago. He was credited with much of the recruiting that made both schools national powers.

NEW YORK — United Press International yesterday named Cincinnati's Paul Brown as American Football League Coach of the Year and Los Angeles' quarterback Roman Gabriel Player of the Year in the National Football League.

In fact, Oilers owner Bud Adams said last night only rookie wide receiver Jerry Levias and all-pro linebacker George Webster are secure in the Oiler uniforms.

Hockey

PHILADELPHIA — Keith Allen was named general manager of the National Hockey League's Philadelphia Flyers, succeeding the recently fired Bud Poile.

Baseball

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates named Daniel M. Galbreath, 41, president of the National League club.

Horse Racing

SAN MATEO — Jungle Savage, $5.40, won the William P. Kyne Stakes at Bay Meadows on a disqualffication after finishing second to Gaelic Dancer.

Warriors Host Supersonics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The improving but still cellar-dwelling Seattle Supersonics face the San Francisco Warriors tonight at 8 o'clock in a National Basketball Association game in Civic Auditorium.

Seattle has won its last three games, but is still in last place in the NBA's Western Division, nine games behind Atlanta and one in back of San Diego and Phoenix.

The Warriors, who are 5½ games behind the Hawks and tied with Chicago for second place, will be without Joe Ellis against Seattle.

Against Philadelphia Saturday, Ellis chipped a bone in his big toe. He is expected to miss only a game or two.

Tate Suspect Awaits Judge's Trial Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson insists he wants to defend himself from charges of murdering actress Sharon Tate and six others, declaring he can do it better than any lawyer.

The long-haired, bearded cult leader, in purple shirt and gold trousers, spent 30 minutes yesterday trying to convince Superior Court Judge William B. Keene he should be permitted to act as his own counsel.

The judge, apparently unconvinced, postponed his decision until tomorrow. Meanwhile, Keene said, he would appoint a lawyer to advise Manson.

Manson, 35, agreed, saying: "I don't want to fight with the judge. I believe he's sincere."

The cult leader and four followers are accused of the Tate killings Aug. 8, and the same five plus a girl cultist are charged with killing a Los Angeles market owner and his wife the following night.

"My life is at stake and maybe the lives of four or five other people," Manson told the court. "There is no lawyer in the world who can represent me. The news media have already executed and buried me."

Two of Manson's codefendants also made brief appearances before Keene.

Leslie Van Houten, 19, who is accused of murder in only the knife slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Leno LaBianca the night after the Tate killings, pleaded innocent. Her trial was set for Feb. 9.

Linda Kasabian, 20, charged in both sets of slayings, sat silent while her lawyer was granted a delay until Jan. 6 in entering her plea. The lawyer said he needed more time to study the grand jury indictment.

Also under indictment in both the Tate and LaBianca killings are Susan Atkins, 19, whose trial has been set for Feb. 9; Charles "Tex" Watson, 24, held at McKinney, Tex.; and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, under arrest at Mobile, Ala.

After the court session, Luke McKissack, one of several attorneys willing to help Manson defend himself, asserted Keene was "foisting" a court-appointed attorney on Manson. McKissack called the judge's actions "illegal, unconstitutional and damnable."

Attorney George Shibley, who appeared as "a friend of the court," told Keene Manson has heard reports that the judge wants to run for district attorney and seeks that Manson be represented by a former deputy district attorney in order to assure a conviction.

But Keene said, after thanking Shibley for his appearance, that he will consult with the president of the county bar association before selecting an attorney for a conference with Manson.

Nixon Aides Hit Northern Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some officials of the Nixon administration agree with the southern complaint that federal law deals too lightly with racially segregated schools in the North and West.

The government has done little about northern school segregation, officials say, for two main reasons: lack of judicial mandate from the Supreme Court and active discouragement by Congress.

"It has become clear to me that the old bugaboo of keeping federal hands off northern school systems because they are only de facto segregated, instead of de jure segregated as the result of some official act, is a fraud," said Leon E. Panetta, director of the Office for Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

De facto is the term applied to school segregation resulting solely from residential patterns. De jure is the description for segregation decreed by law or formal custom, such as state-established dual school systems in the South.

"There are few if any pure de facto situations," Panetta said. "Lift the rock of de facto, and all too frequently something ugly and discriminatory crawls out from under it.

"Sometimes it was years ago that discrimination occurred, but the minority children have suffered since, and that should be undone.

"Sure, racial housing patterns may coincide with school attendance patterns by race. But which came first and how was the school boundary drawn?" Panetta asked.

And HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch said recently "Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has a "valid point" in his argument that federal law appears to condemn school segregation in the South but condone it in the North and West.

"The Supreme Court has chosen only to come down on de jure segregation where it is clear cut," Finch said. "That is dual systems where state law required it.

"The Supreme Court would have to say that de facto segregation is illegal before government agencies can act," he said. "And I don't expect that will happen soon."

The high court has never agreed to hear a case involving de facto school segregation.

Further, Congress discouraged government action against de facto segregation by saying in 1965 no steps could be required to correct "racial imbalance" in schools free from official discrimination.

Panetta referred to this as letting the North "off the hook."

But he denied the government has one set of rules for the North and another for the South.

"The law prohibits racial discrimination at schools receiving federal assistance and that law has been applied equally throughout the country," Panetta said.

Panetta said "establishing official responsibility for such segregation in the North is far more difficult than in southern states, where until recently rigid school systems were maintained by law or formal custom and where today the residual effects of this discrimination are readily apparent."

Tate Suspect Awaits Judge's Trial Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson insists he wants to defend himself from charges of murdering actress Sharon Tate and six others, declaring he can do it better than any lawyer.

The long-haired, bearded cult leader, in purple shirt and gold trousers, spent 30 minutes yesterday trying to convince Superior Court Judge William B. Keene he should be permitted to act as his own counsel.

The judge, apparently unconvinced, postponed his decision until tomorrow. Meanwhile, Keene said, he would appoint a lawyer to advise Manson.

Manson, 35, agreed, saying: "I don't want to fight with the judge. I believe he's sincere."

The cult leader and four followers are accused of the Tate killings Aug. 8, and the same five plus a girl cultist are charged with killing a Los Angeles market owner and his wife the following night.

"My life is at stake and maybe the lives of four or five other people," Manson told the court. "There is no lawyer in the world who can represent me. The news media have already executed and buried me."

Two of Manson's codefendants also made brief appearances before Keene.

Leslie Van Houten, 19, who is accused of murder in only the knife slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Leno LaBianca the night after the Tate killings, pleaded innocent. Her trial was set for Feb. 9.

Linda Kasabian, 20, charged in both sets of slayings, sat silent while her lawyer was granted a delay until Jan. 6 in entering her plea. The lawyer said he needed more time to study the grand jury indictment.

Also under indictment in both the Tate and LaBianca killings are Susan Atkins, 19, whose trial has been set for Feb. 9; Charles "Tex" Watson, 24, held at McKinney, Tex.; and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, under arrest at Mobile, Ala.

After the court session, Luke McKissack, one of several attorneys willing to help Manson defend himself, asserted Keene was "foisting" a court-appointed attorney on Manson. McKissack called the judge's actions "illegal, unconstitutional and damnable."

Attorney George Shibley, who appeared as "a friend of the court," told Keene Manson has heard reports that the judge wants to run for district attorney and seeks that Manson be represented by a former deputy district attorney in order to assure a conviction.

But Keene said, after thanking Shibley for his appearance, that he will consult with the president of the county bar association before selecting an attorney for a conference with Manson.

Nixon Aides Hit Northern Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some officials of the Nixon administration agree with the southern complaint that federal law deals too lightly with racially segregated schools in the North and West.

The government has done little about northern school segregation, officials say, for two main reasons: lack of judicial mandate from the Supreme Court and active discouragement by Congress.

"It has become clear to me that the old bugaboo of keeping federal hands off northern school systems because they are only de facto segregated, instead of de jure segregated as the result of some official act, is a fraud," said Leon E. Panetta, director of the Office for Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

De facto is the term applied to school segregation resulting solely from residential patterns. De jure is the description for segregation decreed by law or formal custom, such as state-established dual school systems in the South.

"There are few if any pure de facto situations," Panetta said. "Lift the rock of de facto, and all too frequently something ugly and discriminatory crawls out from under it.

"Sometimes it was years ago that discrimination occurred, but the minority children have suffered since, and that should be undone.

"Sure, racial housing patterns may coincide with school attendance patterns by race. But which came first and how was the school boundary drawn?" Panetta asked.

And HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch said recently "Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has a "valid point" in his argument that federal law appears to condemn school segregation in the South but condone it in the North and West.

"The Supreme Court has chosen only to come down on de jure segregation where it is clear cut," Finch said. "That is dual systems where state law required it.

'I'm Doing Fine'—Sue Ward

By JOAN LISETOR

Eighteen-year-old Sue Ward and a boyfriend planned an outing in Muir Woods one day in August of 1968. Coming from their San Leandro homes they made it across the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge when disaster struck in the form of a near-fatal automobile accident.

Sue was brought to Marin General Hospital unconscious with a broken neck and in a totally paralyzed condition. Her companion was also seriously injured.

Last Friday, a year and a half later Sue and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Ward, returned to visit the hospital, where they were taken on a tour to see the Christmas decorations and honored at a tea in the Blue Room of the hospital.

Nurses from the intensive care unit of the hospital, where Sue spent five weeks following the accident, attended the tea. Amazed after receiving a letter from Sue, who is a quadriplegic, they were anxious to talk to her about her life since the accident.

The letter sent to the hospital in September read:

"Dear Dr. (Sam) Hanzel and ICU staff,

"I wanted to let you know what I've been doing since I left Marin. I spent three months in rehab at Vallejo (Kaiser Foundation Rehabilitation Center) and came home in December. Then I was an out-patient at the county hospital in San Leandro and started work toward re-entering college. Then I had a month more in Vallejo before I started the University of California at Berkeley in June. So now I've had one quarter of eight units. There are 12 quads living in Cowell Hospital on campus. We hire our own attendants and have electric wheelchairs to get to classes. It's really a good program, and I'm glad I could get in it.

"I'm doing fine, and I thank you so much.

"Sue Ward"

"Berkeley's not tough," she told the nurses. "There is another girl and eight boys, and we have the entire third floor of the hospital to ourselves. We have quite some parties, too."

Sue, who has limited use of her hands, uses clips to hold a pen and turn pages of a book. "She does new things everyday," says her mother, Jewell Ward. "She learned to type using special clips and a sort of hunt and peck system, and the other day she said she thought she could brush her teeth herself.

"We're so glad Sue is alive. We enjoy her so much. Her good spirits have amazed us."

COMPUTER PROGRAMMING is Sue's major. She had some interest in the field her first year in college at Harvey Mudd College in Claremont, prior to the accident. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mitchell Ward of Oakland, is a computer programmer and has encouraged Sue's interest in the field since her accident. Sue's brother is also in college, studying for a teaching credential at San Francisco State College.

Arriving at the hospital to visit Sue was presented with a ribbon that read "ICU graduate" by the nurses, many of whom she did not recognize since she was unconscious much of the time she spent in the intensive care unit.

"She is hard to recognize with long hair," commented one of the nurses. "We had to cut most of it off bit by bit."

She survived because of the care and treatment she received at Marin General Hospital, says Mrs. Ward. About her daughter's future she says, "Finishing college will be slow, but she'll make it."

The way the cookie crumbles is a matter of life and health for millions of school children across the world.

"Crumble" in this case means the breakdown of ingredients in the recipes. For these cookies are specially develped and baked for CARE, to serve to the children at school every day.

Unlike the wafers that are an extra treat for American children, they form a substantial part of each child's basic diet and must help provide essential food nutrients.

Mrs. Margot Higgins, nutritionist at CARE headquarters in New York says, "It's not the calories, but how they're stacked that counts."

PRIME REQUIREMENT is that the CARE cookies be high in protein. The dough is made with milk powder, wheat flour and oils donated by the U.S. War on Hunger program. Local governments or groups give baking agents, flavorings and sugar or syrups for taste — and, if possible, an additional protein source.

In Chile, for example, CARE cookies for 700,000 pupils are fortified with fish flour (no odor or taste). In Bombay, India, peanut meal is the plus in cookies for 450,000 students. In Ceylon, there are plans to use synthetic lysine, an amino acid component of protein, in the cookies served to 2.5 million children at 8,500 schools. Protein contents range from eight per cent to as high as 15 per cent when a concentrate is added, compared to three or four per cent in commercial cookies.

Well over two billion cookies a school year are required for present distributions of a minimum three cookies a day to about 3.7 million children, and more projects are pending.

The cookie servings are part of CARE programs that will help feed 35 million people in 36 countries during the coming year, including 22 million school children. Costs are covered by combining the U.S. foods, local government and community support, and contributions by Americans to the current $6,650,000 CARE Food Crusade, which seeks to deliver various types of food packages at one dollar each.

IDEALLY, THE agency provides the makings of a hot breakfast or lunch for school children. Toward this end, CARE often helps build school kitchens and dining halls. But what of the schools without cooking facilities or rural schools in roadless areas where supplies cannot be delivered in bad-weather seasons?

From this came the idea of a cookie crammed with nourishment, delivered well in advance without danger of spoilage and easily handed from teacher to class. The first project started in 1961 in Hong Kong, where 25,000 Chinese refugee and other needy primary pupils now get a daily CARE lunch of cookies and a cup of milk.

Baking is done in each country involved, under contract with private bakeries. CARE overseas staff men organize the projects and work closely with counterpart personnel, local nutritionists and bakers at every step, from formulating recipes to delivery.

Logistical problems can be staggering because of the lack of mass production and transportation facilities. In Ceylon alone, 180 million cookies are baked and delivered six times a year. To handle the bulk of this order one bakery in the city of Colombo completely modernized its plant, from ovens to packing machines.

NOR CAN RECIPES be swapped intact between CARE missions. The ingredients available vary from country to country, and different baking conditions can produce different results.

Big problem is to ensure a good protein yield, since the high temperature for baking may cause the lactose in milk powder to bind with the lysine present in milk and in flour, and this reduces the protein content. The more fat and sugar in the dough, the more likely this is to happen. Yet, too much of an additive like peanut meal will make a dry, unappetizing cookie. Taste is important, for children won't eat a food they don't like.

Many combinations are tried, components juggled, samples analyzed and tasted before a final recipe is approved. Mrs. Higgins stands by for guidance by air mail and sometimes personal visits.

"Cookies are not a cure-all for every feeding problem," she stresses. "But when alternatives are limited, they can be a big step in the right direction of giving children not only food to fill their stomachs but the kind of food they need for health."

As for the children, there's no doubt they love them. Even an occasional mishap has a happy ending.

"We've changed our containers, because we had some reports of crumbled cookies at the bottom of the boxes," one CARE man wrote in the initial stages of his program. "There was no waste, though — the kids ate every crumb."

Ayeroff-Bellach Vows Set

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bellach of San Rafael announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Jewel, to Bruce Martin Ayeroff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ayeroff of Sherman Oaks.

Sandra was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed by the Motion Picture Health and Accident Insurance Co. in Hollywood. Jerome and Darryl Bellach of San Rafael are her brothers, and her sister is Mrs. Carole Falcon of San Rafael.

Bruce is a graduate of Woodbury College in Los Angeles and is the owner of the Ayeroff Lithograph and Printing Co. of Los Angeles.

SANDRA JEWEL BELLACH

ENJOYING THEIR daily good fortune in the form of special protein-packed cookies and milk, these Chinese school children in Hong Kong are among children in many countries who receive the food supplements through gifts from Americans made by CARE Food Crusade. Special cookies have been devised to suit the tastes of youngsters in the various countries.

Christmas Parties Planned For Friends And Families

By MOLLY MARIN

Gatherings around the family hearth are traditional for Christmas week, and open houses and dinners are being held this week throughout Marin.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Leonards of Belvedere will invite friends to bring their children to an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. on Christmas Day. The Leonards children make and decorate cookies, plan games and candy canes.

This children's open house is a tradition that the Leonards enjoyed when they lived in San Francisco until two years ago.

Friends have been invited from the Peninsula, San Francisco and Marin County.

MR AND MRS. Harold Hansen of Kentfield welcome their daughter and her family for the holidays with a small open house this evening at their home. They are Mr. and Mrs. William Poindexter of San Marino and their sons, Jim and David.

MR. AND MRS. John Finn III of Mill Valley will have a Christmas dinner for 11 guests. Their daughter Ferris has invited two of her friends from Santa Rosa Junior College, Helen and Agnes Stone.

MR. AND MRS. Donald Bekins of Belvedere will hold open house on Sunday from 5 to 8 p.m.

Enjoying wine punch around the Christmas tree will be Messrs. and Mmes. Jay Charlot, Donald Davis, Thomas Woodward, Laurence Kraus and Mrs. Charles Mishkind, of Corinthian Island.

Guests from Belvedere will be Messrs. and Mmes. Paul Duggan, Richard Nelson, Frank Rainey and Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews. Guests Mr. and Mrs. Haib van Praag of Belvedere will return to their native Holland in January.

Other guests are the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Evans of Tiburon and Mr. and Mrs. John Bricker of Strawberry.

IN MILL VALLEY the Lou Bartolinis will have 20 guests for Christmas dinner at their home.

Tiburon guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Branwell Fanning F. G. Knight, G. B. Falk, Philip Bass, Arthur Gensler, Bryan Chapman, Richard Canady, Douglas Scott, Charles Basset, David Heldt and Jerry Jensen.

Mill Valley guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Westberg and Murray Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hudner from San Francisco will attend.

MR. AND MRS. Paul Duggan have returned to Belvedere after a trip to Ochorios, Jamaica. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Edmonds and family. He is Mrs. Duggan's brother.

TAHITIAN DRESS will be worn by friends of Laurie Mazur when they attend a dinner dance in her honor at Tiburon Tommie's restaurant tonight.

Laurie, the daughter of Mrs. M. S. Mazur of Belvedere, bowed at the Marin Debutante Ball Saturday evening at the St. Francis Hotel.

Computer-Compatible Woman Now President

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years is a long time to carry on a passionate love affair, even for a gal as beautiful as blonde Penny (Penelope) Kaniclides.

But after a decade, Miss Kaniclides' love affair shows no signs of waning. On the contrary, as she puts it, it is now entering "its most challenging and hopefully productive phase."

PENNY'S ROMANCE is with computers and romantics might call it a case of love at first sight. After graduating from Skidmore College, she got a job as a mathematician for an engineering company. Two months later the company got a computer and "I was completely fascinated. It magnetized me . . . its speed, power and promise just magnetized me."

Penny's initial infatuation blossomed into a full-fledged love affair that resulted in her devoting as many as 15 hours a day to her new interest. Thus, a "bit of natural ability and good hard work" developed into a career — first as a programmer, then as supervisor of programmers, then to start Standard & Poor's computer services, climaxing in her being named that company's first woman vice president. In that capacity, Penny supervised 85 persons — all males.

Recently she (and four other vice presidents) resigned Standard & Poor's to start her own company, Telstat Systems, a computer information utility which produces and sells financial and economic data in computer readable form.

Penny, who believes she is the first woman president of a computer company, now is seeking to entice other women to share her romance. As of this moment, she admits that most of the people she's interviewing for positions are men, but only "because there are more men than women in the field."

"I'D LIKE to see more

Logistical problems can be staggering because of the lack of mass production and transportation facilities. In Ceylon alone, 180 million cookies are baked and delivered six times a year. To handle the bulk of this order one bakery in the city of Colombo completely modernized its plant, from ovens to packing machines.

NOR CAN RECIPES be swapped intact between CARE missions. The ingredients available vary from country to country, and different baking conditions can produce different results.

Big problem is to ensure a good protein yield, since the high temperature for baking may cause the lactose in milk powder to bind with the lysine present in milk and in flour, and this reduces the protein content. The more fat and sugar in the dough, the more likely this is to happen. Yet, too much of an additive like peanut meal will make a dry, unappetizing cookie. Taste is important, for children won't eat a food they don't like.

Many combinations are tried, components juggled, samples analyzed and tasted before a final recipe is approved. Mrs. Higgins stands by for guidance by air mail and sometimes personal visits.

"Cookies are not a cure-all for every feeding problem," she stresses. "But when alternatives are limited, they can be a big step in the right direction of giving children not only food to fill their stomachs but the kind of food they need for health."

As for the children, there's no doubt they love them. Even an occasional mishap has a happy ending.

"We've changed our containers, because we had some reports of crumbled cookies at the bottom of the boxes," one CARE man wrote in the initial stages of his program. "There was no waste, though — the kids ate every crumb."

ENJOYING THEIR daily good fortune in the form of special protein-packed cookies and milk, these Chinese school children in Hong Kong are among children in many countries who receive the food supplements through gifts from Americans made by CARE Food Crusade. Special cookies have been devised to suit the tastes of youngsters in the various countries.

Ayeroff-Bellach Vows Set

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bellach of San Rafael announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Jewel, to Bruce Martin Ayeroff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ayeroff of Sherman Oaks.

Sandra was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed by the Motion Picture Health and Accident Insurance Co. in Hollywood. Jerome and Darryl Bellach of San Rafael are her brothers, and her sister is Mrs. Carole Falcon of San Rafael.

Bruce is a graduate of Woodbury College in Los Angeles and is the owner of the Ayeroff Lithograph and Printing Co. of Los Angeles.

Christmas Parties Planned For Friends And Families

By MOLLY MARIN

Gatherings around the family hearth are traditional for Christmas week, and open houses and dinners are being held this week throughout Marin.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Leonards of Belvedere will invite friends to bring their children to an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. on Christmas Day. The Leonards children make and decorate cookies, plan games and candy canes.

This children's open house is a tradition that the Leonards enjoyed when they lived in San Francisco until two years ago.

Friends have been invited from the Peninsula, San Francisco and Marin County.

MR AND MRS. Harold Hansen of Kentfield welcome their daughter and her family for the holidays with a small open house this evening at their home. They are Mr. and Mrs. William Poindexter of San Marino and their sons, Jim and David.

MR. AND MRS. John Finn III of Mill Valley will have a Christmas dinner for 11 guests. Their daughter Ferris has invited two of her friends from Santa Rosa Junior College, Helen and Agnes Stone.

MR. AND MRS. Donald Bekins of Belvedere will hold open house on Sunday from 5 to 8 p.m.

Enjoying wine punch around the Christmas tree will be Messrs. and Mmes. Jay Charlot, Donald Davis, Thomas Woodward, Laurence Kraus and Mrs. Charles Mishkind, of Corinthian Island.

Guests from Belvedere will be Messrs. and Mmes. Paul Duggan, Richard Nelson, Frank Rainey and Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews. Guests Mr. and Mrs. Haib van Praag of Belvedere will return to their native Holland in January.

Other guests are the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Evans of Tiburon and Mr. and Mrs. John Bricker of Strawberry.

IN MILL VALLEY the Lou Bartolinis will have 20 guests for Christmas dinner at their home.

Tiburon guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Branwell Fanning F. G. Knight, G. B. Falk, Philip Bass, Arthur Gensler, Bryan Chapman, Richard Canady, Douglas Scott, Charles Basset, David Heldt and Jerry Jensen.

Mill Valley guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Westberg and Murray Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hudner from San Francisco will attend.

MR. AND MRS. Paul Duggan have returned to Belvedere after a trip to Ochorios, Jamaica. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Edmonds and family. He is Mrs. Duggan's brother.

TAHITIAN DRESS will be worn by friends of Laurie Mazur when they attend a dinner dance in her honor at Tiburon Tommie's restaurant tonight.

Laurie, the daughter of Mrs. M. S. Mazur of Belvedere, bowed at the Marin Debutante Ball Saturday evening at the St. Francis Hotel.

Computer-Compatible Woman Now President

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years is a long time to carry on a passionate love affair, even for a gal as beautiful as blonde Penny (Penelope) Kaniclides.

But after a decade, Miss Kaniclides' love affair shows no signs of waning. On the contrary, as she puts it, it is now entering "its most challenging and hopefully productive phase."

PENNY'S ROMANCE is with computers and romantics might call it a case of love at first sight. After graduating from Skidmore College, she got a job as a mathematician for an engineering company. Two months later the company got a computer and "I was completely fascinated. It magnetized me . . . its speed, power and promise just magnetized me."

Penny's initial infatuation blossomed into a full-fledged love affair that resulted in her devoting as many as 15 hours a day to her new interest. Thus, a "bit of natural ability and good hard work" developed into a career — first as a programmer, then as supervisor of programmers, then to start Standard & Poor's computer services, climaxing in her being named that company's first woman vice president. In that capacity, Penny supervised 85 persons — all males.

Recently she (and four other vice presidents) resigned Standard & Poor's to start her own company, Telstat Systems, a computer information utility which produces and sells financial and economic data in computer readable form.

Penny, who believes she is the first woman president of a computer company, now is seeking to entice other women to share her romance. As of this moment, she admits that most of the people she's interviewing for positions are men, but only "because there are more men than women in the field."

"I'D LIKE to see more

Dress Codes And Reactions To Them Vary Across The Country

DEAR HELEN:

The student who complained about the uptight dress regulations at her school sure wasn't from the Southwest.

I live in Texas and a lot of the guys in our high school are working cowboys. Jeans and western boots are not unusual. If these guys had to wear slacks, neckties, jackets and button-up or button-down shirts, they probably wouldn't show up. I can just hear the mothers screaming about the cleaner's bills. Jeans are a way of life in cow or farm country.

As for girls wearing slacks: We don't go for them. Last year we had one "pants-day" for them, and we found the guys forgetting to open doors and things like that. The off-the-cuff comments I heard were most derogatory. — SENIOR IN SAN ANTONIO

DEAR HELEN:

Out in California (Southern, that is) we can wear anything from thrift store bargains (a big fad, especially if they're out of date and raunchy, in other words, camp) to Indian shawls with long tassles, and the girls are all buying their pants in boys and menswear departments. Most gals wouldn't think of buying jeans or cords anywhere else. Maxicoats with mini dresses are cool because they keep our legs warm, but they're hard to walk in. We prefer pants of all kinds — with boots, and sometimes wide-brimmed Aussie hats, with crazy scarves tied around them.

The guys haven't changed their dress styles as much as girls have. You don't see many of them in flowered bell bottoms. — CALIFORNIA GIRL

DEAR HELEN:

I think our eastern schools should relax their code, and allow the kids to have their choice in dress. If the girls know they can wear pants, most will decide against them soon, as they really aren't very feminine. — PAT

DEAR PAT:

Famous last words. When you're allowed, you indulge, my friend — if it is comfortable, convenient and saves on nylons — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am very much in love with a certain girl, but we can't get married because of our ages. That's not the problem. I can wait, but her idea of waiting isn't mine.

She likes to go out with another guy who, she says, is just a friend. The way she kisses him and practically smothers him with affection, well, how friendly can she get?

She says she loves me only, but dating him is fun as they're good buddies. I've put my foot down several times but ended up stumbling over my tongue. You can see how low I feel.

I'd talk to him, but it seems he's a little bigger, and if I fight, I might end up in the hospital. How can I show her three's a crowd? — TRUE AND BLUE

DEAR T AND B:

Why not find yourself a good buddy — like about 35-24-35 and blonde — and show your girl that two can play the pal game? — H.

Layne Paskill Is Bride In Portland

MRS. BILL F. HAMILTON

Trinity Episcopal Chapel in Portland, Ore., was the setting yesterday afternoon for the marriage of Layne Eugenia Paskill of Sausalito and Bill Fredrick Hamilton of Bellevue, Wash.

Mrs. Charles Stockwell of Beaverton, Ore., was matron of honor, and the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Peter Paskill of Portland, was the bridesmaid.

Max Hamilton of Austin, Tex., was his brother's best man and Steve Bertelle and the bride's brother, Peter Paskill, both of Portland, ushered.

Layne was graduated from Cleveland High School in Portland and attended Boise College and Portland State University. She is on a leave of absence from her job at Dean Witter and Co. in San Rafael.

Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Hamilton of Bellevue. He was graduated from West Jefferson High School in New Orleans, La., College of San Mateo and Sacramento State College.

The couple are driving from Portland to Lawton, Okla., where the bridegroom will attend Officers' Candidate School at Ft. Sill Army Base. They will live in Lawton.

women alerted to the possibility of a career in computer technology," says the 30-year-old company president. "There's so much opportunity for them. Women's natural, logical minds make them a natural."

Unfortunately, she says too many women think it's unfeminine to do anything more mathematical than balance a checkbook. "Or else they tend to fear computers. They don't realize that a computer is just a high-grade moron that does what you tell it to do. It's not a replacement for human thinking."

And you needn't be an expert mathematician to enter the field. "Although a college degree in math was required when I got started, nowadays experience in the field is more important than a degree." Many companies, desperate for computer programmers, have instituted their own training programs.

Although Penny claims she's not a suffragette for women's rights, she does think it important to point out that "perhaps because this is such a comparatively new field, I encountered very little, if any, discrimination because I am a woman."

WOMEN, PARTICULARLY, will appreciate the many new uses Penny envisions for computers. "It may be 1984ish, but I see the housewife of the future with a computer terminal in her home, connected to a central terminal." This would enable her, merely by push-button selection, to order groceries, plan meals, perhaps even to vote. There are many problems in the latter areas admits the native New Yorker, but "that's the challenge of the future." She adds that many problems faced by urban areas today, such as population shifts, could have been pinpointed and predicted by a computer years ago, before the problems had developed.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilcox of Fairfax, Claudia chose Carla Pincini of Fairfax as maid of honor and Louise Leplay of Fairfax as bridesmaid.

Ronald Gene Johnson of Baldwin Park was the best man, and ushers were Russell Wilcox of Fairfax, the bride's brother, and Patrick David Butler of Downey.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Yosemite National Park after a reception at Forest Lodge in San Francisco.

Claudia was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and San Francisco State College. She is employed at FYT Pre-Primary School in Mill Valley. Her local grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hansen of San Francisco.

Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Leithe of San Francisco, was graduated from El Monte High School in San Francisco and is a senior at San Francisco State College. He is also employed at New Mission Iron Works.

Dan Ricci Will Wed Miss Park

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Park of Petaluma announced the engagement of their daughter Virginia to Daniel Ricci. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ricci of Petaluma.

Virginia is the sister of Terry Park of San Jose, Susan Park of Cotati, James Park of Rohnert Park and Thomas Park of Petaluma. A graduate of St. Vincent's High School in Petaluma, she is employed as a photographer for the San Francisco office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Daniel, the brother of Mrs. Lori Piccinotti of Anchorage, Alaska, and Carlene and Kenneth Ricci of Petaluma, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Giogetti of Crockett.

Also a graduate of St. Vincent's High School, he is manager of a Petaluma service station.

The couple will be married on July 25 at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church in Petaluma.

Cornelia Nixon To Be Bride Of Frederick A. Tegeler

The engagement of Cornelia Louise Nixon to Frederick Augustus Tegeler III has been announced and the couple have set a Sept. 2 wedding date.

CORNELIA NIXON

The daughter of Mrs. Harold E. Nixon of Lucas Valley and the late Captain Nixon, Cornelia is working toward a doctorate in English at the University of Washington. She was graduated from Terra Linda High School and the University of California at Irvine. George Andrew Nixon of Davis and Mrs. Mark Allen Reed of Santa Rosa are her brother and sister.

Frederick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Tegeler of San Rafael and is the brother of Jama Tegeler. A San Rafael High School graduate, he received a degree from Northwestern University.

Kerr-Suttles Rite To Be Held Feb. 7

A Feb. 7 wedding date has been selected by Frances Arlene Suttles of San Rafael and Stephen D. Kerr of Woodland.

The couple's engagement has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Florinda Suttles of San Rafael. The sister of Robert Suttles of San Anselmo and Tony and Lucinda Suttles of San Rafael, Frances attended the College of Marin after graduation from San Rafael High School. She is employed at the Data Processing Center at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Stephen, who is in the Air Force stationed at Hamilton, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Kerr of Woodland. Mrs. Edward Beoshanz of Davis and Mrs. William Seil of St. Louis, Mo., are his sisters.

Stephen was graduated from Woodland High School and attended the College of Marin.

Detergents

Since mid-1965 all household detergents manufactured for use in the United Staes have been composed of biodegradable (soft) materials. The Cleanliness Bureau reports this voluntary, industrywide conversion was a major accomplishment in the interest of clean water. Today's detergents break down (decompose) readily in modern sewage treatment plants.

ART REVIEW

Who Says Work Has Suddenly Gone Stale?

By LAURA DEVENDORF

SAN FRANCISCO — Art has not gone stale! And to prove it, we need more shows like the National 1970 Drawing Exhibition through Jan. 25 at the San Francisco Museum of Art.

This competition, sponsored by the San Francisco Women Artists, proves that artists' minds are alive and functioning in a loose, experimental stream.

Only a few works, such as Gerald Gooch's finely realized figures, are predetermined as finished things in themselves. Most seem just to have evolved. And because of this, none of the raw spontaneity is missing. The impression is one of a riot of thoughts racing across all trends.

MANY IDEAS

The work includes things as minimal as Tony DeLap's single line arcing through space to as complex a situation as Robert Nelson's inch deep "Silver Superman," a cartoon allegory of ornately drawn collage.

The subject may be as direct as a single twist of barbed wire or as sophisticated as a three-dimensional palette, its minute over-drawn black squiggles ending abruptly with the words "No More Paint." Or it may be as snarled as a complicated thought. One of these is "I'm Somebody Else Now," by Mill Valley artist Abby Grosvenor Bernard. It uses several visual levels to relate the idea, starting from a base of crayon scratchboard to upper, written-on layers of glass.

Miss Bernard's work is one of several by Marin residents included in the 158 pieces selected by juror Robert Indiana from over 1600 nationwide entries or those invited from noted and established artists. Others are Barrie McDowell, Marcia Dalva and Diane Weiss, all of Mill Valley, recent San Rafael resident Andrea Hendrick, Ada Garfinkel of Kentfield and William Wiley of Woodacre.

TWO SELECTIONS

Mrs. Garfinkel is one of few enjoying the distinction of having two works selected — one a delicate black-lined "Pyramid" and the other, double, lushly colored spheres. Wiley's felt-pen drawing, "Scabs Underground," is among the award winners purchased and incorporated into the museum's permanent collection.

Nothing about this exhibition is rigid — certainly not the materials which add acrylics, canvas, acetate, felt pen, air brush, watercolor, photography, crayon, collage and glass to pen, pencil and paper as acceptable drawing tools.

While bringing drawing into line with the times, these mechanics themselves become exciting stuff. But even more evident is the revelation that behind the cold-shock system of "now" art, a turmoil of fresh, imaginative ideas is being tested for a vibrant explosion in some tomorrow.

Ex-Correspondent For Marines Gets A Bronze Star

A former Marine combat correspondent from Novato has been awarded the Bronze Star, the nation's fourth highest award for bravery.

Steve Bernston, a reporter for the Napa Register, received the medal in ceremonies at the 12th Marine Corps District Headquarters in San Francisco.

Bernston, who served as a combat correspondent in Vietnam, was honored for rushing into a street in the city of Hue, as the area was being raked by enemy gunfire, to rescue a wounded Marine. The rescue occurred Feb. 19, 1968.

The newsman was severely wounded in the rescue operation when an enemy mortar round dropped into the street. According to his citation, Bernston continued to aid wounded men, despite his own injuries, and refused aid for himself until corpsmen had treated all the other wounded men.

Lt. Col. Albert W. Keller, deputy director of the 12th district, made the presentation to Bernston, a former Marine sergeant.

Two Bands Slated For Brown's Hall

Two bands, Seatrain and A. B. Skhy, will play for a dance Jan. 2 and 3 at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, from 8 p.m. to midnight.

The dance is being presented by two Tamalpais High School students, Toby R. Byron and Bonner Beuhler, both of Mill Valley.

Leary Baffles Marijuana Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Timothy Leary has asked the California Supreme Court to supress evidence that led to a drug possession case.

In an appeal filed yesterday, Leary, his wife Rosemar and their son John, 20, claim Laguna Beach policeman Neal Purcell obtained the evidence in an illegal search of their car on Dec. 26, 1968.

Purcell said he found marijuana, LSD and hashish in the automobile.

The policeman said he made the search after observing John Leary in the back seat on all fours, pulling his hair over his eyes with his pupils dilated.

Leary maintains that activity is not symptomatic of marijuana use and claims it was insufficient cause for the search.

Chamber Trio Will Open College Series

A concert by the Marin Chamber Trio on Jan. 15 will open the College of Marin's concert-lecture series for the winter quarter.

The trio, composed of Marion Marsh, soprano; Carolyn Michaelian, oboe, and Larry Snyder, piano and harpsichord, will perform at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater.

The concert series also will include performances by the Afro-Haiti Ballet, the Marin Symphony, and dancers Emilio and Teresita Osta.

The lectures will include a four-part series co-sponsored with the Planned Parenthood Auxiliary of Marin, three films co-sponsored with the Marin Audubon society, two travelogues and a world affairs lecture.

Opening the lecture series will be "Portraits of Scandinavia," a travelogue narrated by William Moore, at 8:15 p.m. Jan 16 in the Fine Arts Theater.

The planned parenthood series, "Shall Copulation Equal Population?" will start at 8:15 p.m. Jan 21 in the theater with "The Population Problem," and a keynote speech by Stephanie Mills, whose 1969 valedictory speech at Mills College drew national attention.

Each lecture in the series will include a keynote speaker and a discussion panel. "Is my Teen-ager Sexually Active? Does This Frighten Me?" will be the topic at 8:15 p.m. Jan 28, also in the Fine Arts Theater, "Ecology — People — Hunger" will be the topic at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 4 at Olney Hall, and "Marriage and Marital Conflict" will be the topic at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 11 at Olney Hall.

Other concert events will be Latin and Spanish music and dancing by Emilio and Teresita Osta, 8:15 p.m. Jan. 30, Fine Arts Theater; the Marin Symphony, 7:30 p.m. Feb. 8, gymnasium; Afro-Haiti Ballet, 8:15 p.m. Feb. 27, Fine Arts Theater.

Other lecture events:

"Our Unique Water Wilderness — the Everglades," 7:30 p.m. Jan. 18, Olney Hall, co-sponsored with the Marin Audubon Society.

"Eyewitness Report on Mongolia, Siberia and Central Asia," 8:15 p.m. Jan. 22, Fine Arts Theater.

"Tidewater Trails," 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22, Olney Hall, co-sponsored with the Marin Audubon Society.

"Madrid to Moscow," 8:15 p.m. March 12, Olney Hall.

"The Bahamas—Top to Bottom," 7:30 p.m. March 22, Olney Hall, co-sponsored with the Audubon society.

Admission is free to lectures except those co-sponsored by the Audubon Society. Admission is charged for the Audubon lectures and the concert events.

Bloom Elected To Head Chiefs

County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom has been chosen president of the Marin County Fire Chiefs Association.

Other new officers are Chief W. Craig Shurtz of Larkspur, vice president; Chief George Walser of Terra Linda, secretary, and Chief Carol O. Heynen Jr. of Alto, treasurer.

An installation dinner is planned for Jan. 21 at 7 p.m. in Tiburon Tommie's Restaurant. Installing officer will be Chief Matthew Jiminez of Hayward, vice president of the International Fire Chiefs Association.

Massacre Probe Hears General

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine general who once commanded all U.S. forces in the My Lai area of Vietnam has appeared before a military panel trying to determine if the Army's initial investigation was a whitewash.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman emerged from a 40-minute session with the board yesterday and left the Pentagon without talking to newsmen.

He is the highest-ranking officer to be called before the panel and, at the time of the incident more than 18 months ago, was commander of Army and Marine forces in the I Corps area of South Vietnam. Cushman now is deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Youth Take $5 At Knifepoint

A San Francisco youth has been robbed of $5 at knifepoint by two unidentified youths who gave him a ride from Tamalpais High School to Marin City, sheriff's deputies have reported.

Choi Chan Laokwansatitaya, 17, told deputies that as he was let out of the car at the Marin City underpass Thursday, one of the youths in the car placed a knife at his throat and demanded his money.

Two Plead Innocent In Store Fuss

Two men arrested outside the Disco department store in San Rafael after one of them allegedly hit the store manager with a rifle pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a variety of charges.

A preliminary hearing for Jon Fredric Bangert, 31, of Tiburon, and Bernardo Morales Sanchez, 26, of Sausalito, was set for Monday.

Bangert was arrested after he bought at Disco a rifle which, he said, he was going to use to shoot his partners in a Christmas tree lot enterprise. Then, according to police, he hit the Disco manager, James E. Mariais, in the chest with the rifle, threatened to kill him and then fled.

A patrolman stopped Mariais' car and arrested him and Sanchez, his passenger. Both were charged with burglary when officers found property reported stolen from a Sausalito residence. Sanchez also allegedly had marijuana and hashish in his possession.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. yesterday ordered a psychiatric examination of Bangert and said he would hear doctors' reports tomorrow.

Shone New Head Of Land Group

San Rafael attorney Raymond H. Shone has been elected president of the Nicasio Land Owners Association, Inc.

Shone was one of the organizers of the association in 1961. He owns the little red schoolhouse in Nicasio which was built in 1871 and has been declared a historical monument.

Other officers named by the association are Mrs. Heloise Tomasini, secretary and Mrs. Marie Rogers, treasurer. Paul Farley, John Rossi, Frank Soares, Wilfred Lafranchi, Cirilio Gonzales and Henry Tomasini are directors.

DRAMA REVIEW

A Minor Debacle That's Not Even Worth Debating

By WILLIAM GLOVER

John Patrick, who won the Pulitzer Prize for drama with "Teahouse of the August Moon" but has concentrated ever since on summer stock trivia, can claim one minor distinction for the dreary contraption. It contains the first and, hopefully, the last romantic triangle involving a shop-window dummy.

Patrick, says a program note, did much research on California campuses to background a plot about trial mating among students. His findings are a dramatic secret, for what unfolds is a moronic, transparent and quaintly prim trifle about a lad who would and a girl who wouldn't, until he learns to cry. Yes, indeedy.

Tom Ligon and Sandy Duncan, among Equity's more likable and energetic youngsters, splutter through six episodes of atrocious confrontation and abysmal jokes. Miss Duncan periodically erupts into giggles nearer hysteria than mirth while Ligon tries to overcome inanity with sheer physical momentum. A small, shaggy dog, live, gets on briefly along with the plastic mannequin.

Bernard Thomas directs with mechanical precision.

Never did figure out what the title means. Ho-hum.

What other press critics said:

Clive Barnes, New York Times: " ... it takes the concept of mediocrity to new heights and depths. It is so not-bad and so not-good that it almost has to be seen to be believed ... It all adds up to a harmless evening to recommend to oil tycoons from Dallas, or even Houston."

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "The two-character comedy calls for deft skill in the manipulation, and this is emphatically missing from 'Love Is a Time of Day.' "

James Davis, Daily News: "A chuckle here, a smile there and all along a general feeling of disbelief in the two characters onstage ... From playwright Patrick on down, no one seemed to have been carried away with inspiration."

Two Films Slated Saturday For Children

Two films for children will be shown from 11 a.m. to noon Saturday at the Mill Valley Library gallery.

The films are "Make Way for Ducklings" and "Toccata for Toy Trains."

Penngrove Sewer Plan Study Due

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A study of connecting the Penngrove area with the Petaluma sewage system will be completed next month, the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors learned yesterday.

Donald B. Head, county superintendent of public works, said the septic tank system used by the rural community north of Petaluma is inadequate and that a study plotting the method of connecting new sewer lines with the Petaluma sewage disposal plant will be completed by Jan. 15.

Head said cost estimates should also be done by next month and that a public meeting will be called to consider the best method of completing the project.

The report was issued after a letter of complaint was received from Jack D. Buchanan of the Frozen Fresh Foods Co., 6030 Old Redwood Highway, Penngrove.

Buchanan complained that raw sewage flows into nearby Lichau Creek, occassionally creating a stench. He also urged that the county health department study health problems that might be caused by the polluted water.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine general who once commanded all U.S. forces in the My Lai area of Vietnam has appeared before a military panel trying to determine if the Army's initial investigation was a whitewash.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman emerged from a 40-minute session with the board yesterday and left the Pentagon without talking to newsmen.

He is the highest-ranking officer to be called before the panel and, at the time of the incident more than 18 months ago, was commander of Army and Marine forces in the I Corps area of South Vietnam. Cushman now is deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Youth Take $5 At Knifepoint

A San Francisco youth has been robbed of $5 at knifepoint by two unidentified youths who gave him a ride from Tamalpais High School to Marin City, sheriff's deputies have reported.

Choi Chan Laokwansatitaya, 17, told deputies that as he was let out of the car at the Marin City underpass Thursday, one of the youths in the car placed a knife at his throat and demanded his money.

Shone New Head Of Land Group

San Rafael attorney Raymond H. Shone has been elected president of the Nicasio Land Owners Association, Inc.

Shone was one of the organizers of the association in 1961. He owns the little red schoolhouse in Nicasio which was built in 1871 and has been declared a historical monument.

Other officers named by the association are Mrs. Heloise Tomasini, secretary and Mrs. Marie Rogers, treasurer. Paul Farley, John Rossi, Frank Soares, Wilfred Lafranchi, Cirilio Gonzales and Henry Tomasini are directors.

Two Films Slated Saturday For Children

Two films for children will be shown from 11 a.m. to noon Saturday at the Mill Valley Library gallery.

The films are "Make Way for Ducklings" and "Toccata for Toy Trains."

Leary Baffles Marijuana Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Timothy Leary has asked the California Supreme Court to supress evidence that led to a drug possession case.

In an appeal filed yesterday, Leary, his wife Rosemar and their son John, 20, claim Laguna Beach policeman Neal Purcell obtained the evidence in an illegal search of their car on Dec. 26, 1968.

Purcell said he found marijuana, LSD and hashish in the automobile.

The policeman said he made the search after observing John Leary in the back seat on all fours, pulling his hair over his eyes with his pupils dilated.

Leary maintains that activity is not symptomatic of marijuana use and claims it was insufficient cause for the search.

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 23, the 357th day of 1969 with eight to follow.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1928, a permanent coast-to-coast radio network was established in the United States by the National Broadcasting Co.

In 1948, ex-Premier Tojo of Japan and six other war leaders were hanged in Tokyo on orders of the Allied War Crimes Commission.

In 1968, Apollo 8 astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders entered the earth moon's gravitational field and became the first humans to leave the gravity influence of earth.

A thought for the day: From the Gospel of St. Matthew in the New Testament: "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you."

Blaiberg's Will

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Heartgraft patient Philip Blaiberg, who earned thousands of rands from publicity on his operation, left most of his estate to his wife Eileen when he died August 17. In his will, the retired dentist who lived longer than anyone else with a transplanted heart, bequeathed rands 50 ($70) and all his personal clothing to his Colored (mulatto) maid Katie Booysens. His daughter Jill, was not mentioned. The transplanted heart kept Blaiberg alive for 19½ months.

SPADE LEAD

West leads the seven of spades. East puts up the queen, and South wins with the king. Now South knows that East is the wolf and that West is the fair-haired boy.

If East is allowed to win a trick he will lead a spade, and then West will defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. That makes East a very dangerous fellow indeed.

If West is allowed to win a trick he cannot capture declarer's jack of spades, nor can West lead anything else that will do any damage. That makes West a very comfortable lad to have around.

RULES FOR DAUGHTERS

With this hand to help you, it's easy to formulate a rule for daughters: Trust yourself to the fair-haired boy, but slam the door on the wolf.

In this case, South should win the second trick with dummy's king of clubs in order to lead a low diamond from the dummy. East plays low, and a dutiful daughter should try a finesse with the nine of diamonds from the South hand.

If this finesse should lose, it would go to the fair-haired lad in the West seat. No danger. When the finesse actually wins, South runs all of the diamonds and takes the first 11 tricks.

WOULD LAUGH

If daughter played the diamonds normally, East would win a trick with the jack of diamonds. Then he would return a spade, laughing and twirling his mustache.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ Q 9 5
♥ Q J 8
♦ J 7 6 5
♣ Q J 9.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds or 1 no-trump.

You have nine points in high cards, but should treat your hand as a very weak responding hand since you have neither a king nor an ace. Avoid putting your faith in queens or jacks.

Television Helps

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Television, long regarded as a threat to public morals by South Africa's conservative government, is ironically proving one of the country's "most powerful promotion media overseas." The South African Tourist Corporation (SATOUR) reported the "exceptionally hostile campaign" against South Africa's racial policies by foreign newspapers was waning. SATOUR's most impressive results in improving the country's image "without doubt have been attained on television."

ORDINANCE NO. 967
ORDINANCE INCREASING THE AMOUNT OF THE BOND OR INSURANCE REQUIRED OF A VEHICLE FOR HIRE

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Subparagraphs (a) and (b) of Section 10.60.080 of the San Rafael Municipal Code are hereby amended to read as follows:

(a) Bond of the owner or lessee of such vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile with a responsible surety company or association authorized to do business under the laws of the State of California, in the sum of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00), conditioned that the owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile for which a license has been applied, will pay all loss or damage that may result to any person or property from the negligent operation of or defective construction of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile, or which may arise or result from any violation of the provisions of this chapter or of any traffic law of the City of San Rafael or the laws of the State of California. The recovery upon said bond shall be limited to One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) for the injury or death of one (1) person and to the extent of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00) for the death or injury of two (2) or more persons in the same accident, and to the extent of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) for the injury to or destruction of property. Such bond shall be given to the City of San Rafael and shall inure to the benefit of any and all persons suffering loss or damage either to person or property as herein provided, and suit may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction upon said bond by any person or persons or corporation suffering any loss or damage as herein provided. Such bond shall be approved by the City Council of the City of San Rafael and the license granted by said City Council shall recite that the permit is issued upon condition and in consideration of the signing of said bond. Said bond shall be a continuing liability notwithstanding any recovery thereon, and if at any time in the judgment of the City Council, said bond is not sufficient for any cause, the City Council may require the party to whom license is issued to replace said bond with another bond satisfactory to the City Council, and in default thereof said license may be revoked; or

(b) A policy of insurance in a company authorized to do business in the State of California, insuring owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile against loss by reason of damage that may result to any person or persons or property from the operation of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile, said policy of insurance to be in limits of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) for any one (1) person injured or killed; and subject to such limit for each person, a total liability of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00) in case of any one (1) accident resulting in bodily injury or death to more than one person. Said policy of insurance must also provide insurance to the extent of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) to the injury to or destruction of any property of third parties.

Said policy shall guarantee payment of any final judgment rendered against the said owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile within the limits herein provided irrespective of the financial responsibility or any act or omission of said owner or lessee.

If at any time said policy of insurance be cancelled by the issuing company, or the authority of said issuing company to do business in the State of California be revoked, the said Council shall require the party to whom the license is issued to replace said policy with another policy satisfactory to the City Council, and in default thereof said license may be revoked. (Ord. 86.)

Section 2. This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE — EXECUTION
No. 49133

Sheriff's Office)
County of Marin) ss.
State of California)

BY VIRTUE of an execution issued out of the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Marin, in an action wherein STEEN SCHELLENBERG plaintiff, and DON L. STEVENS, et al defendant, upon a judgment rendered on the 26th day of June, 1968, in favor of said Plaintiff and against said DON L. STEVENS, dba Stevens Service and Don L. Stevens, for the sum of: Twenty two Thousand Nine Hundred Thirty Seven and 15/100 Dollars in Lawful money of the United States, besides costs and interest, I have this day levied upon all the right, title, claim, and interest of said defendant, Don L. Stevens dba Don Stevens Service and Don L. Stevens in and to all that real property situated in the San Rafael, Central Judicial District, County of Marin, State of California, described as follows, to wit:

PARCEL ONE:

LOT No. 28, in Block "O" as shown upon that certain map entitled, "Marina Highlands," filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, on September 7, 1927 in Book 5 of Maps, at page 47.

PARCEL TWO:

BEGINNING at the Northwesterly corner of Lot 29, in Block O as shown upon that certain Map entitled, "Marina Highlands", filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, on September 7, 1927 in Book 5 of Maps, at page 47; running thence along the Westerly boundary line of said Lot 29, South 11° 0' East 116.58 feet to a point on the Northerly boundary line of Marina Court Drive, running thence along said boundary line North 80° 38' East 40 feet to a point; thence leaving said line of Marin Court Drive and running Northwesterly in a straight line to a point in the Southerly boundary line of Alta Vista Way said point being distant thereon North 79° 0' East 40 feet from the point of beginning and running thence along said line of Alta Vista Way South 79°0' West 40 feet to the point of beginning.

And notice is hereby given that I will on Tuesday, the 6th day of January, 1970, at 10:30 o'clock a.m. of said day, in front of the Main entrance, Lobby No. 2 Hall of Justice, Civic Center of the County of Marin in said County, sell to the highest bidder at PUBLIC AUCTION for Lawful money of the United States, all the right, title, claim, and interest of said defendant DON L. STEVENS dba DON STEVENS SERVICE and DON L. STEVENS in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise sufficient money to satisfy said judgment, with interest and costs and accruing costs.

ORDINANCE NO. 967
ORDINANCE INCREASING THE AMOUNT OF THE BOND OR INSURANCE REQUIRED OF A VEHICLE FOR HIRE

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Subparagraphs (a) and (b) of Section 10.60.080 of the San Rafael Municipal Code are hereby amended to read as follows:

(a) Bond of the owner or lessee of such vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile with a responsible surety company or association authorized to do business under the laws of the State of California, in the sum of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00), conditioned that the owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile for which a license has been applied, will pay all loss or damage that may result to any person or property from the negligent operation of or defective construction of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile, or which may arise or result from any violation of the provisions of this chapter or of any traffic law of the City of San Rafael or the laws of the State of California. The recovery upon said bond shall be limited to One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) for the injury or death of one (1) person and to the extent of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00) for the death or injury of two (2) or more persons in the same accident, and to the extent of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) for the injury to or destruction of property. Such bond shall be given to the City of San Rafael and shall inure to the benefit of any and all persons suffering loss or damage either to person or property as herein provided, and suit may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction upon said bond by any person or persons or corporation suffering any loss or damage as herein provided. Such bond shall be approved by the City Council of the City of San Rafael and the license granted by said City Council shall recite that the permit is issued upon condition and in consideration of the signing of said bond. Said bond shall be a continuing liability notwithstanding any recovery thereon, and if at any time in the judgment of the City Council, said bond is not sufficient for any cause, the City Council may require the party to whom license is issued to replace said bond with another bond satisfactory to the City Council, and in default thereof said license may be revoked: or

(b) A policy of insurance in a company authorized to do business in the State of California, insuring owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile against loss by reason of damage that may result to any person or persons or property from the operation of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile, said policy of insurance to be in limits of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) for any one (1) person injured or killed; and subject to such limit for each person, a total liability of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00) in case of any one (1) accident resulting in bodily injury or death to more than one person. Said policy of insurance must also provide insurance to the extent of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) to the injury to or destruction of any property of third parties.

Said policy shall guarantee payment of any final judgment rendered against the said owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile within the limits herein provided irrespective of the financial responsibility or any act or omission of said owner or lessee.

If at any time said policy of insurance be cancelled by the issuing company, or the authority of said issuing company to do business in the State of California be revoked, the said Council shall require the party to whom the license is issued to replace said policy with another policy satisfactory to the City Council, and in default thereof said license may be revoked. (Ord. 86.)

Section 2. This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

Deaths Ground F111 Fifth Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial F111 miitary airplane has been grounded for the fifth time in less than two years in the wake of a Nevada training crash which killed two pilots.

The Air Force announced yesterday it has grounded its fleet of 223 swingwing jets until it determines what caused the crash that killed Lt. Col. Thomas J. Mack and Maj. James L. Anthony.

Mack, 38, of Viola, Ill., and Anthony, 35, of Big Spring, Tex., went down with the $8 million plane yesterday during a training mission at the bombing and gunnery range at Nellis Air Force Base, about 45 miles northwest of Las Vegas, Nev.

The plane was the 15th F111 lost so far by the Air Force. The most recent grounding was last month and affected 89 of the planes.

Alto Bowl Neighbors Seek Drainage Help

A drainage ditch behind Alto School, ordered closed for safety reasons, may be intensifying the Alto Bowl's acute drainage problems, the Mill Valley School District heard last night.

Trustees ordered Supt. James A. Collins to hire a consulting engineer to inspect both Alto and Edna Maguire school property for any drainage corrections which might alleviate major flooding in the area.

Residents told the board that water washes down "like a sheet" from surrounding hillsides, across school property, across Lomita Drive and into their homes.

"Why, sometimes it's two and three feet deep . . . at 4 o'clock in the morning," said one resident.

Residents argued that the ditch, ordered closed by the school nurse because children had been playing in the water, used to carry much of the normal runoff to nearby creeks.

"This flooding only started in the last year or two, just when you closed the ditch," said a woman from the audience.

Mill Valley engineer John De Becker, representing Mrs. Vida Wheeler, an Alto Bowl resident, said installation of curbs, gutters and catch basins along Lomita Drive adjacent to school property, also would help the problem.

The area's flooding problems were brought to light during a discussion of the proposed Cal-Fong Co. 150-unit apartment and townhouse development on 27 acres at the base of the bowl.

Residents urged the school board to oppose the development because of its impact on density, traffic and drainage.

Mrs. Wheeler, in a long statement, urged that the entire 144-acre bowl area be purchased as open space by concerned public and private agencies.

"I know we need more low cost housing, that we need more housing . . . but not at the sacrificing of our environment," she told the board.

Trustees took no action pending further discussion with the developers but informally opposed routing traffic from the development near Alto or Edna Maguire schools.

A workshop meeting on the development with city and county representatives was set for 8 p.m. Jan. 7 in city hall.

State Faces Suit Threat Over Middle School Plans

If the Mill Valley School District's plans for its new middle school are not approved soon by the state, the whole issue may end up in court, the school district board heard last night.

Supt. James A. Collins told the board that architect Peter Berg of Campbell and Wong, San Francisco architects, has indicated he will sue the state to force a decision on the plans if state approval is not forthcoming within two weeks.

Collins said Berg believes that some of the state's requests are "unreasonable" and that some of the delay is caused "by the fact the state doesn't have very many plans to review right now and therefore might be giving our plans a closer review than they might do normally."

All aspects of the plans, except the structural engineering, have been approved, Collins said. Meetings with the state representatives are scheduled for today and next week and if no agreement can be reached, the architects will notify the board whether they intend to take the dispute to court, Collins explained.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

NEWSLETTER — Heard the district will start publishing a newsletter next month.

CONFERENCE — Agreed to participate in a community conference on development of Project 17 and East Mill Valley planned by the Mill Valley Planning Commission to be held Jan. 24 at a time and place to be set.

MARIN VIEW — Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Jan. 15 at Tamalpais Valley School to discuss a proposal by the Sausalito School District board that the Mill Valley district de-annex the Marinview subdivision and give it to Sausalito.

SAUCELITO CANAL — Agreed not to protest increases in the assessment for dredging the Saucelito Canal in Richardson Bay but said it would fight any further increases.

POWER — Asked staff to investigate the cost of installing auxiliary power units at each school in the district.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation because of illness of Genella Williamson, speech therapist.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Margaret Rose, a guidance counselor, at a salary of $3,591 for the remainder of the school year, and Linda Eldridge, second grade teacher at Tamalpais Valley School at $4,026 for the remainder of the school year.

Knife Carrier Robs Woman

A 31-year-old Corte Madera woman has been robbed of $46 at knifepoint by two men who forced her car off Shoreline Highway near Mill Valley, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said the woman was driving to the 7-11 Store on Shoreline Highway about 2 a.m. Saturday when two men forced her car off the roadway, took the money at knifepoint and then threatened her not to report the robbery to police.

Sheriff's deputies indicated they had a lead on the two suspects.

School Thief Gets Tank, Gas Engine

Someone stole the makings of a go-cart last weekend at Henry C. Hall School, Larkspur police reported today.

A burglar broke into an outside storage enclosure between Friday afternoon and yesterday morning and took a gasoline engine from a weed cutter and a two-gallon gas tank from a lawnmower. The tank was valued at $10 and no value was given for the engine.

Dentists Experiment With New Plastic Paint For Teeth

VAN DELLEN

A new plastic paint to prevent decay is being tested. The resin is applied like nail polish but does not harden until an ultraviolet lamp is shined on it. Ultraviolet rays make the plastic set immediately into a hard, smooth, nearly invisible film.

Dr. Michael Buonocore (Eastman Dental center, Rochester, N.Y.) is testing the product under a grant from the National Institute of Dental Research.

The material should save considerable time for dentists already overburdened. The resin should also benefit the handicapped who cannot brush their teeth, military personnel, and people living in remote areas.

THE PROCESS is not completely perfected, especially for teeth that have been filled. An adhesive liner is needed to seal metal, plastic, or cement fillings and to stop decay from developing where debris seeps in between the filling and the tooth.

Other potential uses for the resin are coverings for unattractive, poorly calcified, or stained teeth and to repair broken edges on front teeth.

The adhesive also will be used to anchor orthodontic wires.

THE PLASTIC MATERIAL should enhance the good effects of fluoridation, especially at the tooth's biting surface. This is the area that receives considerable wear and tear and is also where enamel is often thin or pitted.

Dextranase is another experimental product that prevents cavity and plaque formation in laboratory animals. The enzyme can be dissolved in water or administered in the diet.

BRUSHING OF the teeth continues to be one of the most effective means of controling decay. It also improves oral hygiene and the health of the gums.

Brushing is slightly more effective than pressured water rinses in ridding the teeth of food particles and other debris. Combining the two methods is even more effective.

LUNG COLLAPSE

A. I. B. writes: If air is injected into a collapsed lung will it work again?

REPLY

No. Lung collapse occurs under two circumstances. When air gets into the pleural space between the lung and chest wall, it compresses the soft lung tissue until the structure collapses (pneumothorax). In the other condition, a bronchus is plugged and the inflated lung collapses when the trapped air is absorbed. This usually occurs in a few days.

BANANAS AND BELCHING

N. T. writes: A lady over 60 eats one to two bananas for lunch every day. She complains of diarrhea and belches constantly but refuses to admit that the bananas are responsible. What do you think?

REPLY

All this woman has to do is stop eating bananas for a few days. If the gastrointestinal symptoms disappear, she will have her answer.

STIMULANTS

E. P. writes: Can you explain why I become nervous as a cat when I take my diet pills?

REPLY

Because the pills are stimulants that make you keyed up and nervous. This is true of the amphetamines and thyroid.

Today's Health Hint — Stuff the bird just before it goes into the oven, not the night before.

Road Contracts To Marin Firms

Two Marin County firms have been awarded contracts by the state Department of Public Works.

E. A. Forde Jr. of Greenbrae has been given a $51,549 contract to widen three northbound lanes to four on High 101 between the Spencer Avenue overcrossing and .2 mile south of Rodeo Avenue in Sausalito.

Merz Brothers of San Rafael has been awarded a $3,395 contract to remove slide material and restore slopes near Cecelia Way on Tiburon Boulevard.

Deaths Ground F111 Fifth Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial F111 miitary airplane has been grounded for the fifth time in less than two years in the wake of a Nevada training crash which killed two pilots.

The Air Force announced yesterday it has grounded its fleet of 223 swingwing jets until it determines what caused the crash that killed Lt. Col. Thomas J. Mack and Maj. James L. Anthony.

Mack, 38, of Viola, Ill., and Anthony, 35, of Big Spring, Tex., went down with the $8 million plane yesterday during a training mission at the bombing and gunnery range at Nellis Air Force Base, about 45 miles northwest of Las Vegas, Nev.

The plane was the 15th F111 lost so far by the Air Force. The most recent grounding was last month and affected 89 of the planes.

Alto Bowl Neighbors Seek Drainage Help

A drainage ditch behind Alto School, ordered closed for safety reasons, may be intensifying the Alto Bowl's acute drainage problems, the Mill Valley School District heard last night.

Trustees ordered Supt. James A. Collins to hire a consulting engineer to inspect both Alto and Edna Maguire school property for any drainage corrections which might alleviate major flooding in the area.

Residents told the board that water washes down "like a sheet" from surrounding hillsides, across school property, across Lomita Drive and into their homes.

"Why, sometimes it's two and three feet deep . . . at 4 o'clock in the morning," said one resident.

Residents argued that the ditch, ordered closed by the school nurse because children had been playing in the water, used to carry much of the normal runoff to nearby creeks.

"This flooding only started in the last year or two, just when you closed the ditch," said a woman from the audience.

Mill Valley engineer John De Becker, representing Mrs. Vida Wheeler, an Alto Bowl resident, said installation of curbs, gutters and catch basins along Lomita Drive adjacent to school property, also would help the problem.

The area's flooding problems were brought to light during a discussion of the proposed Cal-Fong Co. 150-unit apartment and townhouse development on 27 acres at the base of the bowl.

Residents urged the school board to oppose the development because of its impact on density, traffic and drainage.

Mrs. Wheeler, in a long statement, urged that the entire 144-acre bowl area be purchased as open space by concerned public and private agencies.

"I know we need more low cost housing, that we need more housing . . . but not at the sacrificing of our environment," she told the board.

Trustees took no action pending further discussion with the developers but informally opposed routing traffic from the development near Alto or Edna Maguire schools.

A workshop meeting on the development with city and county representatives was set for 8 p.m. Jan. 7 in city hall.

State Faces Suit Threat Over Middle School Plans

If the Mill Valley School District's plans for its new middle school are not approved soon by the state, the whole issue may end up in court, the school district board heard last night.

Supt. James A. Collins told the board that architect Peter Berg of Campbell and Wong, San Francisco architects, has indicated he will sue the state to force a decision on the plans if state approval is not forthcoming within two weeks.

Collins said Berg believes that some of the state's requests are "unreasonable" and that some of the delay is caused "by the fact the state doesn't have very many plans to review right now and therefore might be giving our plans a closer review than they might do normally."

All aspects of the plans, except the structural engineering, have been approved, Collins said. Meetings with the state representatives are scheduled for today and next week and if no agreement can be reached, the architects will notify the board whether they intend to take the dispute to court, Collins explained.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

NEWSLETTER — Heard the district will start publishing a newsletter next month.

CONFERENCE — Agreed to participate in a community conference on development of Project 17 and East Mill Valley planned by the Mill Valley Planning Commission to be held Jan. 24 at a time and place to be set.

MARIN VIEW — Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Jan. 15 at Tamalpais Valley School to discuss a proposal by the Sausalito School District board that the Mill Valley district de-annex the Marinview subdivision and give it to Sausalito.

SAUCELITO CANAL — Agreed not to protest increases in the assessment for dredging the Saucelito Canal in Richardson Bay but said it would fight any further increases.

POWER — Asked staff to investigate the cost of installing auxiliary power units at each school in the district.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation because of illness of Genella Williamson, speech therapist.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Margaret Rose, a guidance counselor, at a salary of $3,591 for the remainder of the school year, and Linda Eldridge, second grade teacher at Tamalpais Valley School at $4,026 for the remainder of the school year.

Knife Carrier Robs Woman

A 31-year-old Corte Madera woman has been robbed of $46 at knifepoint by two men who forced her car off Shoreline Highway near Mill Valley, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said the woman was driving to the 7-11 Store on Shoreline Highway about 2 a.m. Saturday when two men forced her car off the roadway, took the money at knifepoint and then threatened her not to report the robbery to police.

Sheriff's deputies indicated they had a lead on the two suspects.

School Thief Gets Tank, Gas Engine

Someone stole the makings of a go-cart last weekend at Henry C. Hall School, Larkspur police reported today.

A burglar broke into an outside storage enclosure between Friday afternoon and yesterday morning and took a gasoline engine from a weed cutter and a two-gallon gas tank from a lawnmower. The tank was valued at $10 and no value was given for the engine.

Dentists Experiment With New Plastic Paint For Teeth

VAN DELLEN

A new plastic paint to prevent decay is being tested. The resin is applied like nail polish but does not harden until an ultraviolet lamp is shined on it. Ultraviolet rays make the plastic set immediately into a hard, smooth, nearly invisible film.

Dr. Michael Buonocore (Eastman Dental center, Rochester, N.Y.) is testing the product under a grant from the National Institute of Dental Research.

The material should save considerable time for dentists already overburdened. The resin should also benefit the handicapped who cannot brush their teeth, military personnel, and people living in remote areas.

THE PROCESS is not completely perfected, especially for teeth that have been filled. An adhesive liner is needed to seal metal, plastic, or cement fillings and to stop decay from developing where debris seeps in between the filling and the tooth.

Other potential uses for the resin are coverings for unattractive, poorly calcified, or stained teeth and to repair broken edges on front teeth.

The adhesive also will be used to anchor orthodontic wires.

THE PLASTIC MATERIAL should enhance the good effects of fluoridation, especially at the tooth's biting surface. This is the area that receives considerable wear and tear and is also where enamel is often thin or pitted.

Dextranase is another experimental product that prevents cavity and plaque formation in laboratory animals. The enzyme can be dissolved in water or administered in the diet.

BRUSHING OF the teeth continues to be one of the most effective means of controling decay. It also improves oral hygiene and the health of the gums.

Brushing is slightly more effective than pressured water rinses in ridding the teeth of food particles and other debris. Combining the two methods is even more effective.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

LUNG COLLAPSE

A. I. B. writes: If air is injected into a collapsed lung will it work again?

REPLY

No. Lung collapse occurs under two circumstances. When air gets into the pleural space between the lung and chest wall, it compresses the soft lung tissue until the structure collapses (pneumothorax). In the other condition, a bronchus is plugged and the inflated lung collapses when the trapped air is absorbed. This usually occurs in a few days.

BANANAS AND BELCHING

N. T. writes: A lady over 60 eats one to two bananas for lunch every day. She complains of diarrhea and belches constantly but refuses to admit that the bananas are responsible. What do you think?

REPLY

All this woman has to do is stop eating bananas for a few days. If the gastrointestinal symptoms disappear, she will have her answer.

STIMULANTS

E. P. writes: Can you explain why I become nervous as a cat when I take my diet pills?

REPLY

Because the pills are stimulants that make you keyed up and nervous. This is true of the amphetamines and thyroid.

Today's Health Hint — Stuff the bird just before it goes into the oven, not the night before.

Road Contracts To Marin Firms

Two Marin County firms have been awarded contracts by the state Department of Public Works.

E. A. Forde Jr. of Greenbrae has been given a $51,549 contract to widen three northbound lanes to four on High 101 between the Spencer Avenue overcrossing and .2 mile south of Rodeo Avenue in Sausalito.

Merz Brothers of San Rafael has been awarded a $3,395 contract to remove slide material and restore slopes near Cecelia Way on Tiburon Boulevard.

Death Count At 50 From Plane Mishap

SAIGON (AP) — The official death toll in yesterday's crash of a South Vietnamese airliner at Nha Trang rose to 50 today. Another 35 persons were injured, 15 of them children.

The figures were not final and several persons were not accounted for. A government spokesman said it was not known yet how many of the dead and injured were aboard the plane and how many were on the ground in the area of the crash.

A government spokesman said 66 adult passengers—four children and eight crew members, a total of 78—were aboard the DC6B when it slammed into a row of slum houses and a kindergarten after its brakes failed during an emergency landing.

A surviving crew member said the plane carried 63 passengers and seven crew members, eight persons less than the government spokesman reported. It appeared possible the government's total was based on the manifest rather than the actual number aboard.

The plane was en route from Saigon to Nha Trang and Da Nang. About 30 miles from Nha Trang an explosion occurred, possibly in one of the four engines, and flying metal injured the pilot and a passenger.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

The Annual 'Dark' Week Makes Return

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television programming may have seemed a little disappointing and disconcerting last night.

CBS pre-empted its most popular program, "Gunsmoke" to rerun a children's hour originally broadcast in the daytime less than 10 days ago, and followed it later with a repeat of a "Carol Burnett Show." NBC repeated a year-old "Laugh-in" whose topical gags showed its age.

Tonight there will be a Red Skelton rerun on CBS and NBC's "Julia" will have a night off so that the often-repeated 1954 film, "White Christmas" can run its full two and one-half hours. Tomorrow, NBC's "Virginian," CBS's "Medical Center" and ABC's "Flying Nun" will be twice-told tales.

On Christmas night, ABC's "Bewitched" and NBC's "Dragnet" and "Dean Martin Show" will all be reruns. On Friday, NBC's "The Name of the Game" will be a repeat.

The cause of this epidemic of reruns is that the people who view the viewers are taking the week off. Yesterday through next Sunday is what the industry calls a "dark week" — one of the two during the year in which the A.C. Nielsen research organization skips those rating services which are projections of audience sizes based on program choices by a sample.

The Nielsens, television's most important tape-measure, are used by networks, advertising agencies and sponsors in evaluating programs. When Nielsen isn't counting noses, the networks get a little extra economic mileage out of slightly used properties.

But even when Nielsen is taking a week off, the networks' year-round game of one-upmanship is played as fiercely as ever. NBC called a news conference Monday so that its vice president for audience measurement, Paul Klein, could stake the network's claim of winning what he called "the first season."

Klein asserted that NBC, between the September start and Dec. 14, before the networks started midseason replacements and rshuffling schedules, had won a narrow victory—less than one per cent—over CBS in the average rating. A spokesman for CBS, which plays the numbers game just as hard, insisted there is no such thing as a first season and predicted that the network would win the full 26-week race as it claimed to have done last year.

Beyond claiming the narrow victory, however, Klein sought to use audience studies to set up NBC as a network with strong appeal to "young adults"—viewers between 18 and 49.

"The heaviest buyers are people between 25 and 45," Klein said. "And the 18-to-49 group is worth twice the 50-plus viewers."

Using Nielsen statistics and projections, Klein said that on any Winter's night the television audience consists of 35 per cent of the population of the continental United States—about 70 million people, of whom 60 million are tuned to one of the three major networks. More than half the nation's homes have two TV sets at least, and 10 per cent have three, he noted.

11 Killed In Crash; Damage At $20 Million

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A disabled, pilotless Navy jet fighter "could not have hit at a worse place" the fire chief said mournfully as he surveyed the naval hangar where 11 men were killed and 14 injured.

The jet, abandoned by its pilot who parachuted to safety after reported oil pressure trouble, slammed into a hangar full of aircraft and mechanics Monday at Miramar Naval Air Station.

The pilot of the singe-seat F8J Crusader said he reported the malfunction, then ejected at 400 feet altitude about half a mile east of the runway.

The aircraft "could not have hit at a worse place," said Bill Knight, base fire chief. "Not only was there a congestion of personnel, but also there were numerous aircraft."

The pilot, Lt. Cyrus M. Riddell, 27, of San Diego and Bellevue, Wash., was injured. He told newsmen he bailed out when oil pressure "had gone down dangerously low."

Asked if he could have prevented the plane from hitting the hangar, he said: "I can't answer that," and walked away.

A Navy spokesman said Riddell and persons inside the hangar could not talk to newsmen because they would be testifying before an investigation board.

Navy Cmdr. J. P. Vinti, the pilot's squadron leader, said Riddell had followed his training.

"He felt he could not make the runway and so at 450 feet in the air, he did what he was trained to do. He reached up and ejected. The rest is history," Vinti said.

About 60 men and a dozen aircraft were inside the 70-square-yard hangar bay some 1,800 feet north of the runway. The 45,000-pound Crusader cleared about 50 parked aircraft and crashed through the partially open hangar doors at a speed of about 250 miles an hour, the Navy said.

About 30 mechanics were working on six F4J Phantom jet fighters parked along the north side of the hangar. The Crusader plowed under two of them, struck the wall and exploded in flames.

Five of the Phantoms—planes which survived last January's explosions on the carrier Enterprise off Hawaii—were destroyed and one other was damaged. Navy officials estimated damage to aircraft and the hangar at more than $20 million.

As to whether a pilot should bail out or stay with the plane, a U.S. Navy Safety Center pamphlet displayed on the bulletin board of the ready room of the pilot's squadron suggests in part that bailing out may be the safer course:

"The decision to ditch or eject has been, is and always will be yours to make in light of prevailing circumstances, but delayed decision to eject, when other factors would permit successful ejection, have accounted for the majority of escape fatalities."

A spokesman at the control tower said the pilot reported engine failure and that he could not restart it.

Knight said crash crews were standing by alongside the runway. Witnesses said a crash truck, manned by asbestos-clad firefighters, drove inside the hangar while men were running out.

Death Count At 50 From Plane Mishap

SAIGON (AP) — The official death toll in yesterday's crash of a South Vietnamese airliner at Nha Trang rose to 50 today. Another 35 persons were injured, 15 of them children.

The figures were not final and several persons were not accounted for. A government spokesman said it was not known yet how many of the dead and injured were aboard the plane and how many were on the ground in the area of the crash.

A government spokesman said 66 adult passengers—four children and eight crew members, a total of 78—were aboard the DC6B when it slammed into a row of slum houses and a kindergarten after its brakes failed during an emergency landing.

A surviving crew member said the plane carried 63 passengers and seven crew members, eight persons less than the government spokesman reported. It appeared possible the government's total was based on the manifest rather than the actual number aboard.

The plane was en route from Saigon to Nha Trang and Da Nang. About 30 miles from Nha Trang an explosion occurred, possibly in one of the four engines, and flying metal injured the pilot and a passenger.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

The Annual 'Dark' Week Makes Return

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television programming may have seemed a little disappointing and disconcerting last night.

CBS pre-empted its most popular program, "Gunsmoke" to rerun a children's hour originally broadcast in the daytime less than 10 days ago, and followed it later with a repeat of a "Carol Burnett Show." NBC repeated a year-old "Laugh-in" whose topical gags showed its age.

Tonight there will be a Red Skelton rerun on CBS and NBC's "Julia" will have a night off so that the often-repeated 1954 film, "White Christmas" can run its full two and one-half hours. Tomorrow, NBC's "Virginian," CBS's "Medical Center" and ABC's "Flying Nun" will be twice-told tales.

On Christmas night, ABC's "Bewitched" and NBC's "Dragnet" and "Dean Martin Show" will all be reruns. On Friday, NBC's "The Name of the Game" will be a repeat.

The cause of this epidemic of reruns is that the people who view the viewers are taking the week off. Yesterday through next Sunday is what the industry calls a "dark week" — one of the two during the year in which the A.C. Nielsen research organization skips those rating services which are projections of audience sizes based on program choices by a sample.

The Nielsens, television's most important tape-measure, are used by networks, advertising agencies and sponsors in evaluating programs. When Nielsen isn't counting noses, the networks get a little extra economic mileage out of slightly used properties.

But even when Nielsen is taking a week off, the networks' year-round game of one-upmanship is played as fiercely as ever. NBC called a news conference Monday so that its vice president for audience measurement, Paul Klein, could stake the network's claim of winning what he called "the first season."

Klein asserted that NBC, between the September start and Dec. 14, before the networks started midseason replacements and rshuffling schedules, had won a narrow victory—less than one per cent—over CBS in the average rating. A spokesman for CBS, which plays the numbers game just as hard, insisted there is no such thing as a first season and predicted that the network would win the full 26-week race as it claimed to have done last year.

Beyond claiming the narrow victory, however, Klein sought to use audience studies to set up NBC as a network with strong appeal to "young adults"—viewers between 18 and 49.

"The heaviest buyers are people between 25 and 45," Klein said. "And the 18-to-49 group is worth twice the 50-plus viewers."

Using Nielsen statistics and projections, Klein said that on any Winter's night the television audience consists of 35 per cent of the population of the continental United States—about 70 million people, of whom 60 million are tuned to one of the three major networks. More than half the nation's homes have two TV sets at least, and 10 per cent have three, he noted.

11 Killed In Crash; Damage At $20 Million

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A disabled, pilotless Navy jet fighter "could not have hit at a worse place" the fire chief said mournfully as he surveyed the naval hangar where 11 men were killed and 14 injured.

The jet, abandoned by its pilot who parachuted to safety after reported oil pressure trouble, slammed into a hangar full of aircraft and mechanics Monday at Miramar Naval Air Station.

The pilot of the singe-seat F8J Crusader said he reported the malfunction, then ejected at 400 feet altitude about half a mile east of the runway.

The aircraft "could not have hit at a worse place," said Bill Knight, base fire chief. "Not only was there a congestion of personnel, but also there were numerous aircraft."

The pilot, Lt. Cyrus M. Riddell, 27, of San Diego and Bellevue, Wash., was injured. He told newsmen he bailed out when oil pressure "had gone down dangerously low."

Asked if he could have prevented the plane from hitting the hangar, he said: "I can't answer that," and walked away.

A Navy spokesman said Riddell and persons inside the hangar could not talk to newsmen because they would be testifying before an investigation board.

Navy Cmdr. J. P. Vinti, the pilot's squadron leader, said Riddell had followed his training.

"He felt he could not make the runway and so at 450 feet in the air, he did what he was trained to do. He reached up and ejected. The rest is history," Vinti said.

About 60 men and a dozen aircraft were inside the 70-square-yard hangar bay some 1,800 feet north of the runway. The 45,000-pound Crusader cleared about 50 parked aircraft and crashed through the partially open hangar doors at a speed of about 250 miles an hour, the Navy said.

About 30 mechanics were working on six F4J Phantom jet fighters parked along the north side of the hangar. The Crusader plowed under two of them, struck the wall and exploded in flames.

Five of the Phantoms—planes which survived last January's explosions on the carrier Enterprise off Hawaii—were destroyed and one other was damaged. Navy officials estimated damage to aircraft and the hangar at more than $20 million.

As to whether a pilot should bail out or stay with the plane, a U.S. Navy Safety Center pamphlet displayed on the bulletin board of the ready room of the pilot's squadron suggests in part that bailing out may be the safer course:

"The decision to ditch or eject has been, is and always will be yours to make in light of prevailing circumstances, but delayed decision to eject, when other factors would permit successful ejection, have accounted for the majority of escape fatalities."

A spokesman at the control tower said the pilot reported engine failure and that he could not restart it.

Knight said crash crews were standing by alongside the runway. Witnesses said a crash truck, manned by asbestos-clad firefighters, drove inside the hangar while men were running out.

Major Reforms Of The Tax Relief Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Major provisions of the tax reform bill:

Personal exemption: The $600 exemption for each taxpayer and each of his dependents rises to $650 on July 1, 1970, to $700 on Jan. 1, 1972, and to $750 on Jan. 1, 1973. (See another story page 1.)

Standard deduction: Now 10 per cent of the income of a taxpayer who does not itemize expenses with a ceiling of $1,000 it rises to 13 per cent with a $1,400 ceiling in 1970, then to 14 per cent with a $1,500 ceiling in 1971, to 14 per cent with a $2,000 ceiling in 1972 and to 15 per cent with a $2,000 ceiling in 1973 and thereafter.

Low-income allowance: Designed to remove five million poor people from tax obligations and to drastically cut taxes for seven million near poor, it is equal to a minimum $1,100 personal exemption effective Jan. 1, 1970. This drops to $1,050 on Jan. 1, 1971, and to $1,000 on Jan. 1, 1972, and thereafter.

Social Security: A 15 per cent increase in benefits goes into effect Jan. 1, 1970, to be reflected in checks mailed out in March. The minimum benefit for a single person rises from its present $55 to $64 a month.

Surtax: The 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income falls to 5 per cent Jan. 1, 1970, and expires June 30, 1970.

Excise taxes: The 7 per cent excise tax on new cars and the 10 per cent tax on telephone service are continued for another year at their present rates,

Single persons: Special tax relief is granted unmarried people so that in no case would a single taxpayer pay more than 20 per cent more in taxes than a married couple with the same income. The gap now is as much as 40 per cent.

Investment credit: This subsidy to businesses and farmers, amounting to a 7 per cent subsidy on their expenses for new equipment, expansion or modfective last April 18.

Moving expenses: Deductive expenses for moving are liberalized for moves of 50 miles or more to include traveling, meals and lodging for premove house-hunting trips and expenses arising from the sale of a house. The self-employed are permitted to claim moving expenses.

Income averaging: Persons whose incomes grow by more than 20 per cent in one year, such as athletes and authors, may average out the additional income over several years, subjecting it to a lower tax rate than would otherwise be possible. This provision includes income from capital gains, wagering or gifts.

Maximum tax: High-income taxpayers who receive their income from salary, wages or fees—chiefly executives, lawyers, doctors and other professionals—will pay no more than 60 per cent of their earned income in 1971 and no more than 50 per cent thereafter if they also had no more than $30,000 in "unearned income." At present, the tax rate goes beyond 50 per cent for income above $52,000 a year. "unearned income"—from dividends, interest, rents and the like—remains taxable at the old rates.

Minimum tax: This is designed to insure that all wealthy persons pay at least some income tax. A special 10 per cent tax is imposed on "tax sheltered" income in excess of $30,000, such as income benefiting from the oil depletion allowance, capital gains taxes or tax preferences granted earnings from real estate investments. Last year at least 155 high-income persons paid no income tax at all.

Depletion allowances: The 27.5 per cent oil depletion allowance is cut to 22 per cent and depletion allowances allowed more than 100 other minerals are generally cut by 1 percentage point. This will allow an oil firm to withhold from taxation 22 per cent of its gross income or 50 per cent of its net profits, whichever is emaller.

Capital gains: On the first $50,000 of capital gains—profits from the sale of stocks and other property held six months or more—is to be subject to the existing 25 per cent maximum rate. On gains above $25,000, a taxpayer will have to pay half his ordinary tax rate on the gains. Thus, for a taxpayer in the 65 per cent bracket, the tax is 32.5 per cent on gains above $25,000.

Tax reforms: The bill carries major reforms to narrow tax loopholes which permit much income from real estate investments, and banks. Also narrowed are provisions under which persons with large amounts of nonfarm income escape taxes by buying a farm and taking advantage of liberal writeoffs of farm loss income that were intended to benefit bona fide farmers.

Foundations: They become subject to a tax of 7.5 per cent of their income from investments and are required to give to charity each year a sum equal to 6 per cent of their net worth.

Church-operated businesses: Businesses operated by churches and other tax-exempt organizations are subject to the 48 per cent corporate tax rate on their profits.

Treble-damages: Two-thirds of treble damege awards for antitrust violations can no longer be deducted by businesses as normal business expenses. Nor can bribes or kickbacks be deducted as business expenses.

Loopholes — Tax preferences are granted aimed at stimulating the installation of antipollution equipment, the modernization of railroad equipment, the rehabilitation of old residential housing and the adoption of safety equipment in coal mines. The preferences carry an automatic termination date after five years.

Congressmen Heed Cancer Fund Plea

The campaign by a small group of Marin parents with cancer-stricken children to increase federal funds for cancer research paid off yesterday, to the tune of a $10 million boost approved by the House of Representatives.

The group's spokesman, Dr. Richard W. Wolk of San Rafael, reported that the $19.7 billion appropriation bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare included $190 million for the National Cancer Institute.

This was $10 million more than the amount previously recommended by the House. The Senate had recommended a $20 million hike after hearing testimony in Washington from Dr. Wolk and others, but the hike was halved by a two-house conference committee, Dr. Wolk said.

The hike was "sufficient to prevent any backsliding in cancer research — for this year," he said.

The Marin group, the Candlelighters, still fears that the Nixon Administration will withhold the extra funds even after Senate approval, he said.

Dr. Wolk appealed to citizens to write President Richard M. Nixon and his budget director, Robert P. Mayo, to release all funds appropriated for cancer research.

Antibussing Petition Is Far Short

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — An initiative campaign to prohibit mandatory bussing of California school children apparently has flopped.

Only 63,547 valid signatures — a long way from the required 325,173 — were gathered on petitions to qualify the measure for next year's statewide ballot, the secretary of state's office reported today.

The sponsor of the initiative, Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield, R-South Gate, had predicted "we're going to be lucky to get half" of the required number. He made the prediction on Dec. 1, the first deadline for the petitions to be filed with county clerks.

Yesterday was the deadline for county clerks to report the number of valid signatures found after a check against voter records. In Marin, 548 of the 651 filed, an unusually high percentage, were validated.

Wakefield, however, said he would push for the required number of signatures during the 60-day supplementary period before the final deadline to file petitions. his second batch of petitions must be filed with county clerks by Jan. 30.

His measure would bar school districts from bussing students for integration without the written permission of a parent or guardian.

Returned Forms Favor Expert For Park Help

Questionnaires returned to the Rohnert Park Recreation Commission show residents satisfied with community facilities and in favor of professional planning to carry out development plans.

On the 1,661 forms sent to homes, 201 had been received by yesterday for a return of 12 per cent. City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said 67 per cent were in favor of hiring a professional landscape architect to help carry out park and recreational planning.

Commission Chairman Ronald E. Rasmussen said the commission will contact local architects this month and perhaps recommend employment at the Jan. 12 meeting.

Rasmussen said the architect will draw preliminary sketches for new parks and prepare cost estimates. He said when all facts are gathered, the commission may recommend the city council call a park bond election in April.

On the questionnaires, residents said more picnic areas are needed and that the second softball diamond should be lighted. A gymnasium was favored by 64 per cent and 66 per cent said more landscaped areas with benches and lighting should be developed.

The questionnaires said that tennis courts, football fields, swimming pools and the recreation building are adequate.

Sixty-two per cent opposed plans for a decorative fountain in front of the recreation building, saying it would be a target for vandals.

Boy's Injury Spurs Charges Vs. Mother

A 30-year old Bolinas woman was arrested on suspicion of child neglect yesterday after her 6-year-old son was hit by a car and officers found her three other children unattended in a house they said was dirty and cold.

Booked into Marin County Jail following her arrival home several hours after the accident was Dianna Horvath of Brighton Avenue.

The California Highway Patrol said that the youngster was riding his bicycle the wrong way on Altura Avenue in Bolinas, a one-way street, about 1:30 p.m. when a car driven by Adele Moroney, 65, also of Bolinas, came around a sharp corner. Mrs. Moroney told officers she did not see the youngster.

Sheriff's deputies were called when the highway patrol found that three other Horvath children, ranging in age from 2 to 9, were alone in a "filthy" house on Brighton Avenue. The children said their mother had left about 10 a.m.

Deputies took all the children to Marin General Hospital, where nurses fed and examined them. Three were later taken to a receiving home.

When Mrs. Horvath arrived home at 6:30 p.m., she was arrested, later posting $625 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Rohnert Park Man Is Killed In Auto Crash

A Rohnert Park man was killed and two Sebastopol women were injured in a two-car accident last night on Highway 101, south of the Wilfred Avenue overcrossing in Rohnert Park.

Arthur Smith, 34, of 349 Burton Avenue, was dead on arrival at Community Hospital of Sonoma County.

The California Highway Patrol said his southbound car crossed over the center divider strip shortly before 11 p.m. and struck a car driven by Diane Bellas, 27, of Sebastopol. She and a passenger, Judith Bolouc, 25, were reported in satisfactory condition at Community Hospital. A report of the extent of their injuries was not available.

Smith is survived by his wife, Grace.

Physician In Marin Fuss Awarded $5,000

An embattled San Francisco physician, central figure in a bitter two-year fight to obtain staff privileges at Marin General Hospital, was awarded $5,000 in general damages yesterday in a slander suit in San Mateo County Superior Court.

By an 11-1 vote, the jury ruled that Dr. Alvin Natanson, Burlingame physician, had slandered Dr. Standford W. Ascherman during a June 10, 1964, hearing on Ascherman's application for hospital privileges at the Marin hospital.

The suit, filed the next day, charged that Natanson, Ascherman's former commanding officer in the Air Force Medical Corps at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., had issued "false and defamatory statements" at the hearing. The suit had asked for $200,000 damages.

Fr. Natanson told the Marin Hospital District board that Dr. Ascherman, while under his command, performed "unnecessary radical surgery" on the wife of an airman with results that were "rather mutilating and unnecessarily disfiguring."

Ascherman denied the charge at the time.

The San Francisco doctor's fight to obtain staff status at Marin General lasted from March 1964 to April 1966, when hospital directors turned down his application for the last time. The fight included numerous, emotion-charged hearings before the hospital board and many court battles.

At present, Dr. Ascherman's $6 million suit against six San Francisco hospitals for denying him staff privileges is still pending in San Francisco courts.

Indians Call For National Parley

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 200 American Indians occupying Alcatraz Island have called a meeting of representatives from 200 tribes from across the country to plan a Confederation of American Indian Nations.

A spokesman at the San Francisco Indian Center said yesterday that 2,700 invitations to the convention on the San Francisco Bay island over the Christmas holidays were mailed to tribes, bands, reservations and Indian offices in urban centers.

"We certainly don't expect 2,700," the spokesman said. "We'll probably have about 200." Some were arriving last night, he said.

Reagan Reveals Antismog Moves

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A tax cut on natural gas to run autos and conversion of some state-owned cars to a smogless fuel system are the latest moves in the battle against air pollution, Gov. Ronald Reagan announces.

He provided the news yesterday in the latest of his "report to the people" series carried free by radio and television stations around the state.

The governor noted the state owns 25,843 motor vehicles, and urged other operators of big fleets to switch over to a system of smogless driving in cities.

To help out, he said he will ask the legislature to reduce the state tax on natural gas for autos from seven cents to three cents on the equivalent of a gallon.

Marijuana Case Warrant Issued

A bench warrant with bail set at $1,000 has been issued by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court for Martin Gerald Bida, 24, of no known address, when Bida failed to appear in court on charges of possessing and cultivating marijuana.

A motion to dismiss the case was denied by the judge Friday in Bida's absence.

Sheriff's deputies said that Bida had a marijuana plant, a machete and three books describing how to grow pot in his car when arrested near Point Reyes Station Sept. 27.

Novato, Civic Center Rain Tally Corrected

The 48-hour rainfall figure for Novato of 4.4 inches reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal was for the 48 hours ending at 8 a.m. Sunday, not ending yesterday as reported.

A rainfall total not reported yesterday was 1.60 inches at the Marin Civic Center for the 48 hours ending at 8 a.m. yesterday. A report of an accumulation of 7.25 inches from noon Saturday to 8 a.m. yesterday in that area was inaccurate.

Fox Near Fairfax Reported To Be Rabid

A rabid fox shot at the Circle V Ranch outside Fairfax apparently bit no other animals or humans before it was destroyed, County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht said yesterday.

The fox was shot Friday after it was seen attacking a truck and wobbling badly, Dr. Albrecht said. Tests showed the fox was rabid. It was the seventh rabid animal discovered in Marin this year, compared with four animals in 1968.

Church Burglary Nets $135 In Loot

A burglar who entered Redwood Presbyterian Church in Larkspur during the weekend stole a portable stereo, a black light, a radio and a camera valued at a total of $135, Larkspur police reported today.

The items were taken from the church office and the teen club room between Saturday afternoon and yesterday morning, police said.

Hillcrest Hospital Will Hike Room Rates Feb. 1

Room rates at Hillcrest Hospital, Petaluma, will be increased by $6 a day starting Feb. 1, providing an additional $70,000 in the first year for needed safety improvements at the facility.

Loree Smith, hospital administrator, said semiprivate rooms will be raised from $49 to $55, ward beds from $47 to $53, and private rooms from $54 to $60.

Babies kept in the newborn nursery will cost $20 per day rather than $17 and boarder baby beds will also increase $3, from $22 to $25 per day.

Mrs. Smith said the extra funds will help pay for a new air conditioning system for patient care areas at a cost of $67,530; a new roof estimated to cost $20,000; a sprinkler system for fire safety, $30,000, and needed medical equipment.

Yule Lights Get Blame For Fire

Fire, probably starting from a short circuit in an extension cord to a Christmas tree, caused damage estimated at $3,850 yesterday to the home of Joseph Russo at 250 San Felipe Way, Novato.

No one was at home when the fire was discovered at 9:52 a.m. by neighbors, Asst. Fire Chief Richard W. Beyer said.

Damage to the dining and living room was moderate, but smoke damage was extensive throughout the house, Beyer said. The Christmas tree and all presents were lost, he said.

Beyer took the occasion to warn residents to make certain that electrical connections leading to Christmas trees are safe and that tree lights are not left on when no one is home.

Young Veteran Hits Cable Across Road

Jerry Arnold West, 22, an airman from San Francisco, was listed in good condition and was expected to be released today from Hamilton Air Force Base hospital, where he was treated for a head injury suffered in a motorcycle wreck near San Rafael Sunday.

The California Highway Patrol said West, just back from Vietnam, hit a cable across the McNear brick yard pit road near Basalt Quarry Road near Peacock Gap at 11:30 a.m. He told the patrol he had not been on the road in two years and did not see the cable.

Woman Struck By Hitchhiker

A 28-year old San Rafael woman was struck in the mouth early today by a young hitchhiker who tried to snatch her car keys in front of her apartment at 1539 Lincoln Avenue, police reported.

The woman, Helga Tyson, spotted the hitchhiker standing nearby when she drove up to the front of her apartment at 11:45 a.m., police said.

When the woman started to lock her car, the youth, described as 18 to 20 years old, attacked her and fled down Lincoln Avenue when she started to scream.

Burglars Flee Without Loot

Burglars early today loaded dollies full of equipment from the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. garage at Second and Lindaro streets, but fled before they could get away with the loot, San Rafael police reported.

Workmen at the opposite end of the building found the cache of equipment outside the building and called police. Included in the haul were acetylene and cutting tools, regulators, nozzles, drills, sanders, cans of red paint, hundreds of feet of rubber coated wire and bold cutters, police said.

It was not known if anything was missing, police said.

Touring Youths Robbed In Car

Four young men identified as exchange students from Holland were robbed of $81 in cash, $100 in travelers' checks and $290 worth of cameras today as they slept in their car in the high ground of Donahue Street above Marin City, sheriffs' deputies reported.

One of the four victims was identified as Peter M. Chutte, who has been living in Eugene, Ore. Names of the other three were not available.

Deputies said the four were sleeping in their car at 6 a.m. when two young men who said they had a gun held them up. No weapon was seen, deputies said.

Half-Ton Jack Stolen

A half-ton floor jack was stolen from the rear of a tow truck owned by Duffy Bros., 1301 Third Street, and parked at 509 Canal Street last Thursday or Friday, San Rafael police reported today.

Broken Pipe Makes Costly Mess In Home

Water caused a minimum of $2,500 damage yesterday to the home of F.A. Legnitto at 20 Bothin Road after a pipe burst under the sink, firemen reoprted.

The kitchen, den, bathroom and part of both the dining and living rooms were flooded, according to the fire department, and new wall-to-wall carpet will have to be removed throughout the house.

Major Reforms Of The Tax Relief Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Major provisions of the tax reform bill:

Personal exemption: The $600 exemption for each taxpayer and each of his dependents rises to $650 on July 1, 1970, to $700 on Jan. 1, 1972, and to $750 on Jan. 1, 1973. (See another story page 1.)

Standard deduction: Now 10 per cent of the income of a taxpayer who does not itemize expenses with a ceiling of $1,000 it rises to 13 per cent with a $1,400 ceiling in 1970, then to 14 per cent with a $1,500 ceiling in 1971, to 14 per cent with a $2,000 ceiling in 1972 and to 15 per cent with a $2,000 ceiling in 1973 and thereafter.

Low-income allowance: Designed to remove five million poor people from tax obligations and to drastically cut taxes for seven million near poor, it is equal to a minimum $1,100 personal exemption effective Jan. 1, 1970. This drops to $1,050 on Jan. 1, 1971, and to $1,000 on Jan. 1, 1972, and thereafter.

Social Security: A 15 per cent increase in benefits goes into effect Jan. 1, 1970, to be reflected in checks mailed out in March. The minimum benefit for a single person rises from its present $55 to $64 a month.

Surtax: The 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income falls to 5 per cent Jan. 1, 1970, and expires June 30, 1970.

Excise taxes: The 7 per cent excise tax on new cars and the 10 per cent tax on telephone service are continued for another year at their present rates,

Single persons: Special tax relief is granted unmarried people so that in no case would a single taxpayer pay more than 20 per cent more in taxes than a married couple with the same income. The gap now is as much as 40 per cent.

Investment credit: This subsidy to businesses and farmers, amounting to a 7 per cent subsidy on their expenses for new equipment, expansion or modfective last April 18.

Moving expenses: Deductive expenses for moving are liberalized for moves of 50 miles or more to include traveling, meals and lodging for premove house-hunting trips and expenses arising from the sale of a house. The self-employed are permitted to claim moving expenses.

Income averaging: Persons whose incomes grow by more than 20 per cent in one year, such as athletes and authors, may average out the additional income over several years, subjecting it to a lower tax rate than would otherwise be possible. This provision includes income from capital gains, wagering or gifts.

Maximum tax: High-income taxpayers who receive their income from salary, wages or fees—chiefly executives, lawyers, doctors and other professionals—will pay no more than 60 per cent of their earned income in 1971 and no more than 50 per cent thereafter if they also had no more than $30,000 in "unearned income." At present, the tax rate goes beyond 50 per cent for income above $52,000 a year. "unearned income"—from dividends, interest, rents and the like—remains taxable at the old rates.

Minimum tax: This is designed to insure that all wealthy persons pay at least some income tax. A special 10 per cent tax is imposed on "tax sheltered" income in excess of $30,000, such as income benefiting from the oil depletion allowance, capital gains taxes or tax preferences granted earnings from real estate investments. Last year at least 155 high-income persons paid no income tax at all.

Depletion allowances: The 27.5 per cent oil depletion allowance is cut to 22 per cent and depletion allowances allowed more than 100 other minerals are generally cut by 1 percentage point. This will allow an oil firm to withhold from taxation 22 per cent of its gross income or 50 per cent of its net profits, whichever is emaller.

Capital gains: On the first $50,000 of capital gains—profits from the sale of stocks and other property held six months or more—is to be subject to the existing 25 per cent maximum rate. On gains above $25,000, a taxpayer will have to pay half his ordinary tax rate on the gains. Thus, for a taxpayer in the 65 per cent bracket, the tax is 32.5 per cent on gains above $25,000.

Tax reforms: The bill carries major reforms to narrow tax loopholes which permit much income from real estate investments, and banks. Also narrowed are provisions under which persons with large amounts of nonfarm income escape taxes by buying a farm and taking advantage of liberal writeoffs of farm loss income that were intended to benefit bona fide farmers.

Foundations: They become subject to a tax of 7.5 per cent of their income from investments and are required to give to charity each year a sum equal to 6 per cent of their net worth.

Church-operated businesses: Businesses operated by churches and other tax-exempt organizations are subject to the 48 per cent corporate tax rate on their profits.

Treble-damages: Two-thirds of treble damege awards for antitrust violations can no longer be deducted by businesses as normal business expenses. Nor can bribes or kickbacks be deducted as business expenses.

Loopholes — Tax preferences are granted aimed at stimulating the installation of antipollution equipment, the modernization of railroad equipment, the rehabilitation of old residential housing and the adoption of safety equipment in coal mines. The preferences carry an automatic termination date after five years.

Congressmen Heed Cancer Fund Plea

The campaign by a small group of Marin parents with cancer-stricken children to increase federal funds for cancer research paid off yesterday, to the tune of a $10 million boost approved by the House of Representatives.

The group's spokesman, Dr. Richard W. Wolk of San Rafael, reported that the $19.7 billion appropriation bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare included $190 million for the National Cancer Institute.

This was $10 million more than the amount previously recommended by the House. The Senate had recommended a $20 million hike after hearing testimony in Washington from Dr. Wolk and others, but the hike was halved by a two-house conference committee, Dr. Wolk said.

The hike was "sufficient to prevent any backsliding in cancer research — for this year," he said.

The Marin group, the Candlelighters, still fears that the Nixon Administration will withhold the extra funds even after Senate approval, he said.

Dr. Wolk appealed to citizens to write President Richard M. Nixon and his budget director, Robert P. Mayo, to release all funds appropriated for cancer research.

Antibussing Petition Is Far Short

Physician In Marin Fuss Awarded $5,000

An embattled San Francisco physician, central figure in a bitter two-year fight to obtain staff privileges at Marin General Hospital, was awarded $5,000 in general damages yesterday in a slander suit in San Mateo County Superior Court.

By an 11-1 vote, the jury ruled that Dr. Alvin Natanson, Burlingame physician, had slandered Dr. Standford W. Ascherman during a June 10, 1964, hearing on Ascherman's application for hospital privileges at the Marin hospital.

The suit, filed the next day, charged that Natanson, Ascherman's former commanding officer in the Air Force Medical Corps at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., had issued "false and defamatory statements" at the hearing. The suit had asked for $200,000 damages.

Fr. Natanson told the Marin Hospital District board that Dr. Ascherman, while under his command, performed "unnecessary radical surgery" on the wife of an airman with results that were "rather mutilating and unnecessarily disfiguring."

Ascherman denied the charge at the time.

The San Francisco doctor's fight to obtain staff status at Marin General lasted from March 1964 to April 1966, when hospital directors turned down his application for the last time. The fight included numerous, emotion-charged hearings before the hospital board and many court battles.

At present, Dr. Ascherman's $6 million suit against six San Francisco hospitals for denying him staff privileges is still pending in San Francisco courts.

Touring Youths Robbed In Car

Four young men identified as exchange students from Holland were robbed of $81 in cash, $100 in travelers' checks and $290 worth of cameras today as they slept in their car in the high ground of Donahue Street above Marin City, sheriffs' deputies reported.

One of the four victims was identified as Peter M. Chutte, who has been living in Eugene, Ore. Names of the other three were not available.

Deputies said the four were sleeping in their car at 6 a.m. when two young men who said they had a gun held them up. No weapon was seen, deputies said.

Half-Ton Jack Stolen

A half-ton floor jack was stolen from the rear of a tow truck owned by Duffy Bros., 1301 Third Street, and parked at 509 Canal Street last Thursday or Friday, San Rafael police reported today.

Burglars Flee Without Loot

Burglars early today loaded dollies full of equipment from the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. garage at Second and Lindaro streets, but fled before they could get away with the loot, San Rafael police reported.

Workmen at the opposite end of the building found the cache of equipment outside the building and called police. Included in the haul were acetylene and cutting tools, regulators, nozzles, drills, sanders, cans of red paint, hundreds of feet of rubber coated wire and bold cutters, police said.

It was not known if anything was missing, police said.

Broken Pipe Makes Costly Mess In Home

Water caused a minimum of $2,500 damage yesterday to the home of F.A. Legnitto at 20 Bothin Road after a pipe burst under the sink, firemen reoprted.

The kitchen, den, bathroom and part of both the dining and living rooms were flooded, according to the fire department, and new wall-to-wall carpet will have to be removed throughout the house.

SAD HOLIDAY — Perry E. Curtis, an inmate at San Quentin Prison, may be dreaming of happier past Christmases on the outside, inspired by the small tree in his cell block. QUENTIN'S CHRISTMAS

A Giftless Season For Some

Christmas is a very bleak time for men in prison and it will be especially dismal this year for about 800 inmates at San Quentin Prison.

These are men who will receive no gifts at all, either because they have no families or because they have lost all ties with families and friends.

About 30 inmates have ordered their own gifts from catalogue stores, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park. He said the men were allowed to order special Christmas assortments of foods if they wanted to and could afford them.

"It brightens things up a bit for these fellows to get a package, even if they sent for it themselves," Park said. "They see others getting packages and they want one, too."

According to Park, about 1,400 packages have already arrived at the prison and he expects about 2,000 will de delivered by Christmas. Some of the prison's 3,400 inmates will receive money to spend in the prison canteen on cigars, candy, cheeses and other food items.

Some of the cellblocks have been decorated for the holiday by the inmates, as have many of the prison windows. Park said the men make most of the decorations with cardboard and water paints. "They try to make things a little nicer," he added.

The prison has three Christmas trees this year, one in the hospital, one in the yard and one in the chapel. And someone has strung a line of colored lights around the prison's yard office.

Still, signs of the holiday are at a minimum. "For most men who have had good Christmases on the outside, Christmas in prison is a pretty pensive and tense time," Park said.

On Christmas Eve, guards distribute small packages of candy and nuts to every man, but that is the only official observance of the day.

For two weeks prior to Christmas, prisoners are allowed to make one collect phone call to a relative or friend and Park said this call is eagerly awaited by the men who have someone to call.

Hot Spots On Agnew Itinerary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's 10-nation, 37,000-mile trip includes stops in three countries—the Philippines, Thailand and Formosa — that have been targets of recent attacks in the Senate.

Agnew also has expressed hope of going to Vietnam, although it is not listed on the itinerary and aides said no visit is planned. The trip, Agnew's first abroad as vice president, is designed to give him first-hand knowledge of Asia.

FACES REACTION

The vice president will be meeting with top officials of the nations he visits and is likely to run into reaction to Senate attacks on military aid to some Asian nations.

In the Philippines, where Agnew is to attend the Dec. 30 inauguration of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, there was strong criticism of a charge by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., that the United States had paid the Manila government $45 million in equipment and allowances in return for rending troops to Vietnam.

DENIES CHARGE

The Philippine government denied the charge, contained in a transcript which was held up by the State Department here until after the country's elections last month. Since then, the Philippine detachment in Vietnam has been withdrawn.

Formosa, Agnew's next stop, was the target of the Senate just last week when it rejected the $1.8 billion foreign aid money bill rather than agree to supply the government of Chiang Kai-shek some $54.5 million to buy additional jet fighters.

From Taipei, Agnew is scheduled to go to Thailand.

Congressional sources charged recently the United States paid the Thais some $1 billion in return for its dispatch of troops to Vietnam. Both the

Arabs In Rocket Attack

TEL AVIV (AP)—Rockets fired by Arab guerrillas from inside Jordan and Lebanon streaked across the Jordan River and hit an Israeli settlement near the Lebanese border today, the Israeli command said.

Israeli jets attacked guerrilla targets near the Jordan River in a 30-minute retaliatory raid, Israeli witnesses said.

The Israelis said Lebanese-based rockets crashed into the settlement of Kiryat Shmona on the Lebanese border, damaging a school house and a residence. No casualties were reported.

'HEAVY TOLL'

The Palestine guerrilla command in Amman said the rockets from Jordan took "a heavy toll of property and lives" in settlements north and south of the Sea of Galilee; the Israelis said they fell harmlessly in the water.

The Jordanians said several Israeli Jets raided villages in the northern Jordan Valley and damaged two civilian cars.

The rocket attack hit an area north of Bethlehem, where an estimated 10,000 Christian pilgrims converged on the usually quiet town, the traditional birthplace of Christ.

HIT NAVAL BASE

Israeli commandos struck into Egypt again last night and fired mortars at an Egyptian naval base on the Red Sea coast, the Israeli command said. It was the second raid on an Egyptian military installation in five days.

In diplomatic developments, a former British prime minister suggested secret talks between Israel and the Arab states through a neutral intermediary

SHORT OF WAR

Arab Summit In Buildup Pledge

RABAT, Morocco (UPI)—The fifth Arab summit meeting began its final sessions today with a majority agreed to build up Egypt, Jordan and Syria militarily against Israel —but stopping short of waging war.

Heads of state of 10 nations and four delegation chiefs gathered at the heavily-guarded Hilton Hotel for what was expected to be the windup meeting of their three-day strategy council.

One seat was empty. Yemen Republic head of state Abdul Rahmen Iriani stayed away because of illness, Yemeni sources said. They denied his absence had any connection with Yemen's strained relations with Saudi Arabia.

As the heads of state met with the question of aid to the Palestine guerrillas on the agenda, their foreign ministers worked on the sidelines to complete agreement on who should contribute what to the "frontline nations" against Israel.

Both Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and King Hussein of Jordan asked the conference for men and arms to build up their armies. Conference sources said the strategy was to bolster countries bordering on Israel so they can deal with the Jewish state from a position of strength.

Today's session was preceded by private meetings between Nasser, Libyan head of state Col. Moummer El Kezafy and Palestine guerrilla leader Yassir Arafat earlier conferred with Moroccan King Hassan II.

Reply To Israeli Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers strongly defended the controversial U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace today and specifically rejected an Israeli charge that they amounted to "appeasement of the Arabs."

Rogers also said "we have reason to be cautiously optimistic" about the eventual success of the effort to have South Vietnam take over its own defense.

VIET QUESTION

Rogers told a news conference that North Vietnamese infiltration into the South is down at least 60 per cent this year from last. But he declined to predict whether a recent upswing in North Vietnamese troop movements into the South foreshadowed another enemy offensive.

The secretary of state gave a general year-end sum-up of the international picture which he found improved despite some disappointments.

"I think on the whole the President can be proud of his leadership in the foreign affairs field," Rogers said.

LITTLE PROGRESS

But one important area where admittedly little progress has been made is in efforts to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute—and Washington's new proposals aimed at finding a peaceful solution have been rebuffed by both sides.

The Israeli cabinet yesterday issued a statement which reflected deteriorating U.S.-Israeli relations because of the U.S. effort. The Israelis denounced the American proposals as "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

In reply, Rogers said the

Sen. Dodd Says Probe Clears Him On Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said today the Justice Department has advised him that an investigation of his income tax returns turned up no evidence to warrant a criminal prosecution.

Dodd, who was censured by the Senate in 1967 on a finding that he had used at least $116,083 in political funds for personal purposes, disclosed the finding at a news conference with his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams.

"I have been subjected for more than two years to exhaustive and intensive investigation," Dodd said. "I feel at last I have been cleared of any wrongdoing."

The white-haired senator, who was censured by his colleagues by a 52-5 vote after an investigation by the Senate Ethics Committee, reiterated that he intends to be a candidate for another term next year.

"I plan to run," he replied when asked if the Justice Department's decision would have any effect on his plans.

The department's decision was disclosed in a letter dated yesterday from Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to Williams.

Dodd denied reports that the possibility of an income tax pro-

Congress Clears Up Final Barriers For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last serious barriers to congressional adjournment today were cleared away with passage of the massive tax reform bill and Senate surrender on President Richard M. Nixon's plan to open up more construction jobs to blacks. (See another tax story, page 24.)

With these matters taken care of yesterday, the House marked time before today's expected midafternoon adjournment, while the Senate faced its last bit of routine business—extending regulations governing trade with some Communist nations.

The major congressional handiwork of 1969, the giant tax cut and reform bill, already is on its way to the White House and a top Senate Republican said there is no doubt President Nixon will sign it into law.

At the White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said flatly today what had become apparent — that Nixon will not call Congress into a special post-Christmas session.

Seeking to speed action, the President had said he would call Congress back on Dec. 26 unless all appropriation bills were passed before adjournment.

Easing the pressure, Nixon accepted an invitation to lunch with Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress in the dining room of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

Traditionally, the leaders telephone the President prior to acting on a sine die adjournment resolution. Ziegler said Nixon was receiving the message personally rather than by telephone.

The tax bill swept through the Senate yesterday, 71-2. Ultimately clearing the House 381-2. Ultimately, it will provide $9.1 billion in tax cuts, offset by $6.5 billion in revenue to be raised by the reform provisions.

But a lesser measure, a normally routine $278 million appropriation bill for an assortment of federal agencies, produced a civil rights controversy which kept the Senate working late yesterday amid maneuver and controversy.

At issue was congressional clearance of the administration's Philadelphia Plan designed to promote employment of

Federal Employees To Get Four-Day Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Congress leaving town, President Richard Nixon announced today that all federal workers will get a four-day Christmas holiday weekend.

Nixon signed an executive order excusing workers from their jobs on Friday. He had withheld action until he was certain there would be no reconvening of Congress on that day.

TWA Is Backed In Hughes Case

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Charles M. Metzner upheld today a $137,611,435.95 damage award to Trans World Airlines Inc. against Howard Hughes and Hughes Tool Co. Inc.

The ruling is subject to appeal.

Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, acting as a special master to hear the case, set the amount Sept. 21, 1968.

Brownell, now in private law practice, was named to decide the amount of damages after the court said Hughes and his Hughes Tool Co. were in default of a TWA antitrust suit, filed June 30, 1961, because Hughes did not show up for a pretrial deposition.

Hughes has continued to argue, through attorneys, against any damages. TWA has claimed it would get more than $685 million.

Irate Commuter Acts On Toll Hike

An angry Fairfax commuter today launched a campaign to force the Golden Gate Bridge District to revoke its $3.50 boost in the commuter book price.

Martin L. Strauss, 34, of 99 Bothin Road, called on other angry commuters to join him in hiring an attorney to file an injunction against the bridge district to stop the hike from $6.50 to $10 for the 25-roundtrip book.

Strauss, an insurance agent, told the Independent-Journal that his wife, Trudy, had urged him to "do something about it" after he stewed for days about the hike, which is effective on Friday, "I just reacted impulsively, but I'm glad I did," he said.

The first step in his campaign will be a series of newspaper advertisements calling for support, a step he hopes will arouse at least 1 per cent of the daily Marin automobile commuters. With the support of these 200 persons, he said, "we'd have what it would take to get something started."

Also opposed by Strauss was the bridge board's vote on Dec. 12 to eliminate the commute books after next June. Both actions were reaffirmed by the board last Friday.

Strauss said another objective of the campaign would be dissolution of the district after its bonds are repaid in 1971. Uncommitted district reserves of about $6 million then should be distributed among the six counties in the district, he said.

"They've done a very nice job," he said of the bridge board, "but they've sort of outlived their usefulness. They should retire and sort of drift out into the wilderness — back to wherever they started from," he said.

Strauss, who has been commuting since June 1967 to his San Francisco job said the district's functions should be turned over to the state. "I'm being idealistic as hell, but I think the state is more accountable than these guys," he said.

Strauss discounted the effectiveness of the bridge district's proposal to enter the commuter bus business, arguing its deficit would be a burden on Marin taxpayers. "Ferries may be part of the solution," he said, but he acknowledged he had no solution to offer to congestion.

Sharing the cost of the newspaper ads with him was Mrs. Adele Nolan of Sausalito, he said. She was the only commuter to appear before the bridge board last Friday to ask that it revoke the hike.

U.S. Bombers Strike As Yule Truce Nears

SAIGON (AP) — Battlefield action in Vietnam remained at a low level but U.S. B52 bombers made heavy raids along the Cambodian border today as the start of the annual Christmas truce neared.

A three-day Viet Cong cease-fire was scheduled to begin first, at 1 a.m. tomorrow which is 9 a.m. today, Pacific Standard Time. For the allies, the South Vietnamese government proclaimed only a 24-hour truce period beginning at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve, or 2 a.m. PST.

"However," said one source, "we feel that most of the enemy units will probably intensify their resupply efforts during the week under the relative safety of the allied standdown."

In the biggest action reported, South Vietnamese headquarters said 400 government rangers and a column of armored personnel carriers clashed Monday with enemy troops along the Cambodian border in the Mekong Delta 105 miles west of Saigon.

A spokesman said the government force killed 51 of the enemy and government casualties were light.

U.S. forces reported killing 29 enemy in three fights yesterday. Eight Americans were wounded.

Some 35 B52s made heavy raids during the night on North Vietnamese base camps along the Cambodian border. The big bombers dropped more than 1,000 tons of explosives within a mile of the border and about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

The strikes were concentrated in the "Fish Hook" region, a major North Vietnamese staging area and infiltration corridor where the common border of Tay Ninh and Binh Long provinces touches Cambodia.

Assessing the situation from Saigon north to the border, an official source said: "The low level of enemy activity suggests that most of the enemy units have completed the December action period and are returning to a refitting phase in preparation for the next action period."

Another source said that prisoners captured in the area tell their interrogators that there is a widespread shortage of equipment and personnel and that allied operations are causing serious problems.

Enemy gunners brought down two more American helicopters yesterday. A gunship was downed along the Cambodian border 87 miles northeast of Saigon while on a reconnaissance mission near the Bu Dop Special Forces camp, and two crewmen were killed. The second helicopter went down 20 miles southwest of Saigon, wounding four Americans.

The U.S. Command said there were 17 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today. Three of the attacks caused casualties or damage, including one American killed and three wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters said five civilians were killed and 13 wounded in a rocket attack on a populated area near the Duc Lap Special Forces camp, 135 miles northeast of Saigon.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, returned to Saigon last night from the United States. During his brief visit for his son's wedding on Saturday in Haverstraw, N.Y., he also conferred with President Richard M. Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Big Traffic Jam

ROME (AP) — The worst traffic chaos in memory gripped Rome again today as a nationwide bus and streetcar strike entered its second day at the height of the Christmas shopping period.

A strike by railway officials also hampered train traffic for the second day. Frustrated passengers attacked two stations in Sicily.

Columns of honking cars crawled slowly around some of Rome's biggest squares, traffic lights were largely ignored. Some two-way streets suddenly became one-way as the clogged squares disgorged motorists seeking alternate routes.

SINGAPORE (AP) — The Singapore government has abolished jury trials for capital offenses "rather than allow justice to be thwarted through either squeamishness or ignorance."

Parliament passed the bill yesterday with only one dissenting vote. Minister of Law E. W. Barker cited on murder trial in which the jury foreman innocently delivered a mistaken verdict.

The lone dissenter in the voting said the jury system should be retained because it was doubtful the government could pressure all seven members of a jury at the same time.

Knocks Treaty

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany told West Germany today that the draft treaty it presented to Bonn to sign constitutes the minimum — not the maximum — required if better relations are to develop between the two Germanys.

Neues Deutschland, the official East German newspaper, said in an editorial: "The conditions of the treaty are not maximum demands, as many West German politicians claim. They are the minimal, unavoidable demands of normal, peaceful and equal relations."

Neues Deutschland repeated the main points of the proposed treaty: international relationships between West and East Germany, an end to West Germany's claims to Berlin, recognition by Bonn of both the border between East and West Germany and the border between East Germany and Poland, the Oder-Neisse line.

Criticizes Nixon

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, has criticized the Nixon administration for what he called a switch in policy toward Israel in that state's conflict with Arab nations.

A long-time supporter of Israel, Cardinal Cushing said yesterday efforts of the United States, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union to impose a settlement in the troubled area "may end in calamity for Israel."

The cardinal called for "face-to-face negotiations" between the principals in the conflict.

Moscow Doctrine Is Updated

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist Party published today a sweeping restatement of party doctrine, bringing up to date the Kremlin position on China, Czechoslovakia, the capitalist West and a variety of domestic issues.

The document, called the party theses, is the most important declaration of party attitudes since the last theses were brought out two and one-half years ago.

The new theses are notable chiefly for their restraint on all foreign policy issues, especially on China, which was referred to only indirectly.

In contrast to the last theses, Mao Tse-tung was not mentioned by name, apparently reflecting the new Soviet policy of avoiding anti-Chinese polemics while pursuing diplomatic efforts to establish normal relations.

And Chinese doctrine—the main threat to Moscow's hold on the world communist movement—was criticized only indirectly as "left-wing revisionism" that has permitted nationalism, chauvinism and "militant anti-Sovietism" to flourish.

The 13,000-word document, spread in small type over three and one-half pages of all major Soviet newspapers today, was dedicated to the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth, to be celebrated April 22.

Referring to Czechoslovakia, also indirectly, the theses criticized the short-lived period of liberalism in 1968 as an example of "ideological immaturity and dogmatism."

The only countries attacked by name were the United States and West Germany, but in both cases in milder terms than in the last theses.

"The most aggressive detachments of imperialism," the new document said, "particularly in the United States and the Federal Republic of (West) Germany, have not abandoned their hopes to refight the historical battles of the 20th Century—to take revenge and to hurl socialism (communism) off the summit of world influence."

The futility of imperialism's goals, the theses charged, "has become absolutely obvious in our time."

Striking a pacific note, the document described Soviet foreign policy as being aimed at "guaranteeing peaceful conditions for the building of socialism and communism."

But the document added in the next sentence that "peaceful coexistence at the same time envisages a sharp political, economic and ideological struggle between socialism and capitalism."

Peaceful coexistence also permits "oppressed peoples to use any means for the sake of their liberation, up to and including armed struggle," it added.

This and most other ideas in the new theses were almost verbatim restatements of Soviet attitudes met in the daily official press.

Without mentioning specific factions, the document gave approval to the "upswing of the youth movement, including the student movement."

Only 74 Minutes In Open Session

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

The Sausalito School Distrit board, meeting 143 of its 217 minutes behind closed doors last night, discussed interdistrict transfers, charges against teachers and students and the meaning of the word revolutionary and came to no conclusions on any of them.

The board held a special closed session beginning at 6:30 p.m. to discuss a request by Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Mannell to transfer their daughter out of the district. The closed session also reportedly involved study of the school administration's recommendations on retention or nonretention of teachers and charges made against a teacher and administrators, but Vice Chairman David E. Freedheim said no action resulted from the session.

The board went into open session at 8:11 p.m. and met for 11 minutes before going back behind closed doors, this time to discuss a interdistrict transfer request from Mr. and Mrs. Quinn Millar.

During the quick session before the public, the board approved hiring of two new employees, the retirement of a third and tabled the Mannell request until January at the Mannell's request.

When the board, after 42 minutes, reconvened before a packed house — there because of rumors of some sort of "fireworks" that never materialized — Freedheim announced that the Millar request also had been tabled until the end of January with their approval. He said the closed session involved "charges made against children."

Later, trustee James. E. Muldoon noted the board's frequent closed sessions and said the board "must be extremely careful" not only to avoid violating the Ralph M. Brown Act but also "not to engender suspicion" that it is being violated. Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino had attended the first closed meeting of the evening partly for that reason, school officials indicated.

Part of the promised fireworks came in mild form when James Pockrus, president of the district's teachers association, read a "revolutionary teachers sign-up sheet" which was signed by Martin Luther King Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr., assistant to the principal James T. Toliver Jr., and 23 King teachers.

The statement, written by Toliver, said simply, "Revolution (definition of): To give children the tools to survive and change the oppressive nature of the American system as it exists today."

The reading of the statement sparked a spurt of worrying among some members of the audience about what it meant and what the word revolutionary meant.

Pockrus said it meant what it said, that the teachers at King were committed to giving "children the tools to survive and change."

Freedheim said it was a commitment to teaching and added there were many different kinds of revolution.

Walton said he was pleased with the unity displayed by the statement and said "the staff is committed to living up to our goals of humanization and social responsibility."

Trustee C. Gerald Clear said he agreed with the principle of the statement but would prefer it be expanded to include the phrase "by democratic methods." Muldoon said he would prefer "better phrasing."

The Sausalito School District Board Also:

CEIE — Heard Freedheim challenge criticism from the Citizens for Excellence in Integrated Education that the district was spending too much money and had an excessive teacher-to-pupil cost ratio. Freedheim said that the current budget was set before the board had any idea enrollment would drop by more than 120 students and the board was bound to the budget by law.

GRANT — Authorized Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato to apply for a $14,400 state grant under the Education Improvement Act of 1969.

HIRING — Hired Richard Aston as a teacher at King at $8,612 annually and Geraldine Carter as a classified employee at $2.58 an hour for five hours a day. The board also accepted the retirement of Margaret Moore, a King teacher.

VEHICLES — Authorized sale of a jeep and school bus owned by the district and set 7:30 p.m. Feb. 9 for opening of bids.

FINANCES — Received a report from its finance committee which forecast a possible drop in next year's school budget of about $300,000. School officials emphasized that the budget figure of $1.3 million mentioned last night was only a starting point for budget studies.

New Oil Leakage Spots Coastline

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Oil from the latest seepage in the Santa Barbara Channel has spotted about 22 miles of coastline in Ventura and Santa Barbara counties.

Donald Solanas of the U.S. Geological Survey said after authorities made a six-airplane inspection flight yesterday that still more crude oil lay a few hundred yards offshore.

Solanas estimated that the slick was about 10 per cent as large as that which resulted from a blowout 11 months ago at the same Union Oil Co. offshore drilling rig.

A Movement For Black Employees

A proposal for a Black Employees Association in the Sausalito School District to work for "direct black liberation" is being circulated among the district's black teachers and other employees by district community worker Gabe Jackson.

In a page-long explanation of the purpose of such an organization, Jackson said it would focus on black employment, community betterment, black educational systems and governmental procedures. He said it also could organize and direct a cooperative black shopping center and set up scholarship funds for blacks.

The proposal will be discussed at a Jan. 5 meeting of the district's teachers association, Jackson has indicated.

Membership of the association, which eventually would be expanded to the rest of Marin County, then the entire Bay Area, according to Jackson's statement, would be limited to non-whites. If there are any non-blacks considered, the statement says, they must not be a member of any committee, board and the like.

Two Gunmen Rob The Bay Bridge

OAKLAND (AP) — Two gunmen escaped in a shower of bullets with $15,000 but dropped a bag containing $22,000 during a robbery of the toll plaza at San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

The gunmen sprang to action at about 1:25 p.m. yesterday when two Loomis Armored Car Service guards were wheeling a cart of cash bags from the toll plaza to their truck.

The robbers snatched the two top sacks and disarmed one guard, then sprinted toward a parked car.

The other guard fired six shots at the fleeing Negro men. One appeared to have been hit and dropped a money bag. Blood was found on the pavement after the green sedan sped away toward Oakland.

The bridge, opened 33 years ago, was the object of a $48,000 unsolved burglary in its office vault in March 1968.

30 Crash Injuries

CORFU, N.Y. (AP) — A tractor-trailer rammed into the side of a bus loaded with 40 migrant workers at an intersection today. Police said about 30 workers were injured.

Six of the injured were taken by ambulance to St. Jerome's Hospital in Batavia, about 10 miles away from this community east of Buffalo. The others were taken to the hospital by bus. None appeared to be critically hurt, police said.

The crash occurred at a flashing red light over the intersection of Routes 77 and 33.

Teens' Corral Plea To Be Decided Jan. 26

By WAT TAKESHITA

About 20 teen-agers, many of them horse owners, pleaded with the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday to let them keep their animals at a 20-horse stable in Santa Venetia.

The corral occupies about three acres of the Herman Bosch property at 257 Nort San Pedro Road, next to Gallinas School and the Venetia Oaks home for the elderly.

Planning commissioners postponed a decision until Jan. 26 to give Bosch time to establish legal rights to his corral, and to show how he can correct defects so that the stables will not be a nuisance to the neighborhood.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill last month denied Bosch's application for a use permit for 16 horses to be kept at the corral because he said the horses were a nuisance. Bosch appealed, and the teen-agers showed up in force yesterday.

Arthur Wagner, who lives on the property, charged that cows and horses have been on the property since 1910, and the neighbors now complaining came after the horses.

"At this time of year, please don't be a scrooge; be a Santa Claus to all these teen-agers," said Wagner.

Bernard Todman of San Francisco, who keeps two horses there, also supported the teen-agers. Identifying himself as a member of the Marin Sheriff's Posse, Todman declared the horses are clean, and draw no rats. "Horses will never draw flies," Todman asserted. "A dead horse will but not a live one."

Youths and their parents assured the commissioners that fences were repaired, manure was hauled away, and that the stable created no health or dust problem.

They were opposed by Dee Eckles of 37 Meadow Way and C. H. Mentjox of 29 Meadow Drive, who charged that the corral causes odor, rodents and flies.

"The dust in the summer blows right into my house," said Mentjox. "My wife can't hang out the laundry." He said he has counted 22 horses in the stables, and the manure was not removed. Mentjox asserted that his neighbor had killed 10 rats in the neighborhood.

On a motion by Niels Schultz Jr., the commissioners decided to get more information on the legal status of the stable and a statement from Bosch on what corrective measures are possible.

"Such corrections would have to get the approval of the Humane Society and the Sanitation Department," warned Commissioner Jack G. Nixon. "We've heard of good care of horses and that everything's in good shape," said Nixon. "But historically this hasn't been the case."

Last month, both the principal of Gallinas School and a spokesman for Venetia Oaks complained that runaway horses and youngsters riding on school grounds constituted a health hazard and a danger to pedestrians.

Rubbish Pact

Almonte Sanitary District directors last night approved an agreement with the E. D. Martini Co., garbage collectors, to pick up trash at a cost of $1.25 a cubic yard on individual call after the Jan. 1 backyard burning ban goes into effect, Director Edward J. Prosch reported.

Suspect Denies Hub Robbery

Donald Ernest Stewart, 20, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of armed robbery of a San Anselmo service station attendant last Thursday.

A preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow.

Stewart was arrested after the attendant ran for help while the robber was in the station's men's room collecting the money he had ordered the attendant to leave there. The attendant's brother then followed Stewart, arrested him and turned him over to police.

Marijuana Case To Superior Court

Richard J. Fountain, 22, of Novato, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of possessing marijuana Nov. 16. He was told to appear for arraignment Monday.

Fountain was arrested after an off-duty deputy sheriff asked him to move his car from a boat launching ramp in Black Point.

The deputy said he saw what appeared to be a plastic bag of marijuana in Fountain's lap.

Condition Poor

Elinor Mobley, 46, of 20 Maywood Way, San Rafael, was reported in poor condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital, where she was taken this morning for treatment of an overdose of pills.

Novato Panel To Ask For Hike In School Tax Rate

An increase of 85 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in the tax rate for the Novato Unified School District will be recommended to the district board Jan. 5 by its citizens finance advisory committee, committee chairman Wayne Sartains said.

The increase would raise the total tax rate in the district from $5.33 per $100 to $6.18. Of this, $4.28 is the current general operating tax. The boost would be in effect for four years, if the board accepts the committee's recommendation and the voters approve in an election, probably in April, Sartain said.

"The committee discussed other alternatives at its meeting last Thursday and voted unanimously to ask the board to go for the proposed tax rate increase," Sartain added twelve of the 18 committee members were present, he said.

"It boils down that w go for a tax increase or the board must cut some of the school program, and on one on the committee wanted that," he said.

The proposed increase would mean a payment of about $55 extra in school taxes each year for the average household, Sartain said, or between $4.50 and $5 per month.

"This will be hard on people of fixed or low incomes, but it is either that or short changing the children," Sartain said.

The meeting was the first business session of the newly organized committee, and it took the one meeting to decide on asking for the tax increase.

The committee's task had been presented by the district board and school officials, who said district expenses were steadily exceeding income.

Draft Board Gets One In November

One youth was inducted into the armed forces in December by the Marin Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinzer reported today.

He is Kenneth J. Levy of San Francisco.

The county draft quota for December was 16, but the quota is seldom filled. The January quota has not yet been received, apparently because of the new lottery system, Mrs. Kinzer said.

Rental Units Win Favor Of Planners

A 61-unit apartment project for low and moderate income families, called Pilgrim Plaza, won unanimous approval from the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

The development is sponsored by the First Congregational Church of San Rafael on its property at North San Pedro and Merrydale Roads in Los Ranchitos.

Architects Eugene Wedell and David C. Hanchette of Sausalito presented a master plan for 61 apartments, varying in size from studios to three-bedroom units.

Plans include 103 parking spaces, a grass play field and picnic area, two laundry facilities, and a family recreation area.

The project is the initial effort of the Ecumenical Association for Housing, a nonprofit Marin group which provides member organizations — the First Congragational Church is one of them — with financial and professional assistance for building low and moderate income housing.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

SIDEWALKS — Decided that four-foot wide sidewalks would be required along some of the streets inside Marinview Unit 1, off Tennessee Valley Road at Bell Lane. This was a compromise between the developer, who planned no sidewalks at all, and the planning staff, which recommended sidewalks along all streets.

FLOOD PLAIN — Continued until Jan. 12 discussion of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, which would allow property in flood plains to get insurance at lower rates. Commissioners asked staff for information on how the county can comply whth the act, and what the advantages would be.

Vatican Sports Painting Of Mao

Church officials, although obviously chagrined, said it would not be taken down.

It was signed "Carnevali, 1969. Alba." Ianfranco Carnevali, a shop owner, said his father, Luigi, 86 painted the picture last March and added: "Of course it's Mao Tse-tung. My father still has the sketches he worked from to make that picture."

"The painting was sent to us as a gift," said the Vatican press spokesman, Msgr. Fausto Vallainc. "We hung it up. That's all."

Nicasio Lake Park Gets Tentative Nod

The barren shores of Nicasio Lake may become the next park in Marin through the combined efforts of the Marin Real Estate Board and the Marin Coneil Boy Scouts and the blessing of Marin Municipal Water District.

District directors yesterday gave hesitant approval "in principle" — and asked for more information.

Beautifying the shores of the 869-acre lake is the first target of the project, Robert A. Roumiguiere, president of the real estate group, told the board in a letter.

$500 A YEAR

The realtors will provide $500 a year for four years to buy trees and the scouts will do the planting as a community service project.

Eventually, Roumiguiere said, picnic and sanitary facilities could be constructed and other uses, such as hiking trails, nature study and overnight camping, could be established.

He suggested that community organizations and service clubs could sponsor individual picnic areas around the lake.

Roumiguiere reported a master plan will be prepared by landscape architect William Kapranos before any planting is done.

PLANS ASKED

Robert G. Anderson, president of the water district board, worried that the district might not have enough information and emphasized that approval was "in principle" only until definite plans are submitted.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

SALARIES — Granted a 6 per cent across the board salary increase to all employees. The raises will cost the district an extra $99,552 on its annual payroll of $1,659,216.

STEEL PIPE — Received $9,532 as part of a $137,254 settlement in a steel pipe antitrust suit. So far, the district has received $97,421 of its share of the settlement.

EQUIPMENT — Bought two back hoes from Tide Equipment Co. of Houston for $17,150, including deductions for trade-ins.

PROMOTION — Approved a promotion for Barbara Edwards from junior to senior clerk with a $100 month salary increase, over objections from Anderson, who first worried it was a misprint and then thought it was too much "at this time." Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said the employee has the experience and qualifications.

Director William A. Marcus was absent.

LAKE LEVEL SHOOTS UP IN STORM

The torrential weekend storm which cause havoc in most of Marin was warmly welcomed by Marin Municipal Water District whose reservoirs filled with more than 3.5-billion gallons of new water.

The lakes rose as much as 12.6 feet as rainfall at most of them topped the amount received last year by this time.

The total gain for the storm period was 20 per cent of the district's capacity, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger told the board yesterday.

Ginsberg Loses Poetry Battle To Loudspeaker

MIAMI (AP) — A city official who objected to four-letter words in a poetry reading by Allen Ginsberg drowned him out with music on a public address system last night.

An audience of 1,500 at the Miami Marine Stadium gave the 43-year-old New Yorker a standing ovation when he walked off the stage, unable to make himself heard over the amplified melodies.

"It was open use of profanity," declared Mannie Costa, stadium manager. "It was not for one word but for lots of words."

Ginsberg's father Louis, himself a poet of a more orthodox kind, commented: "I don't approve of profanity. But those who don't want to listen can go away."

The younger Ginsberg departed from his prepared reading list and came on with the blue poem critical of the police and military after he was refused permission to have his father and a rock music group on stage with him.

Car Slips Off Jack; Youth Slightly Hurt

John Lundquist, 17, of San Anselmo, escaped with minor injuries last night when a car he was repairing slipped off a jack and fell on him, police reported.

Lundquist, of 8 Elm Court, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut nose and bruises on the neck and forehead.

Sanitary Board Hires Storm Water Study

Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors last bight hired J. Warren Nute, San Rafael sanitary engineer, to study storm water infiltration into the district's sewer lines, President James G. MacNichols reported.

MacNichols said the cost of the six-month study will not exceed $2,500.

Supervisors Interview For New Careers Job

Two Marin County employees are under consideration for the job of coordinator of the New Careers program, whose former director was fired last week after being arrested for possession of suspected heroin.

Interviewed this morning by the board of supervisors behind closed doors were:

James E. Thompson, 31, of Fairfax, a supervising probation officer. He joined the county probation department six years ago as probation officer and won promotion to his current position two years later. When James Soetaert moved up to assistant probation officer. Thompson has a bachelor's degree in psychology from Ohio State University.

William R. Pryor, 28, of Mill Valley, employment consultant with the Department of Public Social services. He has been with the county for three years after working a year as social worker in Humboldt County and as a logger for two years. He has a bachelor's degree in psychology from Reed College in Portland.

The former coordinator, Michael R. James, 28, of Oakland, was fired after two months on the job when San Francisco police arrested him in the Fillmore area on Dec. 8. The heroin was in balloons he was carrying.

Board Chairman John F. McInnis asked county staff to discuss salaries with the two candidates and when they could start work. The coordinator's post pays $984 per month.

McInnis said the supervisors want to hire a new coordinator at once so that program continuity will not be lost.

If Thompson is hired, he may have to take a cut in pay, from his present salary of $1,166 monthly , whereas Pryor, being paid $860 per month, would get a raise.

CONGRESS

Negroes on federally-financed construction projects.

A Senate amendment tacked on to the catch-all appropriation bill would have barred continuation of that program; Nixon termed it unconstitutional and threatened a veto.

The House voted 208-156 to strike the amendment from the bill, and the Senate, weary and ready to quit, finally yielded, too.

In a statement, President Nixon said today:

"I am deeply gratified that the Congress has acted responsibly to allow continuation of the Philadelphia Plan and our program of positive steps to assure equal job opportunity. The members of the Congress who contributed to this wise action have my thanks and congratulations."

Nixon said his administration is determined that "every American should have equal opportunity for new jobs created by the taxes paid by all Americans." He said the right had been "so long denied or given lip service."

Earlier, Senate leaders and budget technicians haggled in the cloakrooms and corridors over the minority employment issue, seeking a way to avoid the threatened veto, a session-prolonging deadlock with the House, or a long debate.

Those prospects could have scuttled the effort to quit before Christmas.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the minority leader, came up with a ploy to undo the snarl.

When Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., called up the amendment that drew the administration opposition, Scott moved to table the measure. That is a parliamentary device which forces an immediate, if indirect, vote on an issue. There can be no debate, and tabling kills the measure involved.

The roll call vote was 39-29 to go along with the House and clear the way for a Christmas holiday.

The appropriations involved were minor, but the bill carried another amendment crucial to the fragile framework with which Congress arranged to end the longest session in six years. That one provides authority for continued spending by government agencies which have not yet received their regular appropriations for the fiscal year which began last June 30.

A veto on the civil rights issue would have killed the spending authority, too, and three major government agencies could not meet their payrolls without it.

The appropriations involved are for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Department of Labor and the foreign aid program. Earlier disputes sidetracked their funds until Congress returns to work.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the $19.9 billion appropriation for health, education and labor programs —which Nixon has threatened to veto also because it exceeds his budget—will be the first order of business when the 91st Congress begins its second session Jan. 19.

Trailer Collision Hurts Novato Woman

Barbara Anne Stahlbaum, 31, of 27 Lawrence Drive, Novato, has been treated at Novato General Hospital for a bruised left shoulder and knee suffered when her car hit a guard rail and trailer on Highway 101 near the Miller Creek overcrossing.

The patrol said she was driving south Sunday and swerved to avoid hitting slowing traffic. She hit the center guard rail, caromed into a trailer being towed by a car driven by Edward Joseph Lupien, 52, of Laytonville, then back into the guard rail. The mishap was at 11:45 a.m.

secution against him had influenced any of his votes in the Senate.

"There is not a scintilla of truth to that," he said.

"We've waited a long, long time," Williams said—but he added the prolonged federal inquiry is not unusual in a "politically sensitive" case.

Williams said he does not know whether the internal Revenue Service has any plan to institute civil proceedings against Dodd, or whether the agency will seek an adjustment of his income tax returns.

Dodd wrily added that he will not use the fund raising dinner system to finance his reelection bid. "I wish I'd never had any," he added.

Dodd faces at least one rival for the Democratic nomination. Joseph Duffy, national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, has declared he plans to run. Another entrant is likely to go into the campaign with backing of the Connecticut Democratic organization.

Williams said the investigation of Dodd's tax returns for the years 1961-65 related to every phase of his economic life." He also said Dodd had waived the statute of limitations with respect to the probe of his tax returns.

Unions To Hold Off On Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department said today four unions involved in a nationwide wage dispute with the railroad industry have pledged not to call any strikes before Jan. 19 when new talks are scheduled.

A spokesman also said the railroad industry had promised it will not try to impose any changes in working conditions during that period.

Negotiators for the four AFL-CIO shop craft unions representing machinists, electricians, sheet metal workers and boilermakers last week rejected a tentative settlement after a vote by union members.

Youth Booked In Car Theft Case

Sausalito and San Francisco police last night arrested a San Francisco man wanted in Sausalito on suspicion of car theft.

Booked at the Hall of Justice was Brian Henry Rutley, also known as Gary Lee DeCoss, 21. He posted $1,792 bail and is to be arraigned at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Sausalito police said he was wanted on a warrant in connection with a November 1968 car theft in Sausalito. He was arrested at the Union Square garage in San Francisco at 7 p.m. yesterday by San Francisco police accompanied by a Sausalito detective.

State Department and the Thai government denied the charges.

A number of Senate critics of the Vietnam War fear U.S. military aid to Thailand and neighboring Laos could result in the United States being dragged into another Vietnam there.

As a result, the Senate voted last week to ban dispatch of American combat troops to the two countries without specific prior congressional approval.

Later in his trip, Agnew visits Australia and New Zealand, countries which were targets of an abortive Senate move to give the President standby authority to impose import quotas. Meat imports from the two countries have been among the main targets of congressional efforts to tighten quotas.

Agnew will be accompanied on the trip by his wife and Apollo 10 astronauts, Eugene Cernan, who will go as far as Bangkok, and Thomas Stafford, who will go the rest of the way.

Here is the itinerary:

Storms Keep Telephone Crews Busy

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has been plagued with twice as many service calls since the start of the storm last week, a spokesman said today, but there has been no serious damage or major interruption of service.

There were 350 calls in Central Marin over the weekend, William A. Chaffin, assistant manager in San Rafael reported.

Falling trees, wet wires and the danger of water getting inside cables were crews' biggest problems, Chaffin said. Men are working longer shifts, he added.

There were about 200 calls in Southern Marin, Steven C. Kanewske, Mill Valley manager, reported. There was only one incident of major interruption Saturday when 50 customers in the Stinson Beach area were without service from midnight until 10 a.m. after a tree sliced through a cable, he said.

All storm-produced trouble should be cleared today, he added.

All-Woman Jury Convicts Four In Holdup Trial

An all-female jury in Marin Superior Court deliberated about 11 hours yesterday before finding four San Francisco men guilty of holding up a bartender at Smitty's Tavern in Sausalito Oct. 17.

At the conclusion of the first trial in Marin's new Hall of Justice at the Civic Center, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner set sentencing for the four men for Jan. 12. All will remain in jail.

They were convicted of robbing Daniel Joseph Salata of $75 at gunpoint. The men were arrested in Millbrae less than three hours after the holdup after an all-points bulletin describing the suspects and their car had been flashed to officers.

Marin Seeks Flood Help From State

Marin supervisors asked Gov. Ronald Reagan today to declare Marin a disaster area because of weekend flooding.

Agreement by Reagan would make the county eligible for state and federal disaster relief.

Supervisor Michael Wornum announced that stores in the Bel Aire shopping center were "virtually wiped out."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he was "amazed" at the extent of the storm damage, particularly in view of the fact that the first phase of the Corte Madera flood control project is completed. Arrigoni asked for a complete report on damages in Ross Valley.

"It is disturbing that we are this far along in the project a still get no relief," he said. He said residential areas should be declared disaster areas, along with county streets and commercial areas.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said Nave shopping area also suffered damage, largely because of drains plugged by mattresses and tires being dumped into creek beds.

Chairman John F. McInnis asked county staff to compile a list of damage in the county and to study possible legislation to clamp down on people who dump debris into creeks.

American proposals were fair, comprehensive and consistent with the resolution the U.N. Security Council voted after the five-day June 1967 war, calling for a solution to the problem.

at the Arabs are enemies of the United States and somehow we are appeasing them," he said. "That isn't true."

The U.S. position, Rogers said, is that it hopes the Mideast rivals can begin negotiating a settlement under the U.N. resolution. As a Security Council member, the United States has a right to put forward suggestions on getting the parties together to work out a solution, he said.

The U.S. proposals for a long term peace between Israel and her neighbors, Egypt and Jordan, envision Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands she took in the 1967 war, some provision for security of her frontiers, help in taking care of Arab refugees and a partial internationalization of Jerusalem.

Novato Sanitary Board Approves Financing Study

A $4,000 study aimed at ways of funding new sewer projects was authorized last night by the Novato Sanitary District board.

The study, to be made following an engineering study of new sewer work, is scheduled for completion in May, according to Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph.

An engineering study by Jenks and Adamson of Palo Alto is now underway to recommend projects required to bring the district's discharge of effluents up to standards required by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board. This study is due the end of next month, Joseph said.

The financial study, by Bartle Wells of San Francisco, will recommend ways of financing projects recommended under the Jenks and Adamson study, Joseph said.

The board also authorized three district plant operators to attend a 44-week course on plant operation to be taught by the City of Santa Rosa and sponsored by the water quality control board under a federal grant.

as the way to peace in the Middle East.

Sir Anthony Eden, now Lord Avon, made the suggestion in an article written for the Daily Express of London. He said Italy and Yugoslavia settled their 1953 dispute over Trieste after eight months of secret talks in London, and this method could serve as a precedent for the Middle East.

THEN MINISTER

Eden was prime minister at the time of the 1956 Suez invasion by British and French and Israeli troops. He resigned after the outcry the invasion raised.

In New York the Big Four U.N. representatives went into session again in their search for a Middle East peace formula acceptable to both Israel and the Arab states.

It was the first session of the ambassadors since the United States last Thursday put forward at the Waldorf Towers apartment of U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost a plan for a Jordanian-Israeli settlement.

Israel rejected two U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace agreement, calling them "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

Relations between Israel and the United States, home of the Jewish nation's chief financial backers, were at their lowest point in years.

REJECTS PROPOSALS

A communique issued after a special session yesterday of Premier Golda Meir's Cabinet said the American proposals for peace between Israel and Jordan and between Israel and Egypt contain nothing obliging the Arabs to end hostilities and would encourage Arab hostility.

The statement said Israel "views with concern the disquieting initiatives of the United States at the four power talks" on the Middle East which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France have been holding in New York and Washington. The Cabinet said Israel will not be the victim of power politics and will reject any attempt to impose a settlement on it.

Mrs. Meir, in an interview with the New York Times after the cabinet session, said the U.S. government was asking Israel "to start all over again, as though it were 1948." She also said Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was not told of the Israeli-Jordanian proposal during his visit to Washington last week although he conferred with Secretary of State William P. Rogers only 30 hours before the plan was submitted to the Big Four in New York.

"It don't think it's Washington's intention," Mrs. Meir said, "but each new proposal only encourages the Arabs to increase their military activity across the borders."

LATEST PROPOSAL

The latest American proposal reportedly calls for Israeli withdrawal from the west bank of the Jordan River, captured during the 1967 war, and Israeli-Jordanian talks on the status of Jerusalem, which Israel unified after taking the Arab sector from Jordan during the 1967 fighting. The United States advocates internationalization of the city, but Israel says it will never give it up.

The earlier proposal for an Israeli-Egyptian settlement called for Israel's withdrawal from Egyptian territory, a "binding" Egyptian commitment to establish peace, and negotiations on the future of Sharm el Sheikh, at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

Political informants said the Israeli cabinet was particularly concerned that the U.S. proposals had no provision for dealing with the Arab guerrillas.

Although they angered the Israelis, the U.S. proposals seemed to do nothing to raise Washington's stock with the Arabs. Egypt rejected the prescription for it, Jordan was silent on the plan for it, and one source at the Arab summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, commented: "America has been against us all along. How do we know this is not some subtle new trick?"

OBITUARIES

Jack Orville Miller Dies

Jack Orville Miller, 69, of Tomales, a retired construction worker, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Washington County, Ark., Miller had lived in Oklahoma for 20 years before coming to California. He had lived in Tomales for 25 years and retired from construction work in 1962.

He is survived by his wife, Carrie; six sons, Wallace E. and Leslie M. Miller of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Jack B. Miller of Phoenix, Ariz.; Ted L. Miller of San Francisco, and Edward W. and Jerry L. Miller of Santa Rosa; a daughter, Shirley A. Miller of Winlock, Wash.; three sisters, Mrs. Judy Ledbetter of San Anselmo, Mrs. Nola Baugh of Oklahoma City, and Audrey Rachel of Citrus Heights, Sacramento County; 27 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

ROY BARBER

Roy L. Barber of Lucas Valley, a retired San Francisco banker, collapsed and died yesterday while dancing at a party at a local retirement home. Barber, 75, had been in failing health for some time.

A native of San Rafael, Barber had lived all his life in the Bay Area and returned to Marin County about 18 years ago, making his home on Lucas Valley Road. He and his wife, Ruth K. Barber, lived in the Loma Alta School, which they had purchased and remodeled into an attractive home.

Prior to his retirement, Barber was employed with the American Trust Co. in San Francisco (now Wells Fargo Bank) and for many years was manager of the company's Savings Union branch on Market Street. He was a Navy veteran of World War I.

He was a member of the Free and Accepted Masons and of Sons In Retirement, a senior citizens organization.

In addition to his wife, Barber is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joan Meyer of Los Altos; a son, Allen R. Barber of Santa Rosa; a sister, Helen MacFarland, and nine grandchildren.

Private funeral was held today in San Rafael.

GEORGE I. HAMMA

George I. Hamma, 56, of 206 Bella Vista Avenue, Belvedere, a San Francisco insurance adjustor, died yesterday at his home, apparently of a heart attack, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

The coroner's report said Hamma's cousin, R. Newell McMullen, who lived with him, heard Hamma fall in his bedroom and found him collapsed on the floor. Hamma had a prior history of heart disease, the coroner's report said.

Born in California, Hamma had lived in Marin County for 20 years. He was employed by the Underwriters adjustment Co. in San Francisco.

He was a member of the Marine Underwriters of San Francisco and the Honorable Order of Blue Goose International, San Francisco Pond, an insurance fraternity.

He also is survived by a half-sister, Frances Schupp and two half-brothers, Robert and Donald Hamma.

Memorial service will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be private. Contributions to a favorite charity are prefered.

ARTHUR FRENGLE

Arthur J. Frengle, 67, a long-time Petaluma barber, died yesterday at a Santa Rosa hospital after a years illness.

A native of Chicago, he moved to Cotati as a child and to Petaluma in 1927. A barber for 45 years, he had operated a shop in the former Continental Hotel building and eight years ago opened Art's Barber shop in Liberty Street. He sold the shop and retired two months ago.

Fengle, of 26 Liberty Street, was a member of the Barbers Union, Petaluma Local 419.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; a daughter, Mrs. Clarice Vyenielo of Petaluma; a sister, Mrs. Marie Mattson of Petaluma; a brother, Herbert Frengle of Hillsboro, Ore.; and six grandchildren.

Funeral is pending at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

DANIEL LAMBERTI

Daniel David Lamberti, 64, operator of the Arnold Palmer Putting Course in San Rafael, collapsed and died in the golf course office yesterday afternoon.

The coroner's office said death came from an apparent heart attack about 30 minutes before Lamberti's body was found at 4:25 p.m. by George W. Moore of San Rafael.

Lamberti, of 1400 Lincoln Avenue, Apartment 5, was a retired Air Force master sergeant. A native of Staten Island, N.Y., he had lived in California 12 years and in Marin six years. He had run the putting course at 55 Vivian Way for two years.

He was a member of Morton Lodge No. 63, Free and Accepted Masons of Hampstead, N.Y., Long Island Scottish Rite Bodies of Rockville Center, N.Y. and the Islam Temple Shrine.

Lamberti is survived by his wife, Kathleen.

Funeral will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be at Staten Island, N.Y.

LEWIS ROUNDTREE

Lewis Allen Roundtree, 78, a Petaluma resident for four years, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in Boistfort, Wash., he worked as a lumberjack in that area for several years and moved to Oklahoma in 1920. In 1941 he moved to California and worked as a ranch foreman in Yuba and Sutter counties.

In 1942 Roundtree returned to Washington and the lumber industry as a millwright for the Scott lumber Co. He retired in 1964 and moved to Petaluma.

Roundtree was a member of the International Wood Workers of America and Santa Rosa Moose Lodge 358.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Ruby Bond of Chico, Mrs. Nora Cunningham and Mrs. Juanita Howard, both of Santa Rosa; a son, Martin Roundtree of Chico; a stepdaughter, Evelyn Kettenring of Seattle, Wash.; two stepsons, Ralph Baucom of Los Angeles and Merle Cox of Toledo, Wash.; two sisters, Mrs. Addie Highnote of Chimacum, Wash., and Mrs. Agnes Keller of Centralia, Wash.; 26 grandchildren

Funeral was held today at the Sorensen funeral home, Petaluma. Burial will be tomorrow at the Green Acres Memorial Gardens, Bloomington, San Bernadino County.

No 'Stand Out'

LONDON (AP) — A man suspected of crime in Britain must not "stand out" on being put on a police identification parade — by being unshaven, for example. The Home Office issued this order to police in a review of procedure at identification parades.

Wall Street Tax Selling Takes Over

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market today gave way to normal year-end selling pressures in the absence of motivating news. Trading was fairly active.

Turnover exceeded 13,000,000 shares, about a million shares ahead of yesterday's pace.

Of the 1,639 issues crossing the tape, 956 declined and 416 advanced.

Electronics encountered considerable pressure although there were a number of point-sized losers in other major groups. Among the most active stocks were Household Finance, Gulf Oil, Great Western Financial, City Investing, American Telephone, Occidental Petroleum, and Magnavox. Magnavox traded an early block of 93,900 shares at 34 off 5-8.

IBM, off 6 yesterday, continued to lose ground, while General Dynamics was among the softest aerospace issues. General Dynamics is the principal contractor for the F-111 swingwing jet which the Air Force grounded following a crash this week.

Chemicals ranged to more than a point lower in a few instances, with steels, motors and rails generally traded in narrow ranges.

Airlines, conglomerates and gold mining shares traded in small ranges and without a definite pattern. But the oil group ranged to more than a point or so in each direction.

Plastic Boom

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Plastics production in Holland in 1968 totaled 546,000 metric tons, compared with 372,000 tons in 1967 and 294,000 tons in 1966.

NOT FOR FANCY BISCUITS

Shane Huestoh holds intricate "biscuits" — anodes for magnetron tubes — fresh from the automated brazing oven at Raytheon Co.'s microwave and power tube division at Waltham, Mass. The anodes are key part of magnetron tubes that generate microwave energy for instant cooking of food in oven manufactured by Amana Refrigation, Inc., a Raytheon subsidiary.

Germany Enjoys Investment Boom

BONN (UPI)—Private investment abroad by West Germans is starting to boom, but most of the increase is going into other European industrial nations instead of to developing areas.

Investment in Europe tripled during 1968, but investment in developing areas remained at about the previous year's level, according to the Institute of German Industry.

Direct private investment abroad by West Germans in 1968 totalled 1,572,000 marks ($393 million), a jump of 59.3 per cent over 1967.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Dana Corp. A Good Long Term Purchase

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Several years ago I bought Dana Corp. at 26½ (adjusted for a 2-for-1 split). What can you tell me about this stock? — J. S.

A. Dana, an automotive parts producer, is what is known as a cyclical stock. These issues fluctuate in conjunction with business cycles and generally command a lower multiple of earnings. Dana earned $2.52 in the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, but sells at only 9x this figure.

Investors, anticipating a recessionary economy in the early part of 1970, are simply unwilling at this juncture to pay more for an issue that might be held back under these conditions.

However, Dana, because of its product mix, is not as vulnerable as some parts suppliers. An approximate breakdown of sales shows almost half of its output going to truck manufacturers for original equipment and only one-quarter to passenger car makers. About one-fifth of its dollar volume is from the expanding and profitable replacement parts business.

Particularly promising is Dana International which has produced a 30 per cent compounded annual growth rate in the past four years. Foreign operations are expected to continue strong in the next several years. A generous yield and above-average potential combine to make Dana an attractive long-term holding.

Q. Can you possibly explain why Southern California Edison's original participating preferred consistently sells for less than the common? It would seem to me it should always be as good, and better in a depression.—C.W.

A In theory this is true, but given the unique and conflicting factors now influencing the bond and stock markets, this has not been borne out. With high-grade bonds now being issued bearing 9 per cent and better rates, income investors are upgrading their portfolios from preferreds to bonds.

This tends to counteract the effects a recessionary economy would usually have on trading levels. In a manner of speaking, though, the preferred has been stronger than the common. Common shares have declined 28 per cent this year, while the participating preferred has given up only 14 per cent.

Plastic Furniture

NEW YORK (UPI)—Plastics have become a hot item in the furniture industry. By 1980, plastics may even displace wood as the number one material used in manufacture of furniture, according to Stauffer Chemical Company.

7-11 Food Store In Tam Valley Is Now Under New Management

New franchise owners of the 7-11 Food Store at 371 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, which from my observation seems to be one of the busiest stores of this chain in Marin, are Carl and Mary Harrison of Terra Linda.

They formerly operated a store in Fairfield. Previous franchise owners Wayne and Mary Kite have opened a delicatessen in Petaluma.

New district manager named by the Southland Corp. for the 35 franchised Seven-Eleven Stores in the North Bay district, which comprises Marin, Sonoma, Solano and Napa Counties is Leslie Cunningham of Healdsburg.

ROBERT N. THALMAN of San Rafael, head of First Western Bank's electronic data processing center in Northern California, has been promoted to vice president. Before joining the bank in 1963 he was associated with the Radio Corp. of America service center and with a New York brokerage firm as security analyst.

Miss Robeson

MARY ROBSON is new beauty and fashion director of Holiday Magic, Inc., San Rafael. The position is newly created and brings her to the San Rafael headquarters from the eastern United States whers she was senior director of training. Before joining Holiday Magic in 1965 she was a buyer for a New York fashion store.

GLENN C. BASSETT JR. of Tiburon, senior vice president, international division, of Wells Fargo Bank, has been named 1970-71 president of the San Francisco chapter of Pan American Society. He joined the bank in 1956.

Tom Gaona of Fairfax, account executive with Compton Advertising, Inc., San Francisco, has been appointed to coordinate information programs and publicity for the society for the coming year.

RICHARD S. TAYLOR of Mill Valley has been appointed a corporate vice president of the Reynold C. Johnson Co., with responsibility for the company's business management department. He is an 18-year veteran in the automobile business. Before joining Johnson (Volkswagen distributor for Northern California, northern Nevada and Utah) in 1962 he served as regional manager for Volvo Distribution, Inc.

ALAN LAKEIN of Mill Valley, a specialist in San Francisco in time management, will again schedule one of his one-day seminars for businessmen (on making better use of their time) each month through the first half of 1970. These are being held both at the University of California Extension in San Francisco and at the Sheraton Palace Hotel.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA EXTENSION'S "Continuing Education in Management" seminars, lecture programs and evening classes on varied business topics for the winter quarter start Jan. 5.

One-day seminar topics include insurance for the small business, managerial obsolescence and organizational change, pension and profit sharing plan fundamentals, risk management and income tax shelter benefits of real estate investments. There are several longer seminars. Multilecture programs include estate planning, business management, land investment, communications and human relations.

A large number of evening classes covering accounting to administrative training for secretaries is being scheduled. Winter bulletin may be secured from the Berkeley campus or the Extension Center in San Francisco.

REAL ESTATE: Two new additions to the sales staff of Robert A. Lindskog, San Rafael, are Martin P. Bruton of Fairfax and Joseph Howard Say of Mill Valley. Before starting out in real estate last March, Bruton was eight years as sales trainer for General Electric Co. Say has been in real estate about the same length of time and was previously in stocks and bonds with Burnham and Co., San Francisco. They met in real estate school.

Backing Of Morals Attack Rejected

Backed by almost unanimous, sometimes angry audience opposition, the Fairfax City Council last night decided 3-2 against supporting Carl J. Brown's attack on the nation's morals.

Only Mayor Francis J. O'Connell and Councilman Robert R. Souza favored supporting the statement made by the San Rafael Board of Education member at a board meeting Dec. 9.

"You refused to even recognize the Vietnam moratorium, argued George R. Weddleton of 18 Kent Avenue. "You're doing the same thing you're always saying you won't do."

Glen Dines, an author, wondered why the council should support Brown's statement and O'Connell replied the "school people will come before the city council for support of their bond issue."

"I feel very strongly about what Carl wrote," O'Connell continued, maintaining that Brown, a teacher and coach at Sir Francis Drake High School, had put the issue on a local basis.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson argued the main target of the article was long hair and the controversy over coaches being able to regulate the length of athletes' hair.

"I don't think the city council should jump into the middle of the hair controversy," agreed Councilman Frank J. Egger.

Josh Roth of 180 Bothin Road suggested, "If you want to comment, why don't you go to one of their (the school district's) P-TA meetings?"

If the council insists on endorsing Brown's statement, Roth said, it should include both sides.

Cameron Wilson, son of the councilman, commented, "You're trying to show you're concerned about the moral decay in the U.S. Many people in Fairfax believe Vietnam also causes moral decay."

Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet urged reading Brown's original statement, not just the report in the Independent-Journal, before making a decision.

However, O'Connell was eager to vote last night and Weddleton also urged an immediate decision. "It would show a lot of people where some of the council members are," he said.

Industrial Lot To Be Studied

An application for a 10-lot industrial subdivision on Francisco Boulevard near the Marin Rod and Gun Club will be considered at 7:30 p.m. today by the San Rafael Planning Commission at city hall.

The commission will also review a reported lack of andscaping at the Mission Branch of the San Rafael Post Office and consider an application to reaise the Holiday Inn sign 10 feet.

Also on the agenda is an application for a McDonald's Drive-In at 2110 Fourth Street.

St. Vincent's Party

The San Rafael Rotary Club yesterday entertained 45 boys and staff from St. Vincent's School for Boys, Marinwood, at a Christmas party. The San Rafael High School stage band provided music and a woman Santa Claus distributed Christmas gifts.

Bennett Loses Suit To Regain State Job

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — William M. Bennett, former California public utilities commissioner from Kent Woodlands, has lost a court test of his claim that he was entitled to his old job as a deputy attorney general.

Superior Court Judge Charles S. Peery ruled yesterday that Bennett had been out of his attorney general post too long to exercise his right to return to it.

The law allows mandatory reinstatement only if an employee "shall return to his former (civil service) position within four years after vacation his former position," Peery noted.

But Bennett, the judge said, left the position in 1959 to join the PUC, thus had "been out of civil service for a period of approximately 10 years."

Bennett, a Democrat, was not reappointed to the PUC last January by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He then applied to Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch for his old job. When Lynch turned him down, Bennett sued.

San Franciscan Is Injured In Accident

Elsie Carson, 60, of San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for head bruises and a broken arm suffered when the car in which she was riding slid into a rock embankment on the Lincoln Avenue ramp to Highway 101 in San Rafael.

The California Highway Patrol said the car in the 10:45 a.m. accident was driven by Barbara Nicholson Harbinson, 36, of 2 Shanley Lane, Ross.

$1 Million Courthouse Drive Opens

Mrs. Roger Olmsted of Kentfield today launched a campaign to form a committee of 1,000, each of whom would give $1,000 toward purchase of the Marin County Courthouse for conversion into a "Center for Experimental Education and Human Resources."

Mrs. Olmsted announced the San Francisco Foundation has agreed to serve as receiving foundation for funds for the project.

She hopes the committee through the foundation, will be successful bidder for the courthouse property when it is put up for public sale by the county supervisors on Feb. 10.

The $1 million she hopes to raise through the committee would more than meet the $750,000 minimum price set by the supervisors. A bid of $750,000 has been entered by an as-yet-unidentified developer.

Additional money would be used to do whatever remodeling and structural strengthening proves necessary to make the courthouse and its annex useable, Mrs. Olmsted said.

She pointed out that gifts to the San Francisco Foundation for the purchase would be tax-deductible. The foundation's address is 425 California Street, San Francisco.

Mrs. Olmsted has proposed that the property be used for a school for both children and adults offering studies not usually found in the public schools, a research center on Marin history, and a preventive medical center. It might also include a library branch, she suggested.

Balcony Plan Denied To Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Board of Design last night rejected plans by Terres A. Ronneberg of 38 Mariner Green Drive to build a balcony and enclose the existing deck at his residence.

The board felt the balcony would infringe on neighbor's privacy, reported Town Clerk Betty S. Behel.

Fairfax Clears Way For A Youth Panel

Seeking to end an hour-long, fruitless discussion — second this month — on the possibility of forming a youth commission, the Fairfax City Council last night agreed to let young people work on plans and goals for such a group.

The council first discussed a commission Dec. 8 and agreed then to ask young people to attend a meeting. About a dozen turned out last night and Mayor Francis J. O'Connell commented, "I don't think it shows much enthusiasm."

He asked repeatedly, "What exactly do you want?" and the young people answered as often that they didn't know and that they were unable to speak for all Fairfax teen-agers.

Teen-ager Josh Rogh of 180 Bothin Road, although objecting that a youth commission would have no real power, said, "There can be a lot for a lot of kids."

Lee Nelder, an adult, of 241 Marinda Drive, said he believed the main problem was lack of recreation but noted that Little League, Pop Warner League and basketball league teams were available to the young people.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson maintained a youth commission would be far more than recreation — "They should be involved in the total picture."

Several young people suggested they get together before the next meeting to come up with something definite and O'Connell readily agreed, commenting on the lack of progress in the second hour of talks.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

SMOKING — Postponed a decision on outlawing smoking in the Pavilion as requested by the parks and recreation commission to protect the floor after several persons worried it would mean young peopel would want to go in and out at dances.

PARK USE — Sent back to the parks and recreation commission a proposal to make it the official group to decide on permitting use of the park after dark. Currently the city clerk is charged with the responsibility. The council asked for a study of rules governing park and pavilion use day and night.

TITLE SEARCH — Approved spending $300 for a preliminary title search on the city park, preparatory to development of a master plan, although City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said he doesn't believe it is needed now.

TOOLS — Opposed the increase in commute books prices on the Golden Gate Bridge.

Emergency Action On Refuse Rates

The Fairfax City Council last night adopted an emergency ordinance setting new rates for refuse collection, effective when the burning ban begins Jan. 1.

The rate per collection for an additional permanent 32-gallon can will be 40 cents in both flat and hilly areas of the city. Formerly the rate was 25 cents in the flat area and 50 cents in the hill area.

The rate per collection for rubbish and dry waste in disposable containers such as boxes or plastic bags will be 35 cents in the flat zone and 40 cents in the hill zone. The disposable containers must be placed at the curb.

Albert E. Gately, chairman of the planning commission, protested making the additional service optional, asking instead for a flat rate for all with unlimited collection.

"If you do not do it, you're going to have it (refuse) in the creek," he warned.

The council agreed to review the rates and possible illegal dumping in six months.

Alarm System

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Post Office, which runs the telephone service, says it has perfected a system of "secret alarms" to detect hooligans damaging equipment in public phone booths.

Nixons Plan A Family Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon are planning a private family dinner for Christmas Day, joined only by daughter Tricia and Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the former president.

The Nixons' younger daughter, Julie, and husband David Eisenhower are in Belgium visiting David's parents, Ambassador and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

Constance Stuart, Mrs. Nixon's staff director, said there will be no guests at the Christmas dinner, but the President and Mrs. Nixon will call a few friends to extend season's greetings.

Weapons Stolen In Corte Madera

A burglar stole three rifles, two handguns and a shotgun yesterday after prying open a sliding glass door at the residence of Barry Baldwin, 246 Summit Drive, Corte Madera police reported.

The guns were valued at $670. Taken were a 9-millimeter Browning pistol, a .300 Savage lever-action rifle, a Winchester model 12 shotgun, a Browning 7-millimeter magnum automatic rifle, a Ruger .41 caliber revolver and a .22 Winchester automatic rifle with a Browning telescopic sight. The burglar entered between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., police said.

Increase In Vandalism Spurs Plans

Increasing vandalism to trees and landscaping, including the theft of Christmas trees, led trustees of the Sausalito-Marin-City Sanitary District last night to take steps to increase security at its main plant, board President Cyril G. Hansen reported today.

Hansen said the board discussed installation of a burglar alarm system at the plant, which is in Fort Baker just outside the Sausalito city limits, and also authorized plant operator William C. Dabner to install new lighting in the plant's parking area.

The Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District board also:

ELECTION — Reelected Hansen as president and retained Edwin S. Long as board secretary.

BIDS — Rejected three bids, the lowest at $5,700, to repair a sewer line between Richardson Street and the Main Street pumping station. The work has been estimated to cost $3,500.

WHISKEY SPRINGS — Began study of sewer and water requirements of the planned apartment development on the old American Distillery grounds.

TRANSFER — Passed a resolution transferring $8,800 from the district's general fund to pay interest on outstanding bonds in 1970.

The Average Pot Smoker Conventional

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The average marijuana smoker in San Francisco is a "reasonably conventional" adult, say two sociologists who interviewed a random sample of 1,104 persons between the ages of 18 and 80.

Marijuana smoking is far more than just a social activity of wayward young people, concluded Dr. Glen Mellinger and Dean Manheimer, who operate Family Research Services in Berkeley.

The year-long survey, concluded in 1968 and released yesterday reported that 143 of the persons interviewed had smoked marijuana and that 33 of them had tried the mind-bending drug LSD.

Comparing the percentages with the entire San Francisco population over 18, which totals 580,000, the survey would indicate that 71,000 persons have tried marijuana and 17,000 have tried LSD.

The survey did not tally how often persons smoked marijuana, only whether they had ever tried it. The marijuana question was only one of many mental health queries in the interviews, the pollsters said.

Only San Francisco residents were interviewed. A similar survey is under way in Contra Costa County.

The pollsters found, in interviews averaging 90 minutes for each of the 1,104, that those in the 18-to-34 age group were more likely to have smoked marijuana.

Marijuana was more popular, the survey showed, among heavy drinkers and heavy smokers, single women living away from home and persons willing to accept medication, such as a tranquilizer, from a friend rather than solely from a doctor.

Marijuana smoking was likely to occur, the pollsters said, among people who were born outside the United States, do not drink or smoke, and those who have strong religious ties.

From the results, Manheimer and Mellinger drew this profile of the average marijuana smoker in San Francisco:

They claim some religious ties, smoked less than a pack of ordinary cigarettes a day, were not heavy drinkers, were employed, were neither very hedonistic nor given to self-denial and seemed "reasonably conventional."

Results of the survey, conducted for the Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute at the University of California Medical School with funds from the U.S. Public Health Service, were published in the December issue of Science, a technical journal.

'There Is No China Problem —The Problem Is Taiwan'

The Christmas season is a time when we give more than usual thought to those who, for whatever reason, suffer from injustice, from ignorance, from poverty.

We think of the starving children of Biafra, of the unfortunate civilians in South Vietnam who are victimized by armies of both sides, and of the fact that even our own government has never really done right by the Indians.

There are, of course, many others in the world who suffer because of one form or another of repression or denial.

THE PLIGHT of one such people to whom Americans have given scarcely a thought was called to our attention by an "appeal to members of the United Nations" which came in the mail.

It came from the United Formosans in America for Independence. It is particularly timely because it was just 20 years ago this month that the Chinese Nationalists under Chiang Kai-shek took over the island of Formosa and transformed it overnight into "Nationalist China."

Chiang's armies in Southern China had collapsed before the advance of communist forces from the north. The crowning blow was the defection to the Reds of some 40,000 Nationalist troops in Yunnan province.

Chiang, his government, and the remains of his army fled to Formosa (Taiwan), a big island about 100 miles off the China coast — after first dispatching the government's gold abroad in U. S. Air Force planes. Some two million Chinese loyal to Chiang also took refuge there to escape the communists.

With the protection of the United States, Chiang and these Chinese have since remained undisturbed on Formosa — renamed "Nationalist China."

FORMOSA, HOWEVER, did not become part of Chiang's China until the World War II settlement after the defeat of Japan. Over the centuries it had been under the rule, in turn, of Spain, the Netherlands, China and Japan — with a brief period of independence in the 17th Century. The Japanese won it in the Sino-Japanese War of 1895.

Its residents — before Chiang and his followers arrived — were predominantly descendants of Chinese who fled there to oppose the Manchu emperors in the 17th Century, plus aboriginal inhabitants of Indonesian origin.

THE UNITED FORMOSANS in America for Independence declare in their "appeal":

"When Chiang Kai-shek and the remnants of his army fled to Taiwan . . . (they) quickly imposed their control over the 12 million Taiwanese and Taiwan was converted into one of the most efficient and horrifying police states of the post-war period. What Chiang calls free China is in fact an artificially created government staffed by Chinese Nationalist exiles. . . .

"Denied a government of their own, the genuine aspirations and interests of the 12 million Taiwanese are too often forgotten and neglected. . . .

"There is, in fact, no China problem. China exists as a communist state on the Mainland. The real problem is Taiwan. . . .

"Taiwan is neither free nor China, and the Taiwanese people have no desire to be part of China. . . . It must be free and independent."

SO, IN A SEASON when we feel most keenly concerns for our fellow men, perhaps we should consider the plight of people whose identity has been submerged in that of "Nationalist China."

It is but another facet of the unrealistic China policy of the United States.

Facts To Support Implications Needed

These sly implications is one of the reasons we have Reagan for governor. Does it all boil down to the coaches and long hair? Speak up, man. You have our eyes, ears and our undivided attention. Tell us coach, is it the long hair, if not then what is it? Some facts please.

Sample Of What's Deplored In Schools

I, for one, would appreciate your giving us a look, similar to that of Carl Brown (who gets our vote) in the I-J, Dec. 15. I suggest that a sample of what Mr. Brown deplores is contained in the article on page 6 of the Dec. 15 issue relating to the events at the Old Mill School. Is it necessary to have a poorly groomed group of 18-year olds from Antioch College, Ohio, posed as examples to our 6-year olds? They have these children deciding what they will learn, and disciplining themselves and each other. We will have trouble getting the next generation down out of the trees.

We Need To Be Neighbor's Keeper

Re: your article, Page 3, Dec. 15, "27 Burglaries During Last Week."

To me it seems that things have come to a pretty pass, when a person cannot leave his home locked and unattended without having it broken into. I speak from experience as I have been burglarized four times in the last four months. . . .

First, it seems that the drug situation is the cause for most of the burglaries, enough has been said about this and I say no more.

Second: I feel that the sheriff's office has not been given the cooperation that it should have, both from the citizens of Marin County and those whose responsibility it is to prosecute those who have been apprehended redhanded. It has come to my attention that there have been good men who have left the sheriff's office because after risking their lives to apprehend a criminal he has been released for some minor technicality or lack of cooperation from those whose duty it is to prosecute. These criminals will go right back to what they were doing before.

May I make a suggestion? If every resident will notify his close neighbors that this situation exists and if he sees any strange activities at his neighbor's, strange people ringing door beils, unfamiliar trucks parked in driveways, etc., notify the local police or the sheriff's office immediately. . .

We all seem to be a little apathetic about these things until they happen to us. . . .

A classic example of this apathy is a recent case where a truck backed up to a home, completely stripped it while the lady next door worked in her garden and observed the whole operation, but did not report it.

Expresses Thanks To Carl Brown

The undersigned would like to express thanks to Mr. Carl J. Brown for his wonderful message which appeared in the Independent-Journal Dec. 10. Those who know me real well know of my interest in schools and athletics.

I also want to say that the editorial which appeared in the Independent-Journal Monday, Dec. 15 supporting Mr. Carl Brown was excellent.

I congratulate you and hope everyone reads it.

Student Complains Of School Coverage

I would really like to know what you have against San Rafael High School. We get the world's worst sports coverage — while Terra Linda, Redwood, etc. — get a half page (at least) every day.

Not only do we get poor sports coverage; our homecoming queen candidates were so blurred together in your picture that they weren't even recognizable — even to close friends.

Also: when we do get good coverage, it is only to tell the world about the latest marijuana arrest, for example; hence our name — "hippie high."

Why don't you try to tell more about our good things, such as; our spirit at the football games, our cleaning up our school after Novato made a mess out of it (students got out in the pouring rain to do so), and our hard work on our homecoming floats — just to name a few; rather than "headlines" about a few students who get into trouble: . . .

Forget Bonds, Taxes; Permissiveness Does

I'm glad to see that a courageous teacher like Carl J. Brown has finally spoken out. It's nice to know that we don't have to vote for school bonds and tax increases. My conscience rests at ease. Forget about teacher pay raises. Let the overcrowded classes continue. We don't need those extra school supplies and equipment. We have him now. Permissiveness.

This revelation will bring us joy. We don't have to deal with the real problems in the world. We have made our own world. But, sometime soon the real world will make itself known. At that time, no such easy outs will be available.

Parking Troubles Ahead: Another Reason For Mass Transportation

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Hard to park this Christmas week?

You're just caught in the sort of jam that will be a daily affair in a few years. Christmas will be the time of year when you will have to leave your car at home to go shopping.

Or you will pay a hefty fee to park if you still are able to insist that where you go, so goes your car.

The signs are everywhere that the crunch is on. We paid $2.50 to park just for dinner the other night. And shoppers in some Los Angeles supermarkets have to whiz through their buying to beat the markets' half-hour limit on free parking.

KEEP IN MIND that the number of cars registered in the nation, now about 100 million, is expected to go up 50 per cent in no more than 15 years.

This also will mean the cost of parking downtown will continue to soar. Commuters now pay $300 to $1,000 a year to shed their cars during work in major cities.

Columnist Sylvia Porter reports the parking industry estimate that $9 billion will be spent in the next decade building new parking spaces. And she notes that your car is parked an average of more than 95 per cent of the time.

It all adds up to one more good reason to end the national mania for the private car, expecially in urban areas.

COLLEGE STUDENTS should have reached the point in their intellectual development where they can be entrusted to exercise some free judgment. But our assumption was jarred recently by a College of Marin student who asked us for help on his assignment.

He said he was supposed to show how big business tends to undermine the bay-saving role of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

What disturbed us was that he was not asked to determine if this were the case, but rather was expected to swallow his instructor's bias. Why couldn't the student have been given the chance to study the matter on his own, so he could reach an independent conclusion?

CALIFORNIA'S economy has been enriched by a rich flow of aerospace contracts. The extent of the flow, as spelled out in a report by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, is staggering.

This decade alone, NASA has pumped $10.961 billion in prime contracts into California. To put this in perspective, New York placed second with $2.632 billion.

Other states, however, have started to cut into California's dominance, and we got only 34.1 per cent of the prime contracts last fiscal year. This was the lowest share this decade, down from a peak of more than 45 per cent in fiscal 1965.

Bitter Christmas In Vietnam For Forgotten American Soldiers

WASHINGTON — This will surely be the bleakest of Christmases to those Americans who carry the rifle in Vietnam — but let them know at least that there are those among us who have not forgotten them and never will.

It is no longer chic — or even permissible, in some circles — to wave the flag. Still, it is not yet an indictable offense to salute those men across the world who have fought so brave and so lonely a fight with so little honor from a country whose loudest politicians and shrillest commentators are so busily engaged in demeaning them and the cause in which they serve.

The doughs, the dogfaces, the G.I. Joes might well be pardoned if it appeared to them that we back here were so preoccupied with the alleged excesses somewhere of a possibly combat-maddened handful of soldiers that we had no compassion or thought to spare for the hundreds of thousands whose quiet and dogged gallantry has had no parallel in all the history of warfare.

IT IS AN "unpopular war," as one can hear every day from New Left senators whose "sensitivity" is so often self-proclaimed and whose concern for those who die in war stops so oddly short of these, our own troops, so it is that one must wonder whether the forward lines in Vietnam can hope for a single Christmas remembrance apart from that of the President and those from immediate next of kin here at home.

Perhaps not. But history has a long memory and it may yet come about that self-sacrifice and duty done in this war will be no badge of un-hip disgrace in the years ahead. And let them know, too, that it was not ever thus and that, as an impossible square English writer called Dickens once observed, there are also such things as the ghosts of Christmas past and future.

ONE MAN recalls a Christmas of 26 years ago, when other American troops stood far from home in the wet and special blackness of an English wintertime while their superior officers in a headquarters called Cossack were making the plan for the invasion of occupied France. We, too, were gone away; but, so achingly unlike the generation of infantrymen now in Vietnam, we had a united nation at our backs and we had the glowing, the unforgettable, privilege of the remembrance of those who had stayed here at home.

So it was that in England then no man could really be alone on Christmas Eve. Every material thing was in short supply — and most of all whiskey. But every material thing (and every spiritual thing, too), however scanty, was shared out gladly from man to man, and for that matter from English civilian to American soldier. And so all through the enveloping darkness there shone the great light of comradeship and shared hope that is so poignantly denied today to those who stand alone in Vietnam.

WHAT WE HAVE done to these, the least of us in terms of privilege, of comfort and of elementary compassion withheld, will stain our heritage for generations to come. This it will surely do, irrespective of history's ultimate verdict upon the wisdom of the war itself. For these, the non-"kids" who have borne the ghastly burden of our first action-at-arms ever to be refused even the pity of so many of the unengaged, will at length present us with a moral bill for which no repayment can ever be made.

The season of Christmas is no time for recriminations; but one observer cannot forbear a single remark that is no doubt bare of charity: I, for one, should not like to carry on my conscience the awareness that in opposing a war policy made by high authority I had curled my lip, as many a famous dove has done, at the poor, bloody infantry that had to carry the load.

Restive Army In Chile Threatens Old Stability

By PHIL NEWSOM
Foreign News Analyst

Chile, with an unbroken record of political stability over 130 years, is experiencing some of the same discontent which already has let to military takeovers among its three nearest neighbors, Argentina, Bolivia and Peru.

"The presidential candidates would do well to ask themselves 'will there be a presidential election in 1970?'", remarked Chile's foremost political analyst, Luis Hernandez Parker, on a recent television forum.

CHILE'S presidential elections are scheduled for next September, with seven candidates in the field.

Five of those are on the political left which generally believes that President Eduardo Frei Montalva's reforms, notably land and Chileanization of the copper mines, have not gone far or fast enough. A sixth is former President Jorge Alessandri, running under the banner of a new center grouping called the National party.

The seventh is the nominee of Frei's own Christian Democratic party, former ambassador to Washington, Radomiro Tomic.

The fragmented left is not given much chance and most of the voters are expected to lean toward either Alessandri or Tomic. That is, if the elections are held.

DOUBTS BEGAN to arise with the Oct. 31 revolt of the Tacna regiment stationed in Santiago. Fourteen civilians were killed in the 22-hour uprising which its leader, Gen. Roberto Viaux, declared was not an uprising against the government but a demand for higher pay and a change in the high command.

Although Viaux won on both counts and has become a hero of the army, Frei took the occasion to proclaim that "Chile has given the world a lesson in democracy. The world knows that in Chile the people do not tolerate coups d'etat.

Since then the government has displayed its own nervousness by declaring a state of siege and early this month by ordering new internal security measures after rumors of secret meetings among army officers.

AMONG CHILE'S civilian population there are rightwing forces which frankly favor a military coup.

Others declare themselves fed up with chronic inflation which this year comes to about 30 per cent and what they call the bombastic propaganda of the reformist Frei government. Among still others there is a growing climate of indifference, of cynicism toward parties and elections, fueled by the frustration of under-development.

If either Tomic or Alessandri should win the election, neither would attempt to turn back the clock on land reform or the Chileanization of copper. Tomic, seeking an opening to the left, probably would hasten its pace. But it is the restive army that holds the key.

The trouble with most folks, after all, ain't that they're ignorant. They just know too goldurn many things that ain't so. — Josh Billings.

Rolling Stones' Aftermath Still Reverberating In Sonoma County

Any unusual winds whipping through Marin on Dec. 6 were probably caused by the collective sigh of relief from Sonoma County when the Rolling Stones' rock extravaganza was moved to Altamont Raceway.

The prospect of having 300,000 rock lovers streaming into the southern portion of the county added up to headache No. 1 for all public officials.

The California Highway Patrol headquarters at Santa Rosa had not been informed of the planned Saturday onslaught until the morning before and was stunned by the prospect of preparing for the gigantic crowd in less than 24 hours.

WHILE ALAMEDA County had the primary headaches, the reverberations are still being felt through Sonoma County offices.

Displeasure with the Sears Point Raceway and the very thought of how close the county came to suffering the destructive forces is still very much felt.

On Monday the county board of zoning adjustments has scheduled a 3:25 p.m. discussion of the auto racetrack and lists the item on the agenda as an informal consideration of use permit conditions.

The discussion may result in tightening the conditions for the track in an attempt to bar any future consideration for using it for a rock festival. That action would no doubt please the board of supervisors, which has asked the county counsel's office to study what measures can be taken to ward against future threats.

Constitutionally, it could be difficult to legislate against large gatherings. The right to free assembly in the constitution doesn't contain a clause excluding rock concerts from the provisions. (Although, had the founding fathers been at Altamont, it might have been included.)

IS PETALUMA ready for another try at topless dancing? Could be. A local restaurant-bar that tried it five years ago found it highly unsuccessful and moved the business to Santa Rosa.

Now persons with raised eyebrows report another tavern is thinking of giving the lure of bare breasts a try, but whether the city council will stand for it is another question.

At a breakfast meeting with state Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka, Councilman Fred V. Mattei suggested that the legislature should take some action to ban the topless operations.

Collier, who said he grows more liberal with age, was of the opinion that morals cannot be legislated. He noted that his hometown has many taverns and jokingly boasted that he had been in all of them. Matti took the rebuff well, but will probably lead the opposition against topless if it does make a return visit.

Maybe they'll schedule a council study session at the topless bar. If the courts can do it, the council certainly should be game for a try.

Army Claiming Drainage Ditch Responsibility

Responsibility for opening a College Park drainage ditch to the Corte Madera Creek flood control channel was the Army's, not Marin County's, the Army Corps of Engineers agreed yesterday.

An access road along the channel blocked drainage Saturday morning and contributed to flooding in College Park, residents complained.

An Army spokesman initially said clearing the drainage mouth was the county's responsibility as "interior drainage" not part of the Army project. A check later, however, showed the Army had agreed to leave a 600-foot gap in the flood levee at College Park to allow runoff of floodwaters coming from upstream where the project is not finished.

The access road was built over the ditch mouth so dump trucks of the contractor, Elmer J. Freethy Co., could reach a disposal area. The ditch mouth was opened Saturday afternoon.

Peace Vigil Is Slated Tomorrow

A "Christmas vigil for peace", sponsored by the Mill Valley Moratorium Committee, will be held at 9:30 p.m. tomorrow in Old Mill Park.

The vigil will include a candlelighting ceremony, carols, prayers led by Mill Valley clergymen, and sharing of concerns in the Quaker tradition and sharing of bread and cheese.

Following the vigil, participants will carry candles to Mill Valley churches for Christmas Eve services.

Participants are asked to bring their own candles and bread and cheese.

Christmas Light Snatcher Richer

THE LAST-MINUTE RUSH

Blurred figures of late Christmas shoppers whiz by Macy's in San Rafael as the zero hour nears and sales of neckties, perfume, toys and knickknacks soar with each passing minute and children's radar begins scanning the skies for southbound reindeer and sleigh. Two Career Soldiers End Their Service

Two Marin County career soldiers stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco have retired.

Lt. Col. Walter O. Wylie Jr. of 20 Juanita Court, Novato, who has been stationed during his 23-year career in this country, Japan, Germany, Vietnam and France, retired after completing 16 months with the Army Stock Control Center at the Presidio.

CWO Phillip P. McSpadden of 1 Janet Way, Tiburon, retired after 26 years of service that included combat duty in Veitnam and Korea as well as personnel administration positions. He was also stationed in Italy, France, Belgium and Japan.

McSpadden's decorations include the Bronze Star and the Army Commendation Medal.

Special Workshop

Committee structure and internal workings will be discussed at a special workshop meeting of the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board Jan. 12 at 8:30 a.m. at the Kettle Restaurant, 209 Third Street, San Rafael, coordinator Jay Shinohara announced Friday.

WITH THEIR HANDS

Boys Claw Through Gravel To Save Two Men, A Poodle

TAVERNIER, Fla. (AP) — Six teen-aged boys, clawing with their bare hands, saved two men and a poodle puppy trapped last night in a car by eight tons of gravel.

William Nielson, 67, of Miami, and Oliver Anderson, 78, of Key Largo, told police they were preparing to turn off State Road 905 when an oncoming truck swerved and veered over on its side, sending the gravel onto the auto.

The teen-agers, camping nearby, saw the accident and began scooping the gravel out through the shattered windshield. The youths managed to reach the men and give them breathing space while they struggled to open a door.

But as the men emerged, the boys heard the muffled yelps of a dog, and were told "Hippie" the poodle was still inside.

"His barking grew weaker and weaker," said one boy, his hand slashed by the rocks. "Finally, I cried out I could feel his nose," and soon the dog bounded out, unharmed.

No charges were filed against the truck driver, who was too dazed to help with the rescue, officials said.

Monroe County sheriff's deputies said neither Nielson or Anderson was seriously injured.

Footprinters Sponsor Circus For Scholarship

The Footprinters, an organization dedicated to better law enforcement, will sponsor the James Brothers Circus in Marin April 16 and 17 at a site to be announced.

Members of the organization are currently soliciting ticket sales by phone.

Lt. Raymond F. Bleasdale of the San Rafael Police Department and a member of Footprinters reported profits will go for a scholarship fund to help young men taking police science classes at local colleges.

Membership in the organization is set at 51 per cent law enforcement officers and 49 per cent business men. Marin is included in a chapter of about 50 members, with others from Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties.

Party To Benefit Sausalito Center

A New Year's Eve party to benefit the Sausalito Art Center will be held at the center at Old Bayside School beginning at 8 p.m. Dec. 31.

There is no admission but donations to the center will be accepted at the door. The party, with music, food and wine, also will feature a children's room with special events planned throughout the evening.

Auto Cross

The Marin JT Sports Car Club has scheduled an auto cross on New Year's Day, starting at 10 a.m. with inspections, at the Napa Valley Shopping Center in Napa.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Sue D. Elquist, 18, of 253 Johnstone Court, Marinwood, was treated for a cut nose and eyelid at Marin General Hospital yesterday after the car in which she was riding collided with another at the intersection of Del Ganado Road and the Manuel T. Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Christopher Blase Clark, 19, of 528 Fourth Street, San Rafael, which collided with one driven by Stephen Anthony Leland, 22, of 754 Bamboo Terrace, San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Leland pulled out from a stop sign into the path of Clark's car at 10:35 p.m.

Serendipity Awards For Nunley, Windsor

Marin Chapter, 49er Boosters Club, wound up the 1969 luncheon schedule yesterday by voting to continue its ban against female membership and naming the San Francisco team's middle linebacker Frank Nunley and tight end Bob Windsor as winners of its first "Serendipity Awards."

A vote of hands showed shockingly few broad-minded members among the 50 Boosters present. They're fighters, not lovers.

And besides, who wants to drag a ball and chain to lunch on a Monday? All weekend with the War Department is enough.

One anti-skirt argued that presense of femmes would muffle players on discussing some touchy subjects about injuries.

Sorry, girls.

Not A 'Me Too' Club

Boosters President Price Hall of Sonoma explained the "Serendipity Awards" as a break away from the traditional most valuable player or rookie of the year honors. "We don't want to be a 'me-too' club," he said, defining serendipity as "pleasant surprise" for those who didn't have their dictionaries with them.

In balloting, Nunley and Windsor easily beat defensive lineman Earl Edwards and rookie running back Jimmy Thomas, the only other nominees.

Among those who raised their hands in the vote for Nunley was his immediate superior, Giddings, who had kind remarks for both pleasant surprise award winners.

Nunley the third year pro from Michigan, was thrown into the starting lineup early in the year when veteran Ed Beard was eliminated via a leg injury and "did an outstanding job right from the start," said Giddings. "Frank's a take charge type of guy who radiates confidence. He's exciting and excitable."

'Rough And Aggressive'

The coach added: "I endorse Frank's approach to the game. His main goal is to get the ball carriers out of action. He's clean, mind you just rough and aggressive."

Expanding on the subject, Giddings, former Cal lineman, USC assistant and head coach at Utah before joining the 49ers last year, said the Niner linebacking corps will be in great shape for next season after the emergence of Nunley and outside backer Skip Vanderbundt as capable regulars this year. "We'll not only have depth but versatility," he said, referring to the return of regulars Dave Wilcox and Beard, who might have trouble regaining his job from Nunley.

"I'm only guessing right now, but it looks like it will be Wilcox and Vanderbundt outside and a real battle in the middle," Giddings said.

Of Windsor, who enjoyed his greatest season as a pro, Giddings said: "He's a great competitor. Bob practices like he plays — all out. In fact, in practice he was largely responsible for the development of Vanderbundt."

Time To Analyze Things

Giddings begged off a question on "What went wrong with the 49ers (4-8-2) this year?" with: "That can be better answered a month or two from now after we've had time to analyze everything. It was a general thing. I mean we had problems everywhere as well as good things everywhere."

Boosters Vice President Dave Scofield announced that the 49ers will continue their boosters program next year. Scofield revealed that the 49ers pay each player $100 for each Boosters Club appearance and pick up luncheon tabs for other guests. "They've spent more than $3,000 on our club alone and there are several in the Bay Area," said Scofield, guessing the new Boosters program costs the 49ers "around $20,000 a season."

Several of the 49ers will be invited to the Marin Boosters' banquet Jan. 9 at Marin Country Club, including the serendipity swingers.

Jurgensen And Nelson To Quarterback East

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sonny Jurgensen of Washington's Redskins and Bill Nelsen of the Cleveland Browns will direct the offense of the East for the 20th annual National Football League Pro Bowl game Jan. 18.

Nelsen will be returning to the Los Angeles Coliseum turf where he played for the University of Southern California Trojans.

A 34-man East squad was named by NFL coaches and includes two players making their seventh appearance in the all-star affair — defensive tackle Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys and defensive back Larry Wilson of the St. Louis Cardinals.

ROOKIES

Rookies selected were running backs Calvin Hill of Dallas and Larry Brown of Washington, defensive tackle Joe Greene of Pittsburgh and placekicker Tom Dempsey of New Orleans.

Dallas and Cleveland, who meet for the Eastern title on Sunday, each placed eight players on the Pro Bowl squad.

The East trails the West 12-7 in the series and hasn't won since Jim Brown paced a 34-7 victory in 1966. Last year Roman Gabriel of the Rams sparked the West to a 10-7 triumph.

OFFENSE

Wide receivers—Roy Jefferson, Pittsburgh; Paul Warfield, Cleveland; Harold Jackson, Philadelphia.

Tight ends—Jackie Smith, St. Louis; Jerry Smith, Washington.

Tackles — Bob Reynolds, St. Louis; Ralph Neely, Dallas; Ernie McMillan, St. Louis.

Center—Fred Hoaglin, Cleveland; Len Hauss, Washington.

Quarterbacks—Sonny Jurgensen, Washington; Bill Nelsen, Cleveland.

Kicker—Tom Dempsey, New Orleans.

DEFENSE

Ends — Tim Roosovich, Philadelphia; George Andrie, Dallas; Jack Gregory, Cleveland.

Cornerbacks—Pat Fischer, Washington; Willie Williams, New York.

JUST IN NICK OF TIME

Snow fell just in time for the arrival of St. Nick and his first ski lessons at Heavenly Valley, near South Lake Tahoe. If temperatures remain low, skiers and Santa should have some fine skiing ahead, which is good news to the hundreds of skiers just itching to hit the slopes.

Former Michigan Great Heaps Praise On Team

PASADENA (AP) — Bennie Oosterbaan has seen a lot of Michigan football teams in his 43 years on the university's staff.

Included are three Rose Bowl victors and this season's team which meets Southern California in the big game New Year's Day.

Although offenses change over the years, Oosterbaan says this season's players are identical in character to members of past U-M champions.

"There isn't much difference when you're talking in terms of types of kids who win," said the 62-year-old Oosterbaan, chosen this 100th anniversary of college football as the greatest all-time Michigan player.

"You always have to have players with enthusiasm, high morale, good character, leadership. . .," he said, continuing on with half a dozen more character traits.

"Michigan players had the same traits in 1947, in 1950 and, I'm sure if you ask Bump Elliott, in 1964. They have the same character traits this year."

U-M's 1947 team rolled over US C49-0 in the 1948 Rose Bowl, its 1950 team was a 14-6 Rose Bowl winner over California, and the 1964 squad trounced Oregon Sate 34-7 in the New Year's classic.

Fritz Crisler was the coach of the 1947 team. Oosterbaan coached the 1950 squad, and Elliott directed the last Michigan Rose Bowl team. This year Bo Schembechler is the Wolverine coach.

"Basically, everything this year is the same," Oosterbaan said while relaxing in the press lounge at U-M's hotel headquarters in Pasadena. He now directs alumni relations and handles all advertising for the department.

"In 1950 everyone traveled on a special train from Ann Arbor. In 1947 we had to take a train from Ann Arbor to Chicago, then boarded the special train for Pasadena.

"We had the whole train. It was really delightful because everyone — the university officials, players, press—all got to know each other."

This is the first time all representatives from the university are traveling by jet aircraft. A jet charter brought the team out last Thursday, while about 16 other chartered jets are expected to transport official tour parties, university officials, and others after Christmas.

In 1964 a combination of jets, propeller planes and a train were used.

Oosterbaan, a member of the National Football Hall of Fame and recently amed to the modern era all-time team, is a 1927 graduate of Michigan. He was a three-time All-American in football and also became an All-American basketball player.

Baseball Executive Innocent

The verdict for acquittal—at 6 p.m. yesterday was virtually an anticlimax to the lengthy trial.

Howser was not immediately available for comment. He was first prohibited, under an order by Judge Jack W. Ballenger, to discuss the case within the courtroom or on the courthouse grounds and later declined to speak with newsmen at his motel room.

The 57-year-old Howser, president and general manager of the Charlotte (N.C.) Hornets of the Southern League, was accused of slaying Carolyn Fraley Hogan, also of Charlotte, at a Jekyll Island motel last Aug. 17.

The body of Mrs. Hogan was discovered on the ground beneath the balcony of a third-floor room she and Howser had occupied. The prosecution contended that Howser had beaten her to death while defense attorneys claimed Mrs. Hogan was intoxicated and had fallen from the balcony.

Namath Might Have Operation

Joe Namath's hopes for returning rest on two gimpy knees and another possible operation.

"I will play next season—maybe," Namath said yesterday. "It depends entirely on my physical condition. There's an 80 per cent chance I will have to have an operation."

The Jets lost to the Kansas City Chiefs, 13-6, on Saturday in the American Football League's semifinal playoffs as Namath was unable to ignite a scoring drive. However, Namath said the loss would not affect his attitude about returning next season.

Pistol Pete Again Top Gun In Busy Day Of Cage Action

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There was a big shootout at Corvallis, and once again Pistol Pete turned out to be top gun.

As any basketball fan can tell you, Pistol Pete is Pete Maravich, sharpshooting LSU forward who is the wildest scorer in college basketball history.

He hit 46 points to set a new Gil Coliseum record last night to lead the Tigers past Oregon State, 76-68. Gary Freeman, who joined the team after missing four games in an eligibility quabble, had 32 for the Beavers.

It was a big night of basketball throughout the West.

For instance, Santa Clara dumped on the road twice in a disastrous blow to its hopes for national rankings, took out its frustrations with a 102-61 romp over Fresno State. Ralph Ogden had 29 for the winners.

St. John's called on Stanford and roared from behind to down the Indians 63-59. California hosted a tough customer in New Mexico and the hot and cold Bears were hot with an 83-79 win.

Idaho's Malcolm Taylor hit 24 as the Vandals downed visiting Yale 64-55.

But life is more woeful for cage teams on the raod.

Long Beach St. lost at national power Houston 76-69 but played the Cougars as tough as did USC and Santa Clara.

San Jose St. was crushed at Colorado State 91-65 while another fine Coast team, Nevada Las Vegas, dropped one at North Texas 98-91. San Diego St. flopped at Northern Illinois 85-65.

St. Mary's lost at St. Francis 74-59. But another hot and cold team. Seattle, won at tough Weber State 75-66.

Clay Files Suit In Try To Get Fight In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Cassius M. Clay Jr. has filed suit to obtain a permit to fight in Texas.

Clay, also known as Muhammed Ali, filed suit late Friday afternoon against Tommy V. Smith, the commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, who regulates boxing and wrestling in Texas.

Clay's suit asks the court to overturn Smith's order denying him a permit. The alternative, the suit asks, is to declare article 614 of the Texas penal code unconstitutional.

A section of that article states that the commissioner may deny a license "if after investigation applicant or applicants are found to be of questionable character. . ."

Clay's petition says the controversial boxer has "maintained the highest standards of moral conduct and character" and that he is a "deeply religious person."

It states that he is "recognized" as the heavyweight champion of the world and has never been beaten.

Smith was in San Antonio yesterday and could not be reached for comment, and Alton Erickson, supervisor of the boxing and wrestling division, also was out of town.

Contact Drill For West

Contact drills are seldom used in practices for all-star games, but Ralston had his players hit and then pull back for about 20 minutes of the workout.

He singled out running backs Art Malone of Arizona State and Greg Jones of UCLA as looking good along with Steve Owens of Oklahoma and Bob Anderson of Colorado.

Both San Diego State's Dennis Shaw and North Texas State's Steve Ramsey have looked good at quarterback and Ralston has not yet decided who will start the game.

Toomey Is Best

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Toomey, decathlon world record holder and national AAU champion, is Southern California Athlete of the Year by a unanimous vote of the Helms Athletic Foundation board.

Tars Vs. Alumni Tonight

Some of the old will catch up with all of the new tonight when College of Marin's streaking basketball team matches up against its alumni in a cage frolic at 8 o'clock in beautiful downtown Kentfield.

Some of the fabled Tars of the past will more than likely be on hand to test and huff against this year's edition, which has won seven in a row and carries an 8-3 record.

Topping the list of alumni who are expected to play is Lynn Livie, who holds the Marin all-time record for points scored over two years with 1,070 racked up over 1961 and 1962.

Also on hand will be Jay Johnson, who is third on the list with 1,035 points over the 1964-1965 seasons; Fred Arnold, fifth on the list with 643 points gained in the 1967-68 campaigns; Jim Halm, now COM frosh coach and seventh on the list with 642 points over the 1965-66 seasons, and Bob Phillips, who scored 258 points in the 1966-67 campaign.

Also on the list are Larry Fulton, who coached at Marin Catholic for two seasons, and other grads such as Jerry Reece, Stan Wells and Ken Anderson.

Facing them will be a squad headed by angular Pat Schafer, the steady and top scorer on the current Marin squad.

East Stars Work On Running Game

The line also bumped heads for the first time and the guy who caught the eye of both the coaches and assembled pro scouts was Ron Carpenter, 250-pound defensive lineman from North Carolina State.

Tournament Victory For Redwood

Connecting on 32 of 39 foul shots and with five men scoring in double figures, Redwood High School's Giants overpowered San Leandro High 86-60 last night in the opening round of the Pacific High School Basketball Tournament at San Leandro.

Novato, the Marin County Athletic League's only other entry, opens play tonight, 7 o'clock, against powerful St. Elizabeth's High of Oakland.

Redwood, the MCAL favorite, had its hands full for three quarters last night until Tom Marker and Roger Smith led a 34-10 fourth quarter blitz that buried the San Leandrans. In that fourth period Marker scored 13 of his 14 points, including 7 on foul shots, while Smith made 12 of his 16 points.

Redwood hit on 45 per cent of its field shots with Jerry Piro's 19 leading the way.

Redwood	15	25	12	34—86
San Leandro	18	13	19	10—60

Redwood Scoring: Roger Smith, 5-6-16; Jerry Piro, 6-7-19; Bill Challender, 0-4-4; John Boro, 7-2-16; Charles Flynn, 0-2-2; Scott Trobbe, 5-2-12; Tom Marker, 3-8-14; Mike Dandrian, 0-1-1; Jim Barkovich, 1-0-2. Totals: 27-32—86.

Distance Stars Enter S.F. Meet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A quartet of four-minute milers and a former indoor three-mile champion have entered the All-American Games indoor track and field meet Jan. 3 at the Cow Palace, it was announced yesterday.

The milers are Sam Bair, whose best time is 3:56; John Mason, 4:00.0; Roscoe Divine, 3:57.2; and John Lawson, 3:59.3.

Tracy Snith, who will also run the mile, twice held the indoor three-mile record, his best time at that distance being 13:15.2.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Heavy Rains Help Spawning Salmon

What a great rain! At least it served to benefit the silver salmon runs throughout the county. Good numbers of silver salmon were widely scattered through the spawning streams in Marin.

Five inches or more rain enabled the fish to easily reach the spawning beds, and they were generally well protected by the high muddy waters.

AT THE NICASIO fish trap, Jim Crunk of the Department of Fish and Game was kept busy trapping and transporting big hunker fish over the Nicasio Dam to the streams above. I think his count might be close to 200 adult spawners. This is great, and should insure good future runs.

In Salmon Creek in Sonoma County, good numbers of fish, mostly silvers, were making it across the sand bar that separates the ocean from the stream. Of course the fish snaggers showed up too, which in turn brought the wardens out in force. A good time was had by all, but mostly by the wardens! Fish snagging and fish spearing is illegal, so the poacher caught red handed doing this is nailed everytime. Even the judges show little mercy.

OF COURSE the bar at the mouth of the Russian River is wide open, so good numbers of steelhead and salmon are in the Russian, though with the waters almost at flood level, it will be a week or so before fishing will be possible.

On the local scene, things were generally pretty slow over the weekend. Checking from Tiburon to China Camp near San Rafael, I saw only one party boat out, fishing close to Cat Rock near China Camp. Up at Buck's Landing in Santa Venetia, only a few anglers tried it with the winds as rough as they were.

A CAMPER TRUCK traveling along San Pedro Road had a sturgeon tied to the back door with the tail dragging on the highway. Warden Russ Ild and I gave an educated guess that it was legal size as we followed the camper. It was legal all right, but we thought the tail might wear off. We were going to shake the driver up on this matter, but he stopped too soon at a home in Santa Venetia, and we gave up the idea.

Incidentally, the new 1970 sport fishing licenses are available at the local sporting goods stores. If you are having trouble thinking of a good Christmas present for someone, if he or she fishes, get him a license. The $5 license makes it all right to fish for any legal fish in season in California through 1970.

THE RAINS, and especially the strong winds improved duck hunting throughout most of the state. Jim Dougherty and a friend from Mill Valley had their best day at their club near Maxwell, Colusa County, taking four geese — three snows and a spec — along with eight ducks — one mallard, four sprig and three wigeon.

Up north, the real freeze-ups should occur, bringing new flights of the birds down to this area. Last year, after the freeze-up, Gray Lodge, Sutter, Sacramento and Delevan, all state and federal operated shooting areas for ducks, showed increased populations, thus providing good shoots. Duck season closes Jan. 11, so now's the time to go.

LOTS OF steelhead fishermen stay home when the streams are muddy. Try using fresh roe in a back eddy or where the water isn't too fast. This can pay off as the fish can smell the fresh rote. Papermill Creek at Point Reyes Station could be at its best now.

Meeting On Water Pollution

College students concerned with problems of water pollution are being invited to a one-day meeting with Department of the Interior officials in Oakland on Dec. 30.

According to Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel, the meeting, one of nine being held throughout the country, is to establish direct lines of communications between the student population and his Department.

OPPORTUNITY

Following a review of federal legislation, programs, and goals, students will have an opportunity to present proposals for solving water pollution problems.

The group will be asked to elect a board of five students to follow up ideas expressed at the meeting. One member of this board, along with representatives of other student boards chosen at other meetings across the country, will meet later with Hickel to recommend programs and actions to meet water pollution problems.

SUMMARY

Students are invited to present specific proposals at the Oakland meeting, and those doing so are asked to submit a one-page summary to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, 760 Market Street, San Francisco 94102, so copies can be prepared for distribution at the meeting.

Students submitting proposals will be invited to an organizational meeting the evening of Dec. 29.

Additional information can be obtained by writing or calling the FWPCA office on Market Street in San Francisco.

Raiders Send Ball To Steinmark

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders have sent an honorary game ball to Fred Steinmark, the Texas defensive back who had a cancerous leg amputated last week.

The Raiders bombed Houston 56-7 last Sunday to move into the American League finals against Kansas City.

They announced yesterday that they had honored Steinmark, whose courage had moved them.

"The motto of the Oakland Raiders is Pride and Poise," the message accompanying the ball said. "We feel that you, by your courage, have earned this award."

Cal Bears Defeat New Mexico

BERKELEY (AP) — Jackie Ridgle's 25 points and Ansley Truitt's 20 helped California defeat New Mexico 83-79 last night in a nonconference basketball game.

After a 37-all halftime deadlock, New Mexico led in the second half until California pulled to within 46-45.

Then California took the lead to stay on three straight baskets by Leo Dorado, Ridgle and Tom Henderson.

Three Marin Lifters Triumph In Pacifica

Three members of the MarVel Athletic Club of Marin were among winners at an Amateur Athletic Union weightlifting meet at Pacifica Sunday.

Dave Gottlieb, 14, won a first place medal with 330-pound total, Ray DeLeon, 14, won two first place medals and totaled 300 pounds, and Greg Gottlieb, 12, won a first and was named best lifter in his class.

MARIN PREP NOTES

A Rough Start For Hennessey

By GARY TISCHLER

Already, it has been something of a trying season for Marin Catholic High School basketball coach Dave Hennessey, who this year stepped into Larry Fulton's two-year-old shoes at the Kentfield parochial school.

Young and enthusiastic, Dave is going through the sorrows of a 2-8 losing preleague season, and he doesn't much care for it.

"Maybe it's all right to go into league 0-11," he says. "But it's tough on young kids, and we have mostly sophomores and juniors."

The 2-8 record is the worst in the league, but it isn't always indicative of what the Wildcats might be capable of doing. It just happens to be a toughening grind. And there's worse to come, even though the Wildcats have already played in the St. Elizabeth's tournament of Oakland, one of the roughest around.

This week, there's Hillsdale of San Mateo, whom the Wildcats have never beaten in preseason play, and then there's Riordan of San Francisco, with none other than Kevin Restani on the roster, the boy who's been picked on top of the heap among California prep stars.

But even in a rough season, there was a moment of levity, such as happened last weekend, when Hennessey was interviewed on a Santa Rosa radio station which shall remain unnamed. The announcer asked Hennessey about his Olympic basketball playing experience and Hennessey, dumfounded, just went along, telling him that he "played with all the guys, K. C. Jones, all of them."

Actually, Hennessey did play on two U.S. Olympic hockey teams, which is a far cry from basketball.

And speaking of the Wildcats, the 29 points Bill Donnellan scored against Eureka in the Rose City Tournament must have come doubly hard because he had just learned earlier in the day that his grandfather had passed away. Bill showed a tremendous amount of poise in even showing up to play.

IF YOU'VE been wondering whatever happened to Floyd Jackson, former Tamalpais High School cage star who started for the University of California frosh last year in such august company as Ainsley Truitt and Phil Chenier, he's been redshirted this year. So that's why you haven't seen him in the Golden Bear box scores.

TAMALPAIS cage coach Bernie Schneider must be difficult to live with these days. Schneider, an avid golfer, shot a one-under-par 70 at Rohnert Park last week, the first time he's ever been under par and he's still glowing.

SOMEBODY seems to be trying to work up a game just for the fun of it, or maybe it's just hot air.

Leo McCarthy, coach of St. Patrick's of Vallejo's powerful, but no longer unbeaten cage team, has been heard to say that he doesn't think much of Redwood High School's basketball team, and this from more than once source among Marin County coaches. McCarthy, whose team suffered its first loss at the Rose City tournament to Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa, was reported to have said that his squad could take the Giants and that he wasn't at all impressed by Jerry Piro, the Redwood star forward. This, although he reportedly has not seen Redwood play.

DENISE HAM
Marin County . . .

Among Nation's Best Age Group AAU Clockings

The Marin Swim Club and the San Rafael Swim Club, the two Marin County age group swimming powerhouses, both showed up strong in the annual 1969 National age group best times listings as compiled by the Jantzen Corporation for the Amateur Athletic Union.

The Marin Swim Club had 54 mentions in the top five times listings while the San Rafael Swim Club had 26.

Topping the Marin Swim Club was Denise Ham in girls 13-14 age division with nine mentions while Jo Hislop had seven listings for the San Rafael Swim Club.

Denise topped her efforts with a first in the 100 butterfly plus two seconds, two thirds, two fourths, a fifth and a fifth in the national Junior Olympics.

Miss Hislop tied for 22nd place in the top 25 senior women's 100-meter freestyle, had three seconds, two thirds and two fourths in the age group rankings and had a third and fourth in the top five Junior listings.

Cookie Arrighi, who will be swimming for the Santa Clara Swim Club, placed six times in the age group rankings for the Marin Swim Club along with Maura Campion. Earning five mentions were Anne Engle, Spencer Eldred had three age group mentions plus a pair of fourths in the junior Olympic listings. Cheryl Cattan placed twice while Sue Secondo, Kim Hughes and Jim Tufts placed three times.

The Marin Swim Club also showed up well in the relays, headed by its girls 13-14 medley relay of Cookie Arrighi, Sue Secondo, Anne Engel and Denise Ham, which placed eight times with five first place rankings, second, and a third. The five wins each were in national age-group record time.

For the San Rafael Swim Club, Tami McDuffie placed three times in age group and once in the Junior Olympics while Kathi Hislop had one age group mention. The club also had eight relay mentions.

No More Number 13 For Navy Football

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — "We will not have another 13 in our locker room," said Navy football coach Rick Forzano when he got punter Tom Moore to wear No. 38 midway in the season.

"That's the number I was wearing when I was partially blinded (in the right eye) while playing Bantam League football," added the coach. "I don't know why I didn't notice Moore in number 13 until our game with Virginia."

West Still Top Man In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers continues to set the scoring pace in the National Basketball Association with a 30.1 average per game, but Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati are bearing down in an effort to catch him.

Cunningham remained in second place with a 27.3 average on the merits of 35-points bursts at San Francisco and Seattle, according to the weekly NBA statistics released today. Robertson was right behind him at 26.5.

San Francisco's Nate Thurmond held onto his lead in rebounding with an 18.2 average and Milwaukee's Flynn Robinson was still in front in free throws, Shooting at an .898 percentage. Lenny Wilkens, the Seattle player-coach, was still best in assists with a 9.7 average.

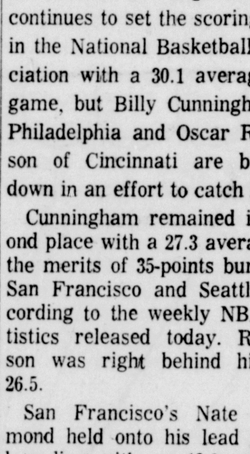
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Women who do not gain sufficient speed in the approach can automatically correct this by holding the ball higher at address. If you have been holding the ball around waist high, bring it up opposite your chest (see illustration). Thus the ball will drop farther, and gravity will move it faster, as you start.

Toledo senior Ken Crots made 77 straight extra point kicks, a major college record, before missing one this fall in a 34-9 victory over Ohio University.

Near Upset By Stanford Quintet

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford University came within a whisker of upsetting heavily favored St. John's of New York but the Redmen held on for a 63-59 intersectional basketball victory last night.

The Indians built a 20-5 lead after the first nine minutes of the game, but senior forward Joe DePre and center Bill Paultz sparked a comeback that pulled St. John's to within one point at halftime.

DePre and Paultz had 22 points apiece to tie for game high point honors.

The Redmen, now 6-1, hit 17 of 23 foul shots while Stanford made only 13 of 26.

Stanford guard Dennis O'Neill sparked Stanford, 1-4, with 21 points.

Redwood Ace Leads In Scoring

Redwood High School ace Jerry Piro took over the Marin County basketball scoring lead, even though his average dropped.

Piro vaulted past Gary Howard of San Marin, who had a pair of sub-par games of 15 and 9 points. Piro is scoring at a 19.6 clip, ahead of Howard's 18.5 pace and Bill Secor of Tamalpais, who's at 18.4

Bruce Nave of San Rafael High is still second in total points with 151, 26 behind Piro's 177 points.

Marin Catholic may be 2-8 on the year, but the Wildcats could be tough in the league. They have three players in double figures, headed by Bill Donellan at 14.3, Mike Parnow at 13.5 and Tim Stone at 11.7.

Redwood, Novato and Tamalpais also have three cagers scoring in double figures, with the biggest surprise being the rapid advance of Tamalpais newcomer John Earl Huff who jumped to a 12.6 average after games of 18 and 24 points.

Two California Netters Advance

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — Californians Denise Carter and Valerie Ziegenfuss advanced today in the Border tennis championships.

Miss Ziegenfuss, of San Diego, beat Mary Muller of South Africa, 6-2, 6-1, in the third round. Miss Carter, of Los Altos, trounced Britain's Corinne Molesworth, 6-2, 6-3, in the second round.

In men's singles, Arthur Pattison of South Africa defeated Roy Kreiss of Beverly Hills, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. Britain's Mark Cox ousted Derek Schroder of South Africa, 6-1, 6-1.

Roger Gann, a senior Kentucky tailback from Fayetteville, N.C., returned four kickoffs for 166 yards against Indiana in the opening game for both teams.

WASHINGTON — Rick Barry, the Washington Caps' all star forward, scrimmaged yesterday for the first time since his operation Oct. 23 for a torn knee cartilage.

"It felt pretty good but I'm tired," Barry said after warm ups anl a full hour of scrimmaging. "I just got to keep playing and get myself back in shape."

The American Basketball Association star wore no knee brace but the leg was well bandaged.

He feels in the next couple of days of scrimmaging probably will determine whether he'll play Christmas Day against the Pittsburgh Pipers.

Football

Jardine, 34, succeeds John Coatta, whose contract was not renewed for the next season.

Coatta's teams in three seasons won only three games — all this year — and tied one.

Jardine, a former Purdue guard and linebacker, had been an assistant at his alma mater before joining the UCLA staff five years ago. He was credited with much of the recruiting that made both schools national powers.

NEW YORK — United Press International yesterday named Cincinnati's Paul Brown as American Football League Coach of the Year and Los Angeles' quarterback Roman Gabriel Player of the Year in the National Football League.

HOUSTON — The Houston Oilers are in the market for a new quarterback. Pete Beathard, the current Oiler signal caller, is definitely on the trading block.

In fact, Oilers owner Bud Adams said last night only rookie wide receiver Jerry Levias and all-pro linebacker George Webster are secure in the Oiler uniforms.

Hockey

PHILADELPHIA — Keith Allen was named general manager of the National Hockey League's Philadelphia Flyers, succeeding the recently fired Bud Poile.

Baseball

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates named Daniel M. Galbreath, 41, president of the National League club.

SAN MATEO — Jungle Savage, $5.40, won the William P. Kyne Stakes at Bay Meadows on a disqualification after finishing second to Gaelic Dancer.

Warriors Host Supersonics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The improving but still cellar-dwelling Seattle Supersonics face the San Francisco Warriors tonight at 8 o'clock in a National Basketball Association game in Civic Auditorium.

Seattle has won its last three games, but is still in last place in the NBA's Western Division, nine games behind Atlanta and one in back of San Diego and Phoenix.

The Warriors, who are 5½ games behind the Hawks and tied with Chicago for second place, will be without Joe Ellis against Seattle.

Against Philadelphia Saturday, Ellis chipped a bone in his big toe. He is expected to miss only a game or two.

Tate Suspect Awaits Judge's Trial Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson insists he wants to defend himself from charges of murdering actress Sharon Tate and six others, declaring he can do it better than any lawyer.

The long-haired, bearded cult leader, in purple shirt and gold trousers, spent 30 minutes yesterday trying to convince Superior Court Judge William B. Keene he should be permitted to act as his own counsel.

The judge, apparently unconvinced, postponed his decision until tomorrow. Meanwhile, Keene said, he would appoint a lawyer to advise Manson.

Manson, 35, agreed, saying: "I don't want to fight with the judge. I believe he's sincere."

The cult leader and four followers are accused of the Tate killings Aug. 8, and the same five plus a girl cultist are charged with killing a Los Angeles market owner and his wife the following night.

"My life is at stake and maybe the lives of four or five other people," Manson told the court. "There is no lawyer in the world who can represent me. The news media have already executed and buried me."

Two of Manson's codefendants also made brief appearances before Keene.

Leslie Van Houten, 19, who is accused of murder in only the knife slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Leno LaBianca the night after the Tate killings, pleaded innocent. Her trial was set for Feb. 9.

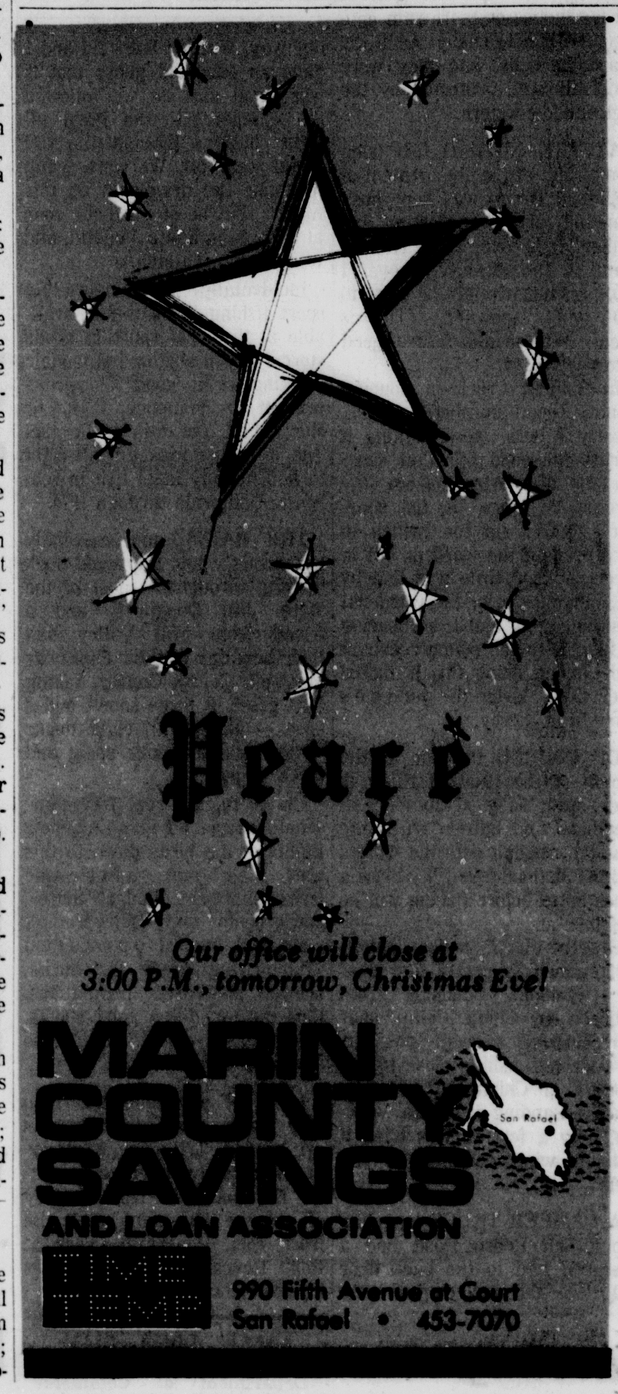
Linda Kasabian, 20, charged in both sets of slayings, sat silent while her lawyer was granted a delay until Jan. 6 in entering her plea. The lawyer said he needed more time to study the grand jury indictment.

Also under indictment in both the Tate and LaBianca killings are Susan Atkins, 19, whose trial has been set for Feb. 9; Charles "Tex" Watson, 24, held at McKinney, Tex.; and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, under arrest at Mobile, Ala.

After the court session, Luke McKissack, one of several attorneys willing to help Manson defend himself, asserted Keene was "foisting" a court-appointed attorney on Manson. McKissack called the judge's actions "illegal, unconstitutional and damnable."

Attorney George Shibley, who appeared as "a friend of the court," told Keene Manson has heard reports that the judge wants to run for district attorney and seeks that Manson be represented by a former deputy district attorney in order to assure a conviction.

But Keene said, after thanking Shibley for his appearance, that he will consult with the president of the county bar association before selecting an attorney for a conference with Manson.



Nixon Aides Hit Northern Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some officials of the Nixon administration agree with the southern complaint that federal law deals too lightly with racially segregated schools in the North and West.

The government has done little about northern school segregation, officials say, for two main reasons: lack of judicial mandate from the Supreme Court and active discouragement by Congress.

"It has become clear to me that the old bugaboo of keeping federal hands off northern school systems because they are only de facto segregated, instead of de jure segregated as the result of some official act, is a fraud," said Leon E. Panetta, director of the Office for Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

De facto is the term applied to school segregation resulting solely from residential patterns. De jure is the description for segregation decreed by law or formal custom, such as state-established dual school systems in the South.

"There are few if any pure de facto situations," Panetta said. "Lift the rock of de facto, and all too frequently something ugly and discriminatory crawls out from under it.

"Sometimes it was years ago that discrimination occurred, but the minority children have suffered since, and that should be undone.

"Sure, racial housing patterns may coincide with school attendance patterns by race. But which came first and how was the school boundary drawn?" Panetta asked.

And HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch said recently "Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has a "valid point" in his argument that federal law appears to condemn school segregation in the South but condone it in the North and West.

"The Supreme Court has chosen only to come down on de jure segregation where it is clear cut," Finch said. "That is dual systems where state law required it.

"The Supreme Court would have to say that de facto segregation is illegal before government agencies can act," he said. "And I don't expect that will happen soon."

The high court has never agreed to hear a case involving de facto school segregation.

Further, Congress discouraged government action against de facto segregation by saying in 1965 no steps could be required to correct "racial imbalance" in schools free from official discrimination.

Panetta referred to this as letting the North "off the hook."

But he denied the government has one set of rules for the North and another for the South.

"The law prohibits racial discrimination at schools receiving federal assistance and that law has been applied equally throughout the country," Panetta said.

Panetta said "establishing official responsibility for such segregation in the North is far more difficult than in southern states, where until recently rigid school systems were maintained by law or formal custom and where today the residual effects of this discrimination are readily apparent."

Traffic Check Leads To Marijuana Probe

A Novato man, stopped for traffic violation at Novato Boulevard and St. Paul's Circle at 11:15 p.m. yesterday, was arrested when police said they found cigarettes and suspected marijuana in his car.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing marijuana was Al Joaquin Miranda, 22, of 1320 Monte Maria. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

'I'm Doing Fine'—Sue Ward

By JOAN LISETOR

Eighteen-year-old Sue Ward and a boyfriend planned an outing in Muir Woods one day in August of 1968. Coming from their San Leandro homes they made it across the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge when disaster struck in the form of a near-fatal automobile accident.

Sue was brought to Marin General Hospital unconscious with a broken neck and in a totally paralyzed condition. Her companion was also seriously injured.

Last Friday, a year and a half later Sue and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Ward, returned to visit the hospital, where they were taken on a tour to see the Christmas decorations and honored at a tea in the Blue Room of the hospital.

Nurses from the intensive care unit of the hospital, where Sue spent five weeks following the accident, attended the tea. Amazed after receiving a letter from Sue, who is a quadriplegic, they were anxious to talk to her about her life since the accident.

The letter sent to the hospital in September read:

"Dear Dr. (Sam) Hanzel and ICU staff,

"I wanted to let you know what I've been doing since I left Marin. I spent three months in rehab at Vallejo (Kaiser Foundation Rehabilitation Center) and came home in December. Then I was an out-patient at the county hospital in San Leandro and started work toward re-entering college. Then I had a month more in Vallejo before I started the University of California at Berkeley in June. So now I've had one quarter of eight units. There are 12 quads living in Cowell Hospital on campus. We hire our own attendants and have electric wheelchairs to get to classes. It's really a good program, and I'm glad I could get in it.

"I'm doing fine, and I thank you so much.

"Sue Ward"

SUE VISITED Marin after finishing her second quarter at U.C.

"Berkeley's not tough," she told the nurses. "There is another girl and eight boys, and we have the entire third floor of the hospital to ourselves. We have quite some parties, too."

Sue, who has limited use of her hands, uses clips to hold a pen and turn pages of a book. "She does new things everyday," says her mother, Jewell Ward. "She learned to type using special clips and a sort of hunt and peck system, and the other day she said she thought she could brush her teeth herself.

"We're so glad Sue is alive. We enjoy her so much. Her good spirits have amazed us."

COMPUTER PROGRAMMING is Sue's major. She had some interest in the field her first year in college at Harvey Mudd College in Claremont, prior to the accident. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mitchell Ward of Oakland, is a computer programmer and has encouraged Sue's interest in the field since her accident. Sue's brother is also in college, studying for a teaching credential at San Francisco State College.

Arriving at the hospital to visit Sue was presented with a ribbon that read "ICU graduate" by the nurses, many of whom she did not recognize since she was unconscious much of the time she spent in the intensive care unit.

"She is hard to recognize with long hair," commented one of the nurses. "We had to cut most of it off bit by bit."

She survived because of the care and treatment she received at Marin General Hospital, says Mrs. Ward. About her daughter's future she says, "Finishing college will be slow, but she'll make it."

The way the cookie crumbles is a matter of life and health for millions of school children across the world.

"Crumble" in this case means the breakdown of ingredients in the recipes. For these cookies are specially develped and baked for CARE, to serve to the children at school every day.

Unlike the wafers that are an extra treat for American children, they form a substantial part of each child's basic diet and must help provide essential food nutrients.

Mrs. Margot Higgins, nutritionist at CARE headquarters in New York says, "It's not the calories, but how they're stacked that counts."

PRIME REQUIREMENT is that the CARE cookies be high in protein. The dough is made with milk powder, wheat flour and oils donated by the U.S. War on Hunger program. Local governments or groups give baking agents, flavorings and sugar or syrups for taste — and, if possible, an additional protein source.

In Chile, for example, CARE cookies for 700,000 pupils are fortified with fish flour (no odor or taste). In Bombay, India, peanut meal is the plus in cookies for 450,000 students. In Ceylon, there are plans to use synthetic lysine, an amino acid component of protein, in the cookies served to 2.5 million children at 8,500 schools. Protein contents range from eight per cent to as high as 15 per cent when a concentrate is added, compared to three or four per cent in commercial cookies.

Well over two billion cookies a school year are required for present distributions of a minimum three cookies a day to about 3.7 million children, and more projects are pending.

The cookie servings are part of CARE programs that will help feed 35 million people in 36 countries during the coming year, including 22 million school children. Costs are covered by combining the U.S. foods, local government and community support, and contributions by Americans to the current $6,650,000 CARE Food Crusade, which seeks to deliver various types of food packages at one dollar each.

IDEALLY, THE agency provides the makings of a hot breakfast or lunch for school children. Toward this end, CARE often helps build school kitchens and dining halls. But what of the schools without cooking facilities or rural schools in roadless areas where supplies cannot be delivered in bad-weather seasons?

From this came the idea of a cookie crammed with nourishment, delivered well in advance without danger of spoilage and easily handed from teacher to class. The first project started in 1961 in Hong Kong, where 25,000 Chinese refugee and other needy primary pupils now get a daily CARE lunch of cookies and a cup of milk.

Baking is done in each country involved, under contract with private bakeries. CARE overseas staff men organize the projects and work closely with counterpart personnel, local nutritionists and bakers at every step, from formulating recipes to delivery.

Logistical problems can be staggering because of the lack of mass production and transportation facilities. In Ceylon alone, 180 million cookies are baked and delivered six times a year. To handle the bulk of this order one bakery in the city of Colombo completely modernized its plant, from ovens to packing machines.

NOR CAN RECIPES be swapped intact between CARE missions. The ingredients available vary from country to country, and different baking conditions can produce different results.

Big problem is to ensure a good protein yield, since the high temperature for baking may cause the lactose in milk powder to bind with the lysine present in milk and in flour, and this reduces the protein content. The more fat and sugar in the dough, the more likely this is to happen. Yet, too much of an additive like peanut meal will make a dry, unappetizing cookie. Taste is important, for children won't eat a food they don't like.

Many combinations are tried, components juggled, samples analyzed and tasted before a final recipe is approved. Mrs. Higgins stands by for guidance by air mail and sometimes personal visits.

"Cookies are not a cure-all for every feeding problem," she stresses. "But when alternatives are limited, they can be a big step in the right direction of giving children not only food to fill their stomachs but the kind of food they need for health."

As for the children, there's no doubt they love them. Even an occasional mishap has a happy ending.

"We've changed our containers, because we had some reports of crumbled cookies at the bottom of the boxes," one CARE man wrote in the initial stages of his program. "There was no waste, though — the kids ate every crumb."

ENJOYING THEIR daily good fortune in the form of special protein-packed cookies and milk, these Chinese school children in Hong Kong are among children in many countries who receive the food supplements through gifts from Americans made by CARE Food Crusade. Special cookies have been devised to suit the tastes of youngsters in the various countries.

Christmas Parties Planned For Friends And Families

By MOLLY MARIN

Gatherings around the family hearth are traditional for Christmas week, and open houses and dinners are being held this week throughout Marin.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Leonards of Belvedere will invite friends to bring their children to an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. on Christmas Day. The Leonards children make and decorate cookies, plan games and candy canes.

This children's open house is a tradition that the Leonards enjoyed when they lived in San Francisco until two years ago.

Friends have been invited from the Peninsula, San Francisco and Marin County.

MR AND MRS. Harold Hansen of Kentfield welcome their daughter and her family for the holidays with a small open house this evening at their home. They are Mr. and Mrs. William Poindexter of San Marino and their sons, Jim and David.

MR. AND MRS. John Finn III of Mill Valley will have a Christmas dinner for 11 guests. Their daughter Ferris has invited two of her friends from Santa Rosa Junior College, Helen and Agnes Stone.

MR. AND MRS. Donald Bekins of Belvedere will hold open house on Sunday from 5 to 8 p.m.

Enjoying wine punch around the Christmas tree will be Messrs. and Mmes. Jay Charlot, Donald Davis, Thomas Woodward, Laurence Kraus and Mrs. Charles Mishkind, of Corinthian Island.

Guests from Belvedere will be Messrs. and Mmes. Paul Duggan, Richard Nelson, Frank Rainey and Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews. Guests Mr. and Mrs. Haib van Praag of Belvedere will return to their native Holland in January.

Other guests are the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Evans of Tiburon and Mr. and Mrs. John Bricker of Strawberry.

IN MILL VALLEY the Lou Bartolinis will have 20 guests for Christmas dinner at their home.

Tiburon guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Branwell Fanning F. G. Knight, G. B. Falk, Philip Bass, Arthur Gensler, Bryan Chapman, Richard Canady, Douglas Scott, Charles Basset, David Heldt and Jerry Jensen.

Mill Valley guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Westberg and Murray Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hudner from San Francisco will attend.

MR. AND MRS. Paul Duggan have returned to Belvedere after a trip to Ochorios, Jamaica. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Edmonds and family. He is Mrs. Duggan's brother.

TAHITIAN DRESS will be worn by friends of Laurie Mazur when they attend a dinner dance in her honor at Tiburon Tommie's restaurant tonight.

Laurie, the daughter of Mrs. M. S. Mazur of Belvedere, bowed at the Marin Debutante Ball Saturday evening at the St. Francis Hotel.

Computer-Compatible Woman Now President

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years is a long time to carry on a passionate love affair, even for a gal as beautiful as blonde Penny (Penelope) Kaniclides.

But after a decade, Miss Kaniclides' love affair shows no signs of waning. On the contrary, as she puts it, it is now entering "its most challenging and hopefully productive phase."

PENNY'S ROMANCE is with computers and romantics might call it a case of love at first sight. After graduating from Skidmore College, she got a job as a mathematician for an engineering company. Two months later the company got a computer and "I was completely fascinated. It magnetized me . . . its speed, power and promise just magnetized me."

Penny's initial infatuation blossomed into a full-fledged love affair that resulted in her devoting as many as 15 hours a day to her new interest. Thus, a "bit of natural ability and good hard work" developed into a career — first as a programmer, then as supervisor of programmers, then to start Standard & Poor's computer services, climaxing in her being named that company's first woman vice president. In that capacity, Penny supervised 85 persons — all males.

Recently she (and four other vice presidents) resigned Standard & Poor's to start her own company, Telstat Systems, a computer information utility which produces and sells financial and economic data in computer readable form.

Penny, who believes she is the first woman president of a computer company, now is seeking to entice other women to share her romance. As of this moment, she admits that most of the people she's interviewing for positions are men, but only "because there are more men than women in the field."

"I'D LIKE to see more

Dress Codes And Reactions To Them Vary Across The Country

DEAR HELEN:

The student who complained about the uptight dress regulations at her school sure wasn't from the Southwest.

I live in Texas and a lot of the guys in our high school are working cowboys. Jeans and western boots are not unusual. If these guys had to wear slacks, neckties, jackets and button-up or button-down shirts, they probably wouldn't show up. I can just hear the mothers screaming about the cleaner's bills. Jeans are a way of life in cow or farm country.

As for girls wearing slacks: We don't go for them. Last year we had one "pants-day" for them, and we found the guys forgetting to open doors and things like that. The off-the-cuff comments I heard were most derogatory. — SENIOR IN SAN ANTONIO

DEAR HELEN:

Out in California (Southern, that is) we can wear anything from thrift store bargains (a big fad, especially if they're out of date and raunchy, in other words, camp) to Indian shawls with long tassles, and the girls are all buying their pants in boys and menswear departments. Most gals wouldn't think of buying jeans or cords anywhere else. Maxicoats with mini dresses are cool because they keep our legs warm, but they're hard to walk in. We prefer pants of all kinds — with boots, and sometimes wide-brimmed Aussie hats, with crazy scarves tied around them.

The guys haven't changed their dress styles as much as girls have. You don't see many of them in flowered bell bottoms. — CALIFORNIA GIRL

DEAR HELEN:

I think our eastern schools should relax their code, and allow the kids to have their choice in dress. If the girls know they can wear pants, most will decide against them soon, as they really aren't very feminine. — PAT

DEAR PAT:

Famous last words. When you're allowed, you indulge, my friend — if it is comfortable, convenient and saves on nylons — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am very much in love with a certain girl, but we can't get married because of our ages. That's not the problem. I can wait, but her idea of waiting isn't mine.

She likes to go out with another guy who, she says, is just a friend. The way she kisses him and practically smothers him with affection, well, how friendly can she get?

She says she loves me only, but dating him is fun as they're good buddies. I've put my foot down several times but ended up stumbling over my tongue. You can see how low I feel.

I'd talk to him, but it seems he's a little bigger, and if I fight, I might end up in the hospital. How can I show her three's a crowd? — TRUE AND BLUE

DEAR T AND B:

Why not find yourself a good buddy — like about 35-24-35 and blonde — and show your girl that two can play the pal game? — H.

Layne Paskill Is Bride In Portland

MRS. BILL F. HAMILTON

Trinity Episcopal Chapel in Portland, Ore., was the setting yesterday afternoon for the marriage of Layne Eugenia Paskill of Sausalito and Bill Fredrick Hamilton of Bellevue, Wash.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lane Eugene Paskill.

Mrs. Charles Stockwell of Beaverton, Ore., was matron of honor, and the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Peter Paskill of Portland, was the bridesmaid.

Max Hamilton of Austin, Tex., was his brother's best man and Steve Bertelle and the bride's brother, Peter Paskill, both of Portland, ushered.

Layne was graduated from Cleveland High School in Portland and attended Boise College and Portland State University. She is on a leave of absence from her job at Dean Witter and Co. in San Rafael.

Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Hamilton of Bellevue. He was graduated from West Jefferson High School in New Orleans, La., College of San Mateo and Sacramento State College.

The couple are driving from Portland to Lawton, Okla., where the bridegroom will attend Officers' Candidate School at Ft. Sill Army Base. They will live in Lawton.

COMPUTER BOSS

women alerted to the possibility of a career in computer technology," says the 30-year-old company president. "There's so much opportunity for them. Women's natural, logical minds make them a natural."

Unfortunately, she says too many women think it's unfeminine to do anything more mathematical than balance a checkbook. "Or else they tend to fear computers. They don't realize that a computer is just a high-grade moron that does what you tell it to do. It's not a replacement for human thinking."

And you needn't be an expert mathematician to enter the field. "Although a college degree in math was required when I got started, nowadays experience in the field is more important than a degree." Many companies, desperate for computer programmers, have instituted their own training programs.

Although Penny claims she's not a suffragette for women's rights, she does think it important to point out that "perhaps because this is such a comparatively new field, I encountered very little, if any, discrimination because I am a woman."

WOMEN, PARTICULARLY, will appreciate the many new uses Penny envisions for computers. "It may be 1984ish, but I see the housewife of the future with a computer terminal in her home, connected to a central terminal." This would enable her, merely by push-button selection, to order groceries, plan meals, perhaps even to vote. There are many problems in the latter areas admits the native New Yorker, but "that's the challenge of the future." She adds that many problems faced by urban areas today, such as population shifts, could have been pinpointed and predicted by a computer years ago, before the problems had developed.

Claudia Joyce Wilcox Becomes Bride In San Francisco Church

Claudia Joyce Wilcox of Fairfax became the bride of Bruce Robert Leithe of San Francisco Saturday evening at Forest Hill Christian Church in San Francisco.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilcox of Fairfax, Claudia chose Carla Pincini of Fairfax as maid of honor and Louise Leplay of Fairfax as bridesmaid.

Ronald Gene Johnson of Baldwin Park was the best man, and ushers were Russell Wilcox of Fairfax, the bride's brother, and Patrick David Butler of Downey.

Claudia was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and San Francisco State College. She is employed at FYT Pre-Primary School in Mill Valley. Her local grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hansen of San Francisco.

Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Leithe of San Francisco, was graduated from El Monte High School in San Francisco and is a senior at San Francisco State College. He is also employed at New Mission Iron Works.

Dan Ricci Will Wed Miss Park

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Park of Petaluma announced the engagement of their daughter Virginia to Daniel Ricci. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ricci of Petaluma.

Virginia is the sister of Terry Park of San Jose, Susan Park of Cotati, James Park of Rohnert Park and Thomas Park of Petaluma. A graduate of St. Vincent's High School in Petaluma, she is employed as a photographer for the San Francisco office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Daniel, the brother of Mrs. Lori Piccinotti of Anchorage, Alaska, and Carlene and Kenneth Ricci of Petaluma, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Giogetti of Crockett.

Also a graduate of St. Vincent's High School, he is manager of a Petaluma service station.

Cornelia Nixon To Be Bride Of Frederick A. Tegeler

The engagement of Cornelia Louise Nixon to Frederick Augustus Tegeler III has been announced and the couple have set a Sept. 2 wedding date.

CORNELIA NIXON

The daughter of Mrs. Harold E. Nixon of Lucas Valley and the late Captain Nixon, Cornelia is working toward a doctorate in English at the University of Washington. She was graduated from Terra Linda High School and the University of California at Irvine. George Andrew Nixon of Davis and Mrs. Mark Allen Reed of Santa Rosa are her brother and sister.

Frederick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Tegeler of San Rafael and is the brother of Jama Tegeler. A San Rafael High School graduate, he received a degree from Northwestern University.

Kerr-Suttles Rite To Be Held Feb. 7

A Feb. 7 wedding date has been selected by Frances Arlene Suttles of San Rafael and Stephen D. Kerr of Woodland.

The couple's engagement has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Florinda Suttles of San Rafael. The sister of Robert Suttles of San Anselmo and Tony and Lucinda Suttles of San Rafael, Frances attended the College of Marin after graduation from San Rafael High School. She is employed at the Data Processing Center at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Stephen, who is in the Air Force stationed at Hamilton, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Kerr of Woodland. Mrs. Edward Beoshanz of Davis and Mrs. William Seil of St. Louis, Mo., are his sisters.

Stephen was graduated from Woodland High School and attended the College of Marin.

Detergents

Since mid-1965 all household detergents manufactured for use in the United Staes have been composed of biodegradable (soft) materials. The Cleanliness Bureau reports this voluntary, industrywide conversion was a major accomplishment in the interest of clean water. Today's detergents break down (decompose) readily in modern sewage treatment plants.

ART REVIEW

Who Says Work Has Suddenly Gone Stale?

By LAURA DEVENDORF

SAN FRANCISCO — Art has not gone stale! And to prove it, we need more shows like the National 1970 Drawing Exhibition through Jan. 25 at the San Francisco Museum of Art.

This competition, sponsored by the San Francisco Women Artists, proves that artists' minds are alive and functioning in a loose, experimental stream.

Only a few works, such as Gerald Gooch's finely realized figures, are predetermined as finished things in themselves. Most seem just to have evolved. And because of this, none of the raw spontaneity is missing. The impression is one of a riot of thoughts racing across all trends.

MANY IDEAS

The work includes things as minimal as Tony DeLap's single line arcing through space to as complex a situation as Robert Nelson's inch deep "Silver Superman," a cartoon allegory of ornately drawn collage.

The subject may be as direct as a single twist of barbed wire or as sophisticated as a three-dimensional palette, its minute over-drawn black squiggles ending abruptly with the words "No More Paint." Or it may be as snarled as a complicated thought. One of these is "I'm Somebody Else Now," by Mill Valley artist Abby Grosvenor Bernard. It uses several visual levels to relate the idea, starting from a base of crayon scratchboard to upper, written-on layers of glass.

Miss Bernard's work is one of several by Marin residents included in the 158 pieces selected by juror Robert Indiana from over 1600 nationwide entries or those invited from noted and established artists. Others are Barrie McDowell, Marcia Dalva and Diane Weiss, all of Mill Valley, recent San Rafael resident Andrea Hendrick, Ada Garfinkei of Kentfield and William Wiley of Woodacre.

TWO SELECTIONS

Mrs. Garfinkel is one of few enjoying the distinction of having two works selected — one a delicate black-lined "Pyramid" and the other, double, lushly colored spheres. Wiley's felt-pen drawing, "Scabs Underground," is among the award winners purchased and incorporated into the museum's permanent collection.

Nothing about this exhibition is rigid — certainly not the materials which add acrylics, canvas, acetate, felt pen, air brush, watercolor, photography, crayon, collage and glass to pen, pencil and paper as acceptable drawing tools.

While bringing drawing into line with the times, these mechanics themselves become exciting stuff. But even more evident is the revelation that behind the cold-shock system of "now" art, a turmoil of fresh, imaginative ideas is being tested for a vibrant explosion in some tomorrow.

Ex-Correspondent For Marines Gets A Bronze Star

A former Marine combat correspondent from Novato has been awarded the Bronze Star, the nation's fourth highest award for bravery.

Steve Bernston, a reporter for the Napa Register, received the medal in ceremonies at the 12th Marine Corps District Headquarters in San Francisco.

Bernston, who served as a combat correspondent in Vietnam, was honored for rushing into a street in the city of Hue, as the area was being raked by enemy gunfire, to rescue a wounded Marine. The rescue occurred Feb. 19, 1968.

The newsman was severely wounded in the rescue operation when an enemy mortar round dropped into the street. According to his citation, Bernston continued to aid wounded men, despite his own injuries, and refused aid for himself until corpsmen had treated all the other wounded men.

Lt. Col. Albert W. Keller, deputy director of the 12th district, made the presentation to Bernston, a former Marine sergeant.

Two Bands Slated For Brown's Hall

Two bands, Seatrain and A. B. Skhy, will play for a dance Jan. 2 and 3 at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, from 8 p.m. to midnight.

The dance is being presented by two Tamalpais High School students, Toby R. Byron and Bonner Beuhler, both of Mill Valley.

Leary Baffles Marijuana Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Timothy Leary has asked the California Supreme Court to supress evidence that led to a drug possession case.

In an appeal filed yesterday, Leary, his wife Rosemar and their son John, 20, claim Laguna Beach policeman Neal Purcell obtained the evidence in an illegal search of their car on Dec. 26, 1968.

Purcell said he found marijuana, LSD and hashish in the automobile.

The policeman said he made the search after observing John Leary in the back seat on all fours, pulling his hair over his eyes with his pupils dilated.

Leary maintains that activity is not symptomatic of marijuana use and claims it was insufficient cause for the search.

Chamber Trio Will Open College Series

A concert by the Marin Chamber Trio on Jan. 15 will open the College of Marin's concert-lecture series for the winter quarter.

The trio, composed of Marion Marsh, soprano; Carolyn Michaelian, oboe, and Larry Snyder, piano and harpsichord, will perform at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater.

The concert series also will include performances by the Afro-Haiti Ballet, the Marin Symphony, and dancers Emilio and Teresita Osta.

The lectures will include a four-part series co-sponsored with the Planned Parenthood Auxiliary of Marin, three films co-sponsored with the Marin Audubon society, two travelogues and a world affairs lecture.

Opening the lecture series will be "Portraits of Scandinavia," a travelogue narrated by William Moore, at 8:15 p.m. Jan 16 in the Fine Arts Theater.

The planned parenthood series, "Shall Copulation Equal Population?" will start at 8:15 p.m. Jan 21 in the theater with "The Population Problem," and a keynote speech by Stephanie Mills, whose 1969 valedictory speech at Mills College drew national attention.

Each lecture in the series will include a keynote speaker and a discussion panel. "Is my Teen-ager Sexually Active? Does This Frighten Me?" will be the topic at 8:15 p.m. Jan 28, also in the Fine Arts Theater, "Ecology — People — Hunger" will be the topic at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 4 at Olney Hall, and "Marriage and Marital Conflict" will be the topic at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 11 at Olney Hall.

Other concert events will be Latin and Spanish music and dancing by Emilio and Teresita Osta, 8:15 p.m. Jan. 30, Fine Arts Theater; the Marin Symphony, 7:30 p.m. Feb. 8, gymnasium; Afro-Haiti Ballet, 8:15 p.m. Feb. 27, Fine Arts Theater.

Other lecture events:

"Our Unique Water Wilderness — the Everglades," 7:30 p.m. Jan. 18, Olney Hall, co-sponsored with the Marin Audubon Society.

"Eyewitness Report on Mongolia, Siberia and Central Asia," 8:15 p.m. Jan. 22, Fine Arts Theater.

"Tidewater Trails," 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22, Olney Hall, co-sponsored with the Marin Audubon Society.

"Madrid to Moscow," 8:15 p.m. March 12, Olney Hall.

"The Bahamas—Top to Bottom," 7:30 p.m. March 22, Olney Hall, co-sponsored with the Audubon society.

Admission is free to lectures except those co-sponsored by the Audubon Society. Admission is charged for the Audubon lectures and the concert events.

Bloom Elected To Head Chiefs

County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom has been chosen president of the Marin County Fire Chiefs Association.

Other new officers are Chief W. Craig Shurtz of Larkspur, vice president; Chief George Walser of Terra Linda, secretary, and Chief Carol O. Heynen Jr. of Alto, treasurer.

An installation dinner is planned for Jan. 21 at 7 p.m. in Tiburon Tommie's Restaurant. Installing officer will be Chief Matthew Jiminez of Hayward, vice president of the International Fire Chiefs Association.

Massacre Probe Hears General

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine general who once commanded all U.S. forces in the My Lai area of Vietnam has appeared before a military panel trying to determine if the Army's initial investigation was a whitewash.

He is the highest-ranking officer to be called before the panel and, at the time of the incident more than 18 months ago, was commander of Army and Marine forces in the I Corps area of South Vietnam. Cushman now is deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Youth Take $5 At Knifepoint

A San Francisco youth has been robbed of $5 at knifepoint by two unidentified youths who gave him a ride from Tamalpais High School to Marin City, sheriff's deputies have reported.

Choi Chan Laokwansatitaya, 17, told deputies that as he was let out of the car at the Marin City underpass Thursday, one of the youths in the car placed a knife at his throat and demanded his money.

Two Plead Innocent In Store Fuss

Two men arrested outside the Disco department store in San Rafael after one of them allegedly hit the store manager with a rifle pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a variety of charges.

A preliminary hearing for Jon Fredric Bangert, 31, of Tiburon, and Bernardo Morales Sanchez, 26, of Sausalito, was set for Monday.

Bangert was arrested after he bought at Disco a rifle which, he said, he was going to use to shoot his partners in a Christmas tree lot enterprise. Then, according to police, he hit the Disco manager, James E. Mariais, in the chest with the rifle, threatened to kill him and then fled.

A patrolman stopped Mariais' car and arrested him and Sanchez, his passenger. Both were charged with burglary when officers found property reported stolen from a Sausalito residence. Sanchez also allegedly had marijuana and hashish in his possession.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. yesterday ordered a psychiatric examination of Bangert and said he would hear doctors' reports tomorrow.

Shone New Head Of Land Group

San Rafael attorney Raymond H. Shone has been elected president of the Nicasio Land Owners Association, Inc.

Shone was one of the organizers of the association in 1961. He owns the little red schoolhouse in Nicasio which was built in 1871 and has been declared a historical monument.

Other officers named by the association are Mrs. Heloise Tomasini, secretary and Mrs. Marie Rogers, treasurer. Paul Farley, John Rossi, Frank Soares, Wilfred Lafranchi, Cirilio Gonzales and Henry Tomasini are directors.

DRAMA REVIEW

A Minor Debacle That's Not Even Worth Debating

By WILLIAM GLOVER

John Patrick, who won the Pulitzer Prize for drama with "Teahouse of the August Moon" but has concentrated ever since on summer stock trivia, can claim one minor distinction for the dreary contraption. It contains the first and, hopefully, the last romantic triangle involving a shop-window dummy.

Patrick, says a program note, did much research on California campuses to background a plot about trial mating among students. His findings are a dramatic secret, for what unfolds is a moronic, transparent and quaintly prim trifle about a lad who would and a girl who wouldn't, until he learns to cry. Yes, indeedy.

Tom Ligon and Sandy Duncan, among Equity's more likable and energetic youngsters, splutter through six episodes of atrocious confrontation and abysmal jokes. Miss Duncan periodically erupts into giggles nearer hysteria than mirth while Ligon tries to overcome inanity with sheer physical momentum. A small, shaggy dog, live, gets on briefly along with the plastic mannequin.

Bernard Thomas directs with mechanical precision.

Never did figure out what the title means. Ho-hum.

What other press critics said:

Clive Barnes, New York Times: " . . . it takes the concept of mediocrity to new heights and depths. It is so not-bad and so not-good that it almost has to be seen to be believed . . . It all adds up to a harmless evening to recommend to oil tycoons from Dallas, or even Houston."

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "The two-character comedy calls for deft skill in the manipulation, and this is emphatically missing from 'Love Is a Time of Day.' "

James Davis, Daily News: "A chuckle here, a smile there and all along a general feeling of disbelief in the two characters onstage . . . From playwright Patrick on down, no one seemed to have been carried away with inspiration."

Two Films Slated Saturday For Children

Two films for children will be shown from 11 a.m. to noon Saturday at the Mill Valley Library gallery.

The films are "Make Way for Ducklings" and "Toccata for Toy Trains."

Penngrove Sewer Plan Study Due

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A study of connecting the Penngrove area with the Petaluma sewage system will be completed next month, the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors learned yesterday.

Donald B. Head, county superintendent of public works, said the septic tank system used by the rural community north of Petaluma is inadequate and that a study plotting the method of connecting new sewer lines with the Petaluma sewage disposal plant will be completed by Jan. 15.

Head said cost estimates should also be done by next month and that a public meeting will be called to consider the best method of completing the project.

The report was issued after a letter of complaint was received from Jack D. Buchanan of the Frozen Fresh Foods Co., 6030 Old Redwood Highway, Penngrove.

Buchanan complained that raw sewage flows into nearby Lichau Creek, occassionally creating a stench. He also urged that the county health department study health problems that might be caused by the polluted water.

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 23, the 357th day of 1969 with eight to follow.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1928, a permanent coast-to-coast radio network was established in the United States by the National Broadcasting Co.

In 1948, ex-Premier Tojo of Japan and six other war leaders were hanged in Tokyo on orders of the Allied War Crimes Commission.

In 1968, Apollo 8 astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders entered the earth moon's gravitational field and became the first humans to leave the gravity influence of earth.

A thought for the day: From the Gospel of St. Matthew in the New Testament: "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you."

Blaiberg's Will

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Heartgraft patient Philip Blaiberg, who earned thousands of rands from publicity on his operation, left most of his estate to his wife Eileen when he died August 17. In his will, the retired dentist who lived longer than anyone else with a transplanted heart, bequeathed rands 50 ($70) and all his personal clothing to his Colored (mulatto) maid Katie Booysens. His daughter Jill, was not mentioned. The transplanted heart kept Blaiberg alive for 19½ months.

BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Wolf Can Be Snuffed By Taking A Strange Finesse

Every father must tell his daughter how to avoid the clutches of a wolf. At the same time he must teach her how to tell the difference between a wolf and a fair-haired boy. If you find this delicate task beyond your powers, clip out today's bridge column for your daughter to read when she's old enough.

SPADE LEAD

West leads the seven of spades. East puts up the queen, and South wins with the king. Now South knows that East is the wolf and that West is the fair-haired boy.

If East is allowed to win a trick he will lead a spade, and then West will defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. That makes East a very dangerous fellow indeed.

If West is allowed to win a trick he cannot capture declarer's jack of spades, nor can West lead anything else that will do any damage. That makes West a very comfortable lad to have around.

RULES FOR DAUGHTERS

With this hand to help you, it's easy to formulate a rule for daughters: Trust yourself to the fair-haired boy, but slam the door on the wolf.

In this case, South should win the second trick with dummy's king of clubs in order to lead a low diamond from the dummy. East plays low, and a dutiful daughter should try a finesse with the nine of diamonds from the South hand.

If this finesse should lose, it would go to the fair-haired lad in the West seat. No danger. When the finesse actually wins, South runs all of the diamonds and takes the first 11 tricks.

WOULD LAUGH

If daughter played the diamonds normally, East would win a trick with the jack of diamonds. Then he would return a spade, laughing and twirling his mustache.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ Q 9 5
♥ Q J 8
♦ J 7 6 5
♣ Q J 9.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds or 1 no-trump.

You have nine points in high cards, but should treat your hand as a very weak responding hand since you have neither a king nor an ace. Avoid putting your faith in queens or jacks.

Television Helps

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Television, long regarded as a threat to public morals by South Africa's conservative government, is ironically proving one of the country's "most powerful promotion media overseas." The South African Tourist Corporation (SATOUR) reported the "exceptionally hostile campaign" against South Africa's racial policies by foreign newspapers was waning. SATOUR's most impressive results in improving the country's image "without doubt have been attained on television."

★ WE NEED ★
LISTINGS!
Our participation in 475 sales last year and over 460 sales since Jan. 1st this year has seriously depleted our supply of homes to advertise and sell. . . . If you want ACTION phone your nearest Timmer office and engage the services of MARIN'S LEADING BROKER! No charge for our service unless we find a buyer suitable to you. . . . And then standard Marin County rates apply.

ORDINANCE NO. 967
ORDINANCE INCREASING THE AMOUNT OF THE BOND OR INSURANCE REQUIRED OF A VEHICLE FOR HIRE

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Subparagraphs (a) and (b) of Section 10.60.080 of the San Rafael Municipal Code are hereby amended to read as follows:

(a) Bond of the owner or lessee of such vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile with a responsible surety company or association authorized to do business under the laws of the State of California, in the sum of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00), conditioned that the owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile for which a license has been applied, will pay all loss or damage that may result to any person or property from the negligent operation of or defective construction of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile, or which may arise or result from any violation of the provisions of this chapter or of any traffic law of the City of San Rafael or the laws of the State of California. The recovery upon said bond shall be limited to One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) for the injury or death of one (1) person and to the extent of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00) for the death or injury of two (2) or more persons in the same accident, and to the extent of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) for the injury to or destruction of property. Such bond shall be given to the City of San Rafael and shall inure to the benefit of any and all persons suffering loss or damage either to person or property as herein provided, and suit may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction upon said bond by any person or persons or corporation suffering any loss or damage as herein provided. Such bond shall be approved by the City Council of the City of San Rafael and the license granted by said City Council shall recite that the permit is issued upon condition and in consideration of the signing of said bond. Said bond shall be a continuing liability notwithstanding any recovery thereon, and if at any time in the judgment of the City Council, said bond is not sufficient for any cause, the City Council may require the party to whom license is issued to replace said bond with another bond satisfactory to the City Council, and in default thereof said license may be revoked: or

(b) A policy of insurance in a company authorized to do business in the State of California, insuring owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile against loss by reason of damage that may result to any person or persons or property from the operation of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile, said policy of insurance to be in limits of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) for any one (1) person injured or killed; and subject to such limit for each person, a total liability of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000.00) in case of any one (1) accident resulting in bodily injury or death to more than one person. Said policy of insurance must also provide insurance to the extent of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) to the injury to or destruction of any property of third parties.

Said policy shall guarantee payment of any final judgment rendered against the said owner or lessee of said vehicle, carriage, motor vehicle or automobile within the limits herein provided irrespective of the financial responsibility or any act or omission of said owner or lessee.

If at any time said policy of insurance be cancelled by the issuing company, or the authority of said issuing company to do business in the State of California be revoked, the said Council shall require the party to whom the license is issued to replace said policy with another policy satisfactory to the City Council, and in default thereof said license may be revoked. (Ord. 86.)

Section 2. This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage. (SEAL)

Deaths Ground F111 Fifth Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial F111 miitary airplane has been grounded for the fifth time in less than two years in the wake of a Nevada training crash which killed two pilots.

The Air Force announced yesterday it has grounded its fleet of 223 swingwing jets until it determines what caused the crash that killed Lt. Col. Thomas J. Mack and Maj. James L. Anthony.

Mack, 38, of Viola, Ill., and Anthony, 35, of Big Spring, Tex., went down with the $8 million plane yesterday during a training mission at the bombing and gunnery range at Nellis Air Force Base, about 45 miles northwest of Las Vegas, Nev.

The plane was the 15th F111 lost so far by the Air Force. The most recent grounding was last month and affected 89 of the planes.

Alto Bowl Neighbors Seek Drainage Help

A drainage ditch behind Alto School, ordered closed for safety reasons, may be intensifying the Alto Bowl's acute drainage problems, the Mill Valley School District heard last night.

Trustees ordered Supt. James A. Collins to hire a consulting engineer to inspect both Alto and Edna Maguire school property for any drainage corrections which might alleviate major flooding in the area.

Residents told the board that water washes down "like a sheet" from surrounding hillsides, across school property, across Lomita Drive and into their homes.

"Why, sometimes it's two and three feet deep . . . at 4 o'clock in the morning," said one resident.

Residents argued that the ditch, ordered closed by the school nurse because children had been playing in the water, used to carry much of the normal runoff to nearby creeks.

"This flooding only started in the last year or two, just when you closed the ditch," said a woman from the audience.

Mill Valley engineer John De Becker, representing Mrs. Vida Wheeler, an Alto Bowl resident, said installation of curbs, gutters and catch basins along Lomita Drive adjacent to school property, also would help the problem.

The area's flooding problems were brought to light during a discussion of the proposed Cal-Fong Co. 150-unit apartment and townhouse development on 27 acres at the base of the bowl.

Residents urged the school board to oppose the development because of its impact on density, traffic and drainage.

Mrs. Wheeler, in a long statement, urged that the entire 144-acre bowl area be purchased as open space by concerned public and private agencies.

"I know we need more low cost housing, that we need more housing . . . but not at the sacrificing of our environment," she told the board.

Trustees took no action pending further discussion with the developers but informally opposed routing traffic from the development near Alto or Edna Maguire schools.

A workshop meeting on the development with city and county representatives was set for 8 p.m. Jan. 7 in city hall.

State Faces Suit Threat Over Middle School Plans

If the Mill Valley School District's plans for its new middle school are not approved soon by the state, the whole issue may end up in court, the school district board heard last night.

Supt. James A. Collins told the board that architect Peter Berg of Campbell and Wong, San Francisco architects, has indicated he will sue the state to force a decision on the plans if state approval is not forthcoming within two weeks.

Collins said Berg believes that some of the state's requests are "unreasonable" and that some of the delay is caused "by the fact the state doesn't have very many plans to review right now and therefore might be giving our plans a closer review than they might do normally."

All aspects of the plans, except the structural engineering, have been approved, Collins said. Meetings with the state representatives are scheduled for today and next week and if no agreement can be reached, the architects will notify the board whether they intend to take the dispute to court, Collins explained.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

NEWSLETTER — Heard the district will start publishing a newsletter next month.

CONFERENCE — Agreed to participate in a community conference on development of Project 17 and East Mill Valley planned by the Mill Valley Planning Commission to be held Jan. 24 at a time and place to be set.

MARIN VIEW — Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Jan. 15 at Tamalpais Valley School to discuss a proposal by the Sausalito School District board that the Mill Valley district de-annex the Marinview subdivision and give it to Sausalito.

SAUCELITO CANAL — Agreed not to protest increases in the assessment for dredging the Saucelito Canal in Richardson Bay but said it would fight any further increases.

POWER — Asked staff to investigate the cost of installing auxiliary power units at each school in the district.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation because of illness of Genella Williamson, speech therapist.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Margaret Rose, a guidance counselor, at a salary of $3,591 for the remainder of the school year, and Linda Eldridge, second grade teacher at Tamalpais Valley School at $4,026 for the remainder of the school year.

Knife Carrier Robs Woman

A 31-year-old Corte Madera woman has been robbed of $46 at knifepoint by two men who forced her car off Shoreline Highway near Mill Valley, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said the woman was driving to the 7-11 Store on Shoreline Highway about 2 a.m. Saturday when two men forced her car off the roadway, took the money at knifepoint and then threatened her not to report the robbery to police.

Sheriff's deputies indicated they had a lead on the two suspects.

School Thief Gets Tank, Gas Engine

Someone stole the makings of a go-cart last weekend at Henry C. Hall School, Larkspur police reported today.

A burglar broke into an outside storage enclosure between Friday afternoon and yesterday morning and took a gasoline engine from a weed cutter and a two-gallon gas tank from a lawnmower. The tank was valued at $10 and no value was given for the engine.

Dentists Experiment With New Plastic Paint For Teeth

VAN DELLEN

A new plastic paint to prevent decay is being tested. The resin is applied like nail polish but does not harden until an ultraviolet lamp is shined on it. Ultraviolet rays make the plastic set immediately into a hard, smooth, nearly invisible film.

Dr. Michael Buonocore (Eastman Dental center, Rochester, N.Y.) is testing the product under a grant from the National Institute of Dental Research.

The material should save considerable time for dentists already overburdened. The resin should also benefit the handicapped who cannot brush their teeth, military personnel, and people living in remote areas.

THE PROCESS is not completely perfected, especially for teeth that have been filled. An adhesive liner is needed to seal metal, plastic, or cement fillings and to stop decay from developing where debris seeps in between the filling and the tooth.

Other potential uses for the resin are coverings for unattractive, poorly calcified, or stained teeth and to repair broken edges on front teeth.

The adhesive also will be used to anchor orthodontic wires.

THE PLASTIC MATERIAL should enhance the good effects of fluoridation, especially at the tooth's biting surface. This is the area that receives considerable wear and tear and is also where enamel is often thin or pitted.

Dextranase is another experimental product that prevents cavity and plaque formation in laboratory animals. The enzyme can be dissolved in water or administered in the diet.

BRUSHING OF the teeth continues to be one of the most effective means of controling decay. It also improves oral hygiene and the health of the gums.

Brushing is slightly more effective than pressured water rinses in ridding the teeth of food particles and other debris. Combining the two methods is even more effective.

LUNG COLLAPSE

A. I. B. writes: If air is injected into a collapsed lung will it work again?

REPLY

No. Lung collapse occurs under two circumstances. When air gets into the pleural space between the lung and chest wall, it compresses the soft lung tissue until the structure collapses (pneumothorax). In the other condition, a bronchus is plugged and the inflated lung collapses when the trapped air is absorbed. This usually occurs in a few days.

BANANAS AND BELCHING

N. T. writes: A lady over 60 eats one to two bananas for lunch every day. She complains of diarrhea and belches constantly but refuses to admit that the bananas are responsible. What do you think?

REPLY

All this woman has to do is stop eating bananas for a few days. If the gastrointestinal symptoms disappear, she will have her answer.

STIMULANTS

E. P. writes: Can you explain why I become nervous as a cat when I take my diet pills?

REPLY

Because the pills are stimulants that make you keyed up and nervous. This is true of the amphetamines and thyroid.

Today's Health Hint — Stuff the bird just before it goes into the oven, not the night before.

Road Contracts To Marin Firms

Two Marin County firms have been awarded contracts by the state Department of Public Works.

E. A. Forde Jr. of Greenbrae has been given a $51,549 contract to widen three northbound lanes to four on High 101 between the Spencer Avenue overcrossing and .2 mile south of Rodeo Avenue in Sausalito.

Merz Brothers of San Rafael has been awarded a $3,395 contract to remove slide material and restore slopes near Cecelia Way on Tiburon Boulevard.

Death Count At 50 From Plane Mishap

SAIGON (AP) — The official death toll in yesterday's crash of a South Vietnamese airliner at Nha Trang rose to 50 today. Another 35 persons were injured, 15 of them children.

The figures were not final and several persons were not accounted for. A government spokesman said it was not known yet how many of the dead and injured were aboard the plane and how many were on the ground in the area of the crash.

A government spokesman said 66 adult passengers—four children and eight crew members, a total of 78—were aboard the DC6B when it slammed into a row of slum houses and a kindergarten after its brakes failed during an emergency landing.

A surviving crew member said the plane carried 63 passengers and seven crew members, eight persons less than the government spokesman reported. It appeared possible the government's total was based on the manifest rather than the actual number aboard.

The plane was en route from Saigon to Nha Trang and Da Nang. About 30 miles from Nha Trang an explosion occurred, possibly in one of the four engines, and flying metal injured the pilot and a passenger.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

The Annual 'Dark' Week Makes Return

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television programming may have seemed a little disappointing and disconcerting last night.

CBS pre-empted its most popular program, "Gunsmoke" to rerun a children's hour originally broadcast in the daytime less than 10 days ago, and followed it later with a repeat of a "Carol Burnett Show." NBC repeated a year-old "Laugh-in" whose topical gags showed its age.

Tonight there will be a Red Skelton rerun on CBS and NBC's "Julia" will have a night off so that the often-repeated 1954 film, "White Christmas" can run its full two and one-half hours. Tomorrow, NBC's "Virginian," CBS's "Medical Center" and ABC's "Flying Nun" will be twice-told tales.

On Christmas night, ABC's "Bewitched" and NBC's "Dragnet" and "Dean Martin Show" will all be reruns. On Friday, NBC's "The Name of the Game" will be a repeat.

The cause of this epidemic of reruns is that the people who view the viewers are taking the week off. Yesterday through next Sunday is what the industry calls a "dark week" — one of the two during the year in which the A.C. Nielsen research organization skips those rating services which are projections of audience sizes based on program choices by a sample.

The Nielsens, television's most important tape-measure, are used by networks, advertising agencies and sponsors in evaluating programs. When Nielsen isn't counting noses, the networks get a little extra economic mileage out of slightly used properties.

But even when Nielsen is taking a week off, the networks' year-round game of one-upmanship is played as fiercely as ever. NBC called a news conference Monday so that its vice president for audience measurement, Paul Klein, could stake the network's claim of winning what he called "the first season."

Klein asserted that NBC, between the September start and Dec. 14, before the networks started midseason replacements and rshuffling schedules, had won a narrow victory—less than one per cent—over CBS in the average rating. A spokesman for CBS, which plays the numbers game just as hard, insisted there is no such thing as a first season and predicted that the network would win the full 26-week race as it claimed to have done last year.

Beyond claiming the narrow victory, however, Klein sought to use audience studies to set up NBC as a network with strong appeal to "young adults"—viewers between 18 and 49.

"The heaviest buyers are people between 25 and 45," Klein said. "And the 18-to-49 group is worth twice the 50-plus viewers."

Using Nielsen statistics and projections, Klein said that on any Winter's night the television audience consists of 35 per cent of the population of the continental United States—about 70 million people, of whom 60 million are tuned to one of the three major networks. More than half the nation's homes have two TV sets at least, and 10 per cent have three, he noted.

11 Killed In Crash; Damage At $20 Million

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A disabled, pilotless Navy jet fighter "could not have hit at a worse place" the fire chief said mournfully as he surveyed the naval hangar where 11 men were killed and 14 injured.

The jet, abandoned by its pilot who parachuted to safety after reported oil pressure trouble, slammed into a hangar full of aircraft and mechanics Monday at Miramar Naval Air Station.

The pilot of the singe-seat F8J Crusader said he reported the malfunction, then ejected at 400 feet altitude about half a mile east of the runway.

The aircraft "could not have hit at a worse place," said Bill Knight, base fire chief. "Not only was there a congestion of personnel, but also there were numerous aircraft."

The pilot, Lt. Cyrus M. Riddell, 27, of San Diego and Bellevue, Wash., was injured. He told newsmen he bailed out when oil pressure "had gone down dangerously low."

Asked if he could have prevented the plane from hitting the hangar, he said: "I can't answer that," and walked away.

A Navy spokesman said Riddell and persons inside the hangar could not talk to newsmen because they would be testifying before an investigation board.

Navy Cmdr. J. P. Vinti, the pilot's squadron leader, said Riddell had followed his training.

"He felt he could not make the runway and so at 450 feet in the air, he did what he was trained to do. He reached up and ejected. The rest is history," Vinti said.

About 60 men and a dozen aircraft were inside the 70-square-yard hangar bay some 1,800 feet north of the runway. The 45,000-pound Crusader cleared about 50 parked aircraft and crashed through the partially open hangar doors at a speed of about 250 miles an hour, the Navy said.

About 30 mechanics were working on six F4J Phantom jet fighters parked along the north side of the hangar. The Crusader plowed under two of them, struck the wall and exploded in flames.

Five of the Phantoms—planes which survived last January's explosions on the carrier Enterprise off Hawaii—were destroyed and one other was damaged. Navy officials estimated damage to aircraft and the hangar at more than $20 million.

As to whether a pilot should bail out or stay with the plane, a U.S. Navy Safety Center pamphlet displayed on the bulletin board of the ready room of the pilot's squadron suggests in part that bailing out may be the safer course:

"The decision to ditch or eject has been, is and always will be yours to make in light of prevailing circumstances, but delayed decision to eject, when other factors would permit successful ejection, have accounted for the majority of escape fatalities."

A spokesman at the control tower said the pilot reported engine failure and that he could not restart it.

Knight said crash crews were standing by alongside the runway. Witnesses said a crash truck, manned by asbestos-clad firefighters, drove inside the hangar while men were running out.

Major Reforms Of The Tax Relief Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Major provisions of the tax reform bill:

Personal exemption: The $600 exemption for each taxpayer and each of his dependents rises to $650 on July 1, 1970, to $700 on Jan. 1, 1972, and to $750 on Jan. 1, 1973. (See another story page 1.)

Standard deduction: Now 10 per cent of the income of a taxpayer who does not itemize expenses with a ceiling of $1,000 it rises to 13 per cent with a $1,400 ceiling in 1970, then to 14 per cent with a $1,500 ceiling in 1971, to 14 per cent with a $2,000 ceiling in 1972 and to 15 per cent with a $2,000 ceiling in 1973 and thereafter.

Low-income allowance: Designed to remove five million poor people from tax obligations and to drastically cut taxes for seven million near poor, it is equal to a minimum $1,100 personal exemption effective Jan. 1, 1970. This drops to $1,050 on Jan. 1, 1971, and to $1,000 on Jan. 1, 1972, and thereafter.

Social Security: A 15 per cent increase in benefits goes into effect Jan. 1, 1970, to be reflected in checks mailed out in March. The minimum benefit for a single person rises from its present $55 to $64 a month.

Surtax: The 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income falls to 5 per cent Jan. 1, 1970, and expires June 30, 1970.

Excise taxes: The 7 per cent excise tax on new cars and the 10 per cent tax on telephone service are continued for another year at their present rates,

Single persons: Special tax relief is granted unmarried people so that in no case would a single taxpayer pay more than 20 per cent more in taxes than a married couple with the same income. The gap now is as much as 40 per cent.

Investment credit: This subsidy to businesses and farmers, amounting to a 7 per cent subsidy on their expenses for new equipment, expansion or modfective last April 18.

Moving expenses: Deductive expenses for moving are liberalized for moves of 50 miles or more to include traveling, meals and lodging for premove house-hunting trips and expenses arising from the sale of a house. The self-employed are permitted to claim moving expenses.

Income averaging: Persons whose incomes grow by more than 20 per cent in one year, such as athletes and authors, may average out the additional income over several years, subjecting it to a lower tax rate than would otherwise be possible. This provision includes income from capital gains, wagering or gifts.

Maximum tax: High-income taxpayers who receive their income from salary, wages or fees—chiefly executives, lawyers, doctors and other professionals—will pay no more than 60 per cent of their earned income in 1971 and no more than 50 per cent thereafter if they also had no more than $30,000 in "unearned income." At present, the tax rate goes beyond 50 per cent for income above $52,000 a year. "unearned income"—from dividends, interest, rents and the like—remains taxable at the old rates.

Minimum tax: This is designed to insure that all wealthy persons pay at least some income tax. A special 10 per cent tax is imposed on "tax sheltered" income in excess of $30,000, such as income benefiting from the oil depletion allowance, capital gains taxes or tax preferences granted earnings from real estate investments. Last year at least 155 high-income persons paid no income tax at all.

Depletion allowances: The 27.5 per cent oil depletion allowance is cut to 22 per cent and depletion allowances allowed more than 100 other minerals are generally cut by 1 percentage point. This will allow an oil firm to withhold from taxation 22 per cent of its gross income or 50 per cent of its net profits, whichever is emaller.

Capital gains: On the first $50,000 of capital gains—profits from the sale of stocks and other property held six months or more—is to be subject to the existing 25 per cent maximum rate. On gains above $25,000, a taxpayer will have to pay half his ordinary tax rate on the gains. Thus, for a taxpayer in the 65 per cent bracket, the tax is 32.5 per cent on gains above $25,000.

Tax reforms: The bill carries major reforms to narrow tax loopholes which permit much income from real estate investments, and banks. Also narrowed are provisions under which persons with large amounts of nonfarm income escape taxes by buying a farm and taking advantage of liberal writeoffs of farm loss income that were intended to benefit bona fide farmers.

Foundations: They become subject to a tax of 7.5 per cent of their income from investments and are required to give to charity each year a sum equal to 6 per cent of their net worth.

Church-operated businesses: Businesses operated by churches and other tax-exempt organizations are subject to the 48 per cent corporate tax rate on their profits.

Treble-damages: Two-thirds of treble damege awards for antitrust violations can no longer be deducted by businesses as normal business expenses. Nor can bribes or kickbacks be deducted as business expenses.

Loopholes — Tax preferences are granted aimed at stimulating the installation of antipollution equipment, the modernization of railroad equipment, the rehabilitation of old residential housing and the adoption of safety equipment in coal mines. The preferences carry an automatic termination date after five years.

Congressmen Heed Cancer Fund Plea

The campaign by a small group of Marin parents with cancer-stricken children to increase federal funds for cancer research paid off yesterday, to the tune of a $10 million boost approved by the House of Representatives.

The group's spokesman, Dr. Richard W. Wolk of San Rafael, reported that the $19.7 billion appropriation bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare included $190 million for the National Cancer Institute.

This was $10 million more than the amount previously recommended by the House. The Senate had recommended a $20 million hike after hearing testimony in Washington from Dr. Wolk and others, but the hike was halved by a two-house conference committee, Dr. Wolk said.

The hike was "sufficient to prevent any backsliding in cancer research — for this year," he said.

The Marin group, the Candlelighters, still fears that the Nixon Administration will withhold the extra funds even after Senate approval, he said.

Dr. Wolk appealed to citizens to write President Richard M. Nixon and his budget director, Robert P. Mayo, to release all funds appropriated for cancer research.

Antibussing Petition Is Far Short

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — An initiative campaign to prohibit mandatory bussing of California school children apparently has flopped.

Only 63,547 valid signatures — a long way from the required 325,173 — were gathered on petitions to qualify the measure for next year's statewide ballot, the secretary of state's office reported today.

The sponsor of the initiative, Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield, R-South Gate, had predicted "we're going to be lucky to get half" of the required number. He made the prediction on Dec. 1, the first deadline for the petitions to be filed with county clerks.

Yesterday was the deadline for county clerks to report the number of valid signatures found after a check against voter records. In Marin, 548 of the 651 filed, an unusually high percentage, were validated.

Wakefield, however, said he would push for the required number of signatures during the 60-day supplementary period before the final deadline to file petitions. his second batch of petitions must be filed with county clerks by Jan. 30.

His measure would bar school districts from bussing students for integration without the written permission of a parent or guardian.

Boy's Injury Spurs Charges Vs. Mother

A 30-year old Bolinas woman was arrested on suspicion of child neglect yesterday after her 6-year-old son was hit by a car and officers found her three other children unattended in a house they said was dirty and cold.

Booked into Marin County Jail following her arrival home several hours after the accident was Dianna Horvath of Brighton Avenue.

The California Highway Patrol said that the youngster was riding his bicycle the wrong way on Altura Avenue in Bolinas, a one-way street, about 1:30 p.m. when a car driven by Adele Moroney, 65, also of Bolinas, came around a sharp corner. Mrs. Moroney told officers she did not see the youngster.

Sheriff's deputies were called when the highway patrol found that three other Horvath children, ranging in age from 2 to 9, were alone in a "filthy" house on Brighton Avenue. The children said their mother had left about 10 a.m.

Deputies took all the children to Marin General Hospital, where nurses fed and examined them. Three were later taken to a receiving home.

When Mrs. Horvath arrived home at 6:30 p.m., she was arrested, later posting $625 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Rohnert Park Man Is Killed In Auto Crash

A Rohnert Park man was killed and two Sebastopol women were injured in a two-car accident last night on Highway 101, south of the Wilfred Avenue overcrossing in Rohnert Park.

Arthur Smith, 34, of 349 Burton Avenue, was dead on arrival at Community Hospital of Sonoma County.

The California Highway Patrol said his southbound car crossed over the center divider strip shortly before 11 p.m. and struck a car driven by Diane Bellas, 27, of Sebastopol. She and a passenger, Judith Bolouc, 25, were reported in satisfactory condition at Community Hospital. A report of the extent of their injuries was not available.

Smith is survived by his wife, Grace.

Returned Forms Favor Expert For Park Help

Questionnaires returned to the Rohnert Park Recreation Commission show residents satisfied with community facilities and in favor of professional planning to carry out development plans.

On the 1,661 forms sent to homes, 201 had been received by yesterday for a return of 12 per cent. City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said 67 per cent were in favor of hiring a professional landscape architect to help carry out park and recreational planning.

Commission Chairman Ronald E. Rasmussen said the commission will contact local architects this month and perhaps recommend employment at the Jan. 12 meeting.

Rasmussen said the architect will draw preliminary sketches for new parks and prepare cost estimates. He said when all facts are gathered, the commission may recommend the city council call a park bond election in April.

On the questionnaires, residents said more picnic areas are needed and that the second softball diamond should be lighted. A gymnasium was favored by 64 per cent and 66 per cent said more landscaped areas with benches and lighting should be developed.

The questionnaires said that tennis courts, football fields, swimming pools and the recreation building are adequate.

Sixty-two per cent opposed plans for a decorative fountain in front of the recreation building, saying it would be a target for vandals.

Physician In Marin Fuss Awarded $5,000

An embattled San Francisco physician, central figure in a bitter two-year fight to obtain staff privileges at Marin General Hospital, was awarded $5,000 in general damages yesterday in a slander suit in San Mateo County Superior Court.

By an 11-1 vote, the jury ruled that Dr. Alvin Natanson, Burlingame physician, had slandered Dr. Standford W. Ascherman during a June 10, 1964, hearing on Ascherman's application for hospital privileges at the Marin hospital.

The suit, filed the next day, charged that Natanson, Ascherman's former commanding officer in the Air Force Medical Corps at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., had issued "false and defamatory statements" at the hearing. The suit had asked for $200,000 damages.

Fr. Natanson told the Marin Hospital District board that Dr. Ascherman, while under his command, performed "unnecessary radical surgery" on the wife of an airman with results that were "rather mutilating and unnecessarily disfiguring."

Ascherman denied the charge at the time.

The San Francisco doctor's fight to obtain staff status at Marin General lasted from March 1964 to April 1966, when hospital directors turned down his application for the last time. The fight included numerous, emotion-charged hearings before the hospital board and many court battles.

At present, Dr. Ascherman's $6 million suit against six San Francisco hospitals for denying him staff privileges is still pending in San Francisco courts.

Reagan Reveals Antismog Moves

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A tax cut on natural gas to run autos and conversion of some state-owned cars to a smogless fuel system are the latest moves in the battle against air pollution, Gov. Ronald Reagan announces.

He provided the news yesterday in the latest of his "report to the people" series carried free by radio and television stations around the state.

The governor noted the state owns 25,843 motor vehicles, and urged other operators of big fleets to switch over to a system of smogless driving in cities.

To help out, he said he will ask the legislature to reduce the state tax on natural gas for autos from seven cents to three cents on the equivalent of a gallon.

Hillcrest Hospital Will Hike Room Rates Feb. 1

Room rates at Hillcrest Hospital, Petaluma, will be increased by $6 a day starting Feb. 1, providing an additional $70,000 in the first year for needed safety improvements at the facility.

Loree Smith, hospital administrator, said semiprivate rooms will be raised from $49 to $55, ward beds from $47 to $53, and private rooms from $54 to $60.

Babies kept in the newborn nursery will cost $20 per day rather than $17 and boarder baby beds will also increase $3, from $22 to $25 per day.

Mrs. Smith said the extra funds will help pay for a new air conditioning system for patient care areas at a cost of $67,530; a new roof estimated to cost $20,000; a sprinkler system for fire safety, $30,000, and needed medical equipment.

Woman Struck By Hitchhiker

A 28-year old San Rafael woman was struck in the mouth early today by a young hitchhiker who tried to snatch her car keys in front of her apartment at 1539 Lincoln Avenue, police reported

The woman, Helga Tyson, spotted the hitchhiker standing nearby when she drove up to the front of her apartment at 11:45 a.m., police said.

When the woman started to lock her car, the youth, described as 18 to 20 years old, attacked her and fled down Lincoln Avenue when she started to scream.

Yule Lights Get Blame For Fire

Fire, probably starting from a short circuit in an extension cord to a Christmas tree, caused damage estimated at $3,850 yesterday to the home of Joseph Russo at 250 San Felipe Way, Novato.

No one was at home when the fire was discovered at 9:52 a.m. by neighbors, Asst. Fire Chief Richard W. Beyer said.

Damage to the dining and living room was moderate, but smoke damage was extensive throughout the house, Beyer said. The Christmas tree and all presents were lost, he said.

Beyer took the occasion to warn residents to make certain that electrical connections leading to Christmas trees are safe and that tree lights are not left on when no one is home.

Marijuana Case Warrant Issued

A bench warrant with bail set at $1,000 has been issued by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court for Martin Gerald Bida, 24, of no known address, when Bida failed to appear in court on charges of possessing and cultivating marijuana.

A motion to dismiss the case was denied by the judge Friday in Bida's absence.

Sheriff's deputies said that Bida had a marijuana plant, a machete and three books describing how to grow pot in his car when arrested near Point Reyes Station Sept. 27.

Fox Near Fairfax Reported To Be Rabid

A rabid fox shot at the Circle V Ranch outside Fairfax apparently bit no other animals or humans before it was destroyed, County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht said yesterday.

The fox was shot Friday after it was seen attacking a truck and wobbling badly, Dr. Albrecht said. Tests showed the fox was rabid. It was the seventh rabid animal discovered in Marin this year, compared with four animals in 1968.

Touring Youths Robbed In Car

Four young men identified as exchange students from Holland were robbed of $81 in cash, $100 in travelers' checks and $290 worth of cameras today as they slept in their car in the high ground of Donahue Street above Marin City, sheriffs' deputies reported.

One of the four victims was identified as Peter M. Chutte, who has been living in Eugene, Ore. Names of the other three were not available.

Deputies said the four were sleeping in their car at 6 a.m. when two young men who said they had a gun held them up. No weapon was seen, deputies said.

Indians Call For National Parley

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 200 American Indians occupying Alcatraz Island have called a meeting of representatives from 200 tribes from across the country to plan a Confederation of American Indian Nations.

A spokesman at the San Francisco Indian Center said yesterday that 2,700 invitations to the convention on the San Francisco Bay island over the Christmas holidays were mailed to tribes, bands, reservations and Indian offices in urban centers.

"We certainly don't expect 2,700," the spokesman said. "We'll probably have about 200." Some were arriving last night, he said.

Novato, Civic Center Rain Tally Corrected

The 48-hour rainfall figure for Novato of 4.4 inches reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal was for the 48 hours ending at 8 a.m. Sunday, not ending yesterday as reported.

A rainfall total not reported yesterday was 1.60 inches at the Marin Civic Center for the 48 hours ending at 8 a.m. yesterday. A report of an accumulation of 7.25 inches from noon Saturday to 8 a.m. yesterday in that area was inaccurate.

Church Burglary Nets $135 In Loot

A burglar who entered Redwood Presbyterian Church in Larkspur during the weekend stole a portable stereo, a black light, a radio and a camera valued at a total of $135, Larkspur police reported today.

The items were taken from the church office and the teen club room between Saturday afternoon and yesterday morning, police said.

Young Veteran Hits Cable Across Road

Jerry Arnold West, 22, an airman from San Francisco, was listed in good condition and was expected to be released today from Hamilton Air Force Base hospital, where he was treated for a head injury suffered in a motorcycle wreck near San Rafael Sunday.

The California Highway Patrol said West, just back from Vietnam, hit a cable across the McNear brick yard pit road near Basalt Quarry Road near Peacock Gap at 11:30 a.m. He told the patrol he had not been on the road in two years and did not see the cable.

Half-Ton Jack Stolen

A half-ton floor jack was stolen from the rear of a tow truck owned by Duffy Bros., 1301 Third Street, and parked at 509 Canal Street last Thursday or Friday, San Rafael police reported today.

Burglars Flee Without Loot

Burglars early today loaded dollies full of equipment from the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. garage at Second and Lindaro streets, but fled before they could get away with the loot, San Rafael police reported.

Workmen at the opposite end of the building found the cache of equipment outside the building and called police. Included in the haul were acetylene and cutting tools, regulators, nozzles, drills, sanders, cans of red paint, hundreds of feet of rubber coated wire and bold cutters, police said.

It was not known if anything was missing, police said.

Broken Pipe Makes Costly Mess In Home

Water caused a minimum of $2,500 damage yesterday to the home of F.A. Legnitto at 20 Bothin Road after a pipe burst under the sink, firemen reoprted.

The kitchen, den, bathroom and part of both the dining and living rooms were flooded, according to the fire department, and new wall-to-wall carpet will have to be removed throughout the house.
